JONES SURRENDERS.

He Concedes the Election of McKinley,

AND ACCOUNTS FOR IT.

He Tells What Defeated the Cause of Free Silver.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Chairman Jones issued the following statement tonight:

The result of the presidential election is apparently no longer in doubt. It has been one of the closest contests that the people have been called on to determine in recent years. We have contested the election on our success in states that were admittedly in doubt, in which there had been many meets, and from which there were evidences of tampering with the polls. It seems now to be apparent that Mr. Bryan, after making the most brilliant campaign in the history of our country and having carried more of the states claimed to be doubtful, has not carried enough to secure his election in the electoral college. Bryan centers have been chosen from all of the states south of the Potomac and Ohio except West Virginia and all west and west of the Missouri except California and Oregon. He has 139 electoral votes, and this number may be increased by final returns from the states yet in question. He has not obtained enough votes to carry the electoral college.

Thus this remarkable campaign closes with the election of William McKinley. The result was brought about by every kind of coercion and intimidation on the part of the money power, including threats of lockouts and closedowns and impending starvation by the employment of by far the largest campaign fund ever used in this country, and by the subornation of a large portion of the American press.

The President-elect and his party are under pledge to the American people to maintain the gold standard, and by its operation to reduce prosperity to the minimum. As chief executive, Mr. McKinley will have the social support of the millions of patriotic Americans who have cast their votes for William Jennings Bryan. They bow to the majesty of the office and submit to the result, with none of the bitterness that would have come from the moneyed power had it been unmoneyed.

They are confident the gold standard cannot give the promised prosperity, and will gently welcome it if it comes. They will continue the great struggle for the uplifting of humanity and the maintenance of the dignity of our country in the establishment of an American monetary system.

And the Democratic party, aided by its present allies, will hold uplift the bimetallic standard and cheer it on to victory. JAMES K. JONES,

Chairman Democratic National Committee.

Late in the Evening.

Late in the evening Chairman Jones in discussing the situation said:

"What occasioned us was the action of large employers in telling their men they need not return to work on Wednesday if McKinley was defeated. This unquestionably lost us thousands of votes, for the men with a wife and little ones cannot help being moved by a prospect which threatens to deprive him of work and some great means of support.

"But we have won a victory just the same, for I do not believe that any political party in this country will dare to make the word gold its platform in 1900. Whatever happens, however, we shall not abandon our fight for free silver, which is a just one and one that is bound to triumph. I think it will be the aim of the Republicans to deprive us of an issue on this question, and I firmly believe Mr. McKinley will lend all his efforts toward the securing of an international agreement. He is friendly toward silver. There can be no doubt regarding that. His public record proves that, and if he is confronted with a free silver bill, as I have little doubt he will be, I believe he will sign it. I believe, moreover, that before the close of his administration he will stand in about the same relation towards his party that President Cleveland does toward the Democratic party. The western Republicans will unquestionably urge silver legislation upon him, which, of course, will be utterly opposed by eastern Republicans. He cannot please one without giving death-blow to the other, and I think the result will be that he will alienate the Republicans of the East.

In McKinley's Cabinet.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 5.—An evening paper says it comes from high authority that Andrew Squires of the new firm of Squires, Sanders & Dempsey of this city is to be attorney general in McKinley's cabinet. The authority is a gentleman who has intimate friend of Mr. McKinley, Colonel Myron T. Herrick and Mr. Marcus Hanna.

ROYAL WEDDING.

A Pretender to the Throne of France Takes a Bride.

VIENNA, Nov. 5.—[Copyrighted, 1896, by the Associated Press.]—At 11 o'clock this morning in the chapel of Hofburg, Louis Philippe Robert, duke of Orleans, pretender to the throne of France, was married to the Archduchess Dorothea. The guests waited in the chapel the coming of the bridal couple, while Emperor Francis Joseph, the Queen of Portugal, the duke of Orleans, the Archduchess Maria Dorothea, the members of the imperial house and the foreign princes waited in the mirror hall of the palace. At the signal from the minister of ceremonies the assembled nobility and statesmen of the nation, who were lined by the guards to the chapel. Amid a fourfold of trumpets and the ringing of church bells the wedding procession entered the imperial chapel, where they were received by Cardinal Gruscha, the archbishop of Vienna, who sprinkled the procession with holy water.

The bride and the bridegroom then knelt at the Prie Dieu, and the wedding rings were blessed and handed to them on a golden salver. After placing the rings on each other's fingers the bridal pair clasped hands and were again sprinkled with holy water. Mass was next celebrated and a Te Deum was chanted. At the conclusion of these ceremonies, the wedding procession was re-formed, and led by the bride and bridegroom and the imperial party returned to their apartments in the palace.

600 for the Philippines.

MADRID, Nov. 5.—General Camilo Polavieja starts tonight for the Philippine Islands to replace General Blanco, captain of those colonies.

