between Utah Republicans and the national party. Every intelligent man must recognize that the state committee has no such power (alleged to it), and such action on its part would have led to that contention in the party here in Utah, which the committee is in honor bound to strive to prevent.

Recurring then to the course of calling a convention to nominate for Congress and not for electors. By this act just as much as by naming a convention for Bryan electors, the committee would have assumed an authority which it does not possess. It would just as surely have disrupted the party, and at the same time would have done violence to the wishes of the McKinley Republicans, whom the committee is bound to regard just as much as the Bryan Republicans.

The second course was to call one convention of both purposes. This would have at once precipitated a conflict about nothing. All those Republicans who desire to vote for Bryan can do so by voting for the Bryan electors, who will be nominated by the Democrats. The committee were bound to assume that no Republican would desire not only to vote for Bryan electors himself, but to compel all other Republicans to vote the same way. The Bryan Republicans have expressed no such desire. The committee also no doubt felt that it would be an injustice to Bryan Republicans to compel them to take part in a convention to nominate McKinley electors in order that they might have a voice in naming a Republican congressman. It was, of course, conceded that no honorable man would go to a convention called to nominate Republican electors and take part in its deliberations, while all the time announcing his determination to vote against the electors nominated. If, however, such a convention had been called and a struggle had ensued it is apparent that the bonus party would have been compelled to bolt.

Thus the party would certainly have been torn to pieces, the very result that the party were trying to avoid. The only other course was the one the committee has followed. In this way no Republican need take part in forming a convention which he will be bound to repudiate. McKinley Republicans will be given the opportunity to vote for McKinley electors. Bryan Republicans will have the opportunity to vote for the Bryan electors. At the same time both wings of the party can unite in nominating a Congressman, who holds the true Republican faith as to protection and silver, and the whole party is left free to consider its local officers. It must be plain to every man, who is not a bondstrung fanatic, that the committee has followed a wise and equitable course; it has met a grave crisis, it has solved a difficult problem, it has kept the party intact for future political work after this money question has been finally settled. If new Republicans carry out what they claim they wish to be done, the McKinley Republicans can join in nominating delegates to Mt. Pleasant, while the Bryan Republicans will not be compelled to take part in a convention whose candidates they have announced their unalterable purpose to oppose.

REPUBLICAN.

Political Pointers.

A great deal of indignation has been aroused in Salt Lake and other Utah cities over the orders to close down the Pennsylvania smelting works at Stanley. Mining and business men do not hesitate to denounce it as political effect movement.

Says the Great Campaign: The boys who were after Judge Powers' apple and did not get it, need not look for the cider. It's a case of "there ain't going to be no cider."

The Great Campaign: Joseph H. Raleigh is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for sheriff. If he gets it, his Republican opponent will have a tender for votes like a coon in a melon patch.

Bingham Bulletin: The "50 cent dollar" is an invention that has returned to plague the inventors. Not even Barnes Central seems able to explain how it is to benefit the silver barons, or injure anybody else.

Detroit News: Senator Thurston is going to make a specialty of fighting "anarchy, socialism and free trade," and would be pleased to hear from anybody who has any of those things to assist.

New York Recorder: What makes a silver certificate worth its face in gold? The fact that the United States incorporates in "This certificate is redeemable for customs, taxes and all public dues." That's where the little joker stands.

Provo Enquirer: Hon. John Henry Smith for Congressman seems popular with the party. Utah money should earn the bull rolling by instructing its delegation for him. He is a Provo boy born and bred, and it is fitting that his old home should find in him honor.

Attorney James H. Moyle has returned from Brighton as brown as the bark on the pine trees of that altitudinous retreat. He is as strong, too, as a Greek athlete and ready for a sixteen to one campaign with all of his abundant enthusiasm and enthusiasm.

There is somewhat of a quaking among McKinley Republicans who are candidates for office on account of the expressed purpose of the silverite advocates of the party to vote against them. That is especially true in this county where the straight ticket men do not hesitate to denounce it as political effect movement.

Cong. W. Steyer, Esq., who is a candidate for State Senator in the next Utah Legislature, allowed his name to be brought forward at the urgent request of Davis county friends, who desire to represent the people there and in Rich and Morgan counties in the upper house of the State law-making body.

