CLEANED CLOTHES AND BLACKED EYE.

Were Initial Cause of Damage Suit for $499 in the City Court.

OLGA MARTIN BADLY BEATEN.

Woman is Again Plaintiff in a Case That Was Aired in the Police Court.

A damage suit has been filed in the city court by Olga Martin against Arthur W. Peters, the proprietor of a clothes cleaning and repairing establishment in this city, to recover the total sum of $499 as damages for an assault alleged to have been made upon plaintiff on June 15, 1904.

Plaintiff alleges that she sent some clothes to defendant's place to be cleaned and repaired and that when he and a man employed by him, named Ern Frederickson, returned the goods to her home on the above date she became engaged in a dispute with Peters over the price for the services.

In the mix-up which followed she claims that he used vile, abusive and insulting language towards her and, not being satisfied with that she alleges that he held her and told Frederickson to strike her. The man did as instructed and severely beat and bruised plaintiff about the face and permanently impaired the sight of her left eye.

She was compelled to pay out $24 for medical attendance and claims that she has been damaged in the sum of $475 by reason of her injuries making the total amount of the judgment asked $499. At the time the affair took place Frederickson was arrested and fined by Judge Diehl for the part he took in the brutal assault and now plaintiff seeks to make Peters pay for the attack.

LE GRAND YOUNG WINS.

Victory on Appeal to Supreme Court Over Rock Quarry Boundaries.

In the case of the Washington Rock company against Le Grand Young and Lorenzo Price, appellants, the judgment of the Third district court has been reversed by the supreme court in an opinion written by Chief Justice Bartch and concurred in by Justices McCarty and Straup. The action was brought to determine the ownership of a rock quarry, which plaintiff claims is located on its land while defendant Le Grande Young claims that, according to the original survey of the land made by Deputy U. S. Surveyor Dickert in 1881, the quarry lies on his land. Judgment was rendered in the lower court in favor of plaintiff.

The testimony showed that Judge Young owns the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 12, township 1 south, range 1 east, Salt Lake meridian, and that plaintiff owns the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of the same section. According to subsequent surveys of the land the quarry was brought within the boundary of plaintiff's property. In its opinion reversing the judgment of the lower court the supreme court says in part:

"In such cases, junior or subsequent surveys are not made to dispute the correctness of or to control the original survey, but to furnish legitimate proof of where the lost lines or monuments were, so as to aid the jury in determining the exact location of the original survey. In this instance there appears to be disclosed no good reason why the subsequent surveyors made practically a new survey instead of retracing the old one. An original survey, upon which property rights have been acquired cannot thus be changed or diminished or obliterated with so little regard for existing evidence."

INDIAN WAR VETERANS.

Interesting Meeting — Officers Elected And Business Transacted.

During conference week an interesting meeting of the Indian War veterans of Utah was held in this city. Its purpose was to elect officers for the ensuing year and to arrange for the securing of the medals voted the veterans by the Legislature at its last session. Aside from these business features a general social gatherin for the renewing of old friendhips and narrating of tales of the camp fire was held. It was decided that the occasion of receiving the medals from the Legislature would be an appropriate one for holding a big reunion, and plans for the occasion were informally discussed.

The following officers were selected; commander, J. M. Westwood, senior vice commander, R. N. Bennett, Sanpete county; junior vice commander, J. D. L. Pierce, Washington county; adjutant general, M. L. Pratt, Utah county; quartermaster general, Edwin Lee, Utah county; chaplain, N. C. Murdock, Wasatch county; state chorister, George Harrison, Utah county.

A committee consisting of Comrade Andrews, Commander-in-Chief Westwood and Adjutant General Pratt was appointed to make arrangements for the securing of badges or medals voted by the Legislature.

Many stories of early days in Utah were told by Jesse N. Smith from Snowflake, Arizano, James Andrus, A. Hatch, Robert Cabley, George Harrison, William E. Black, George Carlisle, N. C. Murdock, E. D. Wooly, Mans Manson, Joshua Terry, Isaac Packer and George Taylor, being among the speakers.

Before adjournment a general invitation was extended to all veterans to meet in the annual campfire reunion at Payson, during August.

BOARD REORGANIZED.

Mrs. Martha H. Tingey Chosen President of Young Ladies.

