Insane Asylum Report.—Low Water.—Theatricals.—Railway Cut.

Regular Correspondence.

PROVO, April 15.—A session of the Territorial Insane asylum board was held here yesterday. The following business was transacted:

The medical superintendent reported expenditures for the month of March, salaries, $1215.35; supplies, $1210.57. Report accepted.

In response to the solicitation of the executive committee, Henry A. Saunders offered to furnish and erect three fire escape ladders, to be of 1½-inch pipe, rounds of 1¼ inch pipe, one foot apart, ladder 15 inches wide inside posts, and braced to the building at intervals of ten feet with 1½-inch pipe, set in lead, for the sum of $965.50. The committee was authorized to have as many ladders constructed as were considered necessary.

J. D. Jones reported on sundry claims due the asylum from counties and individuals for the care of patients. Utah county had paid $57 due, and several other small claims had been partially paid. Further time was asked for. Report accepted and request granted.

A number of claims, aggregating $602.98, were allowed and an appropriation of $248 on account was made to the Boyle Furniture Co.

The medical superintendent submitted an estimate of salaries and supplies for the ensuing six months, amounting in the aggregate to $23,985. He was authorized to advertise for bids for the supplies. His estimate of running the asylum for the ensuing three months was $11,500, which estimate the secretary was instructed to certify to the auditor of public accounts.

The medical superintendent reported the movement of the patients during the month of March as follows:

	Males	Females	Total
No. patients March 1st	98	79	177
Admitted	3	2	[illegible]
Under treatment	101	81	[illegible]
Discharged	1	3	[illegible]
Died	1	1	2
Remaining	99	79	178

NOTES.

The cold weather has greatly lowered the water in Provo river. Watermaster Thurman was under the necessity of tearing out a portion of a dam he had constructed in the river in anticipation of high water, in order to meet the requirements of the woolen mills for water.

Geneva has now been platted, and building lots 25 by 125 are on the market. It will be a charming summer resort.

The Mighty Dollar was presented by Mrs. W. J. Florence and company at the opera house last night. The attendance was not large, but those present appreciated the selection and its rendition.

There was a spasmodic move on the part of the Rio Grande Western on Thursday in giving a one-dollar rate from this city to Salt Lake and return. It was in consequence of some trouble between the two rival roads, but the differences were soon patched up and the old rate restored, much to the regret of passengers.

OGDEN.

County Selectman Charged With Grand Larceny.—Gas Extensions.—Bicycle Accident.—Notes.

A genuine sensation was sprung yesterday by the city and United States officers when they arrested, on the charge of grand larceny, James Wangsgaard, county selectman and merchant. The arrest was made at Wangsgaard's store in Huntsville. When told of the charge the selectman made no resistance, and at once prepared to accompany the officers back to Ogden. The complaint alleged that on Friday last Wangsgaard stole from the pawnshop of Sam Dendowitz one gold watch valued at $100. The preliminary examination took place yesterday afternoon, and last night before Police Judge Cahoon, two sessions being had, and at their conclusion the court took the case under advisement, meanwhile releasing the defendant on his own recognizance. Wangsgaard's friends do not believe in his guilt and assert that it is a blackmailing scheme on the part of Dendowitz.

Yesterday evening A. B. Hayes was run into by Mr. Wallace Boyle, who was riding a bicycle at a good speed. The force of the collision was so great as to cut Mr. Hayes' lip quite severely and cut quite a gash in his left leg. He was knocked into a semi-unconscious condition, from which he quickly rallied. Mr. Boyle was thrown from his bicycle but sustained no serious injury.

There are now in Ogden, in the railroad yards, five carloads of new pipe to be used in the extension of the present gas system by the Ogden Gas and Electric Light Co. The work of extending the system will not be prosecuted until the arrival here of the general manager of the Salt Lake and Ogden Syndicate, Mr. Conlist, who is booked to sail from England this week.

Frank Myers, the alleged counterfeiter, who was arrested Wednesday, was arraigned before Judge Bishop yesterday, pleaded not guilty to the charge, and his trial set for next Tuesday at 10 a.m. It is whispered that the evidence against Myers is not of a very conclusive character and that he may be able to prove his innocence of the charge.

Young Frank Bateman was yesterday sentenced by Judge Cross to pay a fine of $20 or spend twenty days in the county jail, as a punishment for having forgotten to promptly return the side saddle which he borrowed of Corry Bros.

