YOUNG MEN'S MEETINGS

Stake Conference of the Mutual Improvement Associations Held Yesterday.

ENTERTAINING, INSTRUCTIVE EXERCISES.

Remarks by M. I. Workers on the Good Being Accomplished—General and Stake Authorities Sustained.

A conference of the Young Men's Mutual Improvement associations of the Salt Lake Stake was held in the Tabernacle yesterday. The morning session was devoted to reports of work and remarks by Stake Superintendent B. H. Lyman, and in the afternoon the services were of an interesting character, the program of exercises being of such diversity as to greatly please all who were in attendance. Stake Superintendent Lyman presided.

The choir sang the hymn:

Come, dearest Lord, descend and dwell
By faith and love in every breast.

Prayer was offered by Elder George S. McAllister.

The choir further sang:

Behold, the great Redeemer die,
A broken law to satisfy.

The general and stake authorities of the Young Men's Mutual Improvement Associations were then presented and unanimously sustained as follows:

General—General superintendent, Joseph F. Smith, Heber J. Grant, B. H. Roberts, assistants; Abr. Francis H. Lyman, John Henry Smith, Marion F. Cowley, Abraham O. Woodruff, J. G. Kimball, Junius F. Wells, Milton H. Hardy, Rodney C. Badger, Brigham H. Brimhall, Wm. S. Burton, Edwin H. Anderson, Douglas M. Todd, John E. Magelssen, Edwin F. Snow, Moroni L. Morris, Richard W. Young, Horace G. Whitney, Willard Done, Thomas Hull, secretary and treasurer, Evan Stephens, musical director.

B. R. Lyman, Stake superintendent; Joseph F. Merrill, first counselor; Henry C. Iverson, second counselor; Joseph F. Hyrge, secretary and treasurer, William G. Sears, corresponding secretary; John J. McClellan, musical director. Aide—Thomas Sloan, Jed F. Woolley, D. J. Lang, George R. Carpenter, T. A. Clawson, L. R. Wells, John M. Christofferson, Joseph A. West, Joseph Coulam, B. B. Brown, Elias S. Woodruff, F. M. Lyman, Jr., Fred Tolton, A. H. White, Elmer Caldwell, Oliver Jensen, H. W. Mathews, Thomas Cook, Z. Butterfield, Joseph Mousley, J. H. Perry, S. E. Smith, Joseph F. Smith Jr.

The Utahe Quartette, composed of Messrs. Thomas Ashworth, Will Christofferson, Will Stoddard and A. H. Anderson, then sang with feeling, Lead Kindly Light.

Prof. T. A. Clawson addressed the gathering. The Mutual Improvement work, said he, was a great factor in preparing the young men of Zion for the ministry in the nations of the earth. Time was when no such opportunities were afforded to get participation in such work, but now institutions as the Improvement Associations were in existence. But things were different from the Lord had passed upon His servants to organize such institutions for the benefit of the rising generation. If they were gradually advancing and treading a plane of perfection wherein they were found a source of great benefit to the young men and women of these mountain valleys. The speaker referred to the methods in vogue in the Mutual Improvement associations and said that they were such as to teach within the minds of the young people a knowledge of God and the Divine Sonship and history of the Lord had passed upon His servants in these latter days. Being so, there was no excuse for non-participation, as every opportunity was afforded prospective missionaries to prepare themselves for future duties and responsibilities. Elder Clawson urged the young men to greater diligence in a research of the Scriptures, that they might gain the knowledge of the nature of God, and devote a portion of their time, at least, to a dissemination of the principles of the truth and righteousness.

The Utahe quartet rendered another selection, after which Elder George H. Cannon made a few remarks, referring particularly to the great help the Church experienced the Mutual Improvement Associations afforded. The speaker found that they had had a beneficial effect in the sense in which he resided, and he was sure it was so in the case in other districts. He deprecated the fact that so many of the young men of our Church were ignorant of business, and urged on them the commandment known as the Word of Wisdom. Elder Cannon felt that matters a danger to the Church in the association of the daines, and he thought that song should to great every attention in the Mutual Improvement associations.

Elder W. W. Richards was the next speaker. He spoke of the power of prayer, and spoke of the great good being done by the Mutual Improvement associations. He felt that the servants of the Lord had been inspired to do good and to organize such associations, as to his mind, these institutions were of an important character. He had found associations in the rolling on of the Church and kingdom of God.

Elder George H. Brimhall, next spoke. Singing, said he, should be cultivated in the young men and should be made a feature of every Mutual Improvement association. The importance of the mission was also essential, as without attention to the subjects assigned, the meetings could not be made interesting and therefore would not accomplish the ends desired. Returned missionaries, said the speaker, should evince a special effort to attend the Mutual Improvement meetings, as their experience in the mission field would be a source of encouragement to those entitled to be backward in the performance of duty.

Elder Albert Weiss, in addressing the congregation, spoke of the necessity of missionary work at home in order that the young might be ready when it came to do. Example was a necessary adjunct in converting people to the Gospel, and it was the duty of the young men to be examples of the principles they professed to have learned in years. The speaker prayed for unity among the young people that the desired good might be accomplished.

Elder Moses W. Taylor spoke of the objects of Mutual Improvement, emphasizing the necessity of diligently searching in order that they engaged in the work might be able to impart their knowledge to others. It was the duty of the young men, said he, to study the revealed word, and in doing that they would be benefited. It was the duty of young men to come out of it and be understanding truly the wisdom and the knowledge in hand.

Prof. Jos. J. McClellan, Stake musical director of the Mutual Improvement associations, rendered, by request, an organ solo, Intermezzo from Cavalleria Rusticana.

Elder Heber C. Iverson of the Stake superintendency, here a powerful testimony to the advantages of the young men of Zion in the cause of truth, and especially those carrying aloft the banner of Mutual Improvement. The aids to the general and stake boards were doing floating men, having at heart the interest of the young people. There was a glorious destiny awaiting the youth of Zion, and it behoved all to keep themselves virtuous and unspotted from the sins of the world.

Elder William Done spoke of the objects of Mutual Improvement work, and paid special attention to the great good being accomplished by the spread of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, that the skepticism now abroad in the land would have no effect on them in their life's journeyings. The cultivation to a greater degree of spirituality was an object of Mutual Improvement work, and in the case of the boards were doing a good work, and God would bless those who were engaged in them. In the work of the Mutual Improvement the Spirit of the Lord should be depended upon, and inspiration would follow the teachings given.

The choir sang the anthem From Afar, Gracious Lord. Benediction was pronounced by Elder Rodney C. Badger.

SHOT WHILE DUCKHUNTING.

Another Shocking Fatality Though the Careless Handling of Firearms.

Special to the "News."

Brigham City, Nov. 20, 1898.—George Mortensen, aged 13 years, went out to shoot ducks with some friends on Saturday last. While going through a wire fence, or rather when about to go through it, he stumbled and fell, and in the fall the gun went off and the full charge entered near the jugular vein, completely severing it as it passed through his head. Death was instantaneous. The deceased was a son of the Mormons. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family.