Logan Republican: Who is John Lee Taylor the prospective nominee for delegate to Congress on the Republican ticket? Is he another George Pepper Nutty? C. S. Varian is also spoken of as a probable candidate. We hardly think though that he will be seriously considered by the party. Gen. A. Lowe should be sent to Congress and Judge Bennett, O. J. Salisbury or Arthur Brown to the Senate.

The Republicans of the Twenty-seventh precinct met last evening at the Seventeenth Ward school house and organized with the following officers: Harold M. Pitt chairman, Frank S. Tingey vice-chairman, Edward H. Scott secretary and George Dwyer treasurer. A campaign committee was also selected composed of the following: F. G. Pallister, R. S. Lewis, C. O. King, George Dwyer and Mrs. David Yeatsley.

The Scandinavian Silver league held a cooing rally at St. Mark's hall last evening. The opening speech was made by J. C. Sandberg, the president and the constitution of the society read by Thomas E. Vissing after which it was adopted and signed. A letter was read and ordered sent to Congressman Lind of Minnesota, thanking him for the interest he had shown in the organization of Scandinavian silver clubs and his good work generally. J. C. Jensen and Dr. Beckstrom were chosen corresponding secretaries. Mr. Erikson then made the concluding speech of the evening.

ELDER ROBERTS IN ST. LOUIS.

Kindly Received There by the Press—Meetings Well Attended—Preaching the Gospel.

In a letter to President Joseph F. Smith, under date of August 24, written from St. Louis, Elder B. H. Roberts, who is now on a missionary trip, says:

"During the past week we had printed 20,000 handbills, a copy of which we enclose you. Under the supervision of the Elders who accompany me and two other Elders who are laboring here—Brothers Fackrell from Kane county and Christiansen of Manti—15,000 of said bills have been presented at the doors of the people in the populous portion of this city. We also had painted a streamer 22 feet long, stretched across our hall, giving notice of our meetings. In addition to this we have secured notice of our meetings in all the papers published in this city, a very favorable and sweltering announcement of our presence in the city was published in the St. Louis Republic of the 17th inst. Again, on August 21, the Republic contained a very favorable announcement. Taking into account the Affairs of Faith, and as the paper has a circulation of 70,000 a day, we regard this publication as a very fortunate occurrence, especially as it was made the leading article of their local page. Everything that could be done in the way of making our presence known and announcing in advance our meetings was done, and, most fervently we asked our Father in heaven to bless the efforts we had put forth. We feel today that He heard our prayers and blessed our labors for last night, on the occasion of our opening meeting, the hall was well filled with a fine congregation, who listened with marked attention to the singing and the speaking. This morning the two great dailies of this city,—the Republic and Globe-Democrat—gave very favorable reports of our meetings, and will further advertise the course of lectures to be delivered here.

"It makes me feel well to see Mormonism have something like a representation in the press without slurs or sneers, and it does one long for the time to come when the truth shall be used to bless man on the earth. We sometimes feel an admirable feeling before the Lord in these labors, and also how inadequate we are to accomplish the great purpose through the proclamation of the Gospel but solely He will be merciful to our weakness and at the last, through the condescension of His grace, make us sufficient for all things that He has required at our hands. One thing I am sure of, that unless He does so, men are not sufficient of themselves for these things. Our faith and hope, however, both prompt us to believe that He will continue to bless our efforts, and if He will do so, the honor and the glory shall be given to Him both now and forever.

"We speak again tonight, and shall continue to do so until the 22nd of September unless we have an opportunity to bent out our hall a night occasionally.

"Brother Midgley arrived at St. Louis safely on Friday morning. He is a very valuable addition to our party, as his skill as an accomplished musician our singing an assured success.

"You will see by our letter that we are feeling extremely well over our labors here; and if the Lord will be good to us we will put forth every energy to declare His mighty truths to the 600,000 inhabitants of this city. We hope we are remembered in the prayers of the brethren. All the Elders comprising our party are in the enjoyment of good health, and earth is real on doing his best to make the work here a go."

BENZON'S HEARING.

A Young Man Tried For Disturbing the Peace—Went to See His Father.

