EISTEDDFOD ENTRIES

List of Contestants who Will Take Part in the Coming Musical Festival.

WONDERFUL INTEREST BEING MANIFESTED

By the People Everywhere—One Week's Grand Feast of Music—Talent to Take Part at the Numerous Sessions.

The "News" takes pleasure in presenting to its readers today the list of entries in the various contests at the forthcoming Third Grand National Eistedfod.

Each day's mail adds considerably to the number that have already entered, and as the entries do not close until midnight tonight, it may be possible that others will have to be added before the final official program is completed. It needs but a glance at the list to demonstrate the fact that a wonderful amount of interest has been taken in the great festival by people for miles and miles, and great credit is due the promoters for the magnificent showing made. Every indication points to a highly successful Eistedfod, both from an artistic and financial standpoint. The all important question with the committee and management is, will four sessions be sufficient to which to carry on the program, or will an extra session be necessary. In a conversation with a "News" reporter today President Arthur L. Thomas said that it was quite likely that an extra session would be held, if satisfactory arrangements can be made with the Church authorities for the use of the Tabernacle for Saturday night, October 8th.

The various committees of the Cambrian association, are working almost day and night on matters looking to the success of the festival. President Thomas has thus far been voted for, and they are: Hon. Arthur L. Thomas (Governor Heber M. Wells and President Lorenzo Snow. Other gentlemen will be selected at the association's meeting Monday evening. Dr. Joseph Parry, of Cardiff, Wales, will be the sole adjudicator of music; Judge H. M. Edwards, of Pennsylvania, will be the judge of the Eistedfod; Prof. Joseph J. Daynes official accompanist; Judge C. C. Goodwin, Hon. C. W. Penrose, and H. H. Roberts, adjudicators of English literature. The Rev. Newton Roberts, of Great Falls, Montana, will be one of the orators.

ONE WEEK OF MUSIC.

The Eistedfod week begins Monday, October 3rd, and will continue last the balance of the week. The first two nights will be taken up by the Denver Choral Society in Prof. Hensley's charming opera The Pagoda, which will be presented at the Salt Lake Theatre, commencing at the Saturday matinee. At that hour bands and choruses, vocalists and soloists will assemble in Tabernacle square, Tuesday morning, form a procession and parade through the principal streets of the city. At 1 o'clock the Eistedfod will be opened in similar manner with which the various conventions have been opened in the past.

As there will be a number of prominent musical people there, of the various nationalities represented at the festival, an opportunity will be given them to address Utah's great audience. Accordingly the Cambrian association has invited the following well known talent and gentlemen to be present:

Mrs. Grace Thomas Edwards, H. A. Clawson, Mrs. Emma Ramsey, Prof. Joseph J. Daynes, Prof. Evan Stephens, John Lund, Mrs. Beatie Dean Allen, Mrs. Ellen Ivins Clark, Prof. Anthony Ellis, Prof. Joseph J. Daynes, Mrs. Ella Kimball, Prof. J. J. McClellan, Mrs. Ella Knapp, Prof. J. J. McClellan, Mrs. Ella Knapp, Prof. Ben Rich, Prof. Harry Clark, Prof. Harry Langton, H. S. Ensign and others. In addition to our home talent, a number of musical artists have volunteered their services to the Eistedfod committee, among whom may be mentioned Prof. Ben Davies, Mr. Wolstenholme, Prof. Hoffman, Prof. Bonner, a famous cornetist, who charmed the people at the Denver Eistedfod, and others, with the conditions of the Boston Ladies' Choral Society, who will sing for just two nights, which will be added to the program, and great credit is due the promoters for the magnificent showing made. Every indication points to a highly successful Eistedfod, both from an artistic and financial standpoint. The all important question with the committee and management is, will four sessions be sufficient to which to carry on the program, or will an extra session be necessary.
