IMPRESSIVE OBSEQUIES.

Burial of James C. Hunter, the Last of Ogden's Scofield Victims.

Funeral Sermon Preached by Elder Joseph Hall—Remains Interred in City Cemetery.

The last sad rites over the last of the Ogden victims of the Scofield disaster were performed over the remains of James C. Hunter. The remains of Mr. Hunter were found on Saturday morning and removed to the surface, where they were prepared and placed in a casket and shipped to Ogden, arriving at 10 o'clock on Saturday evening. The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with a large attendance of sorrowing relatives and friends. A very impressive and appropriate sermon was preached by Elder Joseph Hall. The hearse containing the body was followed by many vehicles to the city cemetery, where the remains were laid to rest in the family burial ground by the side of his father, Robert Hunter, who met his death in the same disaster. The grave was covered with beautiful flowers.

Mutual Conference — City Loses Its Suit in Logan vs Smart Case.

Special Correspondence.

Logan, Cache Co., May 13.—The quarterly conference of the Young Men's and Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement associations of Cache Stake has been in session for two days in this city, and closes with a meeting in the tabernacle this evening. Elders B. H. Roberts and J. G. Kimball of the Y. M. general board, and Sister Fox of the Y. L. general board are present, each of whom delivered interesting addresses to the young people. The meetings have been well attended, and a general good spirit prevails.

LOGAN CITY LOSES ITS SUIT.

The case of Logan City vs Thos. Smart et al was concluded in the First district court yesterday, Judge McCarty occupying the bench, Judge Hart being disqualified. A decision was given in favor of the defendants on the ground of no cause of action. By the decision Logan city loses title to six and a half acres of land in the Seventh ward, known as the "sandbank." About eighteen years ago the city purchased the tract but failed to have the deed recorded. The property was subsequently included in a mortgage on an adjoining tract, and was purchased on a foreclosure sale by Thomas Smart.

Increased Valuations in Carbon County Taxable Property.

Special Correspondence.

Price, Carbon Co., May 13.—The valuation of Carbon county, as compared with last year, shows an increase for this year of $97,287 over last year; this is the valuation as assessed by the county assessor. The State board of equalization will also increase the county valuation about $60,000 on railway mileage. This is based on last year's rate, as there are about twenty-four miles of railway more this year in the county than there were last year. It is thought that the total increase will be about $180,000 over last year. The following is a statement, showing the valuation of last year and this year by Precincts; the railroad property is not shown, as that is assessed by the State board of equalization:

OUR NEIGHBORS.

FRANKLIN, IDAHO.

Bountiful Crop Prospects in Cache Valley—Good Dairy Business.

Special Correspondence.

Franklin, Idaho, May 12.—Cache Valley today has the promise of a land flowing with milk and honey. Every day one sees wagon loads of immense milk cans being hauled to the creameries and skimming stations. Each town sends out from one to five tons of milk daily, and this of late years has been the cash income of our farmers. The checks received each month brings joy to hundreds of homes. The lands upon which our people used to pasture their cows have either become dry farms, or have been leased from the State to stock and sheep men. The question today is pasturage for the cows, and ere long (and even now) our farmers and ranchers must draw the line on wheat, and put part of their farms into grass, as there is much more money in dairy products than in grain.

This beautiful Cache Valley has never looked more lovely than at present during the thirty and six years your correspondent has lived here. From east to west, from north to south, and clear up the mountain sides, can be seen one beautiful carpet of green. Wheat, alfalfa, and all kinds of grain is growing luxuriantly, and the farmers are plowing and sowing yet. The abundance of rain without frost is without a parallel in our history. The orchards will be loaded with fruits of all kinds, and as our surplus hands are going to work on the railroads in Wyoming, and other places the great question will soon be asked, Where is the help coming from to garner this immense amount of the fruits of the orchard and field? Many of the large land owners are seriously considering this problem already.