The general board of the Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement associations has been reorganized, with Martha H. Tingey, president, Maria Y. Dougall, first counselor, and Ruth M. Fox, second counselor. The reorganization was made necessary through the death of former President Elmina S. Taylor, who has filled the position with honor and credit for many years. Mrs. Tingey was formerly second counselor, while Mrs. Dougall retains her old place on the board, and Mrs. Fox is appointed from the list of aids.

The matter of reorganizing the board was referred by the First Presidency to a committee consisting of President Francis M. Lyman and Elders Hyrum M. and George A. Smith of the Council of Apostles. This committee held a meeting with the board on Sunday, April 2, and later submitted its report to the First Presidency. This report the latter embodied in the following communication, duly received by the board and unanimously approved by it at a meeting held in this city on Wednesday, April 5:

Salt Lake City, Utah, April 4, 1905.

To the Members of the General Board of the Y. L. M. I. A.

Dear Sisters: The committee who were appointed by the First Presidency to consult you with reference to your choice of one to fill the vacancy caused by the death of your beloved and lamented president, Sister Elmina S. Taylor, have reported to us as follows:

We recommend that Sister Martha H. Tingey be nominated for president, with Maria Y. Dougall as first and Ruth M. Fox as second counselors.

We hereby notify you that the foregoing recommendation is accepted and heartily approved by us, and we submit the same as our decision and recommendation to the board.

With very kindest regards, we are,

Your brethren,

(Signed) JOSEPH F. SMITH,
JOHN R. WINDER,
ANTHON H. LUND.

At present Mrs. Dougall is in Los Angeles, on account of continued ill health, and while she has not formally accepted the appointment, it is earnestly hoped that her health will permit her to continue in the place which she has so ably filled for so long a time. Mrs. Tingey, the president, needs no introduction to the young ladies of the Church. Her name is a household word among them, as are also those of her two counselors.

The Dramatic club of the Agricultural college of Logan had the banner night of the Conference week, Saturday, and they drew the banner crowd. A big and enthusiastic audience, which paid into the box office close to $600, was present to see Goldsmith's classic "She Stoops to Conquer." The stalls were occupied by the Dramatic club of the University of Utah, and many Logan people were scattered throughout the house. The entire presentation was a decided surprise. From the standpoint of vivacity, promptitude, and general breeziness, the club must be awarded the palm in the list of amateur organizations. The singing, too, was good throughout, especially the invisible male chorus. There were some excellent instances of bright acting, the most notable being on the part of Miss Petersen, who made a charming Kate, and of Miss Love; as the daughter and mother they showed more naturalness than their associates. Miss Jacobsen played the role of Constance with good taste. Mr. Riter in the part of Tony filled his role vigorously, and Mr. Peterson in Hardcastle was also prompt and emphatic. Mr. Barrack in the part of young Marlow rather exaggerated the nervous business, and Mr. Kerr played his companion in breezy fashion.

The costuming and staging were excellent, and the hand of an experienced stage manager was evident throughout. It is a pleasure to record the excellent impression made by our friends from the north, and we hope they have not been seen in Salt Lake for the last time.

SAN FRANCISCO MURDER MYSTERY

That Surrounding Death of Biaggio Vilardo, the Young Sicilian, Has Been Solved.

HE WAS KILLED WITH A CLEAVER

Crime Was Committed at No. 736½ Green Street—No Notice Has Been Discovered.

San Francisco, April 8.—The mystery of the murder of Biaggio Vilardo, the young Sicilian who was killed with a cleaver on Wednesday evening, and whose head, arms and legs were hacked from the bleeding trunk, has been solved. The atrocious crime was committed at 736½ Green street, in the house of Pietro Torturiti, also known as Peter Torchi, who is believed by the detectives to be the murderer, and who is hiding. His wife Rosa, as well as Phippo Fereitta, Salvator Morando and Rosario Domina, wanted as witnesses, have been arrested, and the police expect soon to have Torturiti in custody. The bloody cleaver with which the man was cut down has been found underneath a sink, and in the basement were discovered missing bones of the victim.

Biaggio roomed in the place and boarded with the family. On Wednesday Mrs. Torturiti went out while her husband and Vilardo were at supper. When she returned at night she missed the young man and asked what had become of him. Her husband cut her short with the remark that it was none of her business. He then went out and has not since been seen.

A search of the house showed that Vilardo's room had been the scene of the terrible tragedy. It bore the appearance of a slaughter house, all efforts to remove signs of the crime having proven unavailing.

