...the 15th, making a total of $15,000. During the closing period of the week Dalton made some rapid advances, closing in the neighborhood of 10 cents. The properties are reported to be in splendid shape, with some shipping ore almost ready for the market. Daly was very strong, with the demand active, sales being made at $8 and even better. Nothing new has been heard regarding the anticipated dividend. Daly-West made good gains in the bidding, sales being made around $7.50 with the offerings of stock limited. The mines and mill are in splendid condition and the well posted are on the lookout for early dividends.

Eagle maintained its gain of strength, selling higher than for two days past. Galena attracted considerable attention and was in good demand. This company has just been listed with the mining exchange. Its report was a very flattering one. Geyser remained practically stationary although toward the close of the week bidding was higher. Horn Silver and little business, holders and buyers refusing to make necessary concessions. Shipments from the properties are being maintained in good shape, with the development work progressing nicely. Little Pittsburg was active, but at slightly shaded figures.

Mercur was very active at advancing figures, the close being above $7, with only a comparatively small amount of the stock offered. The April dividend having been passed for prudential reasons, the announcement is now made that it will not be necessary for the company to pass another payment even during the erection of the prospective new mills.

Mammoth was the great gainer of the week, selling up to $3 from $2.15. This advance was due to dividend expectations and very favorable developments in the properties. In the lower depths the high grade gold ore that has made the Mammoth famous has just been opened up and shipments of the high grade rock are now being made. While dividends may not be resumed within the next two months, it will not be due to inability on the part of the company but only a desire to build up a handsome surplus.

Ontario was strong at advancing figures, bids of $14 bringing out little stock. Silver King also made a strong advance, no stock being offered under $16.50, with $15.75 freely bid.

Sunshine also made a decided gain, sales being made again close to the $3 mark. The showing now being made by the mill is most encouraging. Utah was strong.

Rich Gold Ore.

Salmon City, Idaho, Recorder: R. Bell has just returned from the south fork of Carmen creek, where he has been putting in the winter doing development work on the Barosio group, in which he has interested some of Salmon City's business men. He brought down about 30 pounds of specimen ore, which is probably the richest ore ever brought into Salmon from an undeveloped mine. One of the pieces, which weighs about 10 pounds, has two solid continuous veinlets of gold that are eight inches long and from two to three inches deep, running through it. Another piece shows about a $3-bunch of coarse wire gold in a large honeycombed cavity, that is as coarse as baling wire. Among the specimens is also a 10-pound rubyite copper ore, that comes out of a footwall streak of the same vein. He describes the vein as a contact fissure, from four to 40 feet thick, between quartzite and porphyry. It would seem that, with such exceptionally coarse gold occurring so near the surface in such favorable geological surroundings, it could not help proving a profitable property, if not a bonanza dividend payer, with a little further development in depth.

A Mill for Boonevillle, Idaho.

Wednesday's Idaho Daily Statesman: Colonel W. H. Dewey is expected to arrive from Pittsburg in about ten days, and shortly thereafter work will be commenced on the construction of the $100,000 20-stamp quartz mill his company will erect at Booneville to work the ore from the rich Booneville, Florida Hill, Seventy-nine and other Lode mines. Two or more carloads of the machinery have already arrived and the remainder will be unloaded at the junction in a few days.

The Booneville mill will be one of the finest ever constructed in the West. The stamps will each weigh 1,100 pounds. There will be 10 Frue Vanners, 12 pans and 6 settlers, besides other machinery of improved pattern used in the extraction of gold. Power for the machinery will be furnished by two 100-horse-power boilers and engines of the latest make.

In addition to the mill the company will erect an electric hoist and place three electric drills in the mine. The electrical machinery will be the first of the kind ever used in Idaho. The electricity will be generated by steam power, an 80-horse power engine being used. The ore will be hauled from the mines to the mill for a time, but a tramway will be put in as soon as practicable.

"Drouth" in the Big Bend.

The News correspondent in Harrisburg, Washington county, sums up the condition of affairs there as follows: "The general news in this part of the country is simply expressed in the word 'drouth' which is in everybody's mouth."

Big Gold Nuggets.

There is apt to be a boom in chicken raising over on the north side of the American River opposite Folsom, says a Sacramento, Cal., exchange.

