PROVO.

A Tax Muddle Impending.—Musical Matters.—A Neighbor's Quarrel.

From the Regular Correspondent.

PROVO, March 30.—In past years the county assessor has called upon individuals and made his assessments, each individual giving the amount of his reality and property. But this system had a serious disadvantage. Property owners did not give in the full amount of their property, and in order to lifted the assessor as to the amount of real estate they owned, the deeds to their property were not recorded, and thus many acres of valuable land have escaped taxation. But this year, the new system has been adopted in the county. The county has been platted, and every acre of land owned will be taxed. But here a new difficulty arises. Where deeds have not been recorded the assessor is experiencing in many cases great difficulty in ascertaining who is the owner of the property. In some cases he has been unable to obtain the desired information, and the collector will probably be under the necessity of advertising the sale of such property for the payment of taxes as the property of John Doe or some other fictitious personage. And as the deeds to the property have never been on the county record, when it is redeemed, if it is redeemed, serious complications of ownership may grow out of it.

Last summer on each Saturday night, our musicians sent beautiful strains of music forth from the bandstand on the court house square; and the present balmy weather causes citizens to query whether or no a similar blissful state of affairs will exist this season.

James A. Bean was yesterday fined $10 by Justice Alexander for assaulting John D. Dixon. The assault was not an aggressive one, and Mr. Bean made the complaint himself. It grew out of a dispute between the two in relation to some land matters in which Bean insinuated that Dixon was not truthful and Dixon suggested that Bean was a prevaricator.

HARDING'S OFFENSE.—SANTAQUIN CO-OP BURGLARIZED.—OTHER SENSATIONS.

Regular News Correspondence.

PROVO, March 31.—The arrest of Thomas Harding on the charge of petit larceny created quite a sensation in this city. He has been in the employ of the East Co-op for some time, and until lately has been a trusted employe. The fact of his making a $775 deposit to his daughter's bank savings account and the building of a new house, in addition to keeping his family, first aroused suspicion, his salary being but $35 per month. When he was searched, over $200 in gold and several dollars in silver were found in his pockets. Among the silver coins were found two dollar pieces which the bookkeeper had marked. A second charge has been preferred against him—that of embezzlement. Of course one or the other of the charges will necessarily have to be dismissed. His hearing on the petit larceny case has been set for Monday next, and on the embezzlement case for Friday, April 7th. In addition to these cases, a civil suit for the recovery of $1000, the amount supposed to have been embezzled, has been commenced. Harding deposited $100 for his appearance in the petit larceny case and gave $250 bonds in the embezzlement case.

Burglars, supposed to be tramps, entered the Santaquin co-op store on Wednesday night and stole some jewelry and footwear. Superintendent Openshaw telegraphed for Sheriff Fowler, and that official is now making investigations.

OGDEN.

The Fire Fiend Still Working at Ogden.—Shot at His Brother-in-law.—Reform School Candidates.

Yesterday afternoon the Central hotel was the scene of a somewhat sensational but bloodless shooting affair, in which Frank L. Gateman and James M. Lewis were principals. Just three months ago Frank L. Gateman came to Ogden from San Francisco. He secured employment for a time perhaps as one of the local papers, but about the middle of January he found himself out of a job. On or about February 1st he went to live on the Lewis farm in Wilson's lane, and wooed and won Miss Ada Lewis, an adopted daughter of Zachariah Lewis. This arrangement evidently did not suit James M. Lewis, brother of the girl, but yesterday morning the couple obtained a license, were married and took quarters at the Central hotel. They were not desirous of seeing visitors and so informed the clerk. About 2.30 o'clock James M. Lewis entered the hotel and enquired which room was occupied by Bateman. While the clerk's attention was attracted elsewhere, Lewis went upstairs and, knocking at the door occupied by the young couple demanded the return of his mother's photograph. He was informed by Mrs. Bateman that she did not have it and in reply called the girl a liar. Bateman opened the door, collared Lewis and endeavored to force him down stairs, but was unable to do so. Suddenly Bateman drew a thirty-eight caliber revolver and fired three shots. The balls all lodged in the wall near the ceiling. Lewis rushed down stairs and called for an officer. Marshal Metcalf responded and placed Bateman under arrest. A preliminary examination was had before Judge Cahoon in the police court and the young man was held in $500 on the charge of assault with the intent to commit murder. Later in the day he was released on his own recognizance.

Fire this morning partially destroyed a stable building at the rear of the Grand opera house, entailing a loss of between $500 and $600. The alarm was turned in about 1:45 o'clock and the department had two lines of hose laid to the scene of the fire. The flames were just issuing from the roof at the back and had not reached the front end of the building, but the chief contented himself with ordering his men to fight from the ground. Meanwhile the fire was getting good headway and the entire building was threatened. At last one of the firemen pulled a ladder from the chemical and placed it against the north wall, where a door opened into the loft. Hilliard saw his mistake and ordered his men with a line of hose into the door. The work done there had the desired effect and within twenty minutes the fire was out. Considerable anxiety was felt for one of the men who has usually slept in the barn as he could not be found, but a bystander volunteered the information that he had gone to Salt Lake. The origin of the fire was evidently incendiary.

The only matter under discussion last night at the meeting of the board of education was the Grant avenue school house settlement, and before the board had completed its deliberations the matter had been finally settled. For several meetings Mr. Pettingill, of the Fourth ward, has not been present at the board meetings, the cause being, it is said, his removal to Salt Lake. Should he fail to attend for a much greater length of time it will become the duty of the board to declare a vacancy and proceed to fill it.

Confined in the city jail last night were two little girls, Anna Peterson, aged 12, and Rose Peterson, aged 10, who were late morning taken before Judge Miner for commitment to the Reform school. They are both 8i candidates. For many months they have been leading an extremely wild life and entirely without their parents' control.

An alarm of fire was sent in from box 14, corner of Twenty-seventh and Washington, last night about 7 o'clock. The fire was located in the residence of James Hayes, driver of the hose wagon of the Central station, between Grant and Washington avenues, and before extinguished did about $300 damage.

How Much will you Risk for One Cent?

THE difference in price between the PUTNAM NAIL and cheaper brands amounts to one cent per pound, that's all.

Are you willing to use the cheaper article and expected nails, with all their annoyances, simply to save a cent per pound?

The success of Putnam Nails has led some manufacturers to put out a cheap article, on which after the point is sharpened and the head is stamped into the nail, it is extremely liable to split, and ruin a valuable horse. Are you willing to risk your valuable horse? Not if you know yourself, and know what you want. Ask for the Line on Clinch Nails, and insist on having them. Any good dealer will supply them if you insist, but you should not take your horse.

Use the Putnam Nail.

It is Blue-Pointed from the best Russian iron rods, which is a welding heat, by the action of Blacksmiths shears, and then Diamond-Pointed.

Thus, the old hand process is followed, which was full forging nails under hammers, and hammer cooling them by the sheer cold, without any slipping or shearing whatever.

ASK FOR THE NAIL CANNOT SPLIT.

Sent for sample free if you send name for such nails at once.

The stock will stay on hand. Good your regular line will be promptly forwarded.