Frank Benzon stood trial before Justice Wenger today on a charge of disturbing the peace. The complaint against Benzon was sworn to by his mother-in-law, Mary Porter, residing at 135 south Sixth West street, who alleged that the defendant came to her home on Saturday afternoon last and committed a disturbance.

The witnesses for the prosecution were Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Rose Benzon, the defendant's wife, and two others, all of whom testified that Frank declined to conclude very unbecoming by slamming the wire doors, hammering on the window screens, and cursing. They also stated that his conduct was due to his being refused admission to the house, into which he wanted to go to see his wife. The witnesses further testified that Frank threatened to set the house on fire, and one of them stated that he had come prepared for the express purpose of carrying this threat into execution.

When the witnesses for the prosecution had finished, the defendant took the stand. He is a man of about 23 years and of quite respectable appearance. His story of the affair was that about two or three days ago he received from the East, where he had been for about a year working. Immediately upon his arrival in this city, a friend of his, Jim Pike by name, informed him that one of his children was very sick. Before this, however, he had been served with a summons, which conveyed to him the information that his wife had started a suit for divorce during his absence. Her action in applying for an annulment of the marriage vows, made some three years before, somewhat disgusted him, so when he left the city it got out, all was peace, serenity and happiness. He therefore was somewhat troubled in going to see his wife and upon hearing of the child's sickness, sent a messenger boy with an anonymous note to her, in which he requested her to meet him on a certain corner, there to endeavor to become reconciled and effect a compromise on the divorce question. The note was read by the young wife and also her mother, after which the latter stated to the messenger that if Frank, whom she supposed was the writer of the note, wanted to see Rose, he would have to come to the house, as she did not propose to allow her to meet him on the street corners.

The messenger carried this information to the latter and the next day he proceeded to take advantage of the invitation thus tendered by his mother-in-law. He took another young man with him by the name of Fry and both of them wended their way in the direction of Mrs. Porter's home. When about half a block from the house, Frank noticed his wife standing out at the gate with a child in her arms, but before he reached the premises she had gone into the house. He went up to the door and knocked; his mother-in-law, Mrs. Porter, came out. He stated the object of his call, but Mrs. Porter refused to grant him admission. This aroused the ire of the young husband and he created a little disturbance, but left, he said, as much as had been attributed to him. Benzon, one of the children he had never seen before, as it had been born since his going to the East.

The defendant was found guilty by Justice Wenger and fined $10 which he promptly paid. He was represented in the case by Attorney Roy Van Cott, while Prosecutor Shoup handled the other side.

That Tired Feeling

Makes you seem "all broken up," without life, ambition, energy or appetite. It is often the forerunner of serious illness, or the accompaniment of nervous troubles. It is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is therefore apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember

A Railroad Official's Experience.

MR. EDWARD EDGINGS, long connected with railroad construction in Nebraska, writes: "My heart troubled and pained me for 10 years. Shortness of breath was the constant and most common symptom. Intense, overwhelming pain, generally followed any exertion. Faintness, hunger without any appetite. Sometimes that made my chest, my heart, and palpitation that often stopped me as if I would fall, were frequent attacks. Again, everything would turn black if I arose from a sitting posture quickly. Sleepless nights with their nervous and worried were frequent, and I could get no rest day or night. I consulted leading physicians and tried advertised remedies. They gave me no relief. One of Dr. Miles' circulars described my case so exactly that I took Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and I am now a well man. I hope every one troubled with heart disease will try Dr. Miles' remedies. If they will write me personally, I will gladly give them full details of my experience." Mrs. Edgings.

LOSS OF VOICE

After Acute Bronchitis

CURED BY USING

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

A PREACHER'S EXPERIENCE.

"Three months ago, I took a violent cold which resulted in an attack of acute bronchitis. I put myself under medical treatment, and at the end of two months was no better. I found it very difficult to preach, and concluded to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. The first bottle gave me great relief; the second, which I am now taking, has relieved me almost entirely of all unpleasant symptoms, and I feel sure that one or two bottles more will effect a permanent cure. To all ministers suffering from throat troubles, I recommend Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—E. M. BRAWLEY, D. D., Dist. Secretary, Am. Bapt. Publication Society, Petersburg, Va.
