BATES PLAYS BALL TODAY.

One of Boyer, Against Whom Is a Serious Charge, Come Up This Afternoon.

The first day's hearing of the case of Charles H. Montague before the board of fire and police commissioners concluded last night with the examination of a number of witnesses for the defense, all of whom admitted that the accused had certain habits and declared that in county was a serious one or that any offence now stands therefore to plague the man. An adjournment was taken until this afternoon at 1:30, at which time a decision was pronounced by the board and the announcement made that the other cases under consideration would also be proceeded with, each in a proper form.

The second day's hearing began this afternoon at two o'clock, half an hour after schedule time. The board was very slow in getting together. Chairman Rawlins was held in the office of Chief Foot and when time was called by Chairman Rawlins the council chamber was filled with a crowd of curious spectators.

On motion of Noble the case of W. F. Bates was next called, although a decision in the case of Montague was confidently expected. The charges against Bates as preferred by Chief Devine are as follows:

CHARGES AGAINST BATES.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.

Gentlemen—I prefer the following charges against W. F. Bates, a member of the department:

1st. Being intoxicated while on duty, and much to derision and disparaging the dignity of the department.

2nd. Using abusive, profane and threatening language toward men in the employ of this department.

3rd. Indulging in language and conduct disrespectful to ward a superior officer.

By virtue of the power vested in me by legislative enactment and rules and regulations governing the direction of this department, I shall prepared him pending hearing of his case, and he seen as I assume a satisfactory substitute for the position.

BATES'S ANSWERS.

Bates filed the following list of objections:

"I object to the jurisdiction of your honorable body in the matter of the charges filed against me.

"First—For the reason that said board has not been properly organized, in that the terms of office of the members of said board has not been determined as the statute requires.

"Second—For the reason that no rules and regulations governing the department have been adopted and guided as the statute requires.

"I object to the sufficiency of the charges for the reason that they allege no violation of any rule adopted by this board.

"Third—Charge one is indefinite, uncertain and insufficient.

"Fourth—Charge two is uncertain, indefinite and insufficient, in that the language, time, place, nor the man to whom said is not set forth and the undersigned has no opportunity to meet the same.

"Fifth—The same objection to the third charge is made as set above stated.

"I further object to proceeding without the assistance of counsel and demand that I be allowed an attorney.

W. F. BATES.

In filing his objection Bates pleaded that action by pleading not guilty and naming the witnesses he desired called in his behalf. Two witnesses for the prosecution were sworn and immediately thereafter Bates objected claiming that procedure had been illegally performed.

"On what grounds do you object?" asked Chairman Rawlins.

"I simply wish to file an objection; that is all."

Salsbury—The objection is overruled.

Captain D. A. Sullivan was the first witness placed on the stand. He testified that he had seen the accused drunk while on duty.

Clerk Chambers of Hose No. 1, testified to having seen Bates drive out of the department while under the influence of liquor and witnessed his clumsy and awkward handling of the team, which resulted in the breaking of the tongue of the hose wagon.

F. J. Donovan had heard the accused declare in a threatening way that he would like to see the chief discharge him, as that would give him an opportunity to get his [Devine's] head. He also heard him say that he would like to get a certain member of the department in a dollar and "turn the hole on the b— of a — till he was dead."

C. L. Splain gave similar testimony and as he left the stand the prosecution rested.

THE DEFENSE BEGINS.

Fireman Burr was called. He witnessed the accident referred to but did not observe anything out of the ordinary in the conduct of the accused at that time and did not know that he was intoxicated.

J. Clark, a West side fire department member, remembered the accident but did not notice Bates was drunk. He knew the team he drove was a "bad" one and thought it may have dislodged into the pole which resulted in breaking the tongue in the hose wagon.

Archie McKay, Mayor Baskin's clerk, witnessed the accident and saw Bates pulling the team to the left to prevent a collision with the pole. He saw no indication of carelessness or reckless driving.

Ex-Chief Stanton had always considered Bates a careful driver and remembered three or four accidents as having occurred at the same place on account of the road being too low and narrow.

Ex-Clerk Conner stated that Bates's reputation as a driver was the best of any man employed in the department and that he had less repairs to account for than any other member.

The case here closed and was taken under advisement.

BEGLEY'S CASE CALLED.

Begley's case was next called and Judge Dowse explained that the accused in this instance should not be issued an attorney, for reasons set forth in the following charges:

First—Absence without leave.

