SILVER GOES DOWN!

House Concurs in Senate Amendments to the Bill,

AND THE PRESIDENT SIGNS IT.

He Only Kept the Bill a Moment—House Vote in Detail.—Everything Rushed!

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Hard, having declined the offer of Wilson to allow one, two or three hours' debate after the previous motion, and having refused to enter into any agreement whatever that did not leave the repeal bill open for general debate and amendment, Wilson demanded the previous question.

Bryan, (Neb.) on behalf of the silver men, at once moved to adjourn and demanded a division. The motion was defeated 39 to 108.

The silver men then moved for a recess until 5 p. m.—This was also defeated on a division. The filibustering was continued out with no roll call having been secured. The silver men made an informal attempt to that direction, but on a division 29 demanded the yeas and nays, while 116 were against the motion, and it was lost.

After this they again resorted to alternate dilatory motions for adjournment and recess.

General Catchings, of the committee on rules, says cloture will be brought in soon if necessary. The silver men can keep up filibustering indefinitely if the resolution is voted right in.

Speaker Crisp took advantage of the momentary lull to cut a motion for the previous question which was declared carried. Bryan of Nebraska was demanding the attention of the speaker but was not seen. It was all done so quickly that the silver men did not seem to know what had happened. The result was greeted with loud applause.

Hendrick (Tenn.) moved to adjourn but the speaker said he had recognized Wilson and he could not be taken off the floor. Wilson asked Bland to give him fifteen minutes in which his side was entitled and Bland began an address, but had hardly gotten started when dilatory motions would be continued in close succession of the previous question which would be resorted to on the main proposition.

Bland created a sensation by declaring that the extra session and this whole legislation had been thrust upon the people as a clock jobbing speculation.

Bryan (Neb.) followed Bland.

Tracy (New York) talked two minutes and Wilson closed the debate at 2 p. m., and demanded a vote.

Bland moved to refer to the committee on ways and means, with instructions to report a law which would provide for free coinage at 16 to 1.

The yeas and nays were ordered and the motion defeated, 109 to 193.

When Bryan's time has expired Pence, Colorado, moved that he be given ten minutes more.

Outhwaite, Ohio, objected and Wheeler, Alabama, followed, exhausting the silver men's time, but Wilson yielded five minutes to Springer, Illinois and then five to Livingston, Georgia, then five to Reed, Maine. Reed said the country generally was holed off when the Democratic party disappointed them. This was a serious experiment which must be tried. Congress has at last come to duty, but delay has robbed the measure of most of its good. He paralyzed admiration and astonishment, despite the passage of the bill, and referred to the impending changes in the tariff as the cause.

Bryan announced that anti-repeal men would no longer filibuster, as there were too few silver men ready to join in such proceedings. He left to the future to determine who were right on this great public question. He called on American people to send to the next Congress representatives enough to solve the financial question independently of the influence or interference of foreign governments.

Then the roll call began on concurrence in the Senate amendment and final passage of the bill.

The great financial fight of the extra session of Congress is over. At 7:50 the House by a vote of 191 to 94 concurred in the Senate amendments and the repeal bill now goes to the President for his signature.

HE WANTS TO KNOW.

At President Cleveland's request a complete roster of the vote on the repeal bill has been prepared and sent to him.

8:30 p. m.—The committee on enrolled bills has submitted the silver bill, and Towles, chief clerk, immediately took it to the Senate.

QUICKLY HANDLED IN THE SENATE.

The Senate received a communication at 8:45 p. m. from the House announcing that that body had concurred in the Senate amendments to the repeal bill. Vice President Stevenson at once affixed his signature, together with that of Speaker Crisp and announced it to the Senate, and the bill at 8 p. m. was delivered in the chamber of the House committee on enrolled bills and at once sent to the President for his signature.

It is expected the bill will be officially approved by the President before 8 p. m.

IT IS SIGNED.

