Interest in the Dynamite Sensation Dying Out.

THE BOSTON OF QUEEN VICTORIA.

Some Interesting Items of Gossip—The Plague in Bombay—Railroad Accidents.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—(Copyrighted but by the Associated Press.)—The great dynamite sensation is subsiding fast to the vanishing point in public interest. The government naturally is delighted at the failure to secure the fleeing suspects and thus work up a sensational conspiracy trial. Consequently it is believed that Scotland Yard will abandon the proposed arrests of minor characters said to have been mentioned in the plot. These under lock and key, it is thought, will be given their liberty.

SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR A CELEBRATION.

The newspapers continue to publish letters of congratulation for celebrating June next the completion of sixty years of the queen's reign. The Times gives a popular review of the national and other notes in Hyde Park. The queen will be presented to the corporation of the city of London at the Guildhall on November 9. It is stated that the Prince of Wales is a keen supporter of the idea.

It is thought a revival of a knight's dinner representative of every century of the history of the empire, would be an impressive tribute to the queen's previous contemporary history reign.

The county of London has proposed a commemorative triple event, the completion of sixty years of Queen Victoria's reign, the thirteen-hundred anniversary of the founding of the city by Lucius, and the fourth centenary of the Pan American Exposition, by making London an archbishopric. The archbishop of Canterbury and York are said to be in favor of the project.

THE STATE CHURCH DISCUSSION.

The diversity of opinion among prominent men on the question of a state church was evidenced at an influential meeting here on Thursday of the current week. The meeting, convened for the object of bringing about disestablishment and disendowment, the Rev. Dr. Simonds, the secretary, stated that bills were a bit chance of a hearing and stated and nothing more serious remained to the church to be feel that 1,500 of the clergy are working for disestablishment, and 10,000 preach yearly, while thirty-one receive an average of $5,000 a year. There is nothing to be regretted in the disestablishment, he may, if it may be used, at the last trial, Wales and New York has been appointed president of the Dean Training College in succession to Durham.

The last that the disease Bubonic fever has obtained a strong hold in Bombay is established beyond question and the situation is regarded most seriously. FAILING FOR AN ACTOR.

The newspapers are poking fun at the report that Mr. Waldorf Astor has had to limit to order to change the name to the effect that a nobleman is a desirable husband for a princess. Husband and Five Children Believed to Have Been Killed.

Suspicion Points to the Wife and Star Witness as the Assassins.

LITTLE ROCK, Oct. 3.—Great excitement prevails at Dexter Bluffs over the discovery of what is believed to be the most terrible tragedy of Pulaski county. Bud Chadlo and five children are believed to have been murdered. Surprise points to Mrs. Chadlo and John Wade, the star witness. Chadlo with his wife and five children lived on Wade's farm near Dexter and Devals Bluffs. John Ring, a friend of the family, left the place a week ago, to have attended the women's affections. Neither Ring nor any of the Chadlos have been seen since Sept. 21st. On that day Ring was seen driving away in company with Mrs. Chadlo. As they did not return and nothing was heard of the party since, members of the family, neighbors began an investigation. When the house was entered what was found appeared all over the house. There were no evidences of a terrible butchery having been committed, but no bodies were found. The theory is that the bodies were thrown into the river. Every effort is being made to locate Ring and Mrs. Chadlo.

The party had three exposure sets of the impressive photographic apparatus between by Prof. Todd with a total exposure of 60 pictures in the time spent in time permitted. THE PLOT AGAINST ZELLAYA.

Opposition Against the Nicaraguan Government.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Sept. 19.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—According to the Associated Press, the plans for an armed revolutionary outbreak against President Zelaya have been discovered. Several persons were arrested two nights ago. They are accused of making preparations to bring about an uprising against the government. The men arrested are not persons of great influence. In fact, some of them are suspicious of being spies of the government and it is stated that they will probably be released on making assurances of good behavior. The prisoners of wealth, is said to furnish the authorities with an excuse for imposing heavy fines on them. In spite of this, however, there is no doubt that there exists a strong feeling of opposition to certain circles to the government of President Zelaya and there are never several movements of importance among his political opponents and further trouble is apprehended.

