INDIAN TERRITORY.

A Lawless Condition of Affairs Existing It is Said.

LIFE AND PROPERTY NOT SECURE.

The People of that Part of the Country at the Mercy of Bandits.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The Indian office yesterday received advices by telegraph from the Indian territory giving briefly an account of the lawless condition of affairs in that section and asking that some action be taken by the United States authorities which will protect the citizens and relieve anarchy. It is stated among other things that outlaws are in possession of the territory. It is noted the Indian police are unable to protect the people and prevent robbery. Lawless bands infest all sections. Men are held up by highwaymen in broad daylight and robbed. Houses and property are set on fire either by day or night. The express companies have refused to transport money, due to other means of carrying it have been devised. There are three well-known organized bands of desperadoes, composed of thieves, tramps and rough characters from all sections of the country, who make it a business of plundering towns.

All is needed, a reign of better order, and the people of the Territory asks the mercy of these gangs. It is supposed the marshals journey from one section to another in pursuit of booty, and that the Dalton outlaws in the southwest are the work of these desperadoes, who seem their headquarters in the Indian Territory.

There has been considerable discussion in Congress growing out of the various bands in the Territory, and suggestions have been made to adopt either organization of affairs more, to alter that territory may be organized into the control of the peace of the territory some strong authority empowered to remove law and order. It has been suggested that if the Territory cannot be properly under martial law and troops detailed to clear the territory of the gangs which now infest it. The words to an extreme measure and would not likely be resorted to unless all other methods fail.

BANKERS AND BUSINESS MEN WORKING UP.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 22.—Bankers and business men arriving in the town in the Indian territory, as well as those living outside the territory but doing business with territory people, are now in a position to give the condition of affairs which has led to the appointment of Frank Dalton, the Dalton gang, and the Dalton gang. Superintendent Blackburn of the Wells Fargo company, is now in the territory and looking into the condition of the country in which the company operates. It is stated by bankers and others with the Wells-Fargo there that the trouble is largely due to the character of the deputy United States marshals. It is a well known fact that they are largely recruited from the desperadoes and it is further alleged that they stand in with the Dalton robbers.

ESCAPED FOR THEIRS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Secretary Hoke Smith has requested the secretary of war to send troops to the Indian Territory to suppress the outlaw bands. Accompanying the request was a communication from Secretary Smith yesterday received from Indian Territory detailing the deplorable condition of affairs.

KAISER AND POET.

Text of Emperor William's "Song of Angle."

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—On Sunday next a national performance, the proceeds of which will go to the building fund of the William I. Memorial Cathedral, will be given at the Royal opera house. The most interesting feature on the program will be the "Song of Angle," the words and music of which are by Emperor William. This composition is not a male chorus, the design being the musical effect of a normal chord. The imperial composer has sung these words his age while on his annual cruise along the coast of Norway. Professor Albert Becker arranged the music for the ceremonial accompaniment.

The text of the song is as follows:

SONG TO ANGLE.

O Angle, you of scaly
Who lurk in the sea so deep,
Do you dare of morning
The Viking and man pay.

Come to the land we challenge
To wrestling for victory,
Yet come and take the challenge
Lead of Wilhelm Rex.

When Nix appears each morning
To take this the land round,
Yet dare we not scorn
To meet him on firm ground.

As Poseidon to Hilda
Thousands gained the wave,
So sport we with the Nixes,
And for thy sake, we crave.

When in the battle fury
As man we stand and fling,
Into Poseidon's arms we hurl
Kin, Kaiser, Reich and King.

Thus we are only in earnest
The right hand of friendship is not
To boast the mighty world,
Nor to all nations to join.

The Guatemalan Minister in Washington Has Heard Nothing.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Minister Arriaga, Guatemalan minister, does not credit the dispatches from Oaxaca, Mexico, that war is impending between Mexico and Guatemala and that the latter country has sent troops to meet several thousand Mexican troops at Arapulco and Tehuantepec. RUN DOWN FOR ROBBERY.

Arrested On That Charge and Another More Serious—A Young Girl's Shame.

A couple of fellows entered a Chinese laundry at No. 355 West, Second South street last night, held up the proprietor and robbed him of $4 in cash and carried off his cap and a number of pigtails.

