A MODERN CRUSADE.

Campaign of American Theosophists in Ireland.

"BROTHERHOOD" IN THE SLUMS.

Distinguished Adherent of the Irish Faith—Home to Be "Storm-d."

LONDON, Aug. 15 [Copyright by the Associated Press.]—Parliament closes so early in a more lively and spirited manner than has been the case with set recess for years.

In the whole of the Parliament the man who has most bothered himself is "Dan" Healy. He began the session as one of John Dillon's seventy-one followers, and he soon is as the leader of his own party with about twenty-five followers.

It is said that the Irish convention which meets in Dublin on September 12 is destined to be a fiasco. Neither the Parnellites nor the Healyites will attend, so the whole object of the convention is thwarted and Mr. Dillon expects if the Parnellites and other nationalists do not attend that the letter will be put in an awkward moral position on the ground that when a union of the different sections of the Irish party was attempted, they stood off.

In the meantime Ireland is perfectly tranquil and continues steadily importing. For several years there have been great fearfears in Ireland and the peasantry are generally satisfied.

CRUSADING FOR THEOSOPHY.

The little band of American crusaders or theosophy is receiving considerable attention in the columns of the English newspapers, and has given the Irish people an idea of what is meant by excursion, for shortly after landing, the Americans opened a propaganda that Ireland was soon to become the leader of Europe and that the school children of that noble land would be selected. Also that the Theosophists proposed to establish a branch of their American school of mysticism in Dublin. The newspapers are evidently pleased with the one and some of the principal papers of Dublin and elsewhere have devoted open their columns for its discussion.

The crusaders have certainly proven a surprise. When it was at first announced that Colonel Alcott was going to institute a crusade which would not stop until the globe had been girdled, it was not received seriously. But what the party lacks in numbers it makes up in theosophical enough.

Arriving at London, the little party engaged the Queen's hall and held a meeting there. The women sat on the edge in flowing white robes and the men in evening dress.

This meeting was followed by an invitation called a "brotherhood supper" held in the slums. Brickbats, sandwiches, stale pastries, oatmeal and the poor generally were served with a hearty meal—the first many of them had partaken of in months and then were addressed given a talk on "Brotherhood."

The same thing was done in the slums of Liverpool. The Rev. W. Williams, a convert to the Brilliant story joined the crusade.

In Dublin a convention of the whole theosophical society in Europe was held. Delegates from all Europe in attendance of some distinguished scientists, among them being Professor Hinnes, the English chemist who invented the Hinnes ray camera, Camille Flammarion, the French astronomer, and it is said Mrs. Benson, wife of the Archbishop of Canterbury, who will be known as Mrs. Benson, joined the Theosophists recently.

In a few days the party will leave Ireland for Amsterdam, Berlin and Paris. The intention is to visit every European capital and Rome itself is to be "stormed."

Leaving Europe the crusaders will go to India and Egypt. Then will follow Australia, New Zealand and Asia. The return is to be by way of San Francisco to Chicago and Marco.

The Question to be Settled Before the Close of the Week.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—There was a rush of visitors at the Democratic headquarters today, including Gen. A. J. Warner of Ohio, chairman of the Bimetallic League, who arrived today; Representative Pidhan of Illinois, Senator Jones of Virginia, Senator St. Pugh, the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Fourth North Carolina district.

Chairman Faulkner said the question of moving national headquarters would be settled before the week closed. Gen. Warner, who had just come down from New York, said the feeling was that as the contest was to be waged in the states surrounding Chicago, it would be natural to make Chicago headquarters.

The personnel of the executive committee when it about to be called is attracting much attention. Gen. Warner said that he had no idea that other information, he believed Chairman Jones would include ex-Representative Kerr of Pennsylvania, George Fred Williams of Massachusetts and Mr. Tarpy of Connecticut on the committee.

Mr. Pugh of North Carolina says that the votes so solid as to be the national convention in that state, indicate there will be a three-cornered fight, in which event he says Democratic success will be made to its sway. He says the Populists of North Carolina will vote for Mr. Bryan.

Secretary Gardner of the Democratic congressional committee is back from the New York meeting. Mr. Gardner's staff indicates that after Nov. 3 they will be formed independently of the national association of Democracy in Chicago, and that steps will be taken to affect a national organization at Chicago after that.

At the Republican headquarters there was the usual air of systematic harmony. Chairman Babcock says there were no developments beyond the great encouragement brought by the mail from every section of the country.

Chicago Failures.