In a lower part of the building human bones, not yet dry, and a blood-covered cleaver such as is used by butchers and fishmongers were unearthed and the detectives pronounced the chain of evidence against Torturiti complete.

Rosario Domina, one of the persons now in custody, is the witness in the Brogardo murder case who at first was supposed to be the victim of the vengeance of the "Black Hand" society which the officials think planned the removal of those whose testimony might convict the assassins. Vilardo was an intimate friend of Brogardo, collected money to defray his funeral expenses and was supposed to be active in the prosecution of his slayers.

After the police took possession of the Torturiti home today, Sam Bossafrume, a friend of the family, called and was immediately arrested. He said that he knew nothing of the murder, but admitted that Mr. and Mrs. Torturiti, with their 5-months'-old child, stayed at his house on Thursday night. The detectives are confident that they also were there on Friday night, and think that Torturiti is not far away now, though his wife disclaims all knowledge of his whereabouts.

The suspected murderer is an employe of the American Can company. He is about 26 years of age, five feet three inches tall and weighs 140 pounds. The ghastly burden he is supposed to have carried from his home on Wednesday night weighed 130 pounds. His wife is a young and attractive woman and the detectives are now dividing their search for a motive between the theories of jealousy and the operations of a secret society.

The murderer attempted to conceal all evidence of his crime by whitewashing the wall of the room in which it was committed, but crimson stains are plainly visible through the new white surface.

Mrs. Torturiti declares that neither she nor Vilardo ever gave the husband any cause for jealous suspicion. She asserts that she has been in constant dread of her husband, who has a very violent temper, but says that on the night Vilardo was slaughtered she was not aware that they had quarreled in any manner over her.

When Vilardo's body was recognized yesterday by Phippo Fereitta, Captain of Detectives Burnett detailed Detective Sergeants Ed Wren, Ed Gibson and Detective Matthison to remain with Fereitta all night, and today after constant urging and threatening Fereitta guided the police to the home of the alleged murderer.

REILLY'S MEN TOOK THE TWO GAMES.

In Saturday's Contest the Score Was 15 to 2—Yesterday's, 10 to 2.

THE LOCALS DID GOOD WORK.

Bert Delmas Showed Up in His Old Time Form Yesterday and Stopped Some Hard Ones.

Big Chief Reilly, and his bunch of ball tossers, had a couple of good practise games down at Walker's ball park Saturday and yesterday, with a team representing the traveling men.

About 800 fans saw the game on Saturday, and fully 1,000 were down to the grounds yesterday, and there was some mighty shouting, showing the enthusiasm of the fans in this neighborhood.

In the first game Reilly tried out big Ames, the twirler who pitched for the Eureka bunch for a couple of seasons. That the Big Chief was pleased goes without saying, for Ames certainly made good, allowing but two hits during the five innings he was in the box. Crist relieved him then and allowed but two hits. The game ended with a score of 15 to 2.

In yesterday's game, Bert Delmas, at short, was about the whole show. He showed his old time form, and gave exhibitions of the speed that set the fans to howling with delight last season. One of the best stunts of the day was when Ferrin sent a hot one toward Reilly. Delmas made a long run, scooped up the sphere with one mitt and caught a man at third. Not only did he do some great fielding, but out of five at bat he pulled down five good safe hits. That's going some.

Roy Castleton pitched for the traveling men yesterday, and the Salt Lakers took an even twenty hits. Had the youngster had a fast team behind him, this number would have been cut down materially.

Tozer, Thomas and Quick officiated for three innings each for the locals, and each man showed good judgement and control at all times. Detailed scores of each game follow:

LUCAS IN COURT.

Prays That Injunction Against Him be Dissolved at Once.

Spokane, Wash., April 9.—W. H. Lucas, formerly president of the Pacific National Baseball league, and organizer of the new league to include Bellingham, Everett, Victoria and Vancouver, has filed a motion in th superior court asking that the injunction preventing him from interfering with or criticising the Pacific National Baseball league be dissolved. His reasons for asking for the dismissal of the injunction are that the Pacific National league forfeited its charter by the withdrawal of Boise from the league, and sets forth that any grievance he may have against the old league or its officers has arisen since the dissolution of the league. This motion is a part of the answer to the complaint filed against him by the Spokane Baseball & Exhibition association. Part of the answer sets forth that President C. H. Williams of the Spokane Baseball club and Walter R. Wilmot, owner of the Butte team, conspired to break up the league to form other leagues and to put Mr. Lucas out of the position that he held with the Pacific National league in 1901.