The Mongolian, badly frightened and trembling, reported the matter to police headquarters, and gave a minute description of the men, and Officers D. Horan, with Officers Miller and Cannon, took up the trail. About midnight they had two suspects locked in a lodging house near the Rio Grande Western depot. The officers looked on the door leading to room 6. When they made an unexpected discovery. The young men were in bed, and with them was a 16 year old daughter of "Shanghai" Carter or Bent Independence army fame. The two were arrested to dress themselves and process with the officers to the police station, which they did. There they were locked up for the remainder of the night and this morning the trio appeared before police court with their respective cases have been disposed of.

The young men turned out to be Will Latham, whose work and stalking were responsible with the blood of the Mutilated Columbian, who caught tormenting against his assailants, and Hugh McKinnon. Both are well known to the officers of the law. Something over $112 was found in the pockets of McKinnon.

Election Officers Resign.

Inquiry at the office of the Utah Commission discloses the fact that many of the registrars and election judges recently appointed by the Commission have sent in their resignations. The reason for this action is that they have been nominated for office by the respective political parties, and were therefore required, under the instructions of the commission, to resign. All vacancies thus occasioned are being rapidly filled, and in some cases those retiring recommend their successor; in others the Commission appoints the first person in the list in their possession.

AMUSEMENTS.

MODERN MIRACLES received a full dress rehearsal at the Theater last night and went smoothly enough to warrant a very delightful performance this evening. Ellsess has greatly elaborated on his magic, and is a number of quite startling surprises to store for his admirers. The dazzling figures are enchantingly beautiful, and if Modern Miracles contained nothing else it would make a very charming evening's entertainment, for its use many new illusions besides tableau.

The greatest curiosity attaches to the great Manhattan mirror, the most marvelous of all the Hindoo wonders, as it is the first production and is one of the most marvelous of mysteries. Ellsess has greatly improved on his other vapors of the kind of Annie May Abbott, and the two beautiful diversions in the program, which include, besides the living pictures, the "Dogs of Florence," a bouquet of rare and attractive novelties.

The advance sale is the largest of any of the Elsess entertainments, and Utah's young wizard will have a good attendance of his friends and admirers, making a testimonial he will always recall with pleasant recollections of his career as a professional.

THE DISTRICT COURT.

There Will Be a Lull in the Criminal Business Until Thursday.

CIVIL JURY CASES TRIED TODAY.

Joseph Krantz, for Robbing a Court Bailiff, is Acquitted and Discharged After Explanation.

After the great rush of criminal business in Judge Bartch's division of the Third district court during the last twelve or fourteen days, there came today a welcome calm. The trial of Attorney Elmer E. Hinkle, on an indictment charging the offense of perjury, was set for late morning, but a continuance hating been obtained by the defendant's counsel, there remained no other criminal case for hearing on today's list, and at 10:30 court adjourned till 2 p.m.

The judge sent a bailiff to the grand jury room in order to ascertain whether that body had any immediate thought of presenting a further report, but as they put into harness again early yesterday, after a lengthy recess, the answer came that no additional indictments were yet ready.

Chief Justice Merritt today took up civil jury cases, the bring the first one at the calendar for the present term. The list is a lengthy one and means a heavy docket of work before the end is reached.

A BOOK FROM JOHN AS.

Joseph Krantz, the old gentleman who on Friday met, in the hallway leading to the district courtroom, to let legal counsel as to redel one of the bailiff's special bailiffs, was present by appointment to answer the charge of contempt. In his behalf Attorney C. S. Varian made a statement to the effect that Krantz was an inoffensive man and had meant no disrespect to the court. He had a damage suit for personal injuries against the Rio Grande Western Railway Co., the hearing of which was now pending, and let some time past he had been daily hanging around the building. Krantz has unwittingly transgressed, he meant to apologize for it. The old man, Mr. Varian said, was without a dollar. He sometimes, when feeling well enough, will speculate in the direct to earn a little, and charitably disposed persons has rendered him occasional assistance.

It was stated by the bailiff that as the jury in the Tatelbaum-Wolf suit to go into court a little was closer to them between the crowd. Krantz, however, pointed to passing in front and which hands were placed upon him he began to "wriggle" and offer resistance.

Krantz assured the court that he did not mean any offense or disrespect. The officer, he said, handled him rather roughly, and he took said, "You need not pull me, just say what you want and I'll do it." Then a second bailiff came to the other's assistance and took him in hand.