On Thursday, I took a twenty-mile buggy ride in and around Richmond, up High Creek canyon, and on the hills for miles surrounding, down into the bottom lands, and as I stopped on the brow of the hill from which I got a view of nearly the whole valley, I was impressed with one of the grandest scenes of my life. If nothing happens our farmers must enlarge their wheat bins, barns, vegetable and fruit cellars, or much will be wasted.

Yesterday a small hurricane swept the valley from south to north, with heavy thunder and a great downpour of rain, and today and all last night the storm continues.

Every town I go to the wagon and machine companies have a string of wagons, carriages, buggies on sale. The tithing lots, meeting house square and the streets are filled with them. Two and three companies attack a town at one time. Old wagons and old buggies are taken in exchange, with the farmer's note for the balance. When the old vehicles cannot be sold to poorer men then the village blacksmith cobbles them up for still poorer men, and the balance for the iron that is in them. These time purchases are a great temptation—nothing to pay down, with any amount of time, and the maiden, mother and sons say, "Pa, how lovely," and thus the granger finds himself in the bondage of debt almost before he is aware of it. I rode with a gentleman the other day who told me he had a pocket full of notes. "Are you a collector?" I asked. "O, no; I have sold a car load of wheat for forty cents, losing $200 by keeping it for a raise." And thus the poor tiller of the soil is bled from Dan to Bearsheba.

The health of the people is unusually good for so much damp weather, and all are contented and happy at the bounti-

A GOOD COMPLEXION

Depends on Good Digestion.

This is almost an axiom although usually we are apt to think that cosmetics, face powders, lotions, fancy soaps, etc., are the secrets for securing a clear complexion. But all these are simply superficial assistants.

It is impossible to have a good complexion unless the digestive organs perform their work properly, unless the stomach by properly digesting the food taken into it furnishes an abundance of pure blood, a good complexion is impossible.

This is the reason so many ladies are using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they promptly cure any stomach trouble and they have found out that perfect digestion means a perfect complexion and one that does not require cosmetics and powders to enhance its beauty.

Many ladies diet themselves or deny themselves many articles of food solely in order to keep their complexion clear. When Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are used no such dieting is necessary, take these tablets and eat all the good, wholesome food you want and you need have no fear of indigestion nor the sallow, dull complexion which nine women out of ten have, solely because they are suffering from some form of indigestion.

Bear in mind that beauty proceeds from good health, good health results from perfect digestion and we have advanced the best argument to induce every man and woman to give this splendid remedy a trial.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be found in drug stores and costs but 50 cents per package.

If there is any derangement of the stomach or bowels they will remove it and the resultant effects are, good digestion, good health and a clear, bright complexion.

ful prospect before them; when congratulated on the prospect our Cache Stake people say, "Why, President Snow promised us this at our last November conference in Logan."

THE WEEK'S DIVORCE RECORD

Seven Suits for Separation Make Up the List.

Seven suits for legal separation made up the record of divorce cases filed in the Third district court last week. The last one filed was by William P. Hemphill who filed suit Saturday against his wife Mae B. Hemphill, praying for a dissolution of the marriage ties on the ground of desertion.

The complaint alleges that the marriage occurred at Fort Payne, De Kalb county, Alabama, on September 20, 1893, and that in May, 1898, the defendant, disregarding her vows and duties, deserted plaintiff and has since continued to live separate and apart from him.

At the time the suit was filed the defendant filed her voluntary appearance, and has twenty days in which to answer.

Judge Boyd is the defendant's counsel.

THE TOGA OF A SENATOR.

Most Public Men Prefer It to a Cabinet Portfolio.

GOVERNOR A STEPPING STONE

Many Members of the Upper House Were Formerly Governors of States.

Special Correspondence.

