

TALK OF THE TOWN.
 Attend your Sunday meetings.
 Bishop Thomas Taylor has gone to Iron County.
 The telephone is soon to be introduced in Provo.
 Home missionaries will visit the country twice to-morrow.
 Another faint comet is faintly seen in the faint north. Let's faint.
 About 1,000 persons attended the Knight's Excursion yesterday.
 Haverley's Minstrels appear for one night only—next Monday.
 The archway over the entrance to Liberty Park has been taken down.
 Beaver is the healthiest town in the Territory, says the Enterprise.
 The board of directors of the D. A. and M. Society held a meeting to-night.
 The Ogden Daily Herald comes regularly to hand, three times a week at noon.
 A special meeting of the Regents of the Deseret University was held to-day at 12 m.
 Professor Joseph Toronto, Joseph Kingsbury and John M. Young have returned from the Yellowstone.
 Elder Rudger Clawson, who has been seriously ill with remittent fever, is approaching convalescence.
 A cutting affray took place at Evanston on the 18th. Henry Spears was fatally stabbed by Pete Ashley.
 Why is reading newspapers a happy employment, now-a-days? Because there is so much Bliss in them.
 The Fireman's Excursion leaves for Cache Valley on Tuesday morning. It starts with the regular train.
 The Ogden Herald says, about 7,000 miles of new tributary roads have been plotted out by the Central Pacific Company.
 Dr Don Carlos Young, Esq., surveyor and architect, is in Provo, laying out work of excavation and grading on the Asylum grounds.
 Hooperville has an inventive genius in the person of Nels Arave. His latest achievements are a hay press and a peach-cutter and stoner.
 Another company of the 14th Infantry left for Colorado yesterday. There is but one more company of this regiment left at the Fort.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

The Burglars.—The two men arrested yesterday for burglary, were examined to-day. One of them was bound over in $1,000 to await the action of the grand jury. The other was discharged.
 Sunday Services.—The Church of Christ of Latter-day Saints will observe the Sabbath as follows: Sunday Schools at 10 a. m.; general meeting in the Tabernacle at 2 p. m.; and Ward meetings in the evening, at the usual hours.
 The Pratt Re-union.—The committee and those interested in the Pratt family re-union, which is to take place in October next, are requested to meet at the Historian's Office, on Tuesday next, August 23, at 7.30 p. m.
 Deseret Museum.—The Curator returns thanks for the following contributions to the Museum: A slab containing fossil shells of Unio Anodonta and other mollusks, from near Clear Creek station, on the Utah and Pleasant Valley Railway, presented by J. Covington, Esq. Also a likeness of the Prophet Joseph Smith, taken at Nauvoo, Ill., presented by Sister D. Fuller Smith, of the 6th Ward, in this city. Copies of the Bulletin of Salt Lake Academy for 1881-2, have also been received and filed for reference.
 The Minstrels.—Haverley's celebrated Mastodon Minstrels, after a triumphant season in San Francisco, are returning to the east, and will play here one night en passant. The Salt Lake public know what to expect from this huge combination of mirth-makers, and will doubtless show their appreciation of a first class entertainment by crowding the house on Monday night. Tickets are now selling. Reserves may be secured without extra charge. Get your seats at once, or you will be "left."
 A Successful Hoax.—A young lady and gentleman, well-known for jovial propensities, who have been "keeping company" for some time, entered into a conspiracy a day or two ago which culminated last evening. A number of their intimate friends were invited to the residence of the lady, which was nicely illuminated, and on reaching there, were received by the smiling couple dressed elegantly as a bride and bridesmaid, respectively. The ruse was a complete success, and was so cautiously carried out that the majority of the guests left with the firm impression that they had attended a wedding reception. There were a number of doubting Thomases, however, who wisely deferred purchasing presents, until thoroughly convinced that the affair was not a hoax. For further particulars, in choir at the 12th Ward.

Cloud Burst in Castle Valley.—Where are these cloud bursts going to end? A telegram from Provo received last evening states that Captain R. R. Hopkins, who passed through there by the noon train from Castle Valley, reports that on Sunday last about 4 o'clock at Cottonwood Springs, on the railroad grade, Castle Valley, a cloud burst and carried away his entire mercantile store, consisting of dry goods, flour and grain for men working on the grade. Nothing was saved but a few bars of steel. He barely escaped with his life. A cloud had burst in Soldier Canyon, the main traveled road from the north to Castle Valley, and washed out the canyon road, so that it is impossible to convey supplies, and also a cloud burst near Castle Dale, the county seat of Castle Valley, and did considerable damage to the place. A number of places and culverts on the grade were washed away by rain storms in various places.

