PARAGRAPHS FROM PAYSON.

The election last Monday closed the school political strife that Payson has so well enjoyed. The ticket adopted at the Party convention was carried by an even majority. The "Liberals" polled the heaviest minority vote yet cast here. Considerable scratching was done on both tickets. The silver band was out nearly all day playing upon a "Liberal" banner and a good ball was held in the Opera House in the evening. The ticket as elected is a good one and there is no doubt but that Payson for the next two years will be in the hands of good men with good intentions.

The Woman's Suffrage Association of this city gave a social ball last evening in the Opera House for the purpose of raising funds to send a delegate from Utah County to Washington. The affair was a very creditable one and the ladies deserve great credit for the manner in which every part of the entertainment was conducted. A programme of songs, etc., was rendered between the dances and refreshments were served in the dining rooms adjoining the Opera House.

A great deal of interest is just now being evinced on the Utah Lender, Payson's "Liberal" paper. The outfit is probably in a deplorable condition, and it is not to be wondered at, considering the stand which the paper has taken against the majority of the people here. The Leader people lost in Kansas and were fought in Payson and fell at the feet of the Tribune correspondent and "Milk Slip," and are in no other respectable sense. It stands to reason that an association with such men as these can be expected to bring success to any enterprise. Of course success was not forthcoming, so the letter class of "Liberals" who attempted to run the paper succeeded a better organization, which was effected and Rev. R. T. Smith elected president of the company.

The editor, E. B. Powell, being addicted to the use of laudanum, was unable to sign an agreement to resign as political boss to be found under the efforts of stimulants, etc. The agreement had no effect and the directors had each subscribers, unable to stand it any longer, gave him the grand leave. And what a condition they found the business in! Everything in the office (a mortgage), board bills (an offset) to exceed a hundred dollars unpaid, competitors unpaid, nothing but bills to bill! The institution is in debt somewhere between four and six hundred dollars, the paper being in existence scarcely three months. The stockholders, seeing the condition of affairs, made an offer to Powell to present him with all their stock if he would give bonds to stand good for the debts.

Just what will be done in the matter is hard to say, but it is general talk that the sympathies of one or two "Democrats" not acquainted with the true state of affairs are being enlisted, and if the transfer is made, the remarkable "Liberals" of the town spanking the sheet, it will probably turn People's party and fight the men whom it became elated in "condemning the Mormons."

"Milk Slip," the Tribune correspondent, is back again, as any one reading his slanderous article in yesterday's issue would soon tell. It is evident that an individual of "Slip's" stamp so delights in attacking a people, men whose shoelatchings he is unworthy to untie. Ever since his failure in the "Metropolitan Blind Scheme" he has been hanging around Payson, supporting his living and watching his chance to vilify his superiors.

A committee from the Provo Chamber of Commerce visited Payson yesterday in the interest of the proposed Tintic Railroad. An enthusiastic meeting was held, and a committee appointed to investigate what can be done in regard to right of way, etc., for the road.

The Y. M. M. I. A. gives a social ball and reunion in the Opera House next Thursday evening.

PAYSON, Feb. 11, 1891.

AMUSING BLUNDERS.

A COLLECTION OF VERY ODD SLIPS, PRINTED AND SPEECHLESS, ON THEOPHYLLINE PURPOSES.

Literature abounds in amusing and serious blunders committed by our ever-ready friends of the "Providence Journal." In the works of Shakespeare, which as a rule are manuals of details of time and circumstance, some misdemeanors of the order of succession of events which are amusing. In the play of "Coriolanus" the noble Roman is supposed to have said with the assertion that he was a soldier "unto Cato's side." Cato was not born till about 46 years after Coriolanus had been banished from Rome and had died. In the tragedy of "Julius Cæsar" is another inaccuracy which occurs in a dialogue between Brutus and Cassius:

Brutus—Portia! I meet the clock.
Cassius—The clock has striken three.

This was 400 years before striking clocks were introduced.