General Polavieja has considerable experience in Cuba where he was given the nickname of "Butcher." He was subordinate to Martinez Campos at the time of the Virginius affair. Cubans accuse him of murdering prisoners and other outrages. He entered the army in 1859 when the last great war began in Cuba, and was steadily promoted until he became general. Before the close of the war he was governor of the province of Santiago de Cuba, and after the revolution was captain general of Cuba, retaining that office until 1892.

Murdered Through Jealousy.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Miss Belle Forsyth, a milliner living at 120 Michigan avenue, was shot and instantly killed by Charles Carlson, a seaman, at the house today. After the shooting Carlson coolly walked past the landlady but was soon afterwards captured. Jealousy was the cause of the tragedy.

THE FIGHT HAS BUT BEGUN.

So Says the Defeated Champion of the Cause of Silver Coinage.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 5.—"The fight has just commenced," thus spoke William J. Bryan tonight when asked if he considered the result of the election had been a serious blow to the cause of bimetalism. He had just sent a message to Mr. McKinley conceding his election and tendering his congratulations.

Mr. Bryan surrendered at 8:00 o'clock. He had just received the signal and responded within the next ten minutes with a telegram to his successful rival. This signal was a brief message from Senator Jones, chairman of the Democratic committee, informing him that he did not consider it wise to longer withhold the concession of McKinley's election. This message was received by Mr. Bryan a few minutes after he had returned with his wife from an evening stroll, and in the presence of a reporter, gathered in the parlor and reading from of their unpretentious residence. The receipt of the telegram created no sense whatever and was unacquainted with the facts would never have suspected from the serene demeanor the importance of the occasion, or that the chief actor in the drama had more than a passing interest in it. He handed the telegram to Mrs. Bryan, who was standing near him, and without a word, except to explain the purport of the message, sat down at his desk and penned the following telegram:

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 5.—To Hon. William McKinley, Jr., Canton, O.:—My heart aches for the country, but I believe that the returns indicate your election, and I hasten to extend my congratulations. We have submitted the issue to the people and their will is law.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN.

This message was then submitted to Mrs. Bryan, and tone, after being assured to some slight particular so as to conform to suggestions made by her, was given to the press.

While writing the message, and after it was completed, Mr. Bryan chatted pleasantly with the newspaper correspondents who surrounded him, indicating by his manner that he felt relieved to have the matter definitely settled, even though the result was against him. He showed very plainly that Senator Jones's message was no surprise to him, as it indeed was not, for, as those who have been in his confidence knew, he had discussed the better part of the two days since the first day after the election. He was, however, felt that it would be both discourteous and unwise to give out any intimation to the effect until the national committee had spoken.

Mr. Bryan and announced that he would tomorrow issue an address, and as he refused to make any statement tonight or to submit to an interview further than to say that the fight for silver had just begun. It is known to be his purpose to devote much of his time in the future to educating the people in the acceptance of his views on the financial question, and it is his intention to send the key note in the paper which he will issue tomorrow. He will dwell upon the effects of a single gold standard and will urge the advocates of bimetallism to maintain their organizations and use the utmost endeavors in behalf of this cause until it wins at the polls.

Mr. Bryan also declined to outline his future plans or to give his opinion as to the causes which led to his defeat. It is quite certain, however, that he will be tempted by some of the flattering offers which are coming to him to write Lincoln. He will remain about his home for the next few weeks, recuperating, for while he is in no way exhausted by the duties of the campaign, he confesses to a feeling of languor as a result of the arduous labor of the past four months.

It is also believed that Mr. Bryan considers that the result of the election has in it much to encourage the advocates of action by this country in the free coinage of silver.

Mrs. Bryan received the news with quite as much composure as did her husband. She had never felt the same confidence of success than her husband had felt and his from the first, while not without hope, been prepared for the news which Senator Jones's brief message of tonight brought.

DOCTORING THE SICK MAN.

The Sultan to Be Governed by a European Commission.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 5.—It was officially announced today that Great Britain a month ago proposed that the powers give the ambassadors at Constantinople authority to draw up a scheme for reforms to be decided by the Turkish government and to decide upon measures to compel its execution, in the event of the sultan's refusal to do so. The powers were agreeable to the first part of the proposal, but Russia declined to agree to confer upon the ambassadors the power to summon war ships to the dominions, and France suggested the addition of a Russian delegate to the administration of the reforms of the Armenian vilayet, and to increase its powers to the extent of making it a permanent international commission to control Turkish affairs.

It is added that in case of a resistance to their wishes the powers favor the dethronement of the sultan.

A Victory for Bimetalism.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—A morning at members of the bimetallic league has begun to receive their efforts, engaged in drawing up a manifesto. The document is signed by Messrs. A. T. Dourman, H. H.
