DESERET EVENING NEWS.

Saturday, - September 16, 1893.

FRAGMENTS.

THE joint city and county building commission are booked for a session on Monday next.

G. R. AND GEORGE SEVADA, the well-known local photographers, left for Chicago over the Union Pacific last night.

THERE was nothing done in the Probate court this morning of any public interest or importance.

CHIEF CLERK SCOTCH of the Union Pacific announces the sale of a lot increasing number of World's Fair tickets to Salt Lake people.

THE regular monthly meeting of the W. S. A. of Salt Lake county will be held in the Thirteenth ward assembly rooms next Tuesday afternoon, the 26th inst., at 2 o'clock. All interested are invited to attend. Maggie Brown, Secretary.

SANITARY INSPECTOR CROWNSHANK makes a district census as to the whereabouts of the missing cholera records. There is a marked anxiety on the part of those who are investigating the case to know just what they contain. They will, however, probably never know.

THOMAS ASHWORTH, one of the leading locals of the Tabernacle choir, received home to-day that his homestead had been increased by a young second issue of prodigious lung development offering his shoulder. Mrs. Ashworth is doing well, but she so about regretted refused to have her husband telegraphed of the new arrival, preferring that the choir should not be deprived of his services in the concert at Chicago.

THE Independent Democratic society will given concert and ball at City Hall, Market street, Monday evening next. Fifteen beautiful and valuable prizes will be given away to gentlemen holding best ladies' coupons, ladies holding gentlemen's coupons, the man with the largest family, the lady weighing over sixty years of age, the six best waltzers in the hall (three ladies and three gentlemen), and to the handsomest lady.

DISPATCH STEAMERS this answers the query in last night's NEWS, regarding a postponement of the chief's reception till "Conference." "To put off the welcome home Salt Lake friends seem so strangely given we would seem like deferring the greeting of a close friend, merely that a crowd might witness that greeting. In all probability we shall have a concert for our country friends especially during Conference, and I think we have variety enough to offer in the way of programme to make two distinct affairs, and let each take care of itself. I know that we have a financial deficiency big enough to meet the income of both concerts," said the coachman with a smile.

Relief Society Conference.

The conference of the Relief Society of this Stake of Zion will be held in the Salt Lake Assembly Hall in this city on Friday, September 22nd, meetings commencing at 10 a. m. and at 2 p. m. as usual. Representatives from all the branches in this county are earnestly requested to attend as well as all members who can be present. The public are also cordially invited and a special invitation is hereby extended to the presiding authorities of the Church and of the Stakes and to all Bishops and brethren interested in this benevolent institution.

By order of the president, Mrs. M. Isabella Horne. Per E. B. W.

GOLDEN OPINIONS.

What Governor West Has to Say of the Tabernacle Choir

ON THEIR WORK IN CHICAGO.

He Is Lavish In Their Praise and Thinks They Have Accomplished Great Things for Utah.

Governor Caleb W. West arrived from Chicago at 8 o'clock this morning over the Union Pacific railroad, having been absent from the city since September 5th. He was interviewed today by a NEWS representative, who obtained his impressions as to the work of the Tabernacle choir in the recent contest.

"I was very proud of our choir," said the Governor; "they were remarkably successful in their showing and commended themselves to everybody who heard them. When Mr. Whitney informed me of the result of the contest on the eight of my reception, and I announced it immediately afterward, the Utah people present simply went wild with enthusiasm. I heard a great many opinions expressed by people from all over the country in regard to the Salt Lake Tabernacle choir, and they were exceedingly complimentary—they praised our singers in the very highest terms. I do not think anything we could have done could possibly have given Utah a better send off than what our choir did in Chicago. High encomiums were passed upon the soloists, among whom Mrs. Bessie Dean Allison, Mrs. Pugsley, Mrs. Agnes Olsen Thomas, and Mr. Easton, the last named of whom created quite a furore by his rendering of "O, My Father," which was one of the most beautiful things I have ever listened to. It was enjoyed by everyone. Mr. Weihe also came in for a large share of the honors.

"There is another thing to be said. The manner in which the Salt Lake choir acquitted themselves was remarkable considering the fact that they had to stand against trained singers who had been contending for prizes in public for years, and who strengthened their force by selecting help from some of the most accomplished vocalists of other societies, while our people came out to public for the first time to try for a prize. In view of this their great success is all the more creditable. I do not think that too much praise can be bestowed upon Prof. Evan Stephens, their leader, for the splendid work he accomplished. I sincerely hope that the citizens of Salt Lake will testify their appreciation of what the choir have done and the credit which they have won for our Territory, by attending en masse the reception and concert to be given here next week. It is due to them—they are fully entitled to this.