Shakespeare makes the use of cannon in King John. Cannon are said to have been first used at the battle of Cressy in 1346, which Plantagenet was not invented until 150 years later than the time of King John, 1199.

Spectacles were not worn until the fourteenth century. Shakespeare makes Lear, who was king of England in the early Saxon period, say to his son, who had written him a letter from Rome, "If it be nothing I could not want spectacles."

In Milton's "Paradise Lost" Adam is made aware of his sin when Eve one of her own daughters.

When the perfidious man of sin, whose lewd
Sin was the forerunner of his fall, o'erpower Eve.

Dr. Johnson in his "Life of Milton," says that the person from Roman Catholic is one of the pope's bulls.

Warburton, in his Shakespeare's "Memoirs for Reasons," which was taken from Cinthio's novels, giving Dec. 8, Nov. 5, meaning quite a different spot the words in full, December and November 5.

In the "Marie Louise and the Duchess of the Empire," by De Saint-Albans, may be found these lines: "You will send me word by telegraph when the Empress leaves St. Cloud." By the first telegraphic message ever sent was by Professor Morse, announcing the nomination of James K. Polk for president.

Lord Hilary introduced a bill into the British Parliament for restricting the liberty of the press, and one of the honorable members moved an amendment that all anonymous works should have the name of the author printed on the title page.

So many editions of the English Bible the common reading of Luke xxiii, 31, is "for other malefactors," no stop being after "other," as in the original which would suppose the Lord Jesus to have been the malefactor.

One of the inseparables in printing is the errors in spelling and punctuation. Repeated revisions are on guard against misplacing a type which often produces amusing blunders. Sometimes a single letter is of the utmost importance. Once a printer in putting to press a form of the "Book of Common Prayer" dropped a "not" which made the passage read, "We shall be hanged in the churches" an error, instead of "unhanged." By a printer's error the expressive line,

Man's days are like unto a tree
Which in a night is blasted

was transformed into

Man's days are like unto a tree which in a night was blasted.

Through a typographical blunder in having cut the letter "cut" the "Lives of the Saints" was made to read the "Lies of the Saints."

A Syracuse printer, in setting up a book publishers' advertisement, substituted one of Dickens' works thus: "Barney, by Hodge—$1.50." Misprints are sometimes very indicrous in their significance. A country paper gives an account of an amateur concert in which a young lady received a well deserved encore for the exquisite facility with which she sang "An Angel's Whisper." In Dr. Wayland's time a meeting of the American Sabbath's Association was held in this city. The doctor gave a party to the association. His friends were considerably surprised the next morning to find it reported in the newspapers that Dr. Wayland had given a billiard party instead of a brilliant party.

The strange condition of letters in the same word sometimes produces the most hideous results. In "The Still Hour," which was written by Professor Phelps, is the fine line: "The stillness of the hour is the stillness of a dead calm at sea." A large number was printed and dispersed before it was discovered that "calm" had been printed for "psalm."

Some very curious blunders may be seen in old pictures. It is related that Burgomo in his "Travels in Spain" noticed a painting where Abraham is preparing to shoot Isaac with a pistol, and in a country church in Germany the painter is representing the sacrifice of Isaac places a blunderbuss in Abraham's hand as an argument for obedience, and pulls an angel coming down to pour water on the pan.

Horace published the "Blessed Virgin" as resting on a velvet sofa, playing with a cat and a parquet, and about to pour herself coffee from an engraved urn. After a short while, however, the light was turned down and the announcement was made that he was still sinking. Two policemen on duty outside kept everything as quiet as possible in the neighborhood. Instructions were given not to admit anyone except relatives and personal friends.

The next bulletin was given out at a quarter to five and said that death was only a question of a few hours. With this came a dispatch from P. Tecumseh Sherman, the General's son, to President Harrison, informing him that the death was momentarily expected. From then on, the house resembled in comparative darkness. During the night, messages sympathy were received from the President, members of the Cabinet, and from many of the general's old friends in the army.