At 8:30 p. m. the repeal bill was handed to President Cleveland. There were present with him Secretary Carlisle, Attorney General Olney and Private Secretary Thurber. The President read the bill aloud and at 8:33 signed it.

THE VOTE.

The detailed vote on concurrence in the Senate amendments and final passage of the repeal bill by the House was as follows:

A Tremendous Iowa Failure.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 1.—A sensation was created by the assignment of C. C. Savery, owner of the Savery house, the largest hotel in the state, and a heavy stockholder in several mines in Montana. The assets are nearly a million, the liabilities unknown.

It is believed the liabilities greatly exceed the assets. It was supposed Savery was making a fortune in mines near Butte. It turns out that he lost half a million dollars in his latest mining venture. His creditors became uncomfortable and an assignment was necessary.

DOWN WITH THAT FENCE.

What Has the Liberal Candidate For Mayor to Say About It?—A Street Waste Justice.

Editor Deseret News:

In times like these every man that aspires to office claims to be a patriot, working only for the best interests of the city, without thought of advantage or personal benefit to be conferred.

To fall in with the processes, "of street" wishes to be heard. It seems unbiased opinion whether it has been honestly treated by the candidate for mayor on the Liberal ticket.

The question possesses some history, many points bearing in some shape or other might come before the gentleman for his consideration, if his election be secured. Indeed, "of Street" believes it advisable to ask, in this public manner, that the honorable gentleman give his opinion on the same, during his address, at least, at Taggart's hall, Thursday evening. A street is a thoroughfare intersecting east North Temple street (or Brigham). At the east North Temple street corner is the residence of Mr. J. C. Conklin. The question is, Any Mr. C. moved to and fence erected across said thoroughfare so as to exclude the public from passing over it, as it has been used as a public highway for years? The above refers to lot 1, block 3, and D, with a frontage of 165 feet in South Temple st. (Plat A, Plat's Survey).

Petitioners asked the City Council to adjust the wrong complained of, and received a reply. After several months' wait, a 3d petition was granted, but what was it? The issue was made to our injury and we think to the gentleman's advantage. I asked a special favor, thought, I believe, that we should have for years been going up the roadway in hauling in a spring. It seems to us it is more the property behind it," and that only an overhead wire was put in between fencing in his land, for hence, and equitable to all concerned. However, the street will long be the battle ground for the question. The parties to it will go with only one place for a decision. Hence, to us, the time is ripe to remove the place of Salt Lake City Council to about 1st prescriptive.

I stated the issue thus Mr. Conklin fully expects to be next mayor of Salt Lake. According to law, to which he is obedient, what is the use of cloud dignity by any further wrangling in the case so far gone? Ah, why not be frank so to turn an angry enemy aside?

I state his made various moves toward the upper ward, among the site of the Liberal administration, and has always been politically minded, even in having police duty in 1884.

Many moves have been weighed and remove made, on our street, but, owing to the particulars, we are not in a fact we have the knowledge of some to the point of today, but personal are precious to its relation.

Very respectfully,

J. Stoker.

Going to Withdraw.

The Union Pacific has signified its intention of withdrawing from the coal passenger pool on the 5th inst. The fact that this road has gone into the business of a receiver is said to be the cause of withdrawal. The move is an important one in local railway passenger traffic.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES.

All but One Have Accepted the Legislative Nominations.

J. R. Walker is With the Party, but Will Not Run for the Council.—Party Meetings, Etc.

Tonight the delegates to the Republican convention will meet in the old Federal court room, pursuant to the call made and published yesterday. Their only will be to fill one vacancy on the ticket, that occasioned by the refusal of J. R. Walker to accept a nomination for the legislative council. Mr. Walker is with the Republican party, but says he is wholly out of politics so far as office holding or nomination thereto is concerned.

There are no other vacancies on the ticket, which appears in another column of the NEWS today. J. R. Anderson has seen no way clear to remain on the ticket, which will leave the one name to be looking supplied at the convention tonight.