Asked what he thought of the Tabernacle choir receiving the second prize, the Governor was of opinion that a suggestion to divide the first prize with them might with propriety have been made under the circumstances, "but," said he, "we have to take our chances in such things." The Tabernacle choir need not fear in any way disappointed. They and their leaders have shown great enterprise, courage and nerve, and they have done wonders.

The Governor, when questioned as to Utah's display at the World's Fair, replied that it was extremely creditable and said the Utah building is one of the most cosy, comfortable and complete among all the buildings there. Indeed it was far ahead of many of them. There were others, of course, more elaborate, but in the matter of arrangement and detail Utah stood second to none.

"How about the business outlook in the east at this time?" queried the reporter.

"Well, as to that," answered Governor West, "I cannot give you any very reliable information, but there seems to be a general feeling that the times are improving. I spent all my time in Chicago, where there are lots of people, business and money now, and therefore the talk there do not appreciate the hard times like places elsewhere. Chicago is crowded with visitors from all parts of the world, and a great deal of money is being spent there. This month the attendance at the Fair has been exceedingly large, and if the weather continues favorable I think it will be a magnificent success. The fact that the crops looking up in the Utah building also seemed very always has encouraged it has been patronized.

The Governor comes home to Salt Lake to the cool of health and rest of delight with all he saw at the great World's Fair.

W. S. A. Convention.

The annual convention of the Utah branch N. A. W. S. A. will be held in the Fourteenth ward assembly rooms in this city on Thursday, October 5th, 1893. The executive session will commence at 10:30 a. m. It is desirable that delegates from the several counties should be present, and take part in the proceedings. The convention proper will commence at 2 p. m. at the same place. It is expected there will be addresses by some of the ablest exponents of woman suffrage in the Territory. Presents of the several organizations are asked to be prepared to be read and as to the annual movement not forgetting to the secretary. The public are cordially invited to the afternoon session.

Gold News.

Reports from several gold mining districts are somewhat encouraging. The "clean up" for two weeks in the Bonanza and American mines, South Dakota, amounts to [illegible]. Eastern capitalists are preparing to work other mines already known more carefully and economically. No doubt even moderately valuable mines and placers would pay to be closely worked in the present condition of things.

The most elaborate reports, however, come from parts of the Americas not yet belonging to the United States. In British Guiana there are great goldfields, said to equal in richness any yet discovered. Now is the time to invest in them. Nearer home, in southwestern British Columbia, has been found in the past two years some mines of which a newspaper on the ground, the Rossland Miner, says: "Within 10 miles of Rossland are now discovered more rich mines than there are within 300 miles of Denver."

The Kootenai river, a tributary of the Upper Columbia, is the crookedest stream in North America probably. It is the shape of the letter "S." It crosses the line between the United States and British Columbia twice, rises on the northern slope of Montana, goes on the Idaho border and finally pours into the Upper Columbia about as far east this west of its source. It is navigable by small steamboats, and these are now loaded down every trip with prospectors old and new from the states and elsewhere. The Kootenai flows through the British mountains a spur of the Rockies as crooked as the river is. In the mountain golden of the British range is found the mineral wealth, which if it were on any side of the line would raise a greater excitement than the Cripple mine did a couple of years ago, for the British mines are richer. Gold, lead and silver have been found in increasingly paying quantity.

The point of departure where miners secure their outfit for the mountains is Kaslo, a little new town on the Kootenai, a short distance north of the Montana line. Kaslo has been created by the mines. An enquiry there says he has a quartz specimen which would run $2000 of gold to the ton. Lead and silver ores are proportionately rich.

Our British brethren prefer to go where they see the thinking is as verdant of superior mind. But when it comes to opening up gold mines, we can tell them the policy is dead wrong.

Texas Grasses and Flint Beds.

The verde itself is of a brilliant red color in much of southern Kansas and northern Texas. The landscape is in consequence presents a most vivid and striking appearance in this region, especially when the red clay strata are intermingled with snow white gypsum beds as is the case in many of the hills. If ever some fine clay beds could be discovered in quantity thereabouts, our national colors would be faithfully displayed by the hand of nature herself.

From the marvellous, inexhaustible gypsum beds of Texas come the material of which artificial architects made the brilliant "staff" that covered the exposition buildings at Chicago with a snow white glittering surface and gave a good opportunity to call the name "White City." Gypsum is adjunct of Roman lime and now age, when now of very [illegible]