The other day Mrs. Bryant, who lives in that locality, killed a chicken for her own table, and on dressing it she took out gold nuggets to the value of $5.

James A. Pollock, one of Salt Lake's prominent stock brokers, who is now in the Holy Cross hospital suffering from a serious illness, showed some improvement last night.

The Sunshine hotel in the Camp Floyd district and owned by [illegible] & Mallett, was the scene of a fire last night which destroyed the Carson restaurant, the livery stable and Johnson Bros.' store, the latter being a frame structure. It was pulled out. The fire originated in a defective flue in Johnson's new two-story building, the best structure in the town. The Johnsons were well insured, but the hotel carried no insurance.

San Francisco Call: M. H. Walker, the millionaire mine owner and extensive real estate holder of Salt Lake, is in the city. He is accompanied by John H. Walker, J. M. Hall and J. Chessman. Mr. Walker is of the firm of Walker Brothers, who were among the earliest residents of the Lake. They were builders of a portion of the Union Pacific system. The Walker Brothers are interested in mines in California as well as in Utah.

SOME UTAH VETERANS,

Who Have Taken Up Their Abode in Arizona.

THATCHER, Arizona,
April 8, 1896.

To the Editor:

Thinking that it might be interesting to the readers of the NEWS to know that we too have some of the old Utah veterans in Arizona, I called on a few of them and find the most of them feel as if they had drifted away down here and had become almost forgotten by their friends in Utah.

The first I will mention is our worthy Stake President C. Layton, who was born in Bedfordshire, England, March 8, 1821. Brother Layton is one of the number who passed through this country with the Mormon Battalion; the history of their march is well known to all. Then we find him here in his old age, where he has done more than any other man to redeem this beautiful valley.

P. C. Merrill, also of Battalion fame, and our worthy Patriarch, was born in the state of New York, November 12, 1820; joined the Church in 1839, was ordained a Patriarch by John Henry Smith October 15, 1891.

H. G. Boyle, born in 1824, in Tazewell county, Va. Bro. Boyle was also in the battalion, and it is quite interesting to hear him relate the many hardships they passed through while on that arduous journey; he has also filled several foreign missions and has baptized many into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

R. W. Allred also one of the early Pioneers was born Nov. 27, 1827, in Bedford county, Tenn., joined the Church in an early day and can tell what it cost the early settlers to redeem Utah.

Enoch Burns the oldest person we have living in this stake, was born Nov. 2, 1807, in Lower Canada, now known as Quebec. He joined the Church at Nauvoo in 1839, emigrated to Utah in 1850, and has been on the frontiers most of the time since. He has many friends in Utah or elsewhere who will be pained to know that he is quite feeble. Still Bro. Burns has a desire to live. He feels that there will be some great change take place with this people and he has a desire to witness the change.

Elizabeth Jane Burns, his noble wife, was born Feb. 12, 1824, in London Co., Va.; was baptized into the Church April 7, 1841, came to Utah in 1851, and always has been counted one of the noblest mothers in Israel.

Ira B. Elmer was born Aug. 2, 1823, in the state of Vermont; joined the Church in an early day, came to Utah in 1850; was one of the first to settle in St. George, being present and helped to survey the city of St. George.

Sister Willmirth East, wife of the late E. W. East, was born in the state of Georgia in 1824; joined the Church in Texas, in 1854, came to Utah in 1855, and has been an active laborer in the Relief society for more than twenty-five years. Sister East was quite feeble and had a great desire to see some of the Church presidency or the Apostles and still had hope that she would recover from the affliction that has come upon her, but she died subsequent to my visit.

We have many more of the old veterans in this valley such as Samuel Claridge, born Dec. 28, 1829, emigrated to Utah 1853; Benj. Cluff, son of David Cluff, born March 20, 1830, in Strafford county, N. H., baptized 1838, came to Utah 1850; Sister Mary E. Cluff, his wife, was born in Cincinnati in 1837, came to Utah in 1852. Sister Cluff joined the Church in an early day and always has been a faithful worker in the cause of truth; N. W. Birdno, born Feb. 2, 1824, baptized Sept., 1848, emigrated to Utah 1859; Elizabeth Ann Allen, the wife of the late O. M. Allen and daughter of the late George Burkett, born at Winchester, Randolph county, Indiana, Nov. 1, 1825, baptized in the spring of 1836, emigrated to Utah 1852. Her father, George Burkett, and her husband, were both closely connected with Joseph the Prophet in the persecutions in Nauvoo, and are well known throughout the Church; William F. Butler was born Feb. 12th, 1824, in the state of Indiana, baptized in 1836, emigrated to Utah in 1852. He was one of the first settlers in Spanish Fork, Utah county, also one of the first settlers in St. George, and always has been on the frontiers.