DEMOCRATIC CLUBS.

An Enthusiastic Convention Today at St. Louis.

THREE HUNDRED DELEGATES.

The Prevailing Idea Seems to Be Not to Secure the Auditorium but to Avoid the Hall.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 3.—This conservative town fairly boiled over with Democratic enthusiasm today. Scores of bands marching across the streets proclaimed it to the world. It was the opening day of the quadrennial convention of the national association of Democratic clubs. Delegates began to arrive yesterday and have been pouring in on every train since that time. All morning they gathered in the lobbies of the hotels, where enthusiastic crowds started with enthusiasm and energy. There were the heads of every club playing patriotic airs.

At 1030 delegates and visitors began to assemble in the auditorium where the convention was held. An hour later President C. F. Black called the meeting to order. At least 300 delegates were present and the vast hall was well filled with visitors.

When the meeting had been invoked the Jefferson Club took of several nonsense verses sung the national anthem, America, to which the audience joined. When the applause died away President Black delivered the quadrennial address.

Black declared the cause of the Democracy was in good condition, notwithstanding the adverse decisions of the courts, and all classes and all parts of the country. He entered into a discussion of the money question and referred to the monopolies, trusts and the monopoly power. Speech was frequently interrupted by applause. Of late he declared he had become a Vice President Stevenson. He was more a speech. He said in part:

Believing as I do that gold and silver are equal recognition in the Constitution of the United States, that it is their just due in the coining exchanges and performance the duties of a money metal, I am prepared to the part and that the evil days are upon us, if we are to consult means of the issue of the demonetization of silver, I have in my opinion, and I am sorry to say, party adherence and casting my vote for Bryan and Sewall, the nominees of the Democratic convention.

After quoting the declarations of the Democratic party in the four national conventions preceding that which nominated Mr. Bryan, Mr. Stevenson said:

"It is too much to claim that in giving our support to the nominee of the Chicago convention we are departing from the Democratic party. Democrats are not in our ranks.

"I am firmly persuaded that in this great contest we are in the right; that the cause which we represent is that of the people. We have no serious foreign complications, no discussions at home, no crisis, no scarcity, equalled in fertility, with a climate unsurpassed, with Nature's choicest gifts so generously bestowed, with men everywhere ready to work, with every facilities to transport labor's products to the markets of the world, why this parallel? Why this distress? Why should men be idle, why should the earth to give him leave to toil?"

The remedy, he stated, would be the election of the Democratic candidates.

Senator Vest, who followed, was introduced. He excused himself from making an extended speech, as he had contracted a severe cold. He did not think it was necessary to speak to Democrats knew that they were welcome to the end state. He then presented formally to welcome the delegates. Several complaints of the illegal regulating rules governing the convention were adopted after which Congressman Newlands of Nevada addressed the convention on the silver question.

When Newlands finished, adjournment was taken till 4 o'clock.

THE DEVASTATED REGION.

Further Advices as to the Extent of the Damage by the Storm.

Crops Destroyed, People Homeless, Facing Starvation—Stock Killed by the Hundreds.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 3.—Further advices from the region devastated by the recent storm says no one knew the extent of the situation of the people of the western part of Alabama and Lucy and the eastern part of Louisiana counties. Left homeless with no food, the cotton crop destroyed and no resources at hand, starvation stares them in the face. No accurate idea of their situation that the people who have visited them are extremely alarming a special session of the legislature should be called to relieve the distress. In the western part of Aubrey county, where thousands of people lived, most of them were well to do farmers, all of their homes have been destroyed together with the provisions that they had stored for winter.

