THE LATEST SCHEME AGAINST UTAH.

Is another part of this paper will be found a communication which appeared in the Louisville Post of a recent date. It is a well written article, and treats the subject at hand in a masterly manner. Coming from a non-Mormon, it will have much weight on the public mind. The arguments adduced are sound and irrefragable, and the statements of facts correct as to the situation in this Territory.

The proposition for a Legislative Council appointed by the Government, and the abolition of the Legislative Assembly of Utah, is so preposterous and revolutionary in its character, that if the object to be achieved were not the overthrow of the unpopular "Mormons," it would not receive a moment's serious consideration. But prejudice is unreasonable, and when it is violently aroused, measures the most absurd become possible and acts the most unjust may be expected.

That there is not any need for the establishment of such an arbitrary power in Utah, must be clear to every person acquainted with the condition of affairs in this Territory. But there is so much ignorance in regard to it, even among those who are well informed upon most subjects, that it may be made to appear without much difficulty, that some violent remedy for alleged evils is not only justifiable, but necessary. In the first place the allegations are false, and in the second place if they were true the remedy already exists and can be applied in a constitutional and republican manner, as ably set forth by the correspondent to the Post.

We have no fears that in the best governed, most peaceful, thrifty, industrious and progressive of the Territories, a scheme to deprive it of all semblance to a republican form of government—however such an infamous plot may meet the minds of a few pushing adventurers—will ever prevail in the Congress of the United States, while any respect is left for the Constitution and the sacred principles upon which the institutions of this country are founded. Yet the proposition will be sustained by some, and that will serve to show their true character. It will exhibit them as traitors to republicanism; as foes to true liberty; as reckless defiers of justice; as trample upon the rights of man; as promoters of the worst features of monarchism; as the forerunners of a force hostile to popular government; as revolutionary adventurers hungry for spoil; the expected result of their unbalanced conspiracy.

The miserable wretches! They falsely claim that the people of Utah are politically governed by a few individuals, and as a remedy they want to establish the very thing against which they complain. The only difference is, the men whom they accuse of managing affairs are the friends of the people, while those whom they wish to inaugurate as rulers are the enemies of the people. But we need not at present pursue the subject further. "A Resident Gentle" has fairly and ably presented it, and we have no doubt that the falsehood of the "Commission" promoters will be as fully understood in the proper place as the malicious, selfish, and mercenary objects which they have in view.

A COMMENDABLE CHANGE.

The Logan Leader has grown out of its present exterior. We are glad to see its progress. There are several papers in the Territory of the patent-half character. One printed in California, the other half in Utah. They are all objectionable on that ground. The editor cannot possibly control one half the paper which bears his name, and fiction claims a large proportion of its space. However, it is a cheap and easy way of publication, and in some sparsely settled districts is the only form possible if a large sized sheet is demanded. And here is a consideration for the Cache Valley folks. They must be prompt and liberal in sustaining their local paper or it will not be able to bear the expense involved in the composition of a journal of that size. Yet we commend the departure, and think that even if the venture does not prove a financial success, it would be better to issue a smaller sheet all home made, than return to the patent outside of foreign matter and spirit. The present number is not up to the usual mechanical standard, but attention to press and rollers will remedy this, no doubt. We wish the Leader increased prosperity and influence, and commend its example to others.

SUGAR MAKING.

The subject of the manufacture of sugar from the beet has been agitated on several occasions in this Territory. Years ago practical efforts on a large scale were made in this direction, which were not successful for reasons which need not now be discussed. Since then, individual experiments have been attempted, which have demonstrated the fact that sugar of good quality can be made from Utah-grown beets, and indicate that at some time in the history of the Territory, beet sugar may become one of its prominent products.

As further experiments will be tried in this direction, some suggestions from practical home workers will be of advantage. We therefore present the following from C. A. Maden, Esq., whose name has become prominent in this Territory as the successful manufacturer of sugar from the Amber variety of sorghum.

