FROM MISSIONARY FIELDS.

A Letter from West Virginia.

Lawson, Raleigh Co.,
W. Va., Nov. 4, 1897.

To the Editor:

On March 21, 1896, I bade farewell to the beautiful valleys of the mountains, and after a very pleasant journey through country new to me, I arrived at Chattanooga, Tenn., March 26. While at Chattanooga I had the privilege of visiting the famous Lookout mountain, where, in the War of the Rebellion, so many noble sons met their doom. While here our colored guide (for such he had led us to a part of the mountain where the tops of the trees were all gone. He informed us that they had been cut off by cannon balls in the time of the war. In many places could be seen large cannon balls lodged in the trunks of the sturdy oak. From Lookout mountain I went to Chickamauga National cemetery, where those who met their fate in the great civil war were laid to rest. And the same I should say that place would be the beautiful city of the dead. For it is indeed so. After copying in my diary some of the beautiful inscriptions found on the marble head stones I return to the city when I receive my appointment together with some valuable instructions from Elder Elias S. Kimball, president of the mission. I was assigned to labor in the West Virginia conference which includes the eastern part of Kentucky. I travelled in company with Elder Blackmore of Brigham City to Lewis county, Kentucky, where we met Elders Harrison and Wilcox. After two weeks in Lewis county I was called to accompany Elder B. D. Wilcox of Preston, Idaho, in opening up Letcher county, Ky., situated in the eastern part of Kentucky along the Black mountains. On arriving in this county we went direct to the county seat, Whitesburg, obtained the court house to preach in and stayed at the best hotel in the place. The people of Letcher county are as a rule poor, but a more hospitable people one could not wish to meet.

After three months of successful labor there we returned to Lewis county to attend conference where we had a spiritual as well as a temporal feast. Conference over I am assigned to labor with Elder Curtis B. Smith of Manassa, Colo., and our field of labor is Mercer county, West Virginia.

We arrived in Mercer, Sept. 11th and went to the home of Samuel B. Crosby, the only family of saints in Mercer county. Great credit is due Brother Crosby and family for their untiring efforts in making a comfortable home for the Elders. In beginning our labors in Mercer county we found the people very indifferent and a great deal of prejudice existing among some. But by the help of the Lord we succeeded in eradicating from the minds of the people, some of the prejudice that have so long existed. Churches and school houses were thrown open to us, and now a Mormon Elder will be welcomed in almost any part of Mercer county.

From Mercer county I was called to go into Raleigh county, West Va., in company with Elder Harry H. Cluff of Provo. At the latter place the writer finds himself comfortably situated at the present time. Since coming into Raleigh county we have baptized eight souls. There are now sixteen Saints in this county. We have just organized a Sunday school which is a credit to the place, and a great benefit to all interested. We have at present forty-three names enrolled. People of different denominations attend our Sunday school and all seem very well pleased with the way it is conducted. Our superintendent, Brother C. A. Thompson, is an exemplary young man, and is interested in the work. The Saints in Raleigh county have shown themselves worthy the blessings of God. Brother Lawson Jarrell and family have never tired of making a pleasant home for the Elders. Uncle Jake Pettry, although not a member of the Church, has done much for the spread of truth in the county. He is a wood-sawyer and an honest man. He has ever been a home for the Mormon Elders.

Our late conference was held in the county last month and, using a common expression among the people here, it was "a night in the world." On entering the hall where our conference was held the first thing to draw attention were the beautiful decorations, consisting of pine, fir, hemlock, the laurel and the holly branch. The people, Mormon and non-Mormon, united as brothers and sisters and the result was our conference was a success. It is a custom among the people here at all public gatherings to have dinner on the ground and not wishing to be out of the fashion, on this occasion, as it was a pleasing sight to behold. The yard was covered with people. They came from far and near, and it was informed that some had come over fifty miles. Elder A. P. Rosier of Brooklyn met with us and we had a time of rejoicing. The blessings of God have attended me in my entire mission. I have had health and strength and kind friends to provide for my needs. My travel, as did the Apostles of old, absolutely without purse or scrip, and we have proven beyond a doubt that by so doing we are greatly blessed in our labors.

The Gospel is spreading as never before. We have more invitations to come and preach than we can find time to accept. The harvest truly is great but the laborers are few.

The "News" seeth as cold not do without it. It is read and re-read and then handed to friends and friends who are anxious to peruse its columns.

ORSON HYDE,
Lawson, West Virginia.

Evangelistic Work in Montana.

Anaconda, Montana,
November 1, 1897.