REPUBLICAN RALLIES.

The Sixth ward assembly hall is designated for a Republican rally for the Second ward tomorrow, Thursday, evening, at 7:30 o'clock. Able speakers are called to be there to present the reasons why the Republican legislative ticket should receive the support of electors.

On the same evening a Republican meeting will be held in Smith hall Lake, in the Twenty-third ward assembly house.

On Friday, the Fourth precinct will receive attention by a meeting in the Eighteenth ward independent school house.

The Coldest Cold.

The science of chemistry, like that of geography, has its undiscovered North Pole. Four hundred and sixty-one degrees below the freezing point of the Fahrenheit thermometer [—274 degrees C.] lies a mysterious, specially indicated degree of cold which science has long been gazing toward and striving to attain, wondering meanwhile what may be the conditions of matter at this unexplored point. Its existence has long been indicated and the position established in two different ways, viz., the regularly diminishing volumes of gases, and the steady falling off in the resistance made by pure metals to the passage through them of electricity under increasing degrees of cold. This point, at which both these processes tend as an ultimate, is called the zero of absolute temperature. By more than one eminent observer it is supposed to be the temperature of interstellar space, the normal temperature of the universe. Whether or not this supposition be correct, the efforts which have been made and are still in progress to reach this degree of cold have been many, diverse and ingenious; the equipment of the auxiliary being not merely considerable, but yet the general intelligency of the expenditure, all the varied resources of mechanics and of chemistry which can be combined to obtain, for the enhanced interest of only—from other fluids of Dewars before Zero in Science's Diploma for the wonder.

WHY THE DESERET NEWS SHOULD BE SUBSCRIBED FOR IN PREFERENCE TO ANY OTHER PAPER.

1.—It is the organ of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and the authoritative medium through which the views, wishes and instructions of the Church Authorities are expressed and given to the Saints.

2.—It may always be relied upon as advocating or defending the right side of every question proper for public journals to treat upon.

3.—It is devoted to the interests of the Latter-day Saints, and has done so for [illegible] years, consistently defended their rights and exposed the perversions in which they believe, and every Latter-day Saint should therefore feel under obligations to do his part in helping to sustain it.

4.—It is not published for speculation, and never has been, but for the good which it is capable of accomplishing; the profits, if any there be derived from it, being devoted to extending its spheres of usefulness and furnishing the enumerating.

5.—It is doing its mission in establishing home industries, among which are paper making and type founding, stereotyping and electrotyping—branches necessary to the development and independence of the community, but which, during their infancy (which in this Territory they have not yet passed), can only be carried on at a pecuniary loss.

6.—There is no feature of any subscription to the News failing to get what he subscribes for through failure of the home house and a proportion of the subscription can result in the loss of hundreds of newspaper readings every year.

7.—It is printed in readable type, so that even the aged can peruse it without difficulty or danger to their eyesight.

8.—It is free from objectionable advertisements, so that no parent need fear that his children will have their minds perverted from having access to it. In fact, it is the conviction of millions of dollars worth of the best parts of advertisements connected, because it is devoted to the moral and spiritual interests of its readers instead of to getting gain at their expense.

9.—Its tone is not regulated by public opinion nor the hope of gaining subscribers or advertisements. It advocates that which is right and condemns that which is wrong, regardless of results, financial or otherwise.

10.—It never encourages its readers by pandering to [illegible] of self-praise for their views.

11.—The News position on deception and resorts to no subterfuge to induce people to subscribe, but on the contrary, points to some of its sister works, as the people's newspaper, which it would be to do its utmost to give its subscribers the full value of their money's worth, which it has succeeded in doing, and is now [illegible] in [illegible].

12.—If a Latter-day Saint can afford to subscribe for only one newspaper, that paper should be the DESERET NEWS, and if it does that, the NEWS should decidedly be the first.