We have many others among whom are R. ... Allred of Battalion fame, Martin Plumb, born in Ohio in 1831, Moses Curtis, Lavina Dodge and many others which space will not allow me to mention.

The health of the people is splendid. Prospects for crops never were better. There will be an unusually large crop of fruit, and if we could have a visit from the Church Presidency now, as we have a railroad running through our settlements, we would think the Lord was surely blessing us.

G. W. WILLIAMS.

New Lumber Companies.

The following companies filed articles of incorporation with the county clerk this afternoon:

Asper, Noall & company, the object, business and pursuit of which is to carry on and conduct a general lumber business. The capital stock is placed at $50,000 taken by the following incorporators: William Asper, William T. Noall, Mathew Noall, Rebecca J. Noall-Asper and James F. Smith.

Mathew Noall is president, James F. Smith, vice president, and William Asper, secretary and treasurer.

The State Lumber, Building & Manufacturing company, with a capital stock of $25,000, taken by the following incorporators: James Whittaker, William Langton, Thomas H. Nott, N. C. Christensen, J. P. Emmertson and J. M. Emmertsen. James Whittaker is president, secretary and treasurer, and William Langton is vice-president. The object of the company is to carry on a lumber business and deal in paints and glass at the premises known as The Mason's Lumber company opposite the Union Pacific depot.

MINOR MENTION.

Many early fruit buds have been nipped by the frost.

All is quiet and serene around the fire department; no disturbance, no fires, no nothing.

The missionary farewell to Elder J. Carlos Poulton, of the Sixth ward, will be given in the ward hall this evening.

The Sunday evening meetings in the Fifteenth ward will commence at 8:00 hereafter instead of 8 o'clock as has been the rule for some time.

Desk Sergeant Jim Adams of the police department is proud of the speaking tube which has just been put in, connecting his post with that of the court room above.

Bill Nixon the old time regulation drunk is back at his old haunts again, having been ordered imprisoned for 30 days by the police justice this morning. John Schwartz for a similar offense was fined $10.

Two "sulled gemmen" were at police headquarters this afternoon bewailing the loss of some wearing apparel. Detectives Sheets and Janney went with them in search for the "lost, strayed or stolen" articles.

An entertainment will be given in the Eighth ward meeting house tonight at 7:30, in honor and for the benefit of Elder T. H. Cartwright, who will shortly leave for Europe. An excellent program has been prepared for the occasion.

Charles Clark and Andrew Parks were before Justice Wenger today charged with assault with intent to kill. These are the men who "raised Ned" at the Abbey saloon on State street the other night. The former was discharged while the latter was fined $5.

READY FOR THE JURY.

Arguments in the Hague Case Through this Afternoon.

COURT ROOM CROWDED TODAY.

Much Interest as to What the Verdict Will Be—Guilty or Not Guilty.

The arguments in what beyond question will be the final trial of Alma Hague, the Nephi bank cashier charged with embezzling the funds of that institution, were made in the Federal court room before Judge Adams today.

A large crowd of curiously inclined persons were present. Hague's wife sat at his side throughout the day and listened most attentively to the concluding testimony which was given early this forenoon. Friends were on hand to offer words of encouragement and advice. The defendant himself was a most careful observer and frequently prompted his counsel on points of evidence brought out and referred to by the prosecution.

Judge Howat made the opening argument for the prosecution and was followed by Judges Henderson and King for the defense. Judge Judd made the closing talk to the jury this afternoon.

It was expected that the case would go to the grand jury this evening. There is much speculation in the minds of those who followed the trial closely as to what the jury's verdict will be—guilty or not guilty.

IN MIDDLE TENNESSEE.

Elder F. B. Rollens Relates Some of His Missionary Experiences.

SILVER HILL, Rutherford Co., Tenn.,
April 14, 1896.

