Baking Dog and Chicken Feed of Horses—Sermon Calendar Fair at Colonia Diaz.

Deming, New Mexico, Headlight: The fair to be held by the Colonia Diaz next month will be a surprise to the many who will attend from this section, and the societies will make a wonderful showing of their money and time expenditure.

William Lemmon, a native of California, and of adventurous parents, established himself last Saturday at Vallejo, Cal., by making himself in the town. He made preparations for the deed by cleaning up his barber's quarters on the city front. Then putting a clean cut in the throat he sealed himself and deliberately bled a pail into his death. The deceased was a Civil and Mexican war veteran and an old and respected resident of Vallejo.

A dispatch from Virginia, Nev., says there is considerable excitement over the discovery of gold quartz on the Dalton ranch, near Silver City, six miles from Virginia City. Edmond Patrick, a quiet rancher, has discovered a ledge on his ranch assaying $100 to the ton. He made a stake of $2 Sunday, and yesterday. Plenty more of the same ore is in sight, and assaying going to $150 per ton have been obtained.

Rev. O. D. Taylor, who for several years has been pastor of the First Baptist church at the Dalles, Oregon, was arrested Monday on a warrant from Ingersoll, Mich., where he is wanted on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. The complaint is based upon his alleged actions while president of the Interstate Investment company. He was the promoter of a favorite scheme at North Dalles and sold lots all over the East. It is alleged, by misrepresentations. He is also wanted at Buffalo, Rochester and Cleveland on similar charges.

Considering the fact that horses are a thing in the market, a Sacramento, Cal., veterinary surgeon has started in advance to utilize the fat in a novel manner. He is now preparing what he calls the "horse plant." He will buy up horses, kill them and by drying the flesh convert it into dog and chicken feed. The hides will be made into market, the hoofs into glue, fertilizer and the joints into glue. Continuing on his venture the doctor said that in addition to saving the freight on horses to Oregon he will establish an industry whereby California will soon cease her corn export profits.

The Sheridan, Wyoming, Enterprise says: Another bill is being prepared, and will be presented at the next session of Congress, asking that the Bighorn region be granted a right-of-way through the National park, the company agreeing to keep up the track in a perfect manner and giving all the citizens liberty to enter the use of the Burlington tracks at a certain yearly rental. If this bill should pass the Burlington will undoubtedly build over the range from here next year, and Sheridan will enjoy an era of unprecedented prosperity.

The Newcastle Democrat reports that what was left of the body of James Lee of Cambria, Wyo., who was lost on the second day of last June, has been found on the prairie about three miles from the place from which he started. It will be remembered that the little fellow was at the camp of his brother on that day, and started from his home in Cambria, when it commenced to storm. That night quite a heavy snow fell and he must have become bewildered and wandered from the road, although his body was only a short distance from the road when found. On Wednesday, the 7th of August, the Lee brothers and their families were out hunting, when the dogs discovered portions of the body which had been badly torn by coyotes and scattered around for some distance. From the appearance of the remains the child had sought shelter in the ruts of a small tree, taking off his coat and endeavoring to turn it into a shelter. The body was gathered up, placed in a coffin and buried on Mr. Lee's farm on Canon Springs public.

With a hole as high in diameter blown through his left leg from the middle of the thigh to the lower part of the calf, Charles Fubrig, a machinist, aged twenty-five miles in a cart last Monday. As a consequence he is now in a critical condition from the shock, the serious strain and the loss of blood. Fubrig was at Sam Polis' with a party for a big's sport. While shooting at a target with a revolver the pistol went off accidentally and the ball entered the inside of the left leg, striking the thigh bone, which is slightly splintered. It was deflected and turned directly downward. The bullet passed through the knee and lodged in the lower part of the calf without breaking the outer skin except at the point of entry. A number of arteries were severed, and a wound that proximately. Fubrig's companions made a serviceable tourniquet of a knotted silk handkerchief. They then started for home with the wounded man in a two-wheeled cart. Surgical aid could not be had at Colorado or Ocean View, so the party kept on to San Francisco, arriving at the injured man's home in four hours from the time of starting. The bullet was removed and the wound dressed. Owing to his shattering of the nerve the leg is partly paralyzed. It is possible that the leg will have to be amputated, and unless the nerve fully recuperates Fubrig will never regain the entire use of it.