BULLETINS.

New York 11:45 a. m.—General Sherman is very low. The doctors are now in consultation.

New York, Feb. 12, 11:35.—The general's condition is a little better. The family thought he was dying at 11 o'clock, but he rallied slightly, though he is still unconscious. He is suffering from mucous of the lungs and will probably be smothered. His breathing is very labored. He may live through the day.

The following is issued by Dr. Alexander at noon: "General Sherman is still alive, but there are no encouraging symptoms."

New York, Feb. 12, 1 p.m.—Symptoms are now such as to give a faint hope of General Sherman's recovery.

EXPLOSION OF A BOILER.

It is the Cause of the Death of Many Persons.

QUEBEC, Feb. 12.—At 9.45 this morning, the boiler of Queen Worsted Company's factory at Dare Point exploded, completely demolishing the engine house and about half of the factory. A large number of hands were killed. Thirty bodies have been removed up to the latest account.

Colonel Forsyth Sustained.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The President and Secretary Proctor have sustained Colonel Forsythe's management of the Wounded Knee fight, contrary to the advice of General Miles.

THE PLOT AT SOFIA.

The Conspirators Said to be Friends of Panitza.

SOFIA, Feb. 12.—It has been ascertained that the conspirators recently arrested here on the suspicion of being engaged in a conspiracy to overthrow Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria and his cabinet are friends of Panitza, who was shot some time ago for taking part in a plot to depose the Prince. Six are engaged in the plot, three of whom are engaged.

Cleveland and Hill.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Ex-President Cleveland, in an interview with a Herald reporter, refused to say anything in regard to the letter purporting to have been written by Watterson to Hill. With regard to the meeting between Hill and himself recently, Cleveland said: "Governor Hill and I are on the best of terms and always have been. We had no private conversation on the evening of the dinner. I did remark, however, that notwithstanding the recent democratic cyclone in the country, the democratic party would have a good deal to do to beat the republican party."

Interest in Trotting Race Growing.

DUBLIN, Feb. 12.—At a meeting of the trotting association last night a new track was laid out. This is taken as an indication that the interest in trotting races, a sport before not popular form of Irish sport, is growing.

A Ball Players' Club.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—E. M. Gross, the veteran ball player, is getting up a club to go to Tacoma, Wash. He has secured the following players: Crane, Oliver Flint, Bill Phillips, Rudolph Kennedy, Jack Horan, Sidney Hornby, Jim Hilary, Fred Jerome, George Rooks and Tony Suck.

GENERAL SHERMAN.

THE DYING GENERAL.

Death Expected Every Moment.—The Extreme Caution.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The general is much worse. His family are all summoned to his bedside.

10:15 a. m.—It is announced by a caller that General Sherman is dying. The end has laid him by the general's private secretary. A second announcement is that he will not live over an hour.

At 11:15 a. m.—The extreme unction has been administered. He will die in a few minutes.

LIGHTS AND SHADOWS FROM THE DEATH CHAMBER.

The flickering lights and shadows in the death chamber of the great soldier, Sherman, were eagerly watched during the entire night by a score of newspaper men. The great general was for the first time in his official life, on the retreat. His last march has begun. The gallant old soldier is heroically battling with the grim warrior who knows not defeat, at times retreating, then advancing with the sublime courage of a leader sent to conquer, but gradually and inevitably yielding to his enemy's superior prowess, the cognac of vantage never repelled. Slowly but surely, the vitality of many well fought field is being drawn back to his last trench, his last of supplies, strength and vitality being cut off and dissolution deferred but for a little while.

During the night Rev. Father Taylor, of the church of the Blessed Sacrament was called to the bedside and remained until 5 o'clock. At half past one a messenger rushed to the telegraph office with a message to Senator Sherman. He arrived in a carriage at half past two and considerable movement was then noticed in the General's bedroom. After a short while, however, the light was turned down and the announcement was made that he was still sinking. Two policemen on duty outside kept everything as quiet as possible in the neighborhood. Instructions were given not to admit anyone except relatives and personal friends.

