Another Fight Between Officers and Horse Thieves in Wyoming.

POLITICAL SQUABBLE AT PARK CITY.

The Ouray Indians.—Singular Accident to a Boy.—Alarm of Fire at Ogden.

Dr. LeCompte reports a number of cases of diphtheria among people at Bingham and one or two cases in Park City.

The Ouray Indians are leaving the agency on a hunting expedition. They have been going through Vernal for the past week, and judging from the number seen in town the agency will soon be deserted.—Vernal Express.

Mr. Kirker had a visitor last week in the shape of Chris. A large centipede crawled on his forehead, awakening him. As he went to knock it off the centipede stuck its fangs into his flesh. At present Mr. Kirker is doing nicely, but he purchased a considerably swollen.—Springville Independent.

The ladies of Twin Bridges, Madison county, have sent in the World's Fair commissioners here a list of the articles they are going to contribute for the furnishings of the Montana building. They consist of beautiful embroidery of all kinds, tapestry, wax flowers, fancy bibles in cloth, etc.—Butte Inter-Chronicle.

Reports have just reached Cooper, Wyo., of a fight between officers and supposed horse thieves in the extreme northern part of Tomson county. Officers were in search of a man named Moore, who shot a constable. Moore knew of their approach and lay for them, shooting down three of the party. One of the murdered men was known as "Nick," whose real name was Nash, of Nebraska.—Pinto Dispatch.

James Clinden of Nephi passed north on Sunday. He has been in Salina purchasing fall crops. He says that about a million pounds of wool will be all that is brought in this fall. In speaking about the probable extension of the S. P. V. & R. R. he says that it only needs $50,000 to put the road on a paying basis, so that will extend it to Manti. Unless the promoters of the road can raise the three hundred thousand dollars capital will be dead property as it does not at present pay expenses.—Sanpete Enterprise.

On Thursday afternoon Richard, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Peterson, fell into his bed asleep. The direct cause of his death was typhoid fever. Some months ago, however, he was accidentally struck on the head, injuring one of his eyes, which caused the strength of the boy and injured fever coming on top of his injuries, set him off. He was a particularly bright little fellow. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson are Germans, and having only been a short time in America, are not very familiar with the English language.—Kaysville Sunrise (Kaysville) Mirror.

A little trouble occurred at the Union Pacific depot Thursday afternoon just before the Democratic delegation left for Salt Lake. It appears that one of the patriots engaged on the building accidentally broke the handle of a broom belonging to one of the delegation. The owner got mad, words followed and the painter emptied the delegate in the face with his paint brush. The police were telephoned for as a general free fight seemed inevitable, but matters, however, settled down before the blue coats arrived and the crowd got off on the special train without further trouble.—Park City Record.

It was reported on the streets this morning that J. O'Connor had shot and seriously wounded John McAvoy near the Daly hoisting works. O'Connor, after the shooting came down town and was arrested by Officer Dye on a charge of drunkenness and placed in jail. Dr. Wilson was sent for, and after a careful examination of the wound said the man had not been shot at all, but that McAvoy's wound had been caused by falling from his horse and striking his head on a rock or some other hard substance. McAvoy says he had a gun himself and knows O'Connor did not, and as no gun was found on the latter when arrested, the whole matter resolves itself into a trivial drunken squabble.—Park City Record.

A peculiar accident has happened to Niels Jorgenson of Mount. His mother is an invalid and unable to walk very well without the assistance of crutches. The son had gone to a neighbor's to borrow a pair of crutches, and on his return stumbled over a log fence. He fell, he dropped from the hoes intending to strike on a board lying on the ground. The board turned and caused the boy to fall, resulting in his left leg being broken between the knee and ankle. By the assistance of the crutches he managed to reach home, when Dr. Allen was summoned. The doctor "set" the fractured bone and the boy will be all right in time. Mr. Jorgenson was intending to start in a few days for a new American colony in Mexico on the Gulf of California.—Mount Pleasant Pyramid.

Secretary Mead and his assistants are now engaged in collecting the Wyoming exhibit for the World's Fair. Mr. Mead was in this city a few days ago, says the Laramie Boomerang, and J. W. Johnson has been wed through the state. All the exhibits will be sent to Cheyenne where they will be arranged and shipped to Chicago. Mr. Mead has received official notification to the effect that a space of 12x12 feet has been allotted to Wyoming in the mines and mining building in the south central section of the ground floor, having a side frontage of seventy-six feet. Space in addition to what has been mentioned will be granted in the library section for books, pictures, statistics, etc., in the engineers' section for maps, charts, plans, etc., and in the model department for live models.

The Electric Fire Engine.

An electrical application, which is only waiting until electricity can be so economically distributed as water to be generally adopted, is the electric fire engine. It is now now being used to a limited degree. In an experiment at the late Crystal palace electrical exhibition the motor was worked on a circuit of a pressure of 105 volts. With this pressure, when running at about 800 revolutions per minute, the motor propelled a jet of water from a 1-inch nozzle