The Yellowstone Country.—Professors J. B. Toronto and J. T. Kingsbury, of the Deseret University, and Mr. John M. Young, who left this city on the 15th of last June, on a horseback excursion to the Yellowstone, have returned; Mr. Kingsbury on Saturday last, and his two companions yesterday morning, the latter having tarried at Malad five days while returning. Yellowstone, Park, their objective point, is a tract of country containing about 3,600 square miles, situated in the northwestern corner of Wyoming, with a small strip reaching over into Idaho and Montana. The nearest settlement is Bozeman, Montana, 60 miles away. The Park is timbered principally with pine and spruce, and has a beautiful fresh water lake, 20 miles long, shaped like a human hand, there being an inlet or narrow bay to correspond with the thumb, and each of the four fingers. The waters of this lake are cold as ice and clear as crystal; its altitude is over 7,000 feet and it is fed by the Yellowstone River and numerous fresh water springs in the vicinity. The whole country is a lava region. The tract mentioned was set apart in 1872 for a National Park, and is visited every year by thousands of tourists, whose number is increasing annually. They come from the east and west, and even from Europe. During the time our tourists were encamped there, two parties, of nine and five persons respectively arrived, and a wealthy Scotch gentleman and his wife, from Glasgow, also paid the place a visit. Just as the Salt Lake party were leaving, a company of eleven wealthy Philadelphians rode into the neighborhood. Among other sights beheld by our townsmen were the Upper Falls of the Yellowstone, 140 feet high, and the Lower Falls, 397 feet high, according to Hayden. They also camped among the geysers, the highest of which, the "Beehive," sends up its boiling column about 250 feet into the air. This geyser takes its name from the shape of the mound from the centre of which springs the jet of water. The other principal geysers are the "Old Faithful," the "Giant," the "Giantess," "Grand," "Castle," "Grotto," "Fan," "Fountain," "Saw Mill," etc., also named from shape, location or other peculiarities. The "Old Faithful" is the most regular in action. It plays every 55 minutes, scarcely ever varying three minutes. The "Beehive" was seen to spout three times during three days. Some of the other plays less than once a week. The whole country is filled with groups of hot springs, which make the atmosphere in places quite disagreeable. The Pulsating Springs are still in action but the Mud Volcano is nearly played out. The Grand Cañon of the Yellowstone is also mentioned as a magnificent spectacle. Viewed from the verge of the gorge, the river a thousand feet below looks like a small creek. One false step would precipitate the traveler over the brink of the cañon into eternity. The party were gone 65 days, riding horseback all the way. Out side the settlements they met but one Indian, and he was sick. At one period, the three weeks intervening between June 29th to July 21st, they did not see a human face besides their own, and so lovely did it become that they say the sight of Sitting Bull with a thousand hostile warriors would have been a grateful relief. They struck the Yellowstone Park on the 13th of July, and left for home on the 1st of August. All return in excellent health, much improved by their journey.

Reported Robbery Confirmed.—The Ogden Herald says of the reported robbery of Mr. Charles Crismon, on the road between Granger and the Crismon and Well-er Camp:
 "The rumor was correct. The affair occurred in the night, or rather very early in the morning. Mr. Crismon was struck on the head and either fell, or was dragged from the carriage in which he was riding. When he recovered consciousness he was lying upon the road with his derring in his hand. The upper part of his pants was cut across, evidently by the highwaymen in their search for his money.
 Mr. Crismon was carrying about $3,000, which, however, was in the pockets of the baggy, and as the horse ran away when the attack was made by the robbers, they did not get it. A man located a few miles further on found the horse and vehicle and this money intact.
 Mr. Charles Crismon is in the employ of Messrs. George Crismon and E. M. Weller, railroad contractors, to whom the money belonged. There is no clue to the road agents."

Death.—We deeply regret to learn of the death, last night, of the little son of Mr. Moyland Fox, a child scarcely two years of age, but of unusual intelligence. The little fellow caught a cold which seriously affected his throat, and induced tonsillitis; scarletina setting in, he fell a victim to the destroyer. The child was a grandson of Captain John Lawrence. We sincerely condole with Mr. and Mrs. Fox, and the sorrowing household.

SPECIAL BUSINESS NOTICES.

FIREMAN'S EXCURSION.
 Which will be the event of the season, leaves this city for Logan, Franklin and Intermediate points, on Tuesday, August 23d, 1881. Fare to Logan and return, $5.00. To Franklin, $3.50; to Ogden, $1.50. The excursion will be accompanied by Olson's Brass and Quadrille Band. There will be a Grand Torch Light Procession on the 23d, and display of fireworks from Logan to Provo, and a dramatic performance in Providence Hall on the 23d, and 24th for the benefit of Logan Temple.
 Parties south can secure return tickets from any part on the Utah Central, by reporting to the committee, good for the trip. d 22.

THE KINGSLAND AND FERGUSON THRESHING MACHINES.
 Dear Sir.—The Kingsland and Ferguson Threshing, sold us, was thoroughly tested to-day, with very damp grain, and in spite of this drawback, did most excellent work. A good number of our most prominent farmers were present, and they all expressed themselves well pleased. You are perfectly safe in recommending the Kingsland and Ferguson, as being equal to any machine now sold in Utah, and we believe it superior to many others.
 Yours, etc.
 FERGUSON SONS & DANIEL.
 PORT HERMAN, August 15th, 1881.
 Mr. H. B. Clawson,
 Sir.—We, the undersigned, were present at the trial of a Kingsland and Ferguson Thresher, on the farm of Mr. Wm. Freeman, and pronounce it a first class machine in every particular. The trial before the trial a heavy rain had wet the grain thoroughly, but the Threshing and Cleaning was done perfectly in spite of this. On examining the wheat heads, not a grain of wheat could be found, and the machine saved it all. Further, it will certainly clean all it threshes, which cannot be said of many machines sold in Utah. A Ten Horse Mounted Carey Power was used, but eight horses were found sufficient to drive the machine. We cannot speak too highly of the Kingsland and Ferguson Separator and Power, and think you have secured exactly such a Thresher as the country demands.
 Signed,
 Bishop Herriman, James Crane, David M. Bolton, Wm. C. Crump, Geo. Wright, Alexander Kid, Thos. Butterfield, Sen., A. Butterfield and Wm. Parker. d 225