To the Editor:

On Oct. 23-4 was held a conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints of the Montana mission. Present on the stand were Elder John Henry Smith, of the Apostles' quorum; T. E. Ricks, president of the Bannock stake and of this mission; traveling Elders, F. Tenney, H. Brewer, C. H. Jones, Ben E. Rich, O. J. Stack, Wm. Thornley, Rulon Harris, H. P. Jackson, A. D. Miller, Jos. Ott, Wm. Young, Wm. Widdison and W. H. Corbine. A short product of the Anaconda branch and Wm. Hopkins president of the Utah branch.

Three meetings were held each day. On Saturday afternoon the time was taken up by Elder John Henry Smith and Elder F. S. Brameld. A most excellent spirit prevailed.

The afternoon meeting was devoted to the hearing of reports of the traveling Elders, which indicated that good results were realized.

In the evening Elder Ben E. Rich spoke for a short time, after which Elder John Henry Smith took a position in testimony to the restoration of the Gospel.

On Sunday, at 9 a. m., a Sunday school was held. Brother Jos. M. Neal was honorably released as superintendent and William Kite installed.

At 10 a. m. the conference commenced. Elder Hyde opened at some length and gave valuable instruction to the Saints. He bore a powerful testimony of the divinity of the Gospel. Several of the traveling Elders reported their labors and all testified to the Gospel of Christ being upon the earth.

At 2 p. m. a large congregation was present. Elders Brameld and John Henry Smith occupied the entire time of the meeting. An elucidation of the principles of the Gospel was given.

At 7:30 there was another large gathering. Elders Rich and John Henry Smith explained the doctrines of the Gospel of Jesus, both warned the people that God's judgments would partly the rich and born all proud and unholy.

On Monday at nine a. m. a Priests' local meeting was held. Elder Hyde and John Henry Smith encouraged the Elders to labor ardently for the spread of the truth. F. S. Brameld was called and set apart by Elder John Henry Smith to preside over the Montana mission, and was instructed to make a personal visit to all the districts now being worked and to push the spread of the Gospel as fast as possible.

Elders T. E. Rich and Rich returned home while the Elders were assigned their fields of labor.

Elders John Henry Smith, F. S. Brameld, Geo. S. Young and A. D. Miller repaired to Helena, the capital of Montana. The governor of the state was interviewed, as was the mayor of the city. Both gentlemen assured us perfect freedom in our labors.

Elder John Henry Smith proceeded to Corinth while the others set to work to come to canvass the town. The editor of the Daily Herald, informed us they were on hand to assist in any honorable way. The "president" gave quite a longer account of our visit as well as a summarized account of the sermons of the brethren made at a meeting held on Sunday evening in Engelbach's Dummer college.

We desire now to say a word especially to the people of Utah. We are here to preach the Gospel and in opening new fields meet with many obstacles which can be removed. When we enter a town or village and do not know a soul there we find it hard to get an inroad. You who have friends or relatives either residing in or visiting Montana please let us have their names and address and we will visit them. We can do more work to the spread of the work and we fondly anticipate a hearty response. Address all communications to me, at Box 70, Anaconda, Montana.

Yours in the Lord,
F. S. BRAMWELL,
President.

South Alabama Conference.

Mt. Willing, Ala., Nov. 2, 1897.

To the Editor:

Our conference is growing steadily in numbers, as also in spiritual strength, and though the fever scare has somewhat hindered us in our labors, we have by no means any cause to complain.

On October 21st we had a very good shower and since then the wind has been blowing quite continuously and today the weather is quite cool and we look for a frost in the near future which will put a quietus on the yellow fever and then we can go to work with some better success.

Our Elders are in no danger at present, yet all the people are afraid of strangers for fear of their having been exposed to the fever. We rejoice to see the cold weather, as it will be a relief to the infected districts.

Crops are quite short in some parts of the state, owing to the drouth, but no one is suffering as yet, nor do we think they will, as all made enough to do them through the winter.

The health of our conference has been very good this fall and all are working zealously for the cause of truth.

About October 1st, Elders Stevenson and Halford came into our conference from their homes in Idaho and Utah respectively. There were also two other new Elders who arrived here on October 27th, Elder Arthur C. Candland from Mount Pleasant, Utah, and Elder Joe Smith of Fielding, Utah. All are feeling well and have entered their missionary fields with the spirit of their labors as all get when the excitement of the fever is over.

Our Saints are well as far as we know and are very zealous in their efforts to spread the Gospel and are living their religion with the desire of gaining salvation.

The Elders laboring in South Alabama conference with their addresses are as follows:

Geo. A. Bell and Chas. H. Alley, Camden, Wilcox county, Ala.

W. H. Redd and M. C. Phelps, Grove Hill, Clarke county, Ala.

W. H. Forsyth and Anton Cook, Jones Mills, Jefferson county, Ala.

Benner E. Brown and G. A. Heiner, Riverton, Escambia county, Ala.