He has also worked with the beet in sugar making, and his hints will be of value to all engaged in the business here, whether on a large or a smaller scale.

1. Cut off the tap root and top, and wash the beet.
2. Grate the beet on some kind of grater, cylindrical is the best.
3. Use for first batch of pulp, from 10 to 15 per cent. pure soft water, to be mixed with the pulp while grating. Place the pulp in a coarse sack, fitting in the press; a strong older press will do. Press out the juice. Empty out the pressed pulp in a tub or tank, and mix it with 100 per cent. (by weight) of pure soft water, and press again as thorough as the press can do it.
4. Use this second expressed juice of the first batch, to the grating of the second batch instead of water as above; and so on alternately. But continue to use the 100 per cent. of water for the second pressing of each batch.
5. Pour the juice, first expressed from each batch, into a kettle or metallic-bottomed tank, of size according to the quantity of beet to be processed. Heat the juice to 160 deg. F., and mix one-half per cent. pulverized pure lime with the juice, and bring to a boil. When a white scum appears in the cracks of the crust it boils then remove or extinguish the fire. Draw off the defecated clear juice by means of a siphon or pipe, placed about 24 inches from the bottom of the defecator, into another tank or vessel.
6. Place the scum and sediment from the defecator in the expressing bag, press the juice out and mix it with defecated juice.
7. Now add one per cent. of phosphoric acid, showing a strength of 40 deg. B., mix well. It will precipitate the lime as phosphate of lime.
8. Now mix with the juice 5 per cent. finely pulverized bone-black, and let this and the phosphate of lime settle together and clear.
9. Condense the defecated juice by evaporation to a weight of about 11 to 13 pounds, or about 12 pounds per gallon.
10. Put the condensed juice away in a place about 80 degs. warm. And if the beet juice is all right it will crystallize in a short time.
11. When crystallized, place the must sugar in a strong factory sack and press the syrup out from the sugar in the elder press, or better, on a hand centrifugal, in which the must sugar is placed, without any sack, and the syrup is wrung out, and a crude brown sugar will be the result.
12. An approximate success in this simple way, will make it appear where the beet can be raised successfully for sugar.

BOB SHEFFY.

THE ECCENTRIC FARMER OF SOUTH-WEST VIRGINIA.

Country people have but few incidents of life to feed the universal desire for excitement. And the quiet farming population of this district, not having enough excitement in their politics, seek for their fill in religion.

Bob Sheffy, a crazy old man of the Methodist creed, has from time to time visited the little mountain valleys of this region, and applied the principles of his peculiar faith to the people, with the result of dispensing with the gospel. He is the king of Methodist shouting, and has method in his shouting. Is there a camp meeting in progress? Bob Sheffy remains away for awhile, seeking an opportunity to draw the attention of the assembly to his coming. Waiting till the shouters are tired out, calling for a lord that never comes, and he jumps into a quiet repose, near the midnight hour, shouting and singing at the top of his voice, Shanty advances, a twinkling of an eye, and around all to a babel of excitement, while with renewed efforts they crowd the shouters' bench and shout and pray till again exhausted.

THREE CLIMBING.

Sheffy has developed an original way of attracting the attention of his hearers. This way, to a believer in the Darwinian Theory of the descent of man, would be another proof of the unity between man and the monkey. Leaving the stand of a camp meeting, in the exuberance of his spirits, and swinging and swinging himself like an ape from limb to limb, he shouts and exerts with renewed effort, while his audience is lost in wonder at his temerity, and look upon his actions as all but divine.

NOVEL WAY OF PRAYING.

Sheffy usually carries an old blanket with him, which he chiefly uses as an altar on which to pray. Going into the woods, in some locality where he can attract attention, he spreads his blanket, kneels down, and vociferously shouts to his lord for his blessings, believing no doubt that this is the way of prayer, and that the farther he is from the traveling along the road, should be a few persons coming, down goes the blanket and its owner in prayer, that the observers may hear and see his devout piety.