To the Editor:

Thinking that a few lines from this part will be of interest to the readers of your valuable paper, I will give an epitomized review of my labors since our conference held on the twenty-second and twenty-third of September last.

After receiving many valuable instructions, and enjoying ourselves as Elders do upon occasions of this kind when far from home, we took the parting hand for another year, to go to our respective fields of labor, to proclaim precious truths to the world.

Elder Armbald and the writer were assigned to Sumner county to labor. I had been some two months in this county last spring, but went out to visit Saints and friends during the mid-summer months. On re-entering the county we were met by a kind and hospitable people, but had poor success in getting buildings to preach in. Our labors were systematic, going from house to house, leaving a pamphlet for the people to read, which sets forth in brief the doctrines of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

We failed to procure a building in Gallatin, the county seat, to hold meeting in, on account of so much prejudice; and the people in that vicinity being highly "aristocratic."

The southern part of Sumner county is level and very fertile, while the northern part is somewhat broken and not so well adapted to tillage. Running through the county east and west is a ridge that is the dividing line between the water courses of the Ohio and Cumberland rivers. While laboring in the northern part of the county we had better success in holding meetings. Where we could hold meetings we made many friends and allayed a great deal of prejudice.

In the first part of December the president of the conference and his companion gave us a visit and counseled us as to our labors. While together we enjoyed ourselves greatly. After spending three days with us, they took their leave to visit other Elders in their respective fields of labor.

As Christmas was drawing nigh, my companion and I received a letter from Mr. G. K. Smith, who was investigating the Gospel, requesting that we come and spend Christmas holidays with himself and family. We accepted the invitation, and on arriving found the folks anxious to see us. While there we had many satisfactory Gospel conversations. Mr. Smith is a second cousin to Elder Berry, who was assassinated in Lewis county in 1884.

December 31, we took leave of them, taking a tour through Wilson and Rutherford counties, visiting Saints and friends to return by way of Nashville to our field of labor. January 10 we arrived in Nashville, calling upon our president. Upon an interview with him I learned that I was to travel with Elder E. E. Brown. On January 15 we reached our field of labor. Friday, March 3rd, we finished canvassing the county, distributing since conference 2,170 tracts, visiting 2,128 families, holding 20 meetings, and walking 1,128 miles.

During the past six months I have found only two families investigating the Gospel; but it is hoped that our labors have been as bread cast upon the water, to return after many days.

In the early days of the Church Elders from Missouri preached in the northwestern part of the county, gathering quite a number out.

The Middle Tennessee conference is in a prosperous condition now. We have 25 able-bodied Elders. They did a great work proselyting last year, and it is expected that the fruits of our labors in the present year will be greater than ever. F. B. ROLLENS.

OBITUARY NOTES.

THOMAS PRICE SMITH.

Died at Parowan, Utah, April 5, 1896, of old age, Thomas Price Smith. He was born at [illegible], Gloucestershire, England, November 8, 1808, was the son of William and Sarah P. Smith, Bredon, Worcestershire, England, said William Smith being the son of Job Smith, which Job Smith was the son of Job Smith the first, who was born at Aston, Worcestershire, in 1722, who with his successors afterwards lived at Bredon.

In early life he (Thomas) was a farm laborer, earning very small wages—ranging from one to two dollars per week, with board; with which income, however, he at the age of 21, married a young widow named Pritchard, and settled in his native parish.

From listening to his mother's reading of the scriptures when a child he early acquired an interest in matters of religious concern, and in 1830 or 1831 joined himself to the society of religious worshipers called United Brethren, which afterwards became famous in the history of President Woodruff. He soon became a zealous preacher in that society, and many remarkable cases of religious conversions and angry opposition are remembered as following his earnest and powerful appeals to the people of his native village to "repent and believe."

