DESERET EVENING NEWS.

Monday, June 17, 1895.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Addresses on the First Principles of the Gospel.

At the regular service in the Tabernacle, Sunday, June 16, Elder Charles W. Penrose, of the Stake presidency, presided.

The choir sang the hymn commencing:

Young disciples, while strength and time say,
Flee from the world, its pleasures of a day.

Prayer was offered by Elder Franklin W. Young.

The choir sang the hymn

Children of heaven's king, we hasten
Hither to worship the king above.

Elder George Reynolds then addressed the congregation. He said that when occupying the position of a guide, teacher he always felt his dependence on the Almighty, and therefore asked the Saints to give him their faith and attention. Without the spirit given to each hearer and speaker there could be no edification.

We have met to worship God today, singing psalms, offering up prayers and exhorting each other in purpose of the divine worship, but it sometimes happens that some mind with some religious accordance. There was no need to say in the Saints that we have received a perfect system of truth, which is no other than the Gospel, a power unto salvation to all who believe; in that it is are included all the ordinances of the Church of the Lord. To the Saints there was no necessity of expounding the first principles, because these have been accepted and understood by them; but there may be some in the congregation not familiar with our faith, and they probably look upon Mormonism as something strange, knowing only what they have heard, by rumor circulated by those not always well informed. And take for granted, however, that such rumors are true. Others have taken pains to study the faith of Mormonism and its practical results and have been led to acknowledge that they had been misinformed.

Speaking of the principles of Mormonism, Elder Reynolds said, we believe there is but one Eternal, the Son of God the Creator of the whole universe, who is the father of all mankind, the source of all wisdom, power and love. We believe, in order to place ourselves in fellowship with the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit, we must confirm to the discipline or requirements laid down in the divine code, and that our lives must be transformed by the power of God in order that we may become more and more like our Father. A mere conclusion of faith in the existence of a diety, some Being is not enough to secure salvation. We cannot say, "Only believe and you shall be saved," except with this qualification that the belief must be of a kind to induce sets our conduct the power of conforming to the divine commandments. Without faith nobody can please God, but the faith spoken of is one active to obedience to Jesus Christ, our elder Brother. He that heareth the words of Christ and doeth them is the one that buildeth upon the rock, where his edifice can stand in storms of adversity, but faith without works is dead and can save nobody.

The speaker referred to the incident of Nicodemus, who came to Jesus by night and asked the Master what to do to be saved, whereupon Jesus explained the necessity of regeneration, and further laid down the truth that this was to be accomplished by "birth" of the water and of the Spirit, most unquestionably asserting that baptism is an essential in salvation as the reception of the Spirit. Works, then, are part of the living faith, and if obedience not accompanying our profession it is vain.

Next to faith is the principle of repentance. Baptism was instituted as an ordinance by which the candidate is to receive the remission of sins. Its essence, however, is not the outward ablution but a good conscience, and this will be obtained by honestly striving to do what we ought to do. It is clear that only by obedience can a person bring to repentance, and he must repent if he has been in the habit of transgressing the law of the Almighty. Such repentance will cause remission of sins, if the ordinance of baptism is submitted to.

Then we have the ordinance of laying on of hands for the reception of the Holy Spirit. There are numerous scriptural proofs that this laying on of hands is as essential as the immersion in the waters of baptism.

We also believe in a Church organization that is of divine origin. Wherever there is a true Church there are men inspired from above, entitled to speak to the name of the Lord as the oracles were did. No other organization can be accepted than that which is authorized by the Savior. Search the scriptures, the speaker said in conclusion, for they bear testimony to the truth.

Elder Charles W. Penrose next spoke and bore testimony to the truth of the remarks already made. The speaker said it was a pernicious doctrine so universally preached, that by faith alone people can be saved and that all others must be damned. Christ never revealed, never taught those principles. It has been predicted that the world would fall into error and preach false doctrines, and these are some of them. The twelfth Jots in the Scriptures is a faith producing good works; it is true that men are not saved by works alone; we must do works that come from faith. By grace we are saved through faith, but this truth has been misunderstood, being but one side of the doctrine taught by Paul. The same new Testament writer teaches that each one shall be judged according to his deeds. Sinners must be transformed so they will overcome evil and serve God; without that there can be no salvation. Jesus Christ has been placed at the head of the race because he was pure and sinless and He pointed out in His life the way to salvation.

With regard to the doctrine that all who do not believe are eternally lost, the speaker said that was another error. The time will come when the Gospel shall be preached to everyone who has not heard it and all will be given an opportunity to receive it. This is according to the eternal justice, as it is the pure doctrine of Christ that the Gospel shall be preached to every creature. This hour is not all there is of us. When we have left this mortal sphere we are just as much ourselves as we are now, the personality never perishing, and therefore it is perfectly rational to accept the doctrine that all shall at some time hear the truth, and that only those who wilfully reject it shall perish. It is impossible for God to be unjust, and if He is to judge according to eternal justice, all must have an opportunity to accept His mercy.

One of the principles of the Gospel is that those who are not in the flesh can have the ordinances administered in their behalf by the living children of God.

The speaker stated that those who receive the Gospel in the flesh will reap a greater glory than those who receive it after death, because, if faithful, their nature has been purified and cleansed and is, consequently, fit for higher exaltation. He therefore exhorted his hearers to conform to the requirements of the Gospel, to associate with the saints and try to become one with the Divinity.

The choir sang the anthem,

O come, let us sing unto the Lord.

Benediction by Elder Edward Stevenson.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

Albert Brewster, son of the janitor of the Deseret National bank, with a party of young friends went fishing in Parley's canyon yesterday. He was brought home in the evening with a painful gunshot wound in his left thigh.

His wound was the result of an accident. The party was about half a mile below Haxey's farm when the accident occurred. Frank Covey was handling a gun preparatory to picking up to return to the city when as is the rule in such cases it "went off," the contents of the weapon finding judgment to young Brewster's left thigh. Brewster ran four or five rods, exclaiming that he was shot, and fell to the ground. The boys were greatly startled and were at a loss to know what to do. Soon after the accident, however, a gentleman from Park City drove by in a wagon and kindly consented to take the young man home. As soon as he reached the residence of his parents on Sixth street, between M and N streets, in the Twenty-first ward, Dr. Bowers was summoned. He received Elders small shot-a pellets from one leg, dressed the wound and made the patient as comfortable as possible under the circumstances. The wound is a painful though not necessarily dangerous one.

Little Girl Drowned.

There was a sad drowning in a First North street irrigating ditch in the western part of the city on Saturday afternoon. The victim was Ruth Mary, the two-year-old daughter of Henry and Ruth Mary Brown Walsh. The little one had been playing near the stream prior to falling in. When taken out Dr. Benedict was sent for and everything possible done to resuscitate it but in vain. Funeral services were held from the family residence N. 339 West First North street at three o'clock this afternoon.
