FROM THE CAPITAL.

A Plea for Protected Wool by a Delegation of Sheep Men.

OLNEY AS TO THE GEARY LAW

The New Repeal Fight in the House. —The Name for the New Baby. —The Senate.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—A large delegation of wool men appeared before the ways and means committee today. Charles H. Clark of Philadelphia, representing the Manufacturers' club, said he believed the depression affecting manufacturing to be due in part to the apprehension entertained by the manufacturers that there would be a fulfillment of the threat of radical changes in duties on imported materials. The manufacturers were afraid to operate their mills, the merchants afraid to buy; many mills had ceased operations completely, and a much greater number were running upon short time. Many had been compelled to reduce wages. He expressed the opinion that relief may be afforded instantly by assurance that the committee would not assail the tariff law in such a manner as to expose the manufacturers to unequal competition from Europeans, working with lower wage scales.

S. N. D. North of Boston read the resolutions adopted by the National Wool Manufacturers' Association, which knocks the McKinley bill and expressed the passage of any measure to reduce the tariff schedules on wool.

Then Justice of Philadelphia urged that it was the intention of the committee to put wool on the free list, and anticipated that such action would destroy the second largest agricultural industry in the country. He declared that the cost of transporting wool from one portion of this country to another was 12 per cent greater than the cost of transportation from foreign countries to America. He said woolen mills throughout the country were being closed daily and attributed it to the fact that President Cleveland said that within a few months wool would be placed on the free list.

THE GEARY LAW.

Sissy Captains Why it Has Not Been Enforced.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 12.—The first authoritative statement issued by the officials of the government in regard to the Geary Chinese exclusion act since the recent agitation concerning its enforcement or non-enforcement, was made by Attorney General Olney today. It is as follows:

The statement that any action has recently been taken by the President or secretary of state relative to the suspension of the sixth section of the so-called Geary act is without foundation. All that has been done since the original instructions were given concurrently to the revenue officers and to marshals and their deputies by the secretary of the treasury and the department of justice has been done by this department. It having been held by Judge Ross of California that warrants could issue for violation of said sixth section on the complaint of a private individual, and complaints having in fact been made and warrants issued in various instances, the marshals and their deputies have been instructed that a warrant issued by a court must be served, and proper means for deportation subsequently made in such cases must be put into execution to the extent of any funds available for that purpose.

The deputations have not actually been made, however, for this reason: In all cases of warrants issued, as above stated, writs of habeas corpus have been applied for and, being denied, appeals have been taken from such denial. In that state of things, rule 32 of the United States Supreme Court, expressly authorized by statute, forbids any change of custody pending appeal. The language is "Pending an appeal from the final decision of any court or judge declining to grant a writ of habeas corpus, the custody of the prisoner shall not be disturbed." The result is that in all cases of the kind referred to the parties in custody of the marshal or his deputies at the time when appeals were taken from orders refusing writs of habeas corpus must continue in such custody, pending such appeal, and can be deported, if at all, only after judgments upon such appeals in favor of the government.

The Federal Election Law.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The bill repealing the Federal election law which was drawn up by Tucker of Virginia, repeals all the existing statutes of parts thereof relating in any manner to supervisors of elections and special deputy marshals. The majority report will deal with the right of Federal interference at the polls and the question of purity. The question of the disenfranchisement of New York will not be gone into in the report, although it will probably figure in the debate. The question of expense is dealt with vaguely, an estimate of a million and a half dollars being given as the quadrennial cost of the present laws.

The debate will probably commence Friday or Saturday. The Democratic leaders are determined to push it through and the Republicans affirm their intention of fighting it to the bitter end.

Will Be Called Naomi.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—It is reported that Mrs. Cleveland has decided to name the new lady Naomi.

IN CONGRESS.

The Debate at Last Night's Session of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Mitchell running his speech, dwelt upon the surpassing importance of the question which confronted Congress, and discussed the causes which produced the recent distressed condition of the country. He maintained that the Sherman law was in no degree responsible for it, and yet repeal was to be brought about because of a clamor from the banking interests. There was no danger of the United States becoming a dumping ground for foreign silver. It was needed for money purposes and could not be spared.