The next bulletin was given out at a quarter to five and said that death was only a question of a few hours. With this came a dispatch from P. THAT CHICAGO PLOT.

The President of the Whisky Trust Wants to Know the Facts.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—A morning paper has the following telegram from Washington: President Greenhut of the Whisky Trust is furious to be singled out as the author of the attempt to ruin Gibson, the secretary. He emphatically and has telegraphed to Chicago for the facts. He knows nothing that Gibson did, while the world was last the light of day, and he thought the fuss has probably been made over some trivial matter. He is certain that there was nothing, which, considering the trust, whatever Gibson's individual actions might have been, Dr. Hardy, who is associated with the trust, thought it likely that the whole business was a repetition of the dynamite scare in Sheldon's distillery two or three years ago, and, in passing, the work of somebody's imagination. Possibly, Gibson has been doing some things half without meaning anything by it. But if he had been trying to trine unjustly to connect an onion at set, Dr. Hardy said the officers of the trust would be sorry, as they did not encourage that kind of work.

THE TENNESSEE RIVER.

It is Rising Alarmingly.—People Flee to Safety.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Feb. 12.—The Tennessee River has passed the danger line, thirty-three feet, and is still rising steadily. Thousands of logs drifted down from the head of the boom at Loudon, entailing a loss of more than $50,000. The stream is almost out of the banks, and there are few places on the north side are taking shelter elsewhere. The big rise is coming down from the headwaters.

Taken the Veil.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 12.—Miss Kate Drexel took the black veil of the new Roman Catholic order of the Blessed Sacrament this morning.

Dillon and O'Brien Surrender Themselves.

PORTSMOUTH, Feb. 12.—Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien, upon their arrival here from Boulogne-sur-Mer, voluntarily surrendered themselves to the police authorities.

A Rubber Convened.

MEXIKANA, Feb. 12.—The northbound Texas junction of the building of a tunnel to join the Chicago Basin. He secured some money, but was captured before he had gone far.

Injured by an Explosion.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Feb. 12.—Two people were killed and two others seriously injured by the explosion of natural gas in a dwelling today.

The South Dakota Struggle for a Senator.

PIERRE, S. D., Feb. 11.—The Independent caucus last night decided to drop Campbell and nominate Stanley Kyle instead, while in the republican caucus Moody was decided on again as the party nominee. Two ballots were taken today, the last one resulting: Moody, 60; Kyle, 30; Tripp, 28; Dillon, 3; Mellette, 1; Seward, 1; Campbell, 1, with twelve absent.

The report that a combination of independents and democrats is being formed to secure the election of a democrat from Illinois and a farmer from South Dakota had the effect of uniting the republicans, and they will hereafter doubtless vote together for one man. The independents seem disposed to follow the same course. The Illinois-South Dakota combine is treated with little or no chance among the leading politicians here.

The Work on the World's Fair Grounds.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Work on the World's Fair grounds at Jackson Park began today. About fifty men were put to work today, and the number will be rapidly increased. The entire area of the park has been staked and everything is in readiness for the work to now going on. Five months' time is allowed to place all the grounds in shape for the great World's Fair.

Director-General Davis received from California today a long petition to appoint a California man as chief of the department of horticulture. In the same mail he received a vigorous protest against the same man.

Ex-Secretary Stewart Dying.

STAUNTON, Va., Feb. 11.—Hon. A. R. Stewart, Secretary of the Interior in Fillmore's cabinet, is dying.

Useless in Negotiate Further.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 11.—The republicans today presented the F. M. B. A. men a list of candidates from which to choose a United States senator, but they refused to consider any of the names, saying it was useless to negotiate further. The republicans decided to go into joint assembly, and after two or three ballots change off to Lindley, and later to other candidates whose names were not in the F. M. B. A. When the joint assembly met every member responded to the roll call and the first ballot showed no change from the votes of yesterday. On the seventh ballot the republicans voted for Cicero F. Lindley. The farmers adhered to Charles Stewart Smith. The ballots resulted: Palmer, 101; Lindley, 100; Stelle, 2.

