UTAH STAKE PRESIDENCY.

Edward Partridge, President, David John and Reed Smoot, Counselors.

Selections Announced Yesterday by the Stake Conference and Unanimously Sustained by the Saints Assembled.

PROVO, UTAH, APRIL 20, 1895.—The Utah Stake conference, which convened Saturday, April 20, at 10 a. m. and a portion of the evening (April 21) was attended and addressed by President Wilford Woodruff, George Q. Cannon and Joseph F. Smith, the President, Lorenzo Snow, and Elder Brigham Young, F. M. Lyman, John Henry Smith and Abraham H. Cannon of the Council of Apostles. At the Sunday afternoon session President Woodruff announced the first business to be the presentation of the names of men suitable to fill the position of presiding of Utah stake. He said that in selecting them names the First Presidency and the Apostles had met together to consider the question as the Lord had revealed through His Spirit the men which He wanted to preside over this stake of Zion. They were all united on this matter. He then presented the names of Edward Partridge for president, David John 1st and Reed Smoot for second counselor. The speaker hoped the people would sustain these brethren, that they might fill their offices acceptably before the Lord and to the blessing of the people. President Woodruff then presented the condition in the order named, and they were unanimously sustained by the congregation, at which manifestation of unity among the people President Woodruff expressed himself as highly gratified.

President George Q. Cannon said he believed that we all meet together to consider any question with less prejudiction to labor of prayer any one than the President of the Church and those of the Apostles met yesterday to select the men who had been sustained for the presidency of the Stake; and when the mind of the Lord has been made manifest to them they had selected the men He desired to have these positions. They had submitted the names to members of the quorum of the Apostles and they had approved of the names selected. The speaker hoped and believed the brethren would work together for the good of the people and that all the officers of the Priesthood would work together for the salvation of the souls of men.

President Joseph F. Smith said that the unanimity which had made itself manifest among the brethren who had selected these three Elders to preside over this Stake of Zion was a witness to him that they were the men the Lord wanted. He was also confident in this belief by seeing the congregation unanimously sustain these brethren. He hoped that not one of those who had voted to sustain these men would speak against them publicly or privately; but that all would unitedly and those in filling the responsible positions to which they had been called. The benefits and blessings to be derived from sustaining counsel and advice from the Priesthood were unanimously pointed out as a path of safety for the saints. The Lord also should be appealed for counsel, for it was not refused to ask counsel from the Priesthood or might it be able to receive it from the Lord. He did not speak of time for the purpose of curtailing any man's liberty, he considered it a part to seek the counsel of inspired men, and an evidence of wisdom and humility of soul, and the reverse to do so an evidence of something.

Elders Partridge, Jenn and Smoot addressed the congregation briefly, expressing a desire to endeavor to discharge the duties of the offices to which they had been called, and asked for the faith, prayers and assistance of the saints.

The three brethren selected for the presidency of the Stake were then put to a vote on the offices to which they had been appointed. The general and stake authorities were presented to the congregation and unanimously sustained. The choir sang a hymn.

Benediction was offered by President Geo. Q. Cannon.

TO PRESERVE THE WATER.

Sheep Herds to be Kept Out of Parley's Canon Hereafter.

City Water Master William Jeffs went into Parley's to protect the driving of sheep through the canyon, the water from which are used in the city for culinary purposes. While the sheep men in the packers have prohibited from driving their flocks through the lower part of this canyon, they have been in the habit of going up Emigration canyon as far as the Little Mountain, then crossing to Mountain Dell and into Parley's. The city has been cautious for some time of putting a stop to the practice in order to prevent the contamination of the water, and have now notified flocks by which they propose to do so. It is the intention to open the sheep herds driven by Emigration as usual, but instead of crossing over into Parley's, to have them enter Alexander canyon, which runs parallel with Parley's. By this arrangement it is thought the purity of Parley's canyon water will be preserved without working any hardship on the sheep men.

Robbed by Sure-Thing Men.

H. E. McBride, a traveler from Iowa, was robbed of $125.50 Saturday evening by a trio of sure-thing men. He was being shown the sights by one of the party, and among other places visited the lower on the hill. There they met the other two, who soon placed a hole and offered to see the game of the party would turn it. They agreed to bet $50 that the party would lose. Money was a roll of bills from his pocket to make the stakes, when one of the gang grabbed it from him. He attempted to regain his money, but after a desperate struggle he was overpowered and the men ran over the bank into the canyon below. He immediately called upon magistrate and reported the affair, giving a description of his assailants.

Information Wanted.

Edwin A. Jones, 40 Main street, Hartford, Conn., wishes to know the whereabouts or what has become of William Jones, who, with his wife and two children, started from Bridgeport, N. Y., about the year 1866, for Salt Lake City. He is believed to have been born about 1815, and consequently if living must be about 80 years old, more or less, was born and married in England. His wife's name was Hannah, to whom he had two children before coming to America.

The Deaths From Diphtheria.

HOLMES, Mineral Co., April 15, 1895.

Editor Deseret News:

Two children belonging to Nelson and Nellie Ensign have died with diphtheria: a girl aged three years died last Sunday, and this morning the boy died. They are from Deseret and had only just arrived in Utah. No efforts were taken to get the care of the remaining family they have all the children they have.

Respectfully, C. WOOD.

Days Made It Up.

The divorce proceedings of Maurice Jensen vs Signa Jensen, filed last week, have been dismissed on motion of the plaintiff's attorney. The plaintiff is an old man of 74, and brought the suit against his wife, who is 35 years of age, on the grounds of cruelty and overtime, alleging that he was married when he was married and that Mrs. Jensen had induced the greater part of his property. But she said she kept up her end in the matter with cheerfulness, cooked his "Danish" and other naughty homes, and took all sorts of work in and about sheep ranch on the head of the Sanpete. Her age is about one-half that of her husband. He has sons, brothers, married and settled the year with Lake Superior by a [illegible] with the care of sheep.

Verdict in Bessie Case.

In the case of Bessie Dorsey, charged with assault to murder, committed upon Thomas Young, in Tooele county, in January of this year, the jury in Judge Barber's court, before Saturday afternoon brought in an "acquittal" verdict, holding the defendant guilty of assault with a deadly weapon, with intent to do bodily injury. A. S. Armstrong, of counsel for the defense, appealed to the Court of the verdict, upon the ground that the jury had returned another verdict than the one, namely the defendant guilty of a lower offense, but the objection was overruled. Counsel then gave notice of motion for a new trial, which will be argued on May 27th.

Defendant was all well to go in his continuing bond of $1,000.