Second—Being under charges and bonds for a violation of the Edmunds-Tucker law.

After a brief consultation the board decided to postpone the case until tomorrow until it could be more carefully considered.

Begley's objections are as follows:

"I object to the jurisdiction of your honorable body in the matter of the charges filed against me.

"First—For the reason that said board has never been properly organized in that the terms of office of the members of said board have not been determined as the statute requires.

RAILROAD BUILDING.

The G. S. L. & H. S. Pushing on to Centerville.

Spur Connection with the New Brighton—The Work and Cost.

Today the Great Salt Lake & Hot Springs railway began tracklaying on its line to the north of Bountiful, and will continue until the station in Centerville is reached. The intention is not to stop there if arrangements under way can be completed, but to push on to Kaysville and beyond. The grade on which the tracklaying was begun today extends that far.

The road is also building in a spur to the large resort at that place, and near Bountiful by bridge a little above the Knowlton ranch, which will connect by a short line with the city.

A passenger line has been established between the end of the road and the stockyards. For the present passengers desired to the latter place will be carried in a carriage from the railway station to the yards, until full connection can be made.

Mr. Bamberger is confident that the road will be pushed on to Centerville and Kaysville and that it will not stop that point for the season will be the result. This will be important and cost it is probably that next to the city has to the city of the Great Salt Lake, some about 40 miles of road per day. But it not seem for the great financial depression it is estimated that not less than seven million dollars would have been invested in the road before this by outside capitalists. Now that confidence in the West is being restored, and investors are again willing to lend capital to save more than in the East, it is expected that the enterprise will be taken up and carried through, as the prospects for a heavy business are excellent.

For Superintendent of Schools—Joseph W. Davis, of Price.

For Treasurer—A. H. Earl, of Hyde Park.

For Surveyor—W. A. Thayer, of Wellsville.

For Selectman—J. M. Beslin, Wester Hyrum; A. C. Jensen, Mount Sterling; Thomas Cox, of Cache Valley.

AMUSEMENTS.

BOXES AT THE TABERNACLE—Mr. Barney, acting for Mrs. and Mr. Stephens acting for the Tabernacle choir, have at length agreed on the prices of admission to the Bond-Choir concert at the Tabernacle on next Tuesday evening, May 1st. It was not accomplished, however, without the salary of rather a stiff sum of money paid in telegraph tolls between here and Los Angeles, where the celebrated band is now playing. It likely wanted to charge at least a dollar, and have reserved seats, Mr. Wagner's great band those and wanted popular prices. Then the band manager said that a part of the house at least should be held for a dollar, and wanted admission held for 75 cents. Manager Herbert's advice was asked and he gave the verdict that this was the day of popular prices. At length a compromise was hit on to have no reserved seats, but to throw open the entire house at 75 cents, leaving the public choose seats where they prefer.

The move is a wise one, and no one, we believe, will complain at the charge of 75 cents to hear 100 such bodies as the band and the choir in conjunction, to say nothing of Mr. Wade and the band.

Arrangements have also been made with the railroads by which Ogden people who wish to take in the 11 o'clock train at 8:45 and get the concert, including admission to the Tabernacle, coming down on the D. P. evening train, and taking the R. G. Western train after the concert.

THE GYMNASTIC CARNIVAL—The theater was fairly well filled last evening by friends of the Y. M. C. A., and admirers of manly sports—though the attendance might have been better.

The entertainment was a success, and though it was somewhat rather too gymnastic in extent, it pleased the audience, and they showed it by some hearty and well deserved round of applause. No names were printed on the program, so no one except the immediate friends of the performers, knew to whom the credit should go. But it can be said that all who took part showed a surprising degree of efficiency in their exercises, such as club swinging, tableaux and dot work, tumbling, fencing, club tossing, etc., a young lady assisted at a trick of tossing and catching some specially constructed articles used in the club swing line. Dr. Babcock, the attorney, who by the way is a brother of Mr. M. S. Babcock, the talented physical culturist, deserves the highest praise for the work of the members of the association.

The musical features of the evening were fair, the best being the duet sung by Mr. Clough and Miss Lawson. The former was much and made or twice encored, and responded.

DAMAGE'S LECTURE, of spiritualism, announced for Sunday evening at the Theater has stirred up some very lively agitation on the part of the orthodox in this city, who is endeavoring himself as a medium. There is a probability that the "subject" will result in an amusing Sing "seance."