In April, 1840, Apostle Woodruff brought the Gospel, and the honest and earnest of those United Brethren opened their ears and hearts to receive it. My father was one among the first to receive the birth of water during that month. His wife having died, and his three children being well situated among her relatives, he was soon called out as a missionary, and in Worcestershire, Staffordshire and Warwickshire, raised up many branches of the Church, being assisted by such men as David Moss (now of St. George), John Gailey and others who have now gone behind the scenes. In 1848 he married again; but continued his missionary labors as a missionary in the counties named until about 1849 or 1850, when he received a call by the Spirit to seek another field of labor, and that in a region he had never seen. So, leaving his family in the care of those he had already baptized, he took up a journey of some two hundred miles southward to the city of Norwich, county of Norfolk, England. Landing there alone and without any introduction or acquaintance he soon obtained friends and interested listeners, which enabled him to rent a hall and commence public preaching of the latter-day faith, to the surprise of nearly every one and the joy of many who listened and obeyed. It being the first introduction of the new faith in that part of England, curiosity as well as desire for information drew large crowds to listen and many believed, and seeing the hall was too crowded for the congregation a gentleman named Winfield made an offer to him to build a hall or chapel for his use, which was shortly done, as also a dwelling adjoining, in almost the heart of the city of 80,000 or 70,000 inhabitants. The Norwich branch of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints soon became numerous, and many men of local talent capacity joined to help scatter the seed in the surrounding country, until branches of the Church throughout the counties of Norfolk and Suffolk were raised up, and worshiping congregations organized with their regular grades of officers, under his supervision and presidency.

In 1851 he immigrated to Utah with the first company of Saints moved by the Perpetual Emigrating Fund company, remaining in Salt Lake City one year, then moving south by the counsel of the leaders to Iron county, taking up his final residence in Summit, in that county. He afterwards moved to Rockville, Kane county, and subsequently to Parowan. Although located in a part of the territory where money was scarce, he managed to save quite large sums to send back to England to assist poor families to emigrate, besides raising a very large family.

His name his revered by many of the inhabitants of Utah, who received the Gospel under his preaching, and who are yet alive; he was held in high appreciation by his brethren in the Priesthood where he lived the latter portion of his days. The last twelve days of his life was beclouded and sorrowed by the dreadful misfortune of the death of his wife by fire. JOS. T. SMITH.

WILLIAM DAVIS.

WALES, April 5, 1896.—On Wednesday, April 1, 1896, the people of Wales were called to mourn the loss of one of their most respected citizens, William Davis, Sen., who died of pneumonia.

He was the son of Thomas and Jemima Davis, and was born in Merthyr, Glamorganshire, South Wales, May 15, 1837. In 1846 he came to this country with his parents. They remained in Pennsylvania until 1860, when they came to Utah, coming directly to Wales, where they have lived ever since.

Brother Davis was married to Maria Rees in 1865. He leaves his wife, ten children and three grandchildren to mourn his untimely death. About six weeks ago he buried one of his daughters wife of Elder James Vickes, who is now on a mission. Sister Vickes left her infant child in the care of her mother, who is almost heartbroken over the loss of both husband and daughter.

Brother Davis held the office of a Seventy. He was a faithful Latter-day Saint and was always prompt in doing his duty.

NOT A SICK DAY

For Over Thirty Years!

RESULT OF USING

AYER'S PILLS

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills for over thirty years have kept me in good health, never having had a sick day in all that time. Before I was twenty I suffered almost continually—as a result of constipation—from dyspepsia, headaches, neuralgia, or boils and other eruptive diseases. When I became convinced that nine-tenths of my troubles were caused by constipation, I began the use of Ayer's Pills, with the most satisfactory results, never having a single attack that did not readily yield to this remedy. My wife, who had been an invalid for years, also began to use Ayer's Pills, and her health was quickly restored. With my children I had noticed that nearly all their ailments were preceded by constipation, and I soon had the pleasure of knowing that with children as with parents, Ayer's Pills, if taken in season, avert all danger of sickness."—H. Let The Whole World Know The Good Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Does

HEART DISEASE has its victims at a disadvantage. Always taught that heart disease is incurable, when the symptoms become well defined, the patient becomes alarmed and a nervous panic takes place. But when a sure remedy is found and a cure effected, after years of suffering, there is great rejoicing and desire to "let the whole world know." Mrs. Laura Winegart of Selkirk, Kansas, writes: "I desire to let the whole world know what Dr. Miles' Heart Cure has done for me. For ten years I had pain in my heart, shortness of breath, palpitation, pain in my left side, oppressed feeling in my chest, weak and hungry spells, bad dreams, could not lie on either side, was smothered and suffered terribly. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and before I finished the second bottle I felt its good effects. I feel now that I am fully recovered, and that Dr. Miles' Heart Cure saved my life."
