Wasatch S. S. Conference.

The annual Sunday school conference of Wasatch Stake, was held June 15th and 16th in the Stake house at Heber. Present on the stand, Bishop George Goddard and Earl G. Musser, of the general superintendency, in Elders Eggertsen and Elder Hastings, of the Utah Stake superintendency, and local officers, Superintendent J. H. Lemon presiding. The latter made an opening address of welcome to visiting brethren and Elder Goddard addressed the meeting, saying that the Sunday school organization was the largest one in the Church; he recommended music to the Sunday schools and closed by singing "Our Lovely Deseret."

The schools of Midway and Wallsburg were reported by their superintendents, after which Dr. J. Eggertsen, of Utah Stake, was the speaker, being followed by Elder Earl G. Musser, who remarked that he always wanted to be informed with the children, because, as the savior said, the Kingdom of heaven is made up of such, and declaring that men and women must become like little children before they can enter the Kingdom of heaven. The speaker said that the teachers devoted to Sunday school did not always immediately reap their fruit, but they were like bread cast on the water—would return after many days; we were in the presence of angels, as each person was at least one guardian angel.

At the afternoon session Assistant Superintendent E. Bridge presided. Charleston and Wardsboro reported the condition of the schools. Assistant Superintendent Hastings, of Utah Stake, addressed the meeting, exhorting all to lead exemplary lives before children to follow. Next was a recitation by Isabel Pinkard, of the Hayesville school, followed by a report of that school; music, selection by choir and congregation; story of Joseph of old told by a member of the first intermediate department of Heber school.

Elder E. G. Musser then spoke; he said there had been much improvement during the last few years, but yet there was plenty of room for advancement; commented on the results attending the establishing of Sunday school normal classes; exhorted all to perform the duties placed upon them, for whatever was worth doing at all was worth doing well.

Elder Geo. Goddard told the children if they wanted to live to be as old as he, they must keep the Word of Wisdom; illustrated the principle of honesty by telling a little story, also taught the importance of promptness, especially in being a member of Sunday school on time, and closed by singing "Cold Water is the Drink for Me."

At the Sunday morning session the condition of the Heber, Elk Horn and Center schools was reported. Supt. J. H. Lambert reported the different schools as he had found them during his visits; did not consider, as some of the superintendents, that there was a lack of teachers, but found the difficulty was in getting good, diligent, efficient ones.

Elder Geo. Goddard dwelt upon the importance of punctuality, the nickel donation, the Word of Wisdom and many points of interest.

Elder Musser claimed the best method to increase membership was to make the school's as interesting that the children and parents could not stay away. He gave a very comprehensive talk on the subject of greeting; admonished the teachers to become familiar with the "Guide;" said the superintendent must strike the keynote and in connection with the teachers plan work for all the departments for three, six or twelve months; admonished all to keep in relation with the authorities placed over them.

Afternoon session: Sacrament administered by the bishopric of Heber west ward.

The general and local officers of the Sunday schools were presented and unanimously sustained.

Elder V. Halsey addressed the audience, speaking favorably of the great and good work performed by the venerable brethren who were visiting and advised all to emulate their example, wished to impress one point on the minds of the children, and that was heaven's first law.

Elder Musser made some very interesting remarks on the principles of the Gospel and other items of interest.

Elder Goddard commented on some of the pleasant features of the conference and admonished all to be attentive in places of worship, and closed by singing, "Who's on the Lord's side, who?"

Elder Abraham Hatch, president of the Stake, felt grateful for the many good lessons and instructions given throughout the conference by the visiting brethren, and hoped we would profit by the same.

J. H. Lambert made a few closing remarks, thanked the brethren who had come to visit us, the sister lays and all who had helped to make the conference a success.

Choir sang closing hymn, "Our own Sunday school." Benediction by Geo. Goddard.

Primary Association.

The Primary association of the Salt Lake Stake held their quarterly conference on Saturday, with a good attendance. There were two sessions, morning and afternoon. The exercises were of an appropriate and interesting character, and timely instructions were given to officers and members. The next conference will be held in September.