At Yulee the storm made a cleaner path than at any other point. Not a tree remains standing, every store is down and some parts of the buildings were carried for three miles. Hundreds of people are homeless and have lost everything. The loss of the lumber mill alone will be $100,000. Not a house in Yulee escaped the storm. Nearly every house in Lafayette county has been destroyed and lying in a heap. At Mayo the county seat, East of the Suwanee river the people are in the deplorable state. Hundreds are homeless.

At Lake City the loss is considerable. Many are left homeless and hundreds of people are in need of food. The Tallahassee and Jacksonville, Tallahassee and Gainesville, Tallahassee and Wayeross, Tallahassee and Quincy, Tallahassee and Thomasville, Tallahassee and other lines will almost certainly be repaired to alleviate the sufferings.

PUBLIC LANDS.

Report to the Secretary of the Interior by Commissioner Lamoreaux.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Commissioner Lamoreaux of the general land office has submitted annual report to the secretary of the interior covering the last fiscal year. Land selections for the year were 12,130,000 acres of which 4,000,000 were in Alaska, 2,000,000 in Oregon and 5,750,000 in other states. The increase of selections over the previous year is 4,000,000 acres. Cash receipts $4,116,000, an increase of $72,000.

Land patents to railroads in satisfaction of grants are 15,527,944 acres, an increase of 7,500,000 over last year, patents to homesteaders, 5,500,000, an increase of 2,000,000. The new number of acres patented was 12,000,000. Vacant public lands, 800,000,000 acres of which 216,000,000 are in Alaska, 200,000,000 in Nevada, 100,000 in Wyoming. The number surveyed during the year 9,000,000 acres.

Considerable attention has been given during the year to correct surveying and in nearly every public land state resurveys have been ordered upon reports of the executive. Commissioner Lamoreaux makes the following recommendations: That appropriation for surveys and resurveys of public land be made continuous and laws be passed creating an official surveyor general of Alaska, establishing a land office, authorizing commission of competent attorneys as witnesses at hearings in contests before the district land office, providing for the sale of the public lands reservations, to regulate timber on public lands executive within forest reservation and for the protection of timber and other growth on public domain from the ravages by fire. Nearly all the legislation recommended in my report to Congress the report contains a review of the entire work of the general land office together with the effect of the past legislation and recommendations of the previous years to last year.

BRYAN IN INDIANA.

He Addresses an Audience Upon the Power of Money.

NORTH VERNON, Ind., Oct. 3.—Bryan's arrival in Indiana and Illinois called forth the same hearty welcome that characterized each visit he has made to a state he considered by many the battle ground of the campaign. Fourteen stops were scheduled in these two states today. He spoke nearly to every one of them. Hence it was impossible for him to speak. Congressman McMillan talked for him. Bryan left Cincinnati on a special car, President Francis of the Queen and Crescent, Cox, in charge of the railroad, and vice President Comptroller Cardwell of Illinois, Allen W. Clark, state committeeman for Illinois, and Mr. Hall, Congressman Wickersham of Kentucky, Lawrenceburg was reached at 7:30. A great crowd of enthusiastic people cheered Bryan, who made a speech against the Republican policy of waiting for other nations to act before the adoption of bimetalism. At Aurora there was another big crowd waiting. Bryan said in part: "The cause we represent is not a new cause. We are not experimental in the plan we propose. We are not trying to make the gold or silver dollar larger or smaller. They are to remain what they are. We propose simply to restore the policy that was the policy of this country, until silver was stricken down in the dark without public discussion.