Mitchell referred to the disastrous effects of the depreciation of silver to the interests of the farmer. The money changers on Lombard street and the unscrupulous stock gamblers of Wall street worked with Shylock zeal to the result of a rule that would increase by half the purchasing power of gold and cut down to 50 proportion the price of every sort of general commodity produced in the country.

Hawley of Connecticut then spoke. He said he was in favor of the passage of the pending bill, and while willing to be as patient as possible with the opponents of repeal, there was one general misstatement which had been reiterated until he had tired of it; that was that there was scarcely was believed to the total destruction of half the currency of the world. It was a terrible misstatement; a sophistical statement; a false statement. Practically, all was favored the repeal of the Sherman law expected to continue the use of silver liberally, so far as could be done without receiving silver monometallism.

Then there was a sharp colloquy between Teller and Hawley, in which subsequently Mitchell, McPherson and Allen joined.

Then Teller spoke further on the bill. He said he should consider himself craven to a degree and unworthy of a seat in the Senate if he should allow this great crime, as he considered it, to be carried consummate without a protest, and his protest should ring in the ears of the senators until it became tremulous and tedious. They must remember it was not only one-third of the country that was to be unsettled and destroyed, but, in the opinion of many, the greater part and all of all the people in due time. He would devote his time to the interests of his people and country at large, and there was no labor, no sacrifice, no sophistry put on him that would lead him from his opposition to this damnable bill.

Hawley said if this bill passed and a few months should develop that the East and West were deadlocked, it was quite competent for Congress to consider the subject, and it would be quite likely to do so.

Stewart finally got the floor and was in the midst of a long speech when he reluctantly yielded for executive session, after which the Senate adjourned.

CONVICT MINERS.

They Go to the Mine but Refuse to Work.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—A Nashville special says: There is mutiny among the miners in the Lone Rock mines, about a mile from Tracy. They marched to the mine, but refused to work. They captured a powder magazine and threatened to blow it up. As there was great danger of an outbreak on the part of the convicts, the authorities of the branch prison took the precaution to order out an extra number of guards, and the entrance to all the mines are closely watched. Twelve all of the convicts returned to the stockade, with the exception of Bilyeu, who say they will not come out of Lone Rock again until they are promised better rations. It is thought at Tracy city that the convicts know of a week place in the mine and will attempt to cut or blow their way out.

Pension Agencies.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Extensive changes among the pension agencies will soon be made by Secretary Hoke Smith. The appointment division of the department has been instructed to prepare lists of all applications for agencies. Preference will be given to those incumbents whose means are limited.

Pension Frauds.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—A Baltimore special says: Frauds of a startling character have been discovered by the pensions examiners in Baltimore. The government has been robbed for years by forgeries and other crimes which came to light through the present system of delivering pension checks at the postoffice.

Columbia a Record Breaker.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—The new United States cruiser Columbia is another record breaker. She was turned outward this morning, and the water was very rough. After proceeding a short distance off Cape Henlopen it was decided to begin the trial. The maximum speed was at the rate of 21.3 knots per hour and indicated a horsepower of 15,000. The vessel did not roll or pitch. The Columbia's steering qualities were superb.

Fire in an Insane Asylum.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—A fire broke out at noon in one of the buildings of the Pennsylvania Asylum for the Insane. The flames spread to the stables. A large force of officers aided in removing the inmates to a place of safety and the flames were gotten under control after a hard struggle. Only a few thousand dollars' damage was done.

A SEATTLE SENSATION.

The City Treasurer Reported a Defaulter to a Large Amount.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 12.—A sensation was caused here this evening by the report that City Treasurer Joseph King was a defaulter to large amount. The statement was made by the Post Intelligencer, in an editorial, that it would give $500 to any worthy charity if King would produce the $200,000 which the last statement of the city comptroller showed should be in the treasury. This statement caused the finance committee of the city council to make an investigation, which resulted in finding but $75,000 in the city vaults. Treasurer King could not be found.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Three States Celebrating.—Gov. Waite on Silver.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—This was another day at the fair, as far as attractions are concerned. Connecticut, Maryland and Kansas celebrating. The Centennial State had decorated its building in a most elaborate manner, and a great crowd thronged it. Governor Waite and the members of Colorado's commission were present, and welcomed all comers, especially Coloradans. At the exercises in the afternoon Governor Waite made an address on the silver question. Several other speakers were heard, among them C. S. Thomas of Denver. Tonight Governor Waite was tendered a complimentary reception, at which everybody had a good time, and the pleasures of the day wound up with a dance for the young people.

