DESERET EVENING NEWS.

Friday, - - February 17, 1893.

FRAGMENTS.

THE City Council will hold an adjourned meeting this evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

THE business of the Probate court this morning consisted only in the making of a few time orders.

DR. UPTON will deliver an interesting lecture before the students of the Utah University tonight, entitled, "Literary Forgeries."

THE funeral of the late Mrs. Angelina Hyde, wife of William Hyde, will be held at Nephi, Juab county, tomorrow (Saturday) at 1 o'clock p.m.

COUNTY CLERK MAYOR has granted marriage licenses to Fred Elmer and Alma Anderson of Salt Lake; Samuel D. Walker and Ella Arnold of Salt Lake.

AN old lady recently slipped and fell on the sidewalk near the News office and was brought into the business office to rest for a short time. On going away she left a fur cape, which she can recover by calling.

THE courtesy of the ladies of the First Congregational church, per Mrs. Soule Root, in sending tickets to the Nye-Burbank entertainment in the theatre this evening, is hereby acknowledged. The performance is under their auspices.

THE Students' Society of the Latter-day Saints' college will hold its regular session this evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Instructor W. H. Chamberlin will deliver an experimental lecture on the subject of electricity. The public are invited.

DAVID TATUM, the well known Quaker evangelist who comes in the Territory exclusively recommended by Miss Willard and other most temperance advocates, will lecture in the Assembly Hall, beginning at half o'clock tonight. All are invited.

VERY BOLD WORK.

The Residence of a Newly Wedded Couple Cleared Out By Thieves.

STOLE EVERYTHING IN SIGHT.

The Bride's Wardrobe, Bedroom Suite, Stove, Table, Curtains, Shades, Fixtures, all Carried Off.

A few days ago a well known young couple of this city went to Logan, where they were married. Prior to going, however, the groom fitted up a neat and comfortable little home over Jordan near the Highland Park addition. A good sized larder was also filled with flour, potatoes, meat, coffee, tea, sugar, preserves and canned fruits. All the necessaries to commence life under the most favorable circumstances had been provided and the contracting parties were exceedingly happy. But judge their astonishment, disappointment and loss on their return. On opening the doors of their future home a sight for which they were wholly unprepared met their gaze. A brand new 450 pound stove was missing from the kitchen, everything in the shape of edibles had disappeared, the cupboard had been laid bare, a large oak dining room table and chairs were gone, curtains, window shades and fixtures had been torn down and conveyed to parts unknown an entire oak bed room suite had been taken from the premises and the bride's wardrobe had been completely cleared. Not so much as a dry handkerchief remained. Not content with robbing the house the thieves went like wolves and killed a fine young cow, stripped off her hide, leaving that with the hoofs, horns and entrails but taking the carcass with them. Disconsolate and mystified the newly wedded couple came back to the city compelled to accept the welcome hospitality of their relatives and friends. The groom is Thomas H. Turner, an employe of Z. C. M. I., and the bride, Miss Pauline Brown, of the Seventeenth ward.

It is said that the matter will be called to the attention of the police at once and their aid asked to bring the bold perpetrators of the deed to justice. It is further reported that as yet no clue has been obtained that is likely to lead to the apprehension of the guilty parties. The tracks of a couple of wagons were followed through the mud to the county road but there they were lost trace of. The work was evidently done during the night as people living in the immediate vicinity saw nothing, there to excite their suspicion.

Injunction Suit.

Martha Ann Coombs vs. the Salt Lake and Fort Douglas Railway Company (J. A. Williams for plaintiff, Le Grand Young for the defendant). This case was taken up this afternoon. It is an injunction suit and the sum of $5,000, or thereabouts, is claimed as damages.

Police Pointers.

Robert McDonald, the leader of a gang of juvenile toughs, Joe Rosenthal and M. Goodman, both of whom are well known to the police, are in custody on a charge of petit larceny.

Alma and Marion Watts are registered on the trial docket of the Police court, charged with depositing night soil on the streets.

Fred Mack and Fred Brocco were arraigned before Justice Iles on a charge of demolishing a Chinaman's window. The case was dismissed.

Mike Boyle was to be tried for trespass late this afternoon.

F. D. Colly plead not guilty to vagrancy.

W. S. Field will be called upon to plead to the offense of fighting.

Call For Public Meeting.

At a preliminary meeting of real dents and property owners of North Salt Lake City and vicinity (north of South Temple street), held last evening, it was unanimously decided to call a public meeting of all persons interested in securing manufactures and other improvements in that section, to be held at the Business Men's Association rooms, Progress building, at 4 o'clock p.m. on Saturday, February 18th.

The committee desire to complete the proposition made to the citizens' committee in regard to the copper smelter; also to perfect the permanent organization of the North Salt Lake association. Residents of that locality are requested to be present and bring other friends.