Democrats and Anti-Prohibitionists.

BRIDGEPORT, N. J., Feb. 11.—The democrats and anti-prohibitionists secured the passage of the bill for reconvention of the constitutional amendment by a large majority.

The Henry Watterson Letter.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 11.—Governor Hill, when shown the letter purporting to be from Henry Watterson, published in the Baltimore Sun this morning, said: "I never received such a letter. It is the first I have heard of such a thing. It must be a forgery."

IT IS SAID TO BE GENUINE.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 11.—The Washington correspondent of the Sun, in answer to the declaration of Governor Hill that he never received such a letter as published in the Sun this morning, telegraphs: "Henry Watterson wrote and sent the letter. Every word of it is genuine. Of course he cannot say that Governor Hill received it if the latter denies it."

Loss of a Cattle Steamer.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The British ship Jacobs reports having passed an immense quantity of wreckage, evidently of a cattle steamer, off Chesapeake Bay last month. It is believed that this was the missing steamer Thingvalla. The owners of the vessel have not given up her as lost. She had a crew of thirty-four and twelve cattle men were on board.

Swindled some Priests.

PARIS, Feb. 11.—The real name of the swindler known as Mace is Bergeon. Among the dupes were about six thousand priests. The Pope recently sent to Bergeon a papal benediction and a photograph of his Holiness, bearing his autograph. This had the effect of increasing the bankrupt's credit among the clergy.

An Idea of Star Distances.

If you could take all the people in the world and set them out in single file, one mile posts along a railroad, and then, at the farthest end, use all the dogs and cats to extend the line of mile posts, you would run far short of material to mark the distance out to the earth's brother planet, Neptune, says a writer in the Pittsburg Dispatch. Again, if you could use all the material of men, women, children, dogs and cats and put them out as fast they would be so far from one another as Boston is from San Francisco, your line would be half long enough to reach to the nearest star.

On a clear night the average eye will readily see stars as low as the sixth magnitude. Such a shining beauty as Sirius shine at you so quickly that it seems almost impossible that years are consumed in the passage of its rays from earth, when we remember that light travels more than 186,000 miles in a second. Yet, if the nearest of the beautiful twinkles should be shifted out at this moment we should still see it. Without the slightest change in appearance, two or three years after it ceases to shine in the infinite of the World's Fair. But even a star so far away as that seems nearly within measuring distance when we find that other stars, visible with the telescope, are so far away that, for all we know, they may have been blotted out before Noah and Adam were born. That is to say, if those far distant orbs had been utterly annihilated, as you would cuff out a candle, when Adam and Eve were sighing their wives in the Garden of Eden, the rays then starting toward the earth, notwithstanding the awful speed of light, would not get here in time to meet the closing of the nineteenth century.

WHY THE DESERET NEWS SHOULD BE SUBSCRIBED FOR IN PREFERENCE TO ANY OTHER PAPER.

1. It is the Organ of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and the authorized medium through which the views, wishes and instructions of the Church Authorities are expressed, and given to the Saints.

2. It may always be relied upon as advocating or defending the right side of every question proper for public journals to handle upon.

3. It is devoted to the interests of the Latter-day Saints and has, from its inception, valiantly defended their rights and advocated the principles in which they believe, and every Latter-day Saint should therefore feel under obligations to do his part in helping to sustain it.

4. It is not published for speculation, and never has been, but for the good which it is capable of accomplishing the people, if any there be desired than it being devoted to extending the echoes of revelation, and benefiting the community.

5. It is doing its utmost to establish home industries, among which are paper making and type-founding, stereotyping and electrotyping—branches necessary to the development and independence of this community, but which, at their infancy, relish in this Territory they have not yet passed, can only be carried on at a pecuniary loss.