THE EFFECT OF THESE FOOLISH ACTIONS.

Upon many superstitious and ignorant persons is such that Sheffy is by them almost deified. And he, not too crass to be very cunning, takes advantage of their credulity, and visits about from place to place, creating a kind of lands with turkey and chicken a plenty, for he is quite well known for his glutinous as for his lunacy. But with all his peculiarities Sheffy is a giant that is noted for his attention to the pretty girls of his audiences. He never loses an opportunity of seeing them home.

PRESIDENT'S CONDITION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., 10.—Midnight. The President is in a more comfortable and quiet day than would be thought compatible with the continuous fever. He has taken more nourishment than yesterday and experienced no recurrence of the distressing nausea which affected his feeble system yesterday afternoon. The new incision is still very sensitive to touch and even the laying of a piece of lint saturated with carbolic oil on the raw flesh causes pain and it is on this sensitive condition of things that the continuous fever is attributed. The sides of the incision, however, will grow less sensitive as they become covered with natural secretions which follow an injury of this kind, and by to-morrow or next day the new wound will be little more sensitive than the old one. In the mean time the drainage tubes are dispensed with and the mouth of the incision is simply kept open with a little lint and absorbent cotton, which are removed as they become saturated with the discharge. The quantity of pus obtained today was not great, but it was apparently the wound contained. The track was thoroughly cleaned, and what irritation there is now from the wound must be attributed to the flesh incision and not to any retention which ought to come out. The wound made by the bullet has entirely healed and its mouth is entirely covered with a newly formed skin. The intensity of the fever today was about the same as yesterday. The patient's pulse rose to 104 at noon, and to 106 at six p.m., and the temperature from 99.2 to 101.1. Shortly after the evening examination, the fever began to abate as it did last night, and at this hour the pulse is below 100, and the temperature has correspondingly decreased. At the patient has slept most of the evening. It is not possible to hold the thermometer under his arm for 10 minutes without easily disturbing him. The exact temperature has not been taken since 7 o'clock, but it is thought to be below 100. It is five days since the last hypodermic injection of morphia was given, but the patient seems to have no difficulty in getting a good night's rest. He will have a better night, the surgeons think, than last night. Drs. Bliss and Heyburn both report him doing extremely well, and decided change for the better will be apparent as soon as the irritation caused by the new incision subsides.

Dr. Bliss, in giving the whole history in detail, of his differences with Baxter on the management of the President's case.

Blaine to Lowell.

At one o'clock p.m. the President's condition has not essentially changed since the morning report. At noon he signed an important public document to which his signature was indispensable with a firm, clear hand.

Ordered to the Seashore.

Secretary Blaine lately had a malaria tendency to chills; he is advised to go to the seashore, and may go to Fortress Monroe. He has been in Washington constantly since November.

An Impudent Attorney.

Henry Weiss, Hartmann's attorney, of New York, having written to Secretary Blaine and alluded to Mr. Hitt's suit, the latter has written to Secretary Blaine and having asked of the protection of government. Blaine replied that it is an unauthorized request and utterly improper. He cannot, without a full examination of the many bearings of the case, pass judgment. It would be as proper to solicit or interrogate the Supreme Court, and he sees no reason why Mr. Hartmann should be singled out from the half million who land here this year, for the protection of the government. Mr. Hitt's views are those of a private individual and do not figure in the case as an official declaration.

The Tag at the Oak.

New York, 9.—The Herald's Vienna dispatch says: Intense excitement is caused by the coming international boat race. The city is full of blinding advertisements for the race. All Vienna will take a holiday on the occasion. Both crews are working their hardest. The Vienna crew are keeping their practice day and night, and are confident of the Cornell. Minister Phelps acts as judge at the finish. The betting is even.