Jos. Stevenson and A. H. Melville, Elba, Coffee county, Ala.

E. E. Neeley and Eric P. Monson, Houston, Baldwin county, Ala.

Lorenzo H. Jones and Taylor Nelson, Monroeville, Monroe county, Ala.

Jos. Johnson and F. M. Stevenson, Greenville, Butler county, Ala.

John H. Pace and Clifton Halford, Clayton, Barbour county, Ala.

E. L. Terry and Jos. A. Turnbow, Lock, Choctaw county, Ala.

E. M. Dever and W. C. Carver, Abbeville, Henry county, Ala.

Chas. A. Carles and C. H. Spencer, Perryville, Perry county, Ala.

W. E. Jenkins and G. T. Webster, Tuskegee, Macon county, Ala.

Eli L. Bennion and Wm. W. Williams, Seale, Russell county, Ala.

M. A. Lewis and F. W. Andrus, Troy, Pike county, Ala.

S. A. Allen and Sanford Weeks, Eufaula, Barbour county, Ala.

M. A. Stockland and Jos. Biggs, Lindsborg, Lowndes county, Ala.

Geo. E. Jarvis and Arthur C. Candland, Camden, Wilcox county, Ala.

Wm. J. Stevens and Joe Smith, Jr., Braggs, Lowndes county, Ala.

Lawrence Peterson and A. M. Reeder, Magnolia, Marengo county, Ala.

O. H. Thomas and Irving L. Pratt, Camden, Wilcox county, Ala.

D. C. THOMAS, President.
IRVING L. PRATT, Secretary.

Northern California Mission.

San Francisco, California,
November 2, 1897.

Will you kindly grant space in the columns of your valuable paper for the following assignments of Elders to their respective fields of labor in this the northern conference of the state of California? Those of the Latter-day Saints (throughout Zion having relatives and friends living in any of the following places, will confer a favor by desire the Elders to visit, in the line of their work, each time so to and help to forward the work of the Lord in this state:

John Y. Smith, W. R. Sloter, John H. Miller, W. R. Bennett, George Child, and F. C. Parkinson, San Francisco.

J. L. Lovelace, W. Wallentine, W. A. Bringhurst, Sacramento and El Dorado county.

Joel Hanson and Oliver Thornton, Oakland and Alameda county.

Jos. R. Berry and D. J. Bennett, San Jose.

Orvil Calkins and Frank C. Ross, Santa Clara county.

Jos. Davis and L. A. Merrill, Santa Cruz county.

H. J. Bailey and Lee Tuck, Napa county.

G. G. Hendricks and E. J. Wilkins, Nevada and Yuba counties.

J. F. Boyd and W. L. Jackson, Butte and Butte counties.

W. A. Harwood and Alfred Olsen, Colusa and Yolo counties.

Jos. A. Kelly and Geo. Harley, Stockton and San Joaquin counties.

Chas. Poulter and H. H. Bushell, Fresno and Modoc counties.

Wilford Knight and Chas. Monteith, Tulare and Kern counties.

The Elders of this conference are all travelling without purse or scrip as opt these laboring in the city of San Francisco. They are receiving the best of treatment and meeting many good warm friends on every hand. They are in many cases furnished with which houses and churches free and are provided with beds and food at some of the finest hotels of the state without cost. Prejudice is fast being effaced and prospects for a good work never looked brighter. We have baptized one hundred souls into the Church in this state since the first of last January and prospects are good for many more within a few weeks. The leading newspapers of the state often give us a fair hearing, which helps the grand cause wherever the papers are distributed.

The "News" comes to me regularly and is indeed a welcome visitor. Everywhere the blessings of the Lord to attend the workers of the good cause throughout the world. I am,

Yours in the grand work of truth,
F. C. PARKINSON,
President Northern California Conference.

N. B.—Any person desiring our Elders to visit their friends or relatives will kindly address their letters to F. C. PARKINSON, President of the California Mission, 925 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco, Calif.

GIFT OF GOOD HUMOR

THE WOMAN WHO "TAKES THE SUNSHINE ABOUT WITH HER."

The Sad Results That Invariably Follow Gloomfulness — They Are Both Mental and Physical — The Best Plan Is to Always Roll Your Peas.

The best gift which can be given to a girl in her cradle by her fairy godmother is that of good humor. So far as her own happiness and that of those connected with her are concerned, it is better than beauty, better than wealth. She who can keep her temper under all circumstances, who can laugh over misfortunes and perplexedly make the best of everything, home or had it may be, has conquered fate and has an umbrella more or less proof against all the storms of life.