6. There is no danger of any subscriber to the News failing to get what he subscribes for through failure of the business and a suspension of the publication, as could in the case of hundreds of newspaper ventures every year.

7. It is now printed throughout in new and readable type, so that even the aged can peruse it without difficulty or danger to their eyesight.

8. It is free from objectionable advertisements, so that no parent need fear that his children will have their minds corrupted from having access to it in family. It refuses thousands of dollars worth of the best paying advertisements, simply because it is devoted to the moral and spiritual interests of its readers instead of to getting gain at their expense.

9. Its tone is not regulated by public opinion and the hope of gaining subscribers or advertisements. It advocates that which it right and condemns that which is wrong, regardless of results, financial or otherwise.

10. It never measures its readers by pointing out mistakes or solicitations for new items.

11. The News practices no deception and wants to see subscribers, or indeed people in subscribing for or the newspaper, to send on its own merits as the people's newspaper, with a promise only to do its utmost to give its patrons the full value of their money's worth, which it has endeavored to faithfully keep in the past.

12. In conclusion, if a Latter-day Saint can afford to subscribe for only one newspaper, that paper should be the Deseret News, and if more than one, the News should invariably be the first.

DRESS GOODS.

EVERY DRY GOODS HOUSE KEEPS DRESS GOODS, BUT scarcely a house in America can show the collection of superb things we are prepared to offer this Spring. They are strung along from New York to Salt Lake, and SOMETHING NEW IS ARRIVING DAILY. The purchases of six past seasons would not equal the selections of this season's line, and Ladies cannot form the faintest idea of how elegantly and tastefully they can dress, except by calling and examining our choice stock of French Novelties and the other artistic effects in our Dress Goods Department.

We shall show a line of French Challies, the patterns and colorings of which are pronounced works of art.

Our Combination Plaid Robes are the most tasteful, at a moderate price, ever produced; and about two hundred patterns of European Novelties, of which no two dress patterns are alike, are something to be proud of.

The Wool Plaids embrace colors never before attempted, and, together with the patterns, are simply immense, and in styles suitable to all ages.

Our Black Goods stock is very complete, in which we are showing many novelties that are offered at the very low prices we place on Henriettas, Serges, Cords, Diagonals and Twills.

WASH DRESS GOODS.

THE TERMS APPLICABLE TO OUR WASH DRESS GOODS are handsome, pretty, sweet. These three styles of beauty are all embraced in the choicest line ever offered in any one house. The cream of all importers and manufacturers are collected in this one grand display.

We lead with the great European Novelty, Korah Moire, in printed goods, a new weave made from Egyptian Cotton and Combed Yarns, combined with the Moire effect, producing a richness only to be found in the highest class silks. Every house advertises Scotch Ginghams and Zephyrs, and show more ugly than pretty patterns, but with us it is different; we have an immense assortment, and every pattern is a beauty, the colors rare and rich, producing effects never before witnessed in this class of goods, and are perfectly fast.

We are also showing stylish patterns in American Ginghams.

The old stand-by, Printed Sateens, is largely represented in all qualities, and the new Canton Cloth, made by Simpson & Sons, deserve special mention for its richness of design.

The patterns in Prints this season are so very pretty we must speak of them.

WHITE GOODS and EMBROIDERIES.

WHITE BLACK GOODS IS THE ONE NEW THING UNDER the sun; you want to see them; they are in Embroidered Flouncings, India Linens, Nainsook Checks, Lace Effects, Cords and Stripes. Ladies of more advanced years can have all the comfort there is in wearing a white muslin dress and yet be dressed in black. You should buy them early, the novelty being so great, there are doubts of there being enough to supply the demand.

We have a more extensive line than ever in White Embroidered Flouncings in forty-five-inch goods for Ladies, and twenty-seven inches for children. You will, of course, see Flouncings in other stores, but if you want style combined with cheapness, you will buy them of us.