That Embezzlement Case.

The trial of Frank Miller, charged with embezzlement, was resumed in Judge Zane's court this afternoon, and the cross-examination of the defendant began.

When the court reassembled Mr. Stephens took Miller in hand. He adhered quite closely to his testimony in general, but now and again winced under the assistant district attorney's heavy fire, admitting that he had once been convicted of murder in Colorado, but received a pardon.

The arguments followed, and the case is expected to go to the jury about 4:30.

WITHIN OUR GATES.

J. T. McLean, a prominent citizen of Denver; G. W. Sanderson and wife of Aspen, Col.; A. L. Bogues, from Mexico; and H. Smith, a commercial traveler from Cincinnati, have their names upon the register of the Culleton hotel and are taking invigorating draughts of our matchless atmosphere.

***

Samuel LePage Baldwin, who sits upon the tripod and agitates the quill of the Park City Record, came down last evening and is surveying the beauties of nature hereabout from a window of the Templeton.

***

David H. Tewksbury, attorney general for Summit county, took a run down this way and was last seen looking for a Chacon to ferry him across the Second South street Styx.

***

The train from Provo this morning brought in Bill Nye and A. P. Burbank, who will hold a reception at the theatre this evening. Investigation shows that those who have got to thinking that Bill's hair is red are mistaken; it is not that color—nor any other. Equally baseless is the report that the first thing he does on reaching a new town is to go in search of goose quills and test the extent of their confidence in him by tickling their blind legs. He is not quite as funny in real life as on paper, but is funny enough for most purposes.

CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—In the Senate the amendment to the sundry civil bill retaining the laws for the supervision of federal elections was agreed to—27 to 25. The Senate then went into executive session. When the doors closed, the committee on foreign affairs reported the Hawaiian treaty and recommended its passage. It was placed on the executive calendar where it can be reached any time.

Sherman offered his bond issue amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill, and a point of order was made by Stewart. Vice-President Morton decided that it was in an appropriation to carry out the existing law, limiting the authority of the secretary of the treasury under the existing law. It did not in his opinion, propose new legislation. He therefore held it in order. Appeal against the ruling was taken by Stewart and the appeal on motion of Hoar laid on the table. Yeas, 37; nays, 28. The amendment was decided to be in order.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—In the House after one of two little bills the consideration of the pension appropriation bill was resumed.

The pension appropriation bill was passed, and the House is now considering the postoffice appropriation bill.

DEATHS.

HOWELL.—At Glenwood, Piute county, Utah, February 4, 1893, to Ann Tom, relict of Powell Howell, deceased, was born April 4, 1815, at Hennigg, Hampshire, England; was baptized in May, 1840, in Tipton, Staffordshire, and arrived in Utah in 1841; united in tabernacle in 1846, and was among those who had to leave their homes on account of the Indian troubles in 1865. He returned to Glenwood in 1874. He was a devoted Latter-day Saint, and always an active worker in the cause of truth. The deceased was for several years subsistor to the Bishop of Glenwood, and for several years assistant to the organist of the Sunday school, with whom he was held at the time of his death. He leaves a widow, five children, forty grandchildren and forty-one great grandchildren to mourn his death.

LATEST FROM HONOLULU.

What Secretary Foster Has to Say about the Issue of Bonds.

TOPEKA, KAS., Feb. 17.—All indications point to the peaceable settlement of the pending political war. Both sides continued to consider the amended compromise proposition throughout the night. A conference was held between the parties after 2 o'clock this morning and it is believed an agreement was arrived at, though all parties to it are pledged to secrecy. From another source it is learned that the governor has accepted the compromise in practically the form submitted by the Republicans yesterday afternoon. All show of force is to be withdrawn and everything to remain in status quo till the courts decide the habeas corpus cases to be brought through the arrest of the clerks of both houses, to test the question which house is the legal one.

ALMOST A CONFLICT.

Snow fell to a depth of a foot, making it very uncomfortable for the soldiers during the night. This morning the guards are doubled around the capitol; all passes issued yesterday were revoked; on the ground that the Republicans had broken faith by smuggling a lot of deputies into the hall, and the governor took the matter of issuing passes into his own hands. The guards refused to permit baskets with provisions to be taken into the capitol.

The Republican house passed an order appointing a committee to get provisions. When they came to the guard line the soldiers presented bayonets, but they were thrust aside and the committee passed in followed by a long file of deputy sheriffs. Lieutenant Patty in charge of the guard pounced on a boy in the line and began choking him, when he was felled to the ground with a club. A shooting affrays was narrowly averted as a result.

A company of militia arriving this morning was sworn in as peace officers by the sheriff, who will pursue the same course with later arrivals.