Mr. Lucas says that the new league is organized and expects to begin playing games the early part of May.

WEEK TONIGHT; GARDNER-SCHRECK

Two of the Best Known Boxers In America Will Then Clash.

GERMAN IS TRAINING HERE.

Representatives of Both Boxers Met And Signed Articles—Schreck is Working—Bean to be Referee.

One week from tonight, April 17th.

This is the date Salt Lake fight fans have their eyes on.

At the Salt Lake Theater, on this date, George Gardner and Mike Schreck, boxers of national reputation will then clash in the Queensbury arena, and they promise local ringsters the best show they have seen since Gardner beat Root, and since Nelson beat Welch.

Representatives of Gardner and Schock, with Manager Eddie Robinson, and also representatives of the press, met Saturday night when articles of agreement were signed. The boxers are to get fifty per cent of the gate receipts, and will divide their share 60 per cent to the winner and 40 per cent to the loser.

Willard Bean was mutually agreed upon as referee. This will please the fans greatly.

The men will meet at catch weights, and the going will be under the rules laid out by the Marquis of Queensbury. The ditsance is set at twenty rounds, but it is a pretty safe prediction that the bout will not go the limit; that it will not be a fake, and that there will be no victory on a foul.

Schreck is full of confidence. He is working like a Beaver, and will be in tip top shape, he says. Gardner keeps up his hard licks at Ogden.

"I know I am going up against a tough proposition" is the word he sends down to the writer, from Ogden. "I will be in as good condition as when I beat Root in our great battle at the Salt Palace. I am working hard on the road and in the gym every day, and don't you worry a minute about my condition."

Scheck is training at the Physical Culture hall on State street. The place is run by Willard Bean, but there can be no objection to this, as aGrdner's man says he knows Bean is thoroughly honest, and if called upon to render a verdict it will be honest in every sense of the word. Bean does not work with him, for the simple reason that he has plenty to do elsewhere.

"I work all the time while training" said Scheck today. "I do not box, but work. I thing a fighter should not do fancy stunts; he should work, and then when he gets into the ring he is prepared for his business. I like the game. It keeps me well and strong all the time. At the end of an evenings fast going in the ring, I can partake of a good meal and enjoy it."

Scheck is not a boxer. He does no Queensbury polkas in the ring. He is a fighter pure and simple, and goes into the ring for something else than a game of tag. He says he likes punishment because it gives him a chance to mix things and bring down the money.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

Salt Lake Team Defeats Eureka Bunch In Close Game.

Before an audience composed of Coach Maddock and a few members of his team in addition to a couple of dozen English people, Salt Lake sent the Eureka Association football team to defeat Saturday afternoon by the close score of 2 to 1. "Good work there you man in the middle," was the way Maddock expressed it, and go at 'im Johnny, I say, that's a 'itting 'em" was what floated off the field where the players cheered each other more vociferously than did the spectators.

The game did not gain a reputation for safety over the rugby style. Players were rolled about, kicked in the shins and put up against a proposition of endurance for wind that makes more of a strain than the college game. The startling features of rushing through a broken field for long gains, the quick and heady generalship of getting through the line with the ball, and the concentrated team work of the line were noticibly absent. Most of the time, unless the players were forced into heavy scrimmage work, to protect the home goal, a large portion of them remained inactive while one attempted to nurse the ball with his feet or bunt it with his forehead to a companion player.

This work while not thrilling was interesting, and seemed to be much enjoyed by the Englishmen who took delight in pointing out the merits of the system. One feature was the game of the referee. He was continually besieged by some player with a charging a fowl, and often seemed the center of an enfuriated mob of players, each claiming a number of things that were unintelligible to the uninitiated. Of individual players W. Herring and King of Eureka, and Sanford of Salt Lake were the stars.

The lineup was as follows:

Salt Lake.	Position.	Eureka.
Cleyborn	Goal	King
Sanford	R. F. B.	Herring
Russell	L. F. B.	Cowan
J. Snedden	R. H. B.	W. Herring
Howe	C. H. B.	Bonner
White	L. H. B.	Newton
Mersball	R. W.	F. Herring
Fanning	R. W.	Smethers
Lewis	L. W.	Hobbs
J. Fanning	L. W.	Menlove

Time of halves, 35 minutes.
