Maud E. Mills, who from whose body a rib was removed at St. Mark's hospital a few days ago, is reported as doing as well as can be expected.

Miss Olive Grant will give her "First Students' Piano Recital" at the First Congregational church on Saturday evening, one week from tonight.

The "Deseret" has received an invitation for its staff to attend the commencement exercises of the Agricultural College to be held beginning at June 11th.

Hon. Francis Armstrong, his friends will regret to learn, is still detained at home with illness. For some days he has been very much followed and inquiry at his residence today brought the answer that he was no better.

The committee on "Old Times" drawing for the celebration of Brigham Young's birthday at Saltair, June 1st, are requested to meet at Mrs. H. W. Chawners, 12 north State street, on Monday evening, May 22nd, at 8 o'clock. T. A. Clawson, Chairman.

Mr. E. A. McDonald, former business manager of the Herald, announces that he will, about June 1st, begin the publication of an attractive paper, the title of which will be "The Journal." An advance circular says that it will be an "independent Democratic newspaper." It will have no telegraphic service.

A committee of High school pupils, Carrie Colbath, Frank Fox and Thomas Taylor, last evening presented a beautiful bouquet of roses to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Fisher, parents of Sergeant Fred Fisher. The presentation was made in pursuance of a brief talk by Principal Clark of the High school earlier in the day.

Colonel R. T. Burton received a telegram last evening from Heber Wm. H. Preston, dated at Tooquerville, stating that the crops in that section are very poor, and that stock were starving for want of grass upon the ranges. He also added that the fruit crop was very good wherever there was water with which to irrigate it.

Lieutenant Anton Schneider, formerly a sergeant of the engineers, has returned to Salt Lake City. He acquired shoulder straps recently by having been made first lieutenant. He has an offer in Honolulu to act as engineer on a road to be built there, and may return to be his work. He has visited his wife who is in the East.

Samuel Terrell, the miner who was operated upon at the Keogh-Hunter hospital for a tumor on the base of an ear, was reported today as progressing nicely. The poor fellow, however, will be seriously disfigured for life, as, even if he will not only be minus an ear, but an arm also, which was amputated a few days ago.

The engagement of Miss Margaret N. Horne and Alex C. Piper is announced. Their union will take place on June 21. Miss Horne is the daughter of Mrs. Mary S. and the late Joseph Horne. The prospective groom is a brother of George H. Piper, both being a wide circle of friends who will congratulate them on their determination to enter the domain of matrimonial happiness.

W. C. McBride, the visiting representative of the Scottish Wizards, of the Great Salt Lake Temple, is spending a few days in Ogden. Mr. McBride met with success in the Ogden Temple, but he finds a more favorable condition in the city of Lake very good. He predicts that Ogden probably this year is more of great prosperity. He meets many men who are looking for good investments and he finds a large percentage of them looking to Idaho.

For the purpose of considering the matter of sending a delegate to the reform convention at Chicago in June, Charles S. Zeimer, referee in bankruptcy, has called a meeting of all the bankruptcy referees. At the convention many important matters will be discussed. The meeting of the Utah referees will be held Tuesday afternoon at the Commercial Club in Mr. Zeimer's office.

A well-known manufacturer of Dunsville, N. Y., accompanied by his wife, is a guest of the Knutsford. He is Alfred Dolge, of Dolge & Son, who for years in New York would not have Dunsville or it. He is the father of the Dolge boys who visited Utah a few years ago. Dunsville is a city of nearly 1,000 population. Mr. Dolge's specialty is the manufacture of felts for piano hammers. The New Yorker is also a writer on economic themes of practical application. He is now on a trip to the coast for recreation. He bears letters of introduction to Thomas Kearns and others of this city. He is contemplating a trip to Mexicoville with a view to investment before going West.

ALMA HAGUE IS PARDONED

Night Hawk Cashier Receives Executive Clemency.

Efforts of Judge King in Prisoner's Behalf are at Last Crowned with Success.

Judge William H. King has at last been successful in obtaining from President William McKinley a pardon in behalf of Alma Hague, formerly cashier of the First National bank at Neola. Hague was sentenced in April, 1898, of the crime of embezzlement and sentenced to seven years in the State prison. He was arrested in February, 1898, at the instigation of Bank Examiner Hill, of Denver, who informed the officers that Hague had embezzled funds amounting to $24,000. At the time of the arrest Hague was a member of the Legislature, representing the people of the Fifth district.

Alonzo Hague, his brother, says a petition signed by prominent citizens throughout the State, setting forth that Hague had been sufficiently punished, was presented to the President by Judge King, but no action was taken. Last December Judge King took the case to again informing the President that Hague's health was such that it was hardly possible he might live long to serve out his full term. Yesterday Judge King's efforts were rewarded by the receipt of word from Washington informing the interested parties that favorable action had been taken in the matter. The pardon, it is thought, will reach Salt Lake next week.

Hague was in the act of making a son in the prison bars used when word reached him of his pardon. He was accompanied with the good news that he has to abandon his job and the new bar to be welded by another prisoner. His conduct at the "pen" has been excellent and he was regarded as one of the best men at the Penitentiary.

IS WORSE TODAY.

Injured Mail Carrier Bereft of Reason and in Critical Condition.

