THE AMORINE CASE.

Outrander Makes Many Charges Against Other Members.

A MAYOR SAID TO BE IMPLICATED.

An Effort to Have the Appeal Withdrawn and the Whole Thing Hushed Up.

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 23.—Perhaps the most sensational turn in the all-absorbing A. P. A. case today was a notice of appeal by the attorneys for the defendant in the case of Hummel against Outrander, as treasurer of Council No. 2, for the payment for his office, which was tried in Judge Seagraves's court Wednesday.

Outrander was highly incensed at the verdict, and makes many charges against the members of the order, whom he claims deserted him and worked against him in the lawsuit. He says the judge before whom the case was argued said the charge to the jury all was in not before a word of evidence had been taken.

Outrander has been talking freely since the suit was declared against him, and not only exposed the number of offices purchased to evade the Labor Day measure, but has given out the names of those who purchased them, among which are many prominent business men, politicians and city officials. The mayor, who is the avowed candidate of the association for governor, will be announced himself as a congressional aspirant, is among the number charged with having purchased office.

The mayor denied the implication this morning, when the disgruntled treasurer exhausted his statement by producing receipts bearing the signature of the city executive.

An effort is being made to have the appeal in the common pleas court withdrawn, as the members of the society say nothing can be gained by further agitation of what they claim is a conspiracy to a boycott.

All About Modelines.

LEXINGTON, KY., Feb. 23.—The testimony in the Pollard-Breckinridge suit today contained a very sensational aspect. Henry Kastenbaum testified that in 1888 James C. Rodes traveled from Lexington to Kingston to induce him to see his girl. He was introduced to Lena Singleton, Madeline Pollard and another woman. All got tell and Miss Pollard and Rodes then retired to an hour. He went there with a man named Spindlemyer and met Miss Pollard and another woman. All became full and Miss Pollard proposed that he should go to bed with her. He declined, saying he would not sleep with any woman but by his good friend Jim Rodes. Miss Pollard then went to bed with Spindlemyer.

DISCHARGED AT LAST.

All the Members of the House Under Arrest.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 23.—The members of the House under arrest were finally discharged from custody today, by depositing with further proceedings under the call. It required four hours to accomplish this, and, although the scenes of disorderly turbulence which characterized yesterday's proceedings were not repeated, the proceedings were fully as interesting. The Democrats were evidently very anxious when the House met to execute the resolution of yesterday, attempting from the wholesale arrest of members, but by dilatory movements the Republicans succeeded in preventing the until the whole situation had been thoroughly ventilated.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the day, barring Bland's bitter philippic against the Filibustering Democrats, was a verbal duel between Reed and Turner over the question of counting a quorum.

After the absent members had been discharged, Bland returned to the silver bill, but his motion failed again for lack of a quorum. He only lacked two votes. Although Bland still insisted on going ahead with the seigniorage bill, many Democrats believe it should now be abandoned, and unless a quorum is procured tomorrow, it would seem that it would have to be; that is, if the Democratic caucus does not decide to adopt some method of forcing members to vote or count them if they do not.

Cleveland's Course.

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—The Evening Post's Washington special says: It is reported on pretty good authority that the cancerous growth in the President's mouth is again troubling him, that another surgical operation is necessary and that the dolphin has been selected here to take him aboard by ruse a duck shooting trip, but really to save an operation performed.

Cooper Traveling.

NASHVILLE, Feb. 23.—Richard Cooper and family of New York left tonight for Texas and the Far Bonanza.

Nelson's Application Heard.

After some labor there was been disputed as to bond, counsel for McKane and Nelson and read the law relating to the issuing of certificates of reasonable doubt. He declared he would apply for a writ and certificate of reasonable doubt.

Justice Cullen took the papers on the application for reasonable doubt, as well as a copy of the testimony taken at the trial. It consists of 3000 sheets of typewritten matter and is very bulky. He will, in reviewing the papers, be would consider the application and hear in his decision Monday. McKane has been taken back to jail.

The Brazilian Insurrection.

BUENOS AYRES, Feb. 23.—Advices from Rio state that Peixoto has escaped all insurgents commission, which is said to have been taken in secret at secret events in Santos, where have weakened the acting president's position.

It is reported here that the government squadron has mutinied, and the insurgent army in the southern part of Brazil is advancing without opposition. The government troops sent to repel the army are said to have been seized with a panic and fled.

It is feared the continued depredations of the rebel money will lead to a financial crisis.

Bolivian forces have invaded the western part of Brazil and established military posts along the upper course of the river Paraos, in the state of Amazonas.

Later advices from Rio say the government history of Pedro Madeira has sink the Brazilian transport Recuerro. The total of the transport were, and several men aboard were killed.

An Anarchist Outcome.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—Anarchist Henry Hamon endeavored that he was the author of the explosion on the Rue des Bons Enfants in November, 1892. The president of the deputies has received threatening letters, one threatening their persons, which has been sent to the municipal laboratory for examination.

Leo Fechner, the anarchist who on November 15th, shooted Serrien Minister Dangewitch in the Duval restaurant, was today sentenced to penal servitude for life. The prisoner flatly answered all questions and said he had no spite against Georgiadis. He only wanted to kill the clerk Bourgeois, and wanted the minister with a bomb-case's guilty, as the gentleman appeared to be one of the most prosperous persons in the restaurant.