Work on the Utah Loan & Trust building is progressing rapidly and the building will be again ready for occupancy before the time set.

On May 8th the Utah Pharmaceutical association will meet in Ogden and hold a two day's session.

The Trans-Mississippi congress will bring about 1200 delegates into Ogden

BISHOP McCULLOUGH'S FUNERAL

An Interesting Sketch of his Life Furnished by a Correspondent.

The funeral services over the remains of Bishop Thomas Jefferson McCullough were held in Alpine meeting house on Wednesday, and the representatives of various other wards were in attendance. After the choir had sung "O, my Father," and "Hear Gone," some of the Local Elders made brief remarks, eulogizing the character of the deceased. Bishops J. E. Booth of Provo, George Halliday of American Fork, and David Cannon of St. George, spoke in the highest terms of the many excellent qualities of the deceased.

At the close of the services and after those present had viewed the remains, the procession moved to the cemetery, and the body was laid to rest. The dedicatory prayer was offered by Elder J. E. Booth.

Thomas Jefferson McCullough, son of Thomas and Mary Hefner McCullough, was born August 18th, 1829, in Wayne county, Tennessee. He was the only child of his parents, who showed great affection upon him and gave him a good common school education. When sixteen years of age he and his parents received the Gospel and were baptized August 9th, 1841, by Elder John D. Lee. In 1846 the deceased volunteered his services in the Mexican war when, although not in an engagement, he nearly lost his life. Soon after landing at Vera Cruz the march into the interior of Mexico began, but being disabled by an attack of the measles he was kept under care at the hospital until the return of a detachment, which he joined on their homeward voyage. The yellow fever was then raging and he was prostrated with that dreaded disease.

On November 28th, 1849, he married Margaret Vance, two years his senior, and who had also been baptized in 1842 by John D. Lee. Mary Elizabeth, their only child, was born Feb. 4, 1851, but nine months afterwards died at Council point, Pottawatomie county, Iowa, where the parents had made a temporary home preparatory to their journey west. During the short stay there (fifteen months) the ague, then so prevalent, made an inroad upon the family relatives. It was here the deceased laid his own parents and his wife's sister to rest, and shortly after on the plains, his wife's father.

As a captain in John Tidwell's company and with immediate charge over several orphan children, he commenced the journey over the plains with two yoke of oxen and a yoke of cows. On reaching the valleys he located with about a dozen pioneer families near the present town site of Alpine City, the historic dugout being his first shelter. From an autobiographical sketch it is seen he was the first person to build a house on the present townsite. The logs he hewed, put up, and covered with dirt, then without any floor, window or door to close the openings, he moved in Nov. 9, 1850. The day before eight inches of snow fell, which remained till the following March.

His first ecclesiastical office was the clerkship of the branch. He was ordained a Teacher by his Bishop, Isaac Houston, and on February 8, 1853, was ordained an Elder by W. Wadsworth. On April 10th of the same year was ordained a Seventy, and September 28th of the following year was appointed clerk of the quorum. On January 5, 1866, he was chosen second counselor to Bishop I. Houston, and on May 19, 1868, was ordained High Priest and first counselor to Bishop Houston. Shortly after this the death of Bishop Houston occurred when T. J. McCullough was set apart Bishop of Alpine ward by Bishop E. Hunter and L. W. Hardy, Nov. 15, 1869, at Salt Lake City. On Feb. 22, 1877, he married Malissa McDaniels, who, after a prolonged sickness of several years, died of heart disease, Aug. 24, 1878.

The deceased was one of the oldest Bishops by ordination in the Utah Stake and the oldest but one in the Church, namely Bishop Kesler of the Sixteenth ward, Salt Lake City. He was the only male person in Alpine who was there forty years ago, and he continued to reside on the same lot where he built his first house up to the day of his death. For five years he acted in the Utah County Militia district, as military officer; served twenty years in the capacity of mayor of Alpine City, twelve years in succession as selectman of Utah county, was twice elected to the territorial legislature and was for twenty-five years postmaster.

The deceased had for eight years suffered much, and at times was prostrated with Bright's disease. The attack last June was so severe that his health rapidly declined. Although not compelled thereafter always to keep his bed, yet for seven weeks general debility and the old complaint complicated with other troubles, caused him intense sufferings until death released him. He had before his death directed the disposal of his property.

As a counselor and father to his people, and as a man of rare executive ability, he will long live in the hearts of all those who knew him. A.