It must be admitted that cheerfulness is in great part a matter of temperament and that there are people who can no more help worrying than a hen can help getting wet when it rains. But the hen can and generally does seek the best shelter she can. A talent for cheerfulness, like every other talent, can be cultivated and grown with it. "Look, Biddy," said the Irishman, "if you can't be easy, be as easy as you can be!" In any event, if you must worry, try to keep it to yourself and don't pour your basin of cold water over the sitting room table for the delectation of your whole family. And let no tell you a secret—there is no cosmetic in the whole beauty shop half so effective as good humor.

Freshness and ill temper leave their indelible marks on the fairest face, while smiling good temper illuminates the plainest one. "That child isn't the least bit pretty," said a lady the other day of one of the pupils in a large school, "and yet to me she is the most attractive of all! Miss E.'s girls, her face is always so bright, and her eyes fairly sparkle with fun and good humor. I smile in spite of myself whenever I see her."

Her pupils, she of the stinging belles in an inland town was a girl of no present mien to beauty and of moderate means. She was clever and well educated, but her chief charms lay in the facility which she possessed of making every one at ease, and, as one of her admirers said, "taking the sunshine about with her."

Nothing wears one out like fretting. Just as the friction on a machine which it should grind wears the surfaces more in an hour than in a week of proper use, a day of fretful worrying will dig more and deeper wrinkles on your face than months of hard work faithfully done.

Any physician will tell you that fits of crying will injure both your eyes and your complexion. A bad attack of the sulks will yellow your skin as surely as one of indigestion.

Make the experiment of practicing smiles and sonnets before your mirror for a few minutes and see which you think most becoming. If a thing can be helped, go to work to help it with a will and do your very best. If it cannot, sit the trap and worry in the world will not make it any easier to bear. You only cover your cross with goodies and chafe your foot against the barriers you cannot break. And, after all, few things are so bad that patience cannot better them.

There is an old story of two pedlars who in the middle ages were ordered to explain their woe by walking to Rome many miles with peas in their shoes. The one put the specified number of hard, dried peas in either shoe and reached Rome after days of suffering, lame and footsore. The other quietly filled his pots and journeyed on comfortably as though they had not been.

There is a great deal of philosophy in holding your peas, and there are few ills hard that holding will not soften them. It may almost be said that the true secret of happiness in life is to make the best of everything and to so far as lieth in us to help others do the same.

Perhaps you think you have a hard time, there are so many things to vex and cross you in your lot. Suppose you sit down and make a list to writing of your worries and trials, and when all have been set down make another list of your blessings. In your business the complaints of the customers are generally in in make you ashamed of yourself.

And it so happens your trial is that some other girl has or seems to have everything you want and cannot get. Stop envying her long enough to think to how many other girls your lot seems enviable as here to you. Besides, you may rest assured that even this fortunate creature has her own stock of worries. Don't you remember the fable how, when Jupiter permitted mortals to exchange their burdens, the walking and lamentations redoubled when the exchange had been made and all came back praying that their old loads might be restored.

And, my dear girl, only think what a cross your indulgence in ill temper must be to others, how uncomfortable you can make those around you by scowling.—Mrs. M. P. Handy in Housewife.

Toothbrush Cleanliness.

People fancy that about these things are very much alike when it comes to tooth brush cleanliness. In fact, this article of the toilet is poorly cared for. It should be protected from that stale which induces it to the necessity of hiding its condition under a drift of highly scented powder.

A toothbrush needs air and sunshine. It must be kept thoroughly cleansed. So many brushes are merely given a quick rinse off and then tucked into some corner out of the way until needed.

Never use a brush too long. It needs to be thrown away when it has served a certain time, for, no matter how carefully tucked after, it will gather about its bristles more or less of moisture that may, unknown to you, be anything but healthy.

The same must be in wholesome state. A great deal depends in this respect upon the kind of brush used and the way it is used.—Exchange.

Sewing on the Buttons.

Ready made clothing, whether upper or under garments should have all the buttons sewed on more securely before they are worn. These are unfortunately generally held by a stitch and a prayer, and they are lost the first time they are laundered. A few stitches in the worn ends of vest buttonholes and new buttons have a wonderfully reassuring effect.

Blanket Drapery.

Indian blankets are a new drapery used for covering lounges and chairs and decorating mantels and pictures. The blankets are woven in strips from six inches to two yards wide and are of soft silk throws on a cotton foundation. All colors and combinations are shown, and they are brilliant and beautiful. They are especially appropriate for oriental rooms.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which combine to make life miserable, and the knowledge that a gentle yet effective laxative is within reach, the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which gently stimulates internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed, everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and giving universal general satisfaction.