Washington, May 10.—There are nine senators who were formerly governors of the States they now represent. Usually the proportion is greater than this, as the governorship is often a stepping stone to the Senate. Two of the nine—Cullom, of Illinois, and Nelson, of Minnesota—were elected to the Senate while serving their second terms as governor. Two others—Shoup, of Idaho, and Warren, of Wyoming—were formerly governors of their Territories, holding the appointment from President Harrison. The other five are Perkins, of California; Davis, of Minnesota; Foraker, of Ohio; Tillman, of South Carolina, and Culberson, of Texas. While governors often come to the Senate, it is very seldom that they are elected to the House, probably for the reason that governors are considered higher than representatives. Men rarely retire from the Senate to be governors, while quite frequently a man will leave the House to become governor of his State. There were three cases of this kind in the last Congress. I remember that David B. Hill became a candidate for governor of New York while a senator, but that was when the nomination was forced upon him. He did not need to leave his seat in the Senate, as he was not elected governor.

SENATE AND CABINET.

As a general rule, men in public life prefer the Senate to the cabinet. Many senators in the past few years have declined offers of cabinet places not only because in leaving the Senate they can count on but four years as a cabinet officer, but a senatorial career is almost sure to be much longer. President McKinley took but one man from the Senate for his cabinet—John Sherman of Ohio, who was made secretary of state—although others were offered cabinet places. President Cleveland took three men from the Senate for his first cabinet. Bayard of Delaware becoming secretary of state, Lamar of Mississippi secretary of the interior and Garland of Arkansas attorney general. President Harrison did not take any men from the Senate for his cabinet, although two ex-senators and two ex-secretaries as well, Blaine and Windom, served a portion of the four years' term. During his second term President Cleveland too one man, Carlisle, from the Senate to be his secretary of the treasury. It was well known among Mr. Carlisle's personal friends that he disliked very much to leave the Senate, where he seemed destined to continue a brilliant career, which he had made in the House, but he considered that a call from the President made it his duty to obey.

PARTY CONSIDERATIONS GOVERN

It is probable that party policies and party expediency have a great deal to do with the failure to select senators for cabinet positions. Besides the desire of most men to remain in the Senate, it sometimes happens that a President might cripple his party in drawing too heavily, or at all, upon it for cabinet material. When President Harrison formed his cabinet in 1889, the party strength was nearly equal in the Senate, and it was not considered wise to take the chances of reducing the majority by appointing a senator whose successor might be of the opposition party. Such considerations prevented the selection of some senators for President McKinley's cabinet. But, more than that, party leaders have of late years been of the opinion that it is not always best to remove from either Senate or House the leading men to serve in the cabinet, especially as strong men in both houses are always in demand. When Mr. Sherman went from the Senate to Mr. McKinley's cabinet, there was a perfect understanding that Mr. Hanna would be appointed and would, if his party was successful, be elected to succeed himself.

SENATE THE BEST.

No career in the House, in the cabinet or in a governor's chair can equal that possible in the Senate. No man achieves great prominence and popularity as governor that he does not naturally go into the Senate if public life continues to be alluring. No man who makes a career in the House but seeks to continue it in the Senate. The reasons are numerous, but among the more important are that the United States Senate is considered the highest lawmaking body in the world and the terms are six years, with good prospects of re-election under normal conditions. There is a greater opportunity in the Senate. The freedom of debate and the lack of restrictions as to personal inclinations give a senator far greater opportunities than he could possibly have in the House. More than this, every senator is upon an equal plane with other senators. Length of service and ability alone count. In the House the Speaker is paramount. Even the most mild and modest man must become the great power in the House when once in the Speaker's chair, and no member, no matter how brilliant and able, no matter how long his service, but must be controlled by that great power which the House places in the hands of the Speaker. And so it is with the cabinet. No matter who or what the man may be, no matter how able or accomplished, as a cabinet officer he is subordinate to the President.

RIO GRANDES WIN FROM SHORT LINES

The Finest Game of the Season Played Saturday.

RISLEY'S SUPERB BATTING.

In the Tenth Inning, When the Score Was One Against Him, He Brings Two In.

The fastest, prettiest and closest game of ball yet played in the present series, was witnessed by a jolly crowd at Walker's field Saturday afternoon.

The Rio Grandes drew nearer to the goal of the league championship by defeating their brothers of the tie and rail, the Short Lines.

Throughout it was a contest that elicited from the spectators both thunderous applause and breathless silence, the former when Dudley Risley, the Rio Grande Western's pitcher, saved his team from defeat by his superb batting in the last half of the tenth, and the intense, almost painful silence, when he first took the bat with almost certain defeat staring him in the face.

