OUR CHICAGO LETTER, -PUBLIC AND SECTARIAN SCHOOL EDUCATION COMPARED.

CAICAGO, Dec. 8th, 1883.

There is at least one sensible wo

Editor Descret News: The allusion to polygamy in the President's message has set all the mills political, religious and social in motion. The unanimity seems se general that one is reminded of $550 A Fine Building Site adjoining Captain Booper's, in Niceteenth Ward, a stable on lot; lot 35xx10 rods. held sway. I remember reading in some romance an incident which at the time caused me to be grave and gay at the same time. It appears an Englishman, traveling through Italy, some 400 years ago, being oppressed with the heat broke a branch from a wayside tree, and hoisting it over his head to ward off the sun's rays, thus marched triumphantly into the next town. But what was his surprise on entering the market place to find himself surrounded by the whole population of the town with the mayor or podesta at their nead, and all clamoring loudly for the life of the astonished Englishman. Why such a cry should be raised about a little sprig from a roadway bush, was what puzzled the Islander. The pomp and arrogance of the petty podesta, may cause us of this day to smile, but the unfortunate Englishment in the the unfortunate Englishman in the hands of an infuriated mob, would no doubt cause us to sigh for med-Ask any thoughtful person whether ieval benightedness. Have we not the case of the Eng-

the President of the United States, not the petty Italian podests, at the head, not of the rag, tag and bobtail of an Italian city, but of the great American people—the people of free schools, free religion and universal education—clamoring for the lives and properties of a few polygamists in Utah. And all this clamor, this clash of trumpets, this scoret plotting, this political in trigueing, yes all this on the grounds of public morality. What a humbug! This clamor, raised against an unoffending and comparatively sin-less community. Name the mur-ders, the rapes, the abortions, etc., $4200 An eight-roomed, two story brek la light here! If we turn to the figures concerning divorces, abortions, drunkenness and prostitution, what will meet our gaze? Why, a picture the saddest and most revolting that human dest and most revolting that human interpretation. That is provided the Tribuse did vision can rest on. A doctor of not support him, standing from Canada, in writing to a Montreal paper, states that every village in this country main-tains its professional abortionist, and and the larger towns two or more, while the cities number them by directorics. As to divorces, they protection for Winter. They contain directorics. As to divorces, they are mere gossip, not worth losing time to talk about. Only 20,000 of are mere gosslp, not worth losing time to talk about. Only 20,000 of them last year. Drunkenness! why that is only pursuit of happiness. Prostitution! why there are only 8,000 of them in Chicago, 15,000 in New York and 6,000 in St. Louis. Never a word has the Podesta said bout all these matters in his grandiloquent harangue. One would think the head of a nation which is fast rushing into social chaos would have something to say on these topics. But the cause of morality will be subserved just as well by hanging a doz n Mormons, and giving the product of their toil to a few taxgatherers. Just as the cause few taxgatherers. Just as the cause of religion is subserved by burning a few heretics and turning their property over to the Bible fund to convert the savage.

The Chicago Tribune contains, not only the most virulent but the most senseless article on Mormonism that I have read in a long while. But this paper being a kind of guerilla warr or in politics, we must not attach much importance to its editorials. It is something like Jesse rials. It is something like Jesse James was in the railroad world. Now slashing at the Southern Bourbon, then at the Eastern Yank, then at the Northern Canadian, then imaginary interviews with Capels. If Ben. Butler, Mahone, Dennis Kearney and Bishop Macna-mars were all rolled into one, they would be just such a factor in the would be just such a factor in the social world as this paper is in the journalistic world. The other day an interview purporting to be had with Mgr. Capel, was published. This paper wanted blood right away. It said Capel has not 8,000,000 followers. He has only 5,000,000. We are 50,000,000. Let us eat those five at once. Let us hurry. There is only one for every ten of us—just a mouthful a piece.

Mr. Strors, the fighting attorney and a couple of the pugnations parsons took up the cry. You would think they were South Sea Islanders preparing to feast on a fat mission-ary. But Capel reported the inter-view bogus, and thus spoiled the feast of those educated, ethical and whole matter is that the writer of the interview is an Atheist or secuinrist. He says so himself, and even admits drinking Capel's wine, leaving Capel's blood for the Christians. This Jesse James of Journalism, then turns to the South, and says that any Northead that any Northern man going there with money will be robbed and murdered. It was not enough to make dered. It was not enough to make a desert of the South, now the desert must be maintained.

Next Jesse appears in the East, jocularly cajoling Massachusetts and Vermont, and New Hampshire on their murderous instincts. It says,

A first close new years and write and event states and vermout, and now Manupaire on their spoor, well stabled, Free Scott steed, 18.

The difference was finally explained by an old farmer who had long lived in the neighborhood, and who remempolitician without an office, and has no employment except that of secretary for democratic committees and conventions; he lives like a fighting cock always." But the courtly statesman on whom this pleasantry bered that eight years before the plot yielding most heavily had re-ceived a heavy dressing of barnyard is lavished, never a word says he. A manure. But even on this practical and domestic accomplishment, the swash-buckler of newspapers says: "There is a grim satire in telling the little daughter of a street laborer, at a dollar a day, that the clothes in a washing should be laid out before the furnace and dried after being taken in off the line, before being sprinkled." Where is the grim satire in this. Is it because a girl's father only earns a dollar a day that ply of moisture in the atmosphere.