It seems likely that Mr. Skidmore, the injured mail carrier, will not be soon easy. Dr. Hoel said today that he thought Mr. Skidmore's life had been saved by the operation of the hospital some weeks ago, yet that his reason had gone, as the doctor feared, forever. Last night the young man who had been injured spoke to his wife, who had been sitting by his side, and addressed her by the name of his mother. Hoel and Richardson, at the Holy Cross hospital, are worn and weary from their long watch at the sick bed. It is found that a spinal injury will, under a reported guard of trained nurses, so that speech so bereft of others as injury. The operation yesterday did not produce results in the young man's case, and the doctors are of the opinion that he may never recover the use of his faculties.

At the land office this morning the following new applications for lands were filed:

A. Wilson of Clear Lake, Millard county, Utah, made application under the Desert Lands Act of March 3rd, 1877, for 120 acres situated in sec. 31, township 18 south of range 5 west.

Frank C. Hansen of Clarkston, Cache county, Utah, filed a similar application for 80 acres in sec. 1819 for 0.0. acres situated in section 31, township 2 north, range 2 west.

CAPTAIN BROWN'S SLAYER TALKS.

Freely Admitted to a "News" Man Today that His Name is Majors.

DECLARES HE IS INNOCENT.

Makes the Statement With as Much Assurance as Though He Were Not Guilty—Silent on the Hereafter.

Special per Deseret Telegraph.

Omaha City, Utah, May 20.—The reporter today paid James Morgan, the condemned for murder of Captain Brown, a visit and found him looking and feeling pretty well under the circumstances. He consented to an interview, during which he would smile, freely and frequently—not a forced smile, but the natural, cheerful smile of youth.

"Would you object to an interview with a reporter of the Deseret News," was the first query propounded.

"I have no objections now," came the reply.

"How do you feel, Mr. Morgan, in your predicament?"

"Yes."

"What did you think when you saw the men above you?"

"We thought we could get away by running. When they saw us they started after us down the mountain side. They called us and overhead us, and we heard about seventy-five yards behind shooting."

"They shot before you did?"

"Yes, sir; that is, before my partner; I didn't shoot; there were about three shots fired. Whether my brother shot before or after he was hit I do not know."

"Do you make a statement to the effect that if you had received a certain pardon you would have made it hot for the officers?"

"No, sir; I did not."

"What did you do when you saw your brother fall?"

"I jumped behind a rock."

"Were you near the rock at the time?"

"Yes."

"Did you drop your revolver?"

"Yes, about four feet to the left of the rock."

"Which revolver was yours?"

"The white handled one."

"Why didn't you put up both hands when the officers told you to?"

"Because I was lying on the other one."

"Did the officers give you time to put up the other hand before they began firing?"

"No, sir.

"Were you much excited at the time?"

"I was not so greatly excited as affected by the death of my brother."

"Did the officers show severity when they gave their testimony?"

"No! Should Commissioner Bishop did."

"Is it so that Johnny Grey has Winchester on you when you were handcuffed?"

"I am sky to said. It it wasn't so recently he's about me."

"Have you any friends or relatives who would advance money to defend you?"

"No."

JAMES MORGAN.

The 19 Year Old Murderer of Captain Brown, Sentenced to be Shot on July 7.

"Oh, I feel all right, only I have fits of melancholy sometimes."

"As a matter of fact, Mr. Morgan, is it your real name, Morgan?"

"No, sir, it is not."

"Would you mind telling the News what your real name is?"

"No, sir; I will tell you; it is Majors."

"Do you think that you had a fair trial, or do you think that if you had had money there would have been any difference?"

"Yes, sir; I would have got free."

"Are you sure you did not shoot Captain Brown?"

"Oh, yes; I am positive. A man may get so excited as not to know what others are doing, but not so much that he could not tell what he himself was doing."

"Would you solemnly declare that you never shot Brown?"

"Certainly."

"Do you think, then, they mistook you for your brother at the time of the shooting?"

"Yes, sir; I do."

"How many times have you been in trouble?"

"Twice."

"How long did you get the first time?"

"Ten years, but I got out on parole after two years, and I lost months."

"Has you brother ever been in trouble before?"

"No, sir."

"Have you changed your mind as to having a spiritual advisor?"

"No; I don't care for any."

"Would you rather go to the penitentiary or remain here?"

"I would rather stay here."

"Do you get fair treatment by the Box Elder officials?"

"Yes, sir; I do."

"Have you any ill feeling towards Sheriff Clarke?"

"No, sir; I think he was too flustered when he gave his testimony."

"How do you feel toward Thompson?"

"I have the best of feeling toward Detroit Thompson."

"Do you go to die with a free conscience as far as Brown's murder is concerned?"

"Yes, sir; I never shot Brown."

"How is it that you are so cool and serene?"

"Because I am innocent."

"Did you know Parmain, who is in the Fallbrook prison, who is reported to be your boyhood friend?"

"I knew him by sight but deny being his intimate friend."

"How do you pass your time here?"

"Oh, I read something light and easy to divert."

"Do you still have hopes of the Supreme court changing your sentence?"

"Yes."

"Do you believe in a hereafter?"

The prisoner thought for a moment, then said: "I don't care to say."

"Did you know the men at the Springs were officers when you met them, Mr. Morgan?"

"We did not."

"Why did you think they were?"

"We drew back."

"When you were behind those rocks did you remain there long?"

"Only for a few minutes."

"Where did you go then?"

"Northward."

"How long was it before you saw the officers again?"

"The first shooting occurred at 1 a. m. and they came up to us on the mountain at 2 p. m."

"Do you know they were officers then?"

"I knew none."

"Would you like to see your mother?"

"Yes, sir; but she is prostrated at present." And with that the interview ended.
