POLITICAL MENTION.

Republican Precinct Conventions and Democratic Primaries.

BOTH WILL BE HELD TONIGHT.

Democratic Candidates for Mayor and Councilmen—Independent Political Talk.

Tonight the Republicans of this city will assemble in their respective precincts and nominate fifteen candidates for councilmanic honors. Tomorrow at 10 o'clock they will gather in the Salt Lake Theater and commence the work of issuing a general municipal ticket comprising the offices for mayor, recorder, treasurer and city judge of the people.

While the Republicans are engaged tonight in naming their candidates for the City Council the Democrats throughout all the wards of the city will be selecting delegates to attend their precinct conventions which will meet on Friday night next to perform a similar duty.

For the majority nomination the Democrats are talking of Francis Armstrong, Jesse Clark, Colonel T. G. Webber, Frank Jennings, W. F. Nelden and R. S. Hamilton. For mayor more than three different prominent Democrats have as yet been mentioned outside of the Tuttle and Fitzpatrick camps. The former ones who are talked of as possibilities are H. P. Morris, Joseph M. Watson, E. A. Wedge, Harry Hayward and Hank Inman.

In the Fourth, W. H. Dale, of the Twenty-first ward, is looked upon as a certain nominee. The same can be said with reference to Robert Patterson in the Eighteenth ward. In one of the Eighteenth wards, in addition to these two, it is understood that the Tuttleites will push a man to the front. George D. Pyper, one of the Fourth, has select friends urging on his treasurership nomination for himself.

Aside the hair and uncertainty of political prognostications and expectations, it transpires that there is a good sentiment in some quarters to have party lines to a certain extent in the matter of voting for candidates for municipal offices. For instance, conservative Democrats were heard to say today:

"If the Republicans would nominate Judge A. Lowe or Spencer Clawson I would vote their ticket that far as I am a voter of running for city on business principles."

In such an open declaration came the sensitive and unbecoming response from Republicans, "Yes, and if you nominate John Clark or Francis Armstrong we'll vote for them as we know they are honorable and separate."

BRIEF MENTION.

It was a big audience that R. H. Roberts faced at the Lyceum theater last night to his address to the workingmen. D. C. Dunbar, as chairman of the Democratic county committee, introduced as chairman of the meeting Mr. Stephen Tyler, president of the Salt Lake Trades and Labor Council. Mr. Tyler's opening was listened to with rapt attention and was well received with applause. The place was packed and rang some of its roofed ears with the enthusiastic drum taps of a big crowd of Salt Lakers.

The meeting of the Women's Republican club of the Third precinct, which was set for this evening, has been postponed because of the precinct Republican convention.

Councilman J. J. Corum, of the Second precinct, is likely to be a candidate for renomination to the City Council from the Fifteenth ward district. He represents the west side of the river.

An Unjust Remark.

The News is requested to publish the following:

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, October 7, 1895.

President and Directors of the Columbian Association:

Gentlemen—The one hundred and twenty-five members of the mixed chorus who sang under the direction of Prof. Stephen Jay Dunn in the Tabernacle, feel indignant at the gratuitous insult conveyed to them by Mr. Hayden Evans, in stating that only twenty-five were on hand to sing, making their ten-fold of the choruses as noise, not music.

It is gratifying to know that the enjoyment and approval of his auditory, musicians, and the other competent judges, leading musicians, and the public who heard the singers, regard his language as being not only uncouth but unjust. It is a matter of general remark that, "if the valses and singing were as stated by Mr. Evans, the audiences would not have acted so much like as they did in making up their decision as to whether one dance in response or the from Denver was entitled to the prize."

We call your attention to this matter in the hope that you will take some action as will give assurance that, in the future Binnacleites you may be assured, there will be no recurrence of such unjustifiable action on that to which we have now referred.

Yours very respectfully,

THE SALT LAKE CHORUS,
D. M. MCALLISTER,
Secretary.

A FINE PURCHASE.

Mr. John Beck Buys the Beautiful De Goyler Residence.