TWO BOOKS IN A MUSEUM

Mrs. Martin or Victoria Woodhull Heard From in a London Court.

The Trustees of the British Museum Ordered to Produce the Names of Certain Donors.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The case of Mrs. John Biddulph Martin, formerly Victoria Woodhull, against the trustees of the British Museum was heard in the high court of justice before Baron Halsbury today.

Mrs. Martin some time ago obtained an order from the court, directing the trustees of the museum to divulge the names of the donors to the museum of two books relating to the Beecher-Tilton trial. Mrs. Martin in her petition, declared that the first of these books imputed that she, as Victoria Woodhull, had published libelous and scurrilous literature.

The second book purported to contain statements made during the Beecher-Tilton litigation which the claimed reflected on plaintiff, and that said book contained imaginary interviews with Woodhull, in which she was quoted as stating that Tilton had been her lover, that she had lived with him for three months and he called her "queen of prostitutes."

Woodhull was charged in these interviews with boasting that Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, and numerous similar interviews made a similar charge against Woodhull's sisters.

Sir Richard Webster claims from the works of Woodhull, a scrawling letter between the sexes. Unlawfully, counsel continued, a man whom Woodhull left in consulted her newspaper in New York inserted, unknown to her, some disgraceful articles. Sir Richard said Woodhull, until she met Martin, lived a life of struggle and suffering.

Mrs. Martin took the stand and said the interview published in a Chicago paper in 1872 was copied into the book donated to the museum, and which was one of those which she complained against, but never received. The statements made in the interview were false.

When asked whether she had ever been guilty of libel rally, Mrs. Martin said that from 1872 to 1887 she was daily before the American public and no charge had ever been made against her character.

Sir Charles Russell, attorney general, who appeared for the trustees of the museum, severely cross-examined Mrs. Martin in regard to her life as a stockbroker and actress in San Francisco. Replying to an question, Mrs. Martin said the prosecution against her in the United States on the charge of sending obscene matter through the mails had resulted in acquittal, the government being forced to abandon the prosecution as a result of public opinion.

When questioned in regard to Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, Mrs. Martin said if the Beecher-Tilton case was to be tried again in London she must have time to prepare her case.

After some visible testimony was taken the case was adjourned.

A Suspicious Glass Tube.

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—A glass tube containing liquid and ball bearing, surrounded by pieces of iron and fuse, bullets and gun powder, all wrapped in a piece of paper, has been found in the court of justice. The contents are being analyzed.

In Parliament.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The peers today continued the debate adjourned by the commons yesterday, dealing with the amendments the Irish Bill sent up by the lords. The Duke of Devonshire moved amendments that the acquiring or hiring of land shall not be subject to the approval of a land board, instead of parliament. Both amendments were adopted. The amendment taking the right of the parish from 200 to 50 inhabitants was rescinded. The other amendments which originated in the lords were either withdrawn or modified.

The Nicaraguan Blockaded.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—A special to the Herald from San Salvador says: A courier arriving from Corinto says in a battle yesterday the forces under Bonilla were completely routed. Eighty were killed and forty wounded. The Nicaraguans are greatly discouraged.

Anarchists Sentenced.

VIENNA, Feb. 23.—The court before which the twelve anarchists accused of conspiring against the life of the emperor have been on trial, sentenced Franz Hoegen to ten years' imprisonment and Hofek Hoiner to eight years. The other anarchists were sentenced to from two to four years, one six were acquitted.

Wold county, Ohio, shot rifles fought an assassination of snow having fallen on the ranges to ensure a rich crop of grass for the growing cattle. This is the wettest term all eastern Colorado counties.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Little Charlie Wray Almost Stolen From His Mother's Arms.

Two Well Known Residents of Salt Lake in the Rescue.

THE MOTHER'S INTERESTING STORY.

As to south Second West street is situated the little cottage wherein resides Mrs. S. J. Wray. She is an interesting lady and to an interview with the writer gave the subjoining story of her little son's rescue.

My little son Charlie is nine years of age. He has been a constant sufferer from cramps ever since he was born, and during the past few years he has become so much worse that we hardly know what we would do without him.

At the age of two years he LOST HIS HEARING. His nose would sing on first one side, then the other. He would constantly hook and try to clear his throat, which at times would almost strangle him, large lumps coming in so severe that we thought he would strangle up.

He had roaring noises in his ears and would put his hands up to his head and say he was so full of his ears.

MASTER CHARLIE WRAY AS HE APPEARS AFTER REMEDIES.

He could not eat, and what food he did take would very heavily on his stomach and caused him much pain, he was very thin and looked as though he had no blood in his veins.

He would sit around for hours and not notice anybody, his mind seemed to be far away, and when spoken to would start up as though he was scared.

We had to take him out of school for he could not learn, he was very much alarmed about his condition and although he was so weak in his breathing, the case seemed to be one that called all human skill.

One day after giving up all hope of ever hearing the child, we noticed a case similar to his being cured by Dr. Shores & Shores, the specialists, and we decided to take him down. The doctors examined him and informed us that the case was serious case, but they would do all that could be done for him.

My son has been under their care for one month and I am happy to say he has been entirely cured. He has no more headache, HE HEARS WELL, his cough is stopped, he is getting fat and looks like a new child.

I cannot say too much in praise of Drs. Shores and Shores, for they have certainly saved my child from an early death. Hoping that others afflicted will be benefited by this testimony, I am yours very truly. MRS. S. J. WRAY.
