ANOTHER BOMB.

Sensational Charges Preferred Against Chief Stanton.

HIS ALLEGED OFFENSES.

Accused of Wearing Clothes at Another Man's Expense.

EVIDENCE IN THE CASE.

The Council Advised Not to Hang Its Hope on so Weak a Stock—Starting Statements.

For months past there have been rumors and charges of a serious character quietly circulated against Chief Stanton of the fire department. It is stated that Frank H. Mallory has been principally responsible for them. Lately some animosity between Messrs. Mallory and Stanton has existed for weeks. Threats of exposure have been whispered about secretly. Finally they were reduced to writing and last night Councilman Lawson placed them on the recorder's table at the meeting of the City Council. The reading of them caused a sensation. The paper is as follows:

Gentlemen—You will please pardon the liberty I take in addressing you in condemnation of the actions of the chief of your fire department. But to protect the interested of my company I am compelled to take this method of bringing to your notice the double dealings of your chief. I represent a company of chemical engine builders and visit cities and towns at an expense in their interest. The chief of your fire department also visits cities in the interests of the Holloway Chemical Engine, but presumably as a disinterested party, outside of the interests to take in selling competitors purchase the apparatus that is best adapted to their use. He has recently delivered and tested personally to Park City and Logan Holloway engines.

He not only visited these cities once on the above business but several times. Is it likely for one that it has no interest? I say no, I am not aware of competition, for I am willing to meet my engine against any engine in the United States or elsewhere, but that Stanton's position as chief of the largest fire department in this Territory makes his recommendation of a

as you can readily appreciate that fact as we have how I would be handicapped. At Ogden, when that city purchased their chemical engine Stanton was there in the interest of the Holloway, and that city realizing that Stanton was acting as an agent, did not consider the recommendation, and sought a better make of engine than the one Stanton tried to sell, such competition is not just or right, hence my protest. There is not another city that has a paid chief of fire department that will allow him to travel in the interest of a fire apparatus company. Now, why was the Holloway purchased by this city? Stanton after the contract was signed just a short time previous to his going east, to attend the National Convention of Chief Engineers received an order from one Frank Moore, the agent of the Holloway chemical engine, for $500 on the Holloway people at Baltimore, Maryland, Stanton visited Baltimore on his trip east and received the amount of the order. Mr. Moore afterwards became my partner in business in Portland, Oregon, and the $500 was charged against the firm of Moloney & Moore. Only yesterday in Judge Stark's court a judgment was sustained against me for a suit of clothes received by Stanton and charged to me. Am I supposed to the chief of your fire department wears simply because I am a city contractor? I have sold this city many thousand dollars' worth of goods and my contracts have been faithfully carried out.

ON THIS CONTINENT

PAY FOR YOUR CLOTHES

Last spring when your city purchased 30,000 feet of "dragon Brand Hose, which was the brand I represented, my company in New York received a letter from this city to the effect that if Mallory had anything whatever to do in any manner, shape or form with the sale of fire hose, to the Salt Lake fire department. The order would go elsewhere. The object of that letter was quite obvious to me.

STANTON'S REPUTATION

has traveled far as extracts from the fire catalogue bearing company of Chicago will prove, and I beg your consideration of same to confirm my statements. Extracts from a letter under date of August 1, 1892, Frank E. McGregor, Portland, Oregon:

DEAR SIR—About a week or ten days ago we were you engineering Salt Lake City, Logan and several other places, and we wish to inform you that when Stanton was here at the Democratic convention he being one of the Gentile delegates which was not admitted, we showed him a good deal of attention, and Bob Young, Jerry Rooney and myself showed him around this as somewhat some points of interest, and we were interested in Mr. Young to get it and send it to him. It cost us $5.00, which we presented to the fire engine tender at Ogden, and we have heard no more of it.

Signed, FIRE EXTINGUISHER CO.,
per E. J. MCGREGOR.

Now, regarding this letter I might say, I left Portland, Oregon, at once and went to Logan, this Territory. Upon my arrival there I was informed that the council had purchased a Holloway engine, and that Chief Stanton of Salt Lake would deliver it in a few weeks. That of the hospitality shown him and what his promise is worth.

Extract from letter under date of September 23d, 1892:

Frank E. McGregor, Ogden:

We have had several letters from Stanton of Salt Lake City, whereby they intend to buy the purchase of the chemical engine we sound of so now, and we have advised him the buying, for his letters were not written in any business kind of a way to make us think that there is any reputation to be placed on his statements, and this we give you as a podgee.

(Signed)
FIRE EXTINGUISHER COMPANY,
PER E. J. MCGREGOR.

Regarding the score, it was to it an intention of my for the department, nevertheless an ordinance was passed prior to the date of this letter, and placing the authority in the hands of the fire department only.

Extract from letter under date of September 8, 1892:

We will endeavor a special rate on our chemical for Salt Lake City, in order to keep the peace of your department, for the engineer will attend a good margin, and show if engines are superior to everything now brought to Utah. Hoping to hear Chief Stanton can have a margin, for it does not pull through without some of all we do so as we are going to be in Utah shortly in the same line as mentioned, yours, J. Holloway.

As we understand he never knew Stanton, he gave a disinterested opinion. We want to make this matter a satisfactory deal, and we hope you will not be caught, trapping rather than you have your hopes upon any such a weak stock as Stanton unless you know him to be clean as he.