Little Buck Dead.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., 10.—The Gazette's special from Fort Smith says: The following telegram was received here to-day:

Pawhuska, I. T., 9.

To V. Delus, Marshal:

I have been in pursuit of Little Buck five days and ran on him to-day. He with five others showed up, and, resisting, in the killing of Little Buck. The Indians reported wagons waiting for me to pull out. This will compel me to wait a day or two for the excitement to subside.

(Signed) Deputy Marshal.

Little Buck is one of the chiefs of the Osage tribe of Indians which, although one of the west tribes in the Territory, is not a lawless. At the last term of court he and six Osages were convicted of horse stealing and sentenced to imprisonment for six months. Deputy Marshal Marks and posse while on the way to this place were besieged by a band of about 100 Indians who demanded their release. After much parleying he was allowed to proceed on his promise that he would not again invade the Territory. It is feared that he will experience much difficulty in getting out of the country in safety.

A Cowardly Assassin.

A Little Rock, Yell County, special reports another cowardly assassination, the victim was a school teacher, Mr. Sturdevant, who, for the past few days, had been being abused by a ruffian named Burgess, was way-laid and shot dead. Burgess escaped.

Unfortunate Regulators of Keokuk.

Keokuk, Iowa, 9.—A special says: Fifteen regulators rode into Grayson, Ky., last Saturday, and attempted to assume control. The marshal killed a pair of horses and captured four of the regulators and captured four. A colored man, giving the name of Ed. Anderson, has been captured and is held as one of the two who have in it a few days been committing many highway robberies in the vicinity of Oakley and Madisonville, north of the city; his companion escaped.

Heavy Rain Stops the Train.

TORREY, Kan., 9.—The recent splendid rains along the line of the Santa Fe road in New Mexico, have occasioned a partial interruption of through travel, but the line is now open for California business as usual. The undeniable annual increase in the rainfall of New Mexico is attributed to the rapid extension of railway lines and consequent increased cultivation of the agricultural lands of the Territory.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

Pawhuska City's loss by fire is $40,000. Uninsured.

Geo. W. Riggs, a prominent banker of Washington, is dying.

The grand jury indicted the absconding clerk A. D. Wheelock, and steps will be taken to secure his extradition.

A St. Louis dispatch says: The 9th was the hottest day of the season and hotter than for 45 years. At 2 p.m. the shaded thermometer showed 108.9 and on fourth Street 104 to 108.

Boston dispatch says: Daniel Goodman, a merchant, was forced out of $20,000 by some young rascals who claimed to be agents of the Pepperell Manufacturing Company. Goodman, a Maine man, and got him to ship a large cargo of cotton, wool, etc., to Biddeford, and to buy the ship. The ship cleared on the 25th ult. and was not seen since. Pepperell & Co. don't know the man who gave the name. G. D. Fuller.

WASATCH STATE CONFERENCE.

The 16th quarterly conference of the Wasatch Stake was convened at Heber City at 10 a. m., July 18th, 1893. Present on the island: W. W. Cliff, President of Summit Stake; Bishop Atwood, from Kanab; Bro. Phil. Dibble, from Springville, Utah County; President Hatch of Wasatch Stake, and his Counselors; the Bishops of the several Wards and their Counselors; the High Council, Presidents of quorums, etc.

President Hatch expressed his pleasure at meeting so many, especially when the busy season of hay-making and harvesting required the attention of the brethren, which bespeaks an abiding faith in the Gospel. If we make a proper use of our time and division thereof we have time for all our duties. He read a letter from President J. F. Smith, which explained why none of the Apostles could consistently visit us.

President Cliff addressed the conference, contrasting the present appearance of Heber City with what it was 15 years ago, the great progress made, and, in referring to the blessings we enjoy, said we have no right to expect any from our Father in heaven only those we merit by our good works. Referred to the prospects of an abundant harvest.

Adjourned till 2 p. m.