THE GOVERNOR ENCOURAGED.

Governor Lewelling has received telegrams tendering encouragement and assistance, Pittsburg, Kansas, offers 1000 men and Coffeyville a like number, and Smith Center 200. Senator Peffer and John Davis telegraph from Washington: "Guard state society; storm the rebels out."

COMPROMISE.

The plan of compromise is adopted by all parties and the Populists have engaged quarters outside the capitol in which to meet.

The district court this morning heard and took under advisement the injunction suit brought by the Republicans to restrain the auditor from paying the salaries of the Populist members under the Populist appropriation bill.

The Gunn habeas corpus case before the supreme court was postponed by mutual consent till tomorrow.

A [illegible] to the agreement was sent to the Republican house by the governor this morning and adopted [illegible]. It simply remains to be ratified by the Populist house. It provides for the passage of a joint resolution call by the Republicans, the Populists to meet elsewhere and the sheriff to dismiss the deputies.

A Will Broken.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 17.—The jury in the case of the contest of the will of the late United States Senator Joseph E. McDonald, in which it was charged that the signature to the will was forged, this morning returned a verdict for the plaintiff. This breaks the will.

Arrested on Twelve Indictments.

HELENA, Mont., Feb. 17.—H. C. Yager, grand Recorder of the A. O. U. W., has been arrested on twelve indictments for malfeasance and embezzlement as a result of an investigation. The examination to determine his sanity resulted in a disagreement of the jury. He has been deposed from the assistant quartermaster generalship department of the Montana G.A.R.

A BIG BLAZE.

Peking Has a Conflagration with Loss of Lives.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—The Belgic brings news that according to a Yokohama paper a great fire occurred on January 7th, in which ten thousand houses were turned and many lives lost.

THE MONEY CONGRESS.

It Will Probably Not Re-Assemble in May.

ROME, Feb. 17.—The minister of finance says the Brussels monetary conference will probably not re-assemble in May, as the European governments are convinced that nothing would come of it.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Feb. 17.—It is rumored that Col. Attila Cox has been offered and has accepted the commissionership of internal revenue under Cleveland.

NEWS FROM HONOLULU.

Martial Law Removed and Everything Quiet.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—The steamship Belgic from Hong Kong and Yokohama arrived this morning. She touched at Honolulu February 10th, leaving a Chinaman who came down with smallpox soon after leaving Yokohama. As the vessel lacked a clean bill of health from Honolulu, she was sent to quarantine and the full extent of her news from Hawaii can not be known till after the vessel is fumigated. It is learned, however, that everything was quiet in the island, the provisional government daily gaining confidence and the approval of all classes, and the feeling is so much improved that the state of martial law was removed on the 5th, though a detachment of marines from the steamer Boston is still quartered on shore. Everybody is anxiously awaiting the action of the United States and willing to abide the decision. The United States warship Mohican was steaming into the harbor of Honolulu as the Belgic left. The steamer Mariposa intended to leave Honolulu four hours after the Belgic departed and is expected here today.

Sudden Change of Mind.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—A special from Washington says it is learned on high authority that President Harrison has reconsidered his determination not to allow the sale of bonds to make good the gold deficiency. Before leaving the city on Wednesday the President authorized Secretary Foster to offer bonds for sale whenever in his judgment such action is absolutely necessary to maintain the government's gold reserve. This sudden change of mind on the part of the President is wholly unexpected and not to be attributed to any outside influence brought to bear upon him.

THE KIME CASE.

A Sensation Looked for in the Wyoming Inquest.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—A special from Cheyenne: A sensation is promised in the report of the senate committee in the Kime investigation. The charge is that this member, a Democrat, was poisoned by L. Kahn, another member, in the interest of A. L. Neve, candidate for the United States Senate. Kime was very ill after drinking some liquor given to him by Kahn. One witness testified that he was offered $150 by Kahn to get Kime out of town. One physician says there was a drug in the whisky. Kahn introduced evidence in his defense, questioning the veracity of one deponent and disputing the doctor. It is possible that Kahn will be expelled from the senate.

FOSTER'S QUESTIONS.

The Secretary of the Treasury Makes a Statement.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Secretary Foster states today he will preserve the $100,000,000 gold reserve at all hazards. How, he could not say, but he stated with emphasis that if it were necessary to issue bonds to do it, he would go even to that extreme. At present the gold is more than $9,000,000. He felt almost certain that he could reach the end of his term without having to issue bonds. "Even to issue bonds, say $50,000,000," said the secretary, "would not necessarily mean an increase in gold to that extent. The law provides that bonds must be paid for in coin. Silver is coin. What is there to prevent silver or its equivalent being offered for bonds? Nothing. Could I refuse to issue 5s, if even bonds were sold, would that relieve the situation? No, unless an arrangement based on honor between the secretary of the treasury and the purchaser were made, and then I would be subject to all sorts of criticisms. The whole subject is surrounded by vexations. You may say, however, that the gold reserve will be kept intact, come what may."