The steamer Anna M. Pierce, says a Seattle, Wash., dispatch, loaded with twenty tons of hay, was turned in the water's edge last night at Lake Shore, near Point Lowell, Strait of Juan de Fuca, and one man lost his life. The victim was T. H. Sullivan, the steamer's cook, who jumped overboard and was seen no more.

OBITUARY NOTES.

HARVEY B. TAYLOR.

Died in Harrisville, Weber county, Utah, June 15, 1895, of typhoid fever, after a brief illness of eighteen days, Harvey B., son of Harvey G. Taylor and Nancy Caroline Stewart Taylor, and husband of Martha Taylor, aged 23 years, 4 months and 19 days. He recently went to Hamilton, Idaho, to make a new home, and was getting out logs to build with, when he took cold, contracting what attendants by a severe storm; the exposure suddenly prostrated him, and he had to return home, where he arrived in an unconscious condition, in which condition he continued until his demise. He was born in Harrisville, January 26, 1872, and was in thorough Mormon surroundings, his grandfather on his father's and mother's side having fought in the Revolutionary war, and on none later descent from the Pilgrim Fathers. He was an active boy in the sixties as his proportions, being fully six feet tall and all promise to weight. He was baptized when eight years old, and was ordained an Elder in 1890, in which faith he led a consistent life. Years ago, when he was a mere boy, his muscular vigor was quite an aid in clearing the land that raised the crops which brought wealth for the Harrisville Sunday school. This was the second organ owned in the place, and was used as an accompaniment to the music discovered at his funeral. All his actions were as noble as his physical proportions, for he always avoided disputations, though he was a boy amongst the boys and yet he was a leader in his boyish party pastime, as a member of the baseball school, M. I. association and the choir, and he was much beloved by all his associates. He was married to Miss Angeline Thomas November 6, 1895, to Miss Lettie Saunders, by whom there is one issue, a male child.

The funeral obsequies were held on Tuesday, June 18th. The speakers were Elders S. H. Perry, Joseph Hall and Louis Farr, of Ogden. Brother Perry spoke of the uprightness of the deceased in all his transactions, and related with much pathos to the assurance of a reunion in the haven of rest and peace with the distracted young widow and the seven immortal babes. Brothers Hall and Farr gave a lucid description of the efficacy of salvation ordinances, and of the benefits the world would accrue to our beloved departed brother, who has led a humble, consistent life. Six of the uncles of deceased acted as pall bearers. The cortege was over two blocks long, and followed the hearse to the Ogden cemetery, where the remains were placed beside his beloved mother who preceded him fourteen years. The grave was decorated by Elder H. D. Brown, and the last resting place was covered with wreaths of beautiful floral emblems. F. L.

ADA MARION TAYLOR.

Died in Harrisville, Weber county, Utah, June 15, 1895, aged 2 years, 3 months and 17 days, Ada Marion, beloved wife of Alfred W. Taylor and daughter of T. C. and Charlotte Rice, deceased was born at Whitrock Springs, Eldorado county, California, February 26, 1893. Came to Utah with its family in 1894, making her home in Harrisville with her grandmother, the late respected Esther Chase, as the mind Chase homestead, this was her last and a number of the Church in 1855, in which Church she had been credited from her birth by her mother who survives her. She was married to Mr. Taylor in Ogden April 3, 1895, in Alfred W. Taylor, by whom she has had seven children, nine of whom survive her, the oldest being here twenty years of age, and the youngest a little one month old. Owing to her husband's business occupation the family have periodically passed their mountain seasons at Hooper, Harrisville has always been her home, and beneath the same roof where her mother constantly resided, the deceased breathed her last. In all her abiding places she was found for her cheerful solicitude and gentle demeanor, and was beloved by all who knew her. She was indeed summoned among that happy throng, the redeemed, of whom it is written that they shall be called the children of God.

The funeral services were held in the Harrisville meeting house, on Friday, June 18th, conducted by Bishop McEntire of Pure West Ward. The singing and invocations were impressive, and the speakers were Elder John Lake, Apr. of Ogden, uncle of the deceased, Bishop McEntire and Counselor Jacob Thomas. The floral emblems were exquisite and very profuse, the pall bearers were Guy Rice, brother of the deceased, and three of her husband's brothers, and the cortege following the hearse to the Ogden cemetery was large, the street being lined with bereaved.