2 p. m.

Opened in the usual manner. The afternoon was principally occupied by hearing reports from the Bishops, all speaking favorably of the condition of their wards.

Bishop Atwood said he did not want to be sectional because he lived in another Stake, but desired to feel an interest in the Church of God throughout the whole earth, and then gave us instructions which were good for all if lived up to. Adjourned.

Sunday, 10 a. m.

At an early hour on Sunday morning the house was filled to its utmost capacity.

President Hatch addressed the conference, commending the brethren for their thrifty appearance, the good works they manifested and their industry and economy. In regard to difficulties between brethren, we need not go beyond ourselves for the solution. The Bishop of their ward must become responsible for all that go to the Endowment House. And they should be only those who have been baptized, and who punctually observe the laws of the Church, and who are free from the many evils which prevail in the land.

The Clerk read reports from the different associations except District School reports which were read by the superintendent, S. J. Wing, all of which were accepted by the conference.

The following statistics are taken from the school reports: Number of schools, 6; number of male teachers, 6; female teachers, 5; boys between 6 and 18, 48; girls between 6 and 18, 40; number of males enrolled, 286; females enrolled, 298; amount paid to male teachers, $1,560.40; paid to female teachers, $800; real value of school property, $3,282.10.

Sabbath School report as follows:

Number of schools, 6; number of male teachers, 6; female teachers, 5; average attendance of teachers, 77; average attendance of pupils, 483. Classes: Bible and Testament, 17; Book of Mormon, 4; Doctrine and Covenants, 2; Juvenile Instructor, 2; Catechism, 2; and miscellaneous, 31. Total classes, 59. Books in library, 308; funds on hand, $50 close of last year collected during the year $140.25; expended, $105.75; balance on hand at date, $34.50.

Bishop Atwood made a few remarks, setting forth his views on the marriage, after which Bro. Dibble gave us a thrilling account of some events which took place in the days of Nauvoo.

Adjourned till 2 p. m.

2 p. m.

After the opening exercises, the sacrament was partaken of. The authorities of the Stake were unanimously sustained by the conference.

President Hatch called the attention of the Bishops to the instruction of the Church in relation to the government of the people, and desired a strict compliance with the law of the Lord. Although some may have been disappointed in not meeting any of the brethren of the Twelve, yet on the whole we were amply paid for coming together.

Respectfully,

CHARLES SHELTON, Clerk.

Correspondence.

ST. CHARLES, Idaho, August 4th, 1893.

Editor Desert News:

The citizens of this and adjacent neighborhood had a treat to-day, in the company of residents Taylor and Cannon, and others who accompanied them to this northern region.

At 10 a. m. a large congregation assembled in the meeting house at this place, where they were addressed on a variety of subjects, principally home industries, by Elders Preston, Nuttall and W. W. Taylor. They were followed by President Cannon, who delivered a short but most excellent discourse on a principle referred to by the Prophet Isaiah: "For them I honor me, I will honor, and they that desire me shall be lightly esteemed."

Samuel, 2 ch. v. 30. After which President Taylor spoke a short time referring to all the subjects which had been presented to the meeting. The President talked very kindly and encouragingly to the people. It was a long time before the meeting was over, but the people were very much interested and benefited.

A very short time after the meeting a gloom was cast over the town by a telegram received, announcing the death of a very dear and respected and lamented citizen, on a mission to Denmark, Neils Wilhelmson.

It was quite a blow to his family, as they were in good spirits at the thought that the many weeks should last they would meet with his hand and father. The family has a heart-felt sympathy, I believe, of every citizen in the place, and throughout the Stake. The people here cannot be too thankful to the giver of all good for the general good health that they have enjoyed.

The hay crop is good; grain looks well, a few small patches of wheat just ready to cut. We have had some very warm days, the highest range of the thermometer at noon in the shade was 94, and the lowest at 7 a. m. 60 deg. F.