Signed,
FIRE EXTINGUISHER COMPANY,
PER E. J. MCGREGOR.

In conclusion I might say that I regret this unpleasant affair, but duration was stopped to very low degrees to ruin my business and reputation.

The charges were referred to a special committee for investigation, consisting of Councilmen Kelly, Harry, Brandley, Lawson and Warren.

WORLD'S FAIR ASSOCIATION.

Interesting Reports from the Committees at Last Evening's Review.

At a meeting of the Salt Lake County World's Fair association, last evening, Mrs. Wilcox of the committee on industrial arts, reported that a number of fancy articles had been accepted for the exhibit, but the work was still incomplete. Mrs. Horn of the committee on philanthropics and charities, stated that most of the charitable societies and institutions in the county had sent in reports with complete information. It was announced that a meeting of the committee on charities and philanthropies would be held in room 321, Constitution block, next Tuesday at 4 p. m., and all reports on women's charitable work of every kind in the county are desired by that time, so that will be the last meeting of the committee. Mrs. Lippman of the committee on architecture reported that some photographs had been received and that it was the intention of the committee to collect a large number of photographs of both the interiors and exteriors of Salt Lake homes, not only the beautiful homes of the present day, but the old-time cottages and Beehives will be represented. Miss Nevada Davis, of the committee on ethnology, stated that a number of curios had been collected since last meeting. Dr. E. R. Pratt reported in behalf of the committee on medicine, that a representative collection of medicinal plants had been secured for the women's display. Dr. Ferguson, of the fine arts committee, announced that a list of valuable pictures and paintings had been arranged for, including a likeness of an Indian woman. Mrs. J. E. Rooseveltt, treasurer of the association, reported $500 as cash receipts from the lunches served at the Walker House. A balance of $171.65 in addition was reported and $479 admitted from the receipts of the Columbian Ball. This is a total of $650.65 now on hand.

Adjourned till the second Tuesday in March.

Gone to Chicago.

Secretary McDaniel, of the Utah World's Fair commission has departed for Chicago, where he will do and probably remain until next fall, attending to the arrangement of the exhibits, etc., within Utah's building. Mr. McDaniel has a responsible task before him, but he appears to enjoy into the work with heart and soul.

PRODUCTION OF SILVER.

An Interesting Statement of its Cost in Utah.

R. C. CHAMBERS TO SENATOR STEWART.

The Former Gives Figures of What It and Others Have Expended in Mines.

The Senate report made by the Senate Committee on Mines and Mining concerning silver contained in the pages of the time it was presented by the chairman, Senator Stewart. Mr. Stewart received the data relating to Utah mines from R. C. Chambers, superintendent of the Ontario and Daly mines. Mr. Chambers communication was as follows:

Hon. Wm. M. Stewart, United States Senate, Washington, D. C.

DEAR SIR—You ask of me the 11th inst. (my receipt) in which you say that "representations have been made to the effect that the cost of silver production in Utah has been expected to be 50 cents per ounce, and that it now is 80 cents per ounce." and what I expect to be the average cost of production.

From a general and varied experience in silver mining during the last twenty years, I feel justified in asserting that for every ounce of silver produced on the Pacific coast at cost of $1.50 has been expended in silver mining. As a reasonable basis for this assertion I have prepared exact statements (books attached) of the cost in producing silver in the Ontario and Daly mines at Park City, Utah, during my management both mines and since my retirement from them.

From these it will be seen that at the Ontario alone the cost has been 91.749 cents per ounce, and at the Daly nine 87.5 cents. These two mines alone, as referred papers, have done a record that place them in a list of perhaps five or six great silver mines now operated in the United States. For such a line that makes a record as good as these, there are hundreds that barely pay operating expenses—to say nothing of some of paid—and the expense of another venture the mine and returns $1 for every five spent.

In saying all I can in favor of silver mining, generally, I do not, along an exception to the rule, prove, although to furnish a single report a considerable amount of time and expense for gathering and translating.

Intentionally for myself and others, I have expended over $1,000,000 in attempting to find pay ore upon silver, and have worked over a hundred mines in Utah and Idaho that have made rich and returns that now the time has equals the entire cost of mine, and that is the mines are now practically abandoned. The expenditure is not included in the Ontario and Daly statements.

There is a large class of mines that are worked on year after year, with a loss and again and produced enough with to abandon them as long as there is the fair prospect ahead. The City Rock mine, at Alta, Utah, may be taken as an example. It has been worked for twenty years, and always showed an loss of $93,000. Yesterday the silver product has not quite paid expenses than for average market quotation.

Even in the case of bonanzas it has usually happened that the original parties have been compelled not to continuing the prospecting and other work. Not to mention the Comstock, where this process is now going on, allow me to direct your attention to the Little Cottonwood district, Utah, and the Yellow Fork mining district and West River region in Idaho, where, as is well known, these discoveries were made in the same line. It is only within the last year that any experienced man in the Pacific coast and Rocky Mountain region, that the investment but be to capital a vast array of facts, I believe, can be produced. There is no doubt that the cost average to the average of silver mining, taken as a whole, is far in excess of the amount.

Yours respectfully,
R. C. CHAMBERS.