In this innings it was 9 to 8 against the Rios and there were two men out and two on bases. The Short Line enthusiasts were sure the standing of the clubs would undergo a marked change. Kemmerer, the Short Line's new pitcher, threw two over the plate with Risley at the bat and then the extreme test came. But Risley saved the day. He struck the sphere solid and fair and the next instant it was sailing away out near the fence. Martin and Meinicke, on bases, came in and Risley skipped merrily around to third.

The R. G. W's. were frantic with joy. Even the defeated men congratulated the winners and the best of feeling prevailed.

The game was replete with good plays and the Short Lines surprised even their most intimate friends by their splendid team work.

Following is the score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
R. G. W..	0	0	0	2	0	2	4	0	0	2	—10
O. S. L..	2	0	0	0	4	0	0	0	2	1	— 9

Three base hits, Risley; two base hits, McFarland, Taylor. Struck out, by Pendergraft, 3; by Kemmerer, 1. Bases on balls, off Pendergraft, 6; off Kemmerer, 4. Hit with pitched ball, by Pendergraft, 2; by Kemmerer, 2. Double plays, Pendergraft to Sears, Shannon to Seare; Margetts (unassisted); Pendergraft to Meinicke to Shannon. Sacrifice hit, Burns. Stolen bases, Donovan, Martin, Risley (2), Seare, Waller. Umpire, Charles Griffin. Attendance, 458. Time of game, 2.10.

SHORT LINES AGAIN DEFEATED

The Rio Grandes Shut Them Out Completely Yesterday.

The Rio Grandes and the Short Lines met again on the diamond yesterday and the result of the game is even more discouraging to the latter than Saturday's contest. There is reason for it, too, for the Rios made it a complete shut-out. The score was 3 to 0, and is the result of the Sort Lines errors as much as the other team's swift playing. The Short Liners' came nearer scoring in the seventh than at any other time. Kimmerer hit for a couple of bases, but Risley allowed no more. The score follows:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
O. S. L..	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—0

*Last half of ninth inning not played by R. G. W.

Two-base hits, Burns 2, Hopkins 1, Kimmerer 2. Bases on balls, off Kidder 5; off Risley 0. Hit with pitched ball, by Risley 1, by Kidder 1. Struck out, by Kidder 7; by Risley 3. Sacrifice hits, Risley 2. Stolen bases, Hopkins, Martin, Pendergraft and Donovan.

Umpire—Charles H. Griffin.

RIOS STILL LEAD.

Are Gradually Establishing Their Right to the Title of "Invincibles."

STANDING OF THE CLUBS.

Rio Grandes Western	5	1	.833
Ogden	1	1	.500
Pocatello	2	2	.500
Oregon Short Line	0	4	.000

As the above table shows the Rio Grandes still claim the lead in the Utah-Idaho State league games. So far the team has proved itself invincible to every one played with except the Ogdens, who evened matters by wresting a victory from Dan Hickey's lads. The Short Lines have been a little unfortunate, but they do not feel at all discouraged, for there are more days than one and they are confident of crawling up the list in a decisive manner in the future.

Utah and Nevada to Contest on the 26th.

On the 26th of the present month the University track team will meet the University of Nevada team in battle array. Today the home lads, under the able direction of Prof. J. A. Augustus, began practicing for the coming contest.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Hughey's work on Saturday was very uneven.

Bobby Burns made the hit that brought the first tie. 2 to 2.

Saturday's game looked like a Short Line victory till almost the last minute.

The coaching of the Short Lines' was not of the best, and one or two men perished by being urged too far.

Griffin had some close places to render decisions in on Saturday, but his coolness, nerve and experience were equal to it every time.

The enthusiasm of the crowd on Saturday, when the score tied itself in the ninth innings, burst beyond all bounds.

Margetts, during Saturday's game, was "Joshed" considerably by the crowd for his poses, but his great double play at first, unassisted, put him back into favor.