One of the most handsome residences in the inter-mountain country and as fine a little bit of suburban property as one will often see, has changed hands in this city. It was the De Goyler residence on the East drive, near Twelfth South, and the purchaser was Mr. John Beck. The price paid was $22,000, while the cost of the building itself was much more, probably in the neighborhood of $30,000. Mr. De Goyler having intended himself largely in California when he has determined to move here. He found the right kind of a purchaser in Mr. Beck, who will doubtless make his home at his handsome new acquisition.

PROVO.

PROVO, UTAH, - OCT. 9, 1895.

The Carling Poisoning Case.

The case of the people vs. Frank Carling came up in the Second District court. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Thurman and John M. Hanson, prosecuting attorney of Millard county, appeared for the people and Messrs. A. King, D. H. Cloft and J. A. Melville for the defendant.

Carling, who is a young man about 19 years of age, is charged with administering Sloan's guano of strychnine to William J. Gunter, who lived to end, on the 5th of March, this year, to the city of Fillmore, Millard county. Mr. Gunter is a widower, about 60 years old, living alone in Fillmore, and the defendant had been in the habit of helping him around his place. On the date upon which the offense is charged to have been committed Mr. Gunter discovered a peculiar taste to some milk he was drinking and shortly after became ill. He had the milk analyzed and found that it contained poison. After drinking the milk he took the following writing on a piece of ordinary note paper in his house:

"FILLMORE CITY,
July 15th, 1894.

This is to certify that I, on July 12, 1894, gave to Frank Carling my oath, whenever that might suit me, my home which I am now living in, its surroundings and all to the best which is joining, and all the animals which I use.

This is my wishes if not changed.

WILLIAM J. GUNTER,
FRANK CARLING."

On the back of this paper appears the writing:

"FILLMORE, Dec 7th, 1894.

The undersigned witness to the with. JAMES SMALL."

This made him at once suspect young Carling, as he claims the paper was never written by him, and Carling and Small were arrested, and after a preliminary examination, bound over to await the action of the grand jury. The grand jury indicted Carling and ignored the case against Small. The prosecution claim that the alleged will was written by Carling on the 2nd of March, this year, three days before the attempted poisoning, and that he took it to Small, who was then working at Oasis, and told him that Mr. Gunter wanted him to sign it as a witness, and Small signed it at the request of the defendant. Carling dated the signature December 7th instead of July 12, 1895, for reason that Small had been away from Fillmore, living in Salt Lake City, on July 12th, and for several months after wards. The defendant will deny any attempt to poison and claim that Mr. Gunter did write the "will" on the date named in consideration of kindnesses rendered by defendant to Mr. Gunter in times of sickness and by helping him with his work. Carling is married, and has previous to this charge, enjoyed a good reputation. He is boyish looking. The case doubtless will occupy two or three days.

OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, - OCT. 9, 1895.

FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT.

A Fourteen-Year Old Boy Meets Instant Death.

A shocking accident happened here yesterday afternoon. Dwight Shurtliff, aged 14, and Mahlon Wild, 15 years old, rented the whole of their parents, went out west of town across the Weber river, shooting. They left home between 8 and 9 a.m. The boys had got some game and were returning home about 5 p.m. When a mile and a half west of the river, on the Ogden bridge, Dwight Shurtliff, who was ahead of his companion, stopped and let the butt of his gun rest on the ground with the muzzle under his arm. As he did so the gun went off, the load entering his left side. Immediately the little boy was about fifty feet behind. Running up to his companion he found him dead, with the top of his jaw and parts of his forehead and carried off. The little boy ran to the disposition of bodies, which he met Mr. Charles Van Vliet in a carriage about a mile from the body. They saw a wagon approaching, and Mr. Van Vliet ran up as directed by the boy, to the body, while the boy came along with the wagon. Some of the neighbors also came along, it was afterwards found, to the body. The boy not being able to locate the place where he had left it, they set a dog to work, who soon led them down where the body was, and it was brought to town and taken to Kelsey, the undertaker's. The inquest was held at 9 o'clock this morning.

Little Dwight was a bright, active, good natured boy, with a host of companions attracted by his good nature. He was the son of Lars and Martha Chaney Shurtliff, who reside on lower Twenty-eighth street, and whose father is now out of deep mourning.