Hurricane in Samoa.

APIA, Samoa, Jan. 28.—A hurricane came on us that which destroyed the foreign warships in the harbor two years ago, lasting sixty hours, swept over the Island Nolu, on Dec. 10th and 11th. Many native and European houses were destroyed. All bread fruit trees were blown down and the natives are without food.

The North Dakota Struggle.

BISMARK, N. D., Feb. 17.—Three ballots for Senator: Miller, Rep., 41 on the last; 47 are necessary to elect.

Newlon's Vote.

HELENA, Mont., Feb. 17.—The senatorial vote: Mantle 36; Clark 23; Dixon 12. Others scattering.

O'Donnell Testifies.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 17.—Hugh O'Donnell was on the stand in his own defense this morning. He said he was correspondent at Homestead of the Tri-State Bureau and that he was there on the side of peace; he denies that he had any military organization.

Receiver Appointed.

ABERDEEN, S. D., Feb. 17.—A receiver has been appointed for the store of the National Union company, South Dakota. This is the company which has been doing co-operative business for the Farmers Alliance in the west. Some of the stores will continue business for the present. The losses, it is learned, will foot up $100,000.

Indians Driven to Desperation.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 17.—A Spokane, Washington, special: The severity of the winter in Priest River valley, Idaho, has driven the Indians to desperation. They raided Jim Reynolds' ranch, and drove off the cattle. Seven ranchers followed. In the fight, one Indian was killed, and two Indians and two whites were wounded.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

ENGLISH KNIGHTHOOD.

Titles Bestowed by Lavishly Than It Was Fifteen Into Elsewhere.

Knighthood confers no political privileges and it is not hereditary, and consequently it seems to have become an admitted principle that anybody and everybody has a prima facie claim to it. In the last twenty years many more than a thousand knights have been dubbed, and the last batch of persons to receive the royal accolade and the right of prefixing "Sir" to their names consisted mainly of professional musicians of by no means a high class, among them the music master formerly at Eton college, now of the Guildhall, the leader of the queen's private band and an organist at Windsor.

Against these gentlemen personally we have nothing whatever to say. In every moral and social quality we have no doubt they are all that can be desired, and that so far their admission into the order to which they now belong was perfectly justified. But that businessmen, organists and teachers of music are proper persons to be knighted can hardly be maintained on the assumption that knighthood is to continue to be regarded as the appropriate reward of public services in whatever capacity they may be rendered. More especially is this obvious in relation to the art with which they themselves are concerned, for assuredly if knighthood is a sufficient recognition of the eminence of Sir Arthur Sullivan and Sir Charles Halle it is infinitely more than a sufficient recognition of the eminence of Mr. Parratt, Dr. Bridge and Mr. Cusins.

It is true that simple knighthood, as distinguished from Knight commandership of the Bath, St. Michael and St. George and the Star of India, to say nothing of the Garter, the Thistle and St. Patrick, is not and can scarcely be expected to be held in any great veneration. Cousins has made it imperative on the sovereign to confer it on a number of persons whose social status is altogether different from that of those who are admitted to the royal orders. But however prominently enjoyed, the honor, such as it is, is invariably shared by the judges of the land and the law officers of the crown, and even city sheriffs and provincial mayors have some reason to complain when its value is still further depreciated. No doubt the dispute of knighthood is no new thing. Heralds are accustomed to date the commencement from the reign of James I, who created his knights in six weeks, and that of his son, Charles I, who knighted among others Sir Jeffrey Hudson, the queen's dwarf. But it reached a climax under George IV, who discovered in the mere threat of administering the royal accolade an effectual protection against the presentation of unwelcome addresses, and under William IV, who knighted everybody who would allow him to do so—matters in this respect were not much mended.

In the earlier years of the queen's reign, however, when the counsels of the lamented prince consort were in the ascendant, knighthood was very sparingly conferred, and its position as a social distinction was proportionately raised. But it is not too much to say that of late it has been distributed with so little circumspection that it has become almost valueless for the purpose for which it is supposed and ought to exist.—London World.

The Liberty Cap.

When the Romans manumitted a slave his head was adorned with a small red cloth cap. As soon as this was done he was known as a libertinus, or freedman, and his name was registered among others of the city's "tribes." In the year 283, when Saturnius invaded the capital, he hoisted a cap on the point of his spear, to indicate that all slaves who rallied around this standard should be free. This was the origin of the liberty cap still used in art as a symbol.—St. Louis Republic.
