MAYOR GLASSMAN APPROVED BOXING

It seems that some time ago the Ogden Ministerial association addressed a communication to Mayor-elect William Glassman, asking him to prevent the scheduled boxing contest between Pete Sullivan and Bird Leg Collins at Ogden during the National Woolgrowers' association meeting. Mr. Glassman has replied with a letter to the ministers in which he declares he will not interfere unless the affair develops into a prize fight. He also takes occasion to denounce the game of football. In his letter Mr. Glassman says:

"I have seen such debasing brutality in football games that I have been forced to withdraw sons of mine from the game, and yet I have seen an Ogden preacher refuse a football game with other members of the Ministerial society stood on the side lines and rooted with enthusiasm."

"I cannot understand why your association objects to a scientific illustration of the many art of self-defense, and rebelling on that most brutal and debasing of all contests—the football game."

BASKETBALL GAME THIS AFTERNOON

Lovers of the game of basketball will have a chance at 4 o'clock this afternoon to see what should prove to be a lively game between the L. D. S. U. team and the Granite high school team. The game is to be played on the L. D. S. U. floor. Both teams have been practicing daily for the contest and the coaches say the boys are in fine fettle for the contest. Both teams are confident of carrying off first honors, and it will be surprising if the game is not fast and furious with a close score at the finish.

SULLIVAN RETURNS; BEGINS TRAINING

Pete Sullivan, the clever Utah lightweight, has just returned from Sacramento where he fought Indian-Joe Gregg a 20-round battle. The fight was the second between the pair. On the first occasion Sullivan gave the Indian a severe beating and got the decision. In the last contest, however, Sullivan had an injured hand and the best he could get was a draw, despite the fact that Gregg used four tactics throughout the mill. Sullivan will begin training at once for his contest with Bird Leg Collins at Ogden in February.

LIVELY BOUTS AT MANHATTAN CLUB

Local boxing fans saw some lively amateur bouts at the Manhattan A. C. Monday night, the program being one of the best seen here for a long time. There were five bouts and at least any one of four of them was worth going some distance to witness.

The main event was the mix-up between Peanuts Sinclair and Jimmy Lawless of England. The latter proved to be a strong contender and the fight was a shade over the Salt Lake bay until the third round when Peanuts began to show his class. When the going was for the fourth the Englishman indicated he had had enough and the contest was awarded to the Salt Laker.

MORE THAN $75,000 TO SEE BIG GAME

New York, Dec. 13.—More money was spent to see the recent Harvard-Yale football game at the stadium on the east side of Boston than ever before. In fact, no sporting event in America ever involved a larger amount. Not only in the game, but the game tremendous money was consumed. By the expenses paid by thousands of enthusiasts, who were bent upon seeing the rival eleven clash regardless of cost.

Nearly 40,000 persons surrounded the gridiron, and as there were comparatively few complimentary tickets the receipts were more than $75,000. The spectators, in spite of extreme vigilance by the Hub, which got hold of a few tickets, which were sold at exorbitant prices. A block of five choice seats went for $200, while New York man paid $125 for two seats, the highest price known to have been paid.

More than 12,000 persons remained in Boston on Friday and Saturday nights, either at hotels or private boarding houses. The hotels charged all the way from $4 to $10 a night for rooms and sold everything. Meals, tips, taxicab fares, carriage and cab hire and other incidentals mounted up so that at least $500,000, it is estimated, was paid for such accommodations.

Boston florists sold half a million violets at $2 a hundred, which netted $10,000, and 50,000 chrysanthemums at $1 each. Flags of crimson or blue brought a dollar each and there were at least 30,000 in use. Maybe 20,000 cigars were purchased in the Hub, which at the low average price of 10 cents realized $2,000 more. Then it must not be forgotten that an extraordinary array of new hats worn by the women must have been an expensive item, also the cost of new dresses, cloaks and crimson or blue parols. Many hundreds of dollars were spent in automobile hire and the storage of countless machines from various distant points, while the hiring of teller coaches was also an item worth noting. Altogether the big game involved the expenditure of more than $1,000,000.
