Special Correspondence.

Ogden, Feb. 2.—The new railroad ordinance went into effect yesterday. Its provisions are very stringent. It is made unlawful and a misdemeanor for any person other than an employe to go upon, over or along any railroad track, except at a public or private crossing of such track, or upon lawful business with the company owning or controlling it; or to go upon any locomotive engine, or into, upon or over any car, or between any cars, except upon lawful business; or to go upon, climb or jump on, or to hang onto a moving engine or car without the consent of the person in charge of the engine or car; or to throw or shoot any stone, stick or any other missile of any kind at any train, car, engine or vehicle. Violation of any of the provisions of the ordinance are punishable by fines ranging from $1 to $50, and by imprisonment in the discretion of the court, not exceeding thirty days.