Orgoed turned out in force to hear the candidate. He said: "I have left interest in the subject of bimetalism as a force. Bimetalism is the only method by which the money question can be solved. When I heard people speak of the money power, I thought they were a nervous sort of people, and that there was no such thing. But when I studied the subject I became more interested in the question and convinced that the underlying difficulties were our financial legislation, and that until our financial policy of this country was changed the money changers and administered in behalf of the people there could be no permanent prosperity among the American people. (Applause.) We have seen in this campaign what the money power means. We have seen the banks attempt to intimidate people who were broke and we have seen the great money power rushing out upon the money markets of the world and pulling in hands upon our industries and threatening to close the doors of factories and turn men out of employment. Gold monopoly will be no new and will this congression end. We have seen a strange sight. Public opinion is powerless. We have seen treasury officials interrupted, and when they are called before committees and asked questions they are complaining with assumption, in the way the cause of the complaint. In several states Republican platforms have declared against arbitration and only against our cause but against the interests of our cause. My friends, the agitation will not cease until the people have an American financial system called in the house of the American people." (Great applause.)

Wheat Needed for India.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—What has really given the strongest kind of support to the wheat market and has the business activities and sensational nature of the situation is a demand from India for wheat for shipment. The crop in Cedar Rapids and not one of these will ever run another cargo, all the United being destroyed.

Yuba, a city of 2,000 people with 13 at St. Matthews Rose, is gone. The citizens called a town meeting and appointed a committee to solicit aid for the sufferers. Nine bodies have been taken at Mac Clenny, Baker county. Every passenger coast in the vicinity of Fort White, Columbia county, is in total wreck. The prospective people are completely ruined. Hardly a tree is left standing in the woods, the cities are in ruins, crops and farm up, their homes are wrecked and many dozen killed. Hundreds of people are out of employment. The suffering is great and relief should be promptly taken. Steps have been taken for aid the urgent will cause an appeal to the governor of Florida for assistance. In Alabama and Lucy counties the hundred bodies are reported destroyed and to the relief the towns of Hilliard, Jacksonville, Jacksonville and Wayeross, Tallahassee and Quincy, Tallahassee and Thomasville, Tallahassee and other claims will almost certainly be repaired to alleviate the sufferings.

USED HIS REVOLVER.

A Colored Porter Scares His Wife by Shooting Holes into Her.

D. T. Reddin, a colored porter was arrested this afternoon at the instigation of his wife, for shooting at her.

Reddin lives at 63 State street and it appears that he came home today in a most intoxicated condition and commenced among her. Not satisfied with cutting finches at her by the mantlepiece he retired to another corner and whipped out his revolver, threatening if in a very threatening manner.

Alarmed at this Mrs. Reddin began to get scared and sent herself to move congenial quarters. She moved into an old tinhouse step near her residence while he instead followed her out of house and discharged the revolver. Whether he shot at her or not is not known. Mr. Reddin thought he did not and therefore notified the police station. As Chief Parks was the only officer at the hall when the message was received, he went down to the house and made the street blunderer.

At the station Reddin made himself well by denying the accusation, to the language of the Amsterdamized Dutch, he said I was drunk, I didn't do nothing o'no kind. Of course I was kinder mad at my wife, 'cause I had heard that she was allowing another fellow to pay his attentions to her but I didn't threaten to kill her; I just pulled out the gun to kinder scare her." A fuller explanation of the exciting episode will be given before Justice Winger on Monday.

WHO CAN IT BE?

The Badly Decomposed Remains of a Man Found Near Marysvale, Idaho.

BEAVER, Utah, Oct. 2, 1896.

To the Editor:

Walter Payne, owner for Fremont county, received word yesterday from Thomas Church of Marysville that they had discovered on their creek the remains of a man, badly decomposed, the body dismembered and partly eaten by wild animals. There were found near the body a wallet, a snow shoe, and pants, or pieces of a pair of overalls.

It is supposed the man met his death last winter while snowshoeing his way over the divide. Owing to the time is not at present known, as no one is coming from that section of the country. It is, however, utterly impossible for any one to recognize the remains, but the two articles found might be a clue to his identity. Parties having friends missing would do well to be interested with Thomas Church, Marysville, Marysville, Fremont county, Idaho. D. Lathe.