The Kansas people, who began their state celebration yesterday, continued it today and will keep it up the remainder of the week.

Maryland celebrated the interesting historical event, the anniversary of the bombardment of Fort McHenry by the British in 1814, the outcome of which resulted in the production of the "Star Spangled Banner."

The society of the army of the Tennessee held the first session of its twenty-fifth annual meeting in Festival hall this afternoon, presided over by General G. M. Dodge, general D. S. Henderson of Iowa and others spoke.

M. Berthelin, the great French sculptor, today visited the new Columbian Liberty Bell which rang in twelve strokes for the anniversary of the "star spangled Banner," and one for the anniversary of the state constitution of 1845.

The total admissions today were 193,072, of which 103,504 were paid.

THE RELIGIOUS PARLIAMENT.

The parliament of religions was resumed over today by Rev. S. J. Nemoska of St. Louis. Among the speakers were Rev. Alfred Momerie of London, Babu Isaac M. Wise of Cincinnati, Ameer Ali of Calcutta, Hon. W. T. Harris of Washington, D. C., Professor J. W. Richard of Gettysburg, Pa., Rev. J. Coleman Adams of Brooklyn, Father Kent Stone of Buenos Ayres, and Rev. Thomas E. Hermann.

A Stage Held Up.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Sept. 12.—The Ashland and Klamath Falls stage was held up yesterday afternoon by a lone highwayman, who relieved the three passengers and driver of valuables to the amount of $600.

RAILROAD MATTERS.

A Lively Rate War Threatened in the Near Future.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The Southern Pacific railroad has notified its connections east and north that the Southern California, the California end of the Santa Fe system, make a $4 cut in the through rate east and threatened another cut if the Southern Pacific met the rate. The Southern Pacific asks its connections to provide with it to say rate that may be made. The Santa Fe claims that the Southern Pacific made the first cut by offering to carry members of the Los Angeles board of trade east via Sa. Francisco at the same rate as the direct route proposed to make, a practical 24 cut. A lively war is promised.

Will Issue Bonds.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—At noon today the directors of the Southern Pacific Railroad company have decided to issue bonds slightly in excess of $50,000,000.

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

A Circular Against the Lords by the National Federation.

The Policy of the Canadian Government.—Border Trial in Japan.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The national federation tonight issued a circular against the house of lords. In the circular the federation declare seven years' discussion and eighty-two days' consideration by the house of commons definitely ascertained the wishes of 3,000,000 electors; yet this counts for nothing when opposed to the views of 400 conservative peers. Continuing, the circular declares the mending of the house of lords is now in the front rank of the liberal program, in accord with Gladstone's declaration at Newcastle. The circular concludes that as the home rule bill passed the house of commons and was rejected by the house of lords, it is doubly certain to become a law. It also says that not only will the Irish question be settled, but that the reform of reform is dawning for the democracy of the United Kingdom.

Canada and Protection.

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—In a speech tonight Premier Sir John Thompson made an important statement as to the policy of the government in the matter of reform. Sir John said the government already admitted the necessity of tariff revision, and, inasmuch as it was not probable that any great expenditure on the public works would be made for some time to come, the revision might be conducted even to the extent of a reduction of duties, but, whether the policy was popular or unpopular, the government was desirous to maintain the principle of protection.

Murder case in Japan.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Advices received here from Yokohama under date of August 12, says the preliminary trial of Viscount Sonin Junin, the leading members of his family and his chief retainers, on the charge of murdering the late Viscount Soma Masatoro, is proceeding at Tokio. The body of the late Viscount has been exhumed after being eighteen months in the tomb. The result of this post mortem examination was not known when these advices left Yokohama. Public interest in the trial in Japan is intense.

Death from Cholera.

BUENOS AYRES, Sept. 12.—A death from cholera occurred in this port aboard the state steamer Duca Gallieres. The passengers and crew were sent to Lazaretto.

Advices from Rio de Janeiro.

BUENOS AYRES, Sept. 12.—Advices from Rio de Janeiro are that the insurgents' gunboats again attacked Nictheroy, but without success.
