FRAGMENTS.

TOMORROW is St. Valentine's day.

CLARK J. F. BAUER of the Territorial Su. reme Court is on the sick roll.

FREDERICK WARDE's new play "The Lion's Mouth" will be produced at the Theatre Monday night.

THE Standard speaks rather slightingly of "Kearnes'" and Smith's efforts before the House committee at Washington.

AT the present rate of disappearance there will soon be no snow. There will be no lack of mud for a while though.

THE civil trial calendar is keeping the Third District Court running on full time.

THE funeral services over the remains of Ezra McEwan will begin at 12:30 tomorrow in the Twelfth ward meeting house. Friends are invited.

MR. H. S. GODBARD opens a first-class barber shop in the basement of Jennings' corner, Main and First South streets. See advertisement.

CHARTER AND SETTERQUIST, Main st., have received a quantity of new sheet music, including the popular selection "Masks and Faces."

The Logan election next month is creating considerable interest not only among the denizens of the thriving city but many others elsewhere.

The apparatus of the signal station at Timber, Piute county, has been sent to the city, the business there having been discontinued.

THE funeral of the late Elma McEwan, daughter of Henry and Agnes McEwan, will be held at the Twelfth ward meeting house on Sunday, at 12:30 p.m.

A PRIVATE letter from Manti reports the blizzard in going strong in the west mountains, some specimens of recent "finds" accompanying the missive. One assay of $270 is reported.

MR. W. C. R. ALLEN is one of the Utah delegates to the Trans-Mississippi Congress which opens in New Orleans on the 25th inst. He thinks a full delegation from this Territory should be urged.

The House end of the law-making body is having a holiday today. Some of the members and officers living near by took advantage of the opportunity to go home and see to things.

THE movement to establish a metropolitan paper in Ogden is being pushed, apparently, at least it is talked of vigorously. The Standard does not seem to oppose the scheme.

The regular monthly meeting of the Salt Lake county W. C. A. will be held in the Thirteenth ward meeting house on Tuesday, the 16th inst., at 2 p.m. The public are cordially invited. C. C. R. Wells, Secretary.

We are requested to publish the following: Unitarian services every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, in the Salt Lake Theatre. Rev. David Utter pastor. Subject tomorrow morning, "What's the Use of Religion anyhow in this Age of Science?"

OUR friends Parley P. Pratt, Jr., and his estimable wife have our sincere sympathy in their second bereavement, the death of another fine boy, Lawrence C., who departed this morning of acute bronchitis after an illness of several weeks. Funeral at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, 7th Forest.

A MAN named Gier, who seems to be constantly hanging in the bonds of Salt Lake, occasionally sticks around the District Court in quest of a writ of habeas corpus to recover his children from whom he alleges to be in custody of his deceased wife's sister without his consent. He "turned up" again yesterday and gave the court clerks a sense.

In the Third District Court, the Deseret National Bank has brought suit against Joseph Monson et al. to recover $600 and interest on a promissory note. Zion's Co-operative Mercantile Institution has also planted a suit against Peter Jacobsen to recover $178.60, alleged to be due for merchandise purchased by him.

A SETTLEMENT has been made for the insurance complications in Burchett's the merchant (whose goods were burned in the Gladstone block, on Main street, First and Second South streets, about six weeks ago) for the sum of $17,000. Mr. Clift was given $375 for damages done to the building.

GEORGE D. LOVERY, son of Brother James T. Lovett, of this city, and Minnie E. Davis, daughter of Dr. J. T. Davis, of Henderson Creek, Maiden Valley, were married at Logan Temple on Wednesday last. The wedding reception took place on Thursday evening at the residence of the bridegroom's parents, 414 Seventh West street, at which about seventy friends of the two families were present. A most enjoyable time was had.

Those who think the statements that the recently enlisted boys are being discharged by wholesale are for political effect only have only to look out on the principal streets at any time to verify it. The impressions having been compelled to violate or attempt to violate the law to help the "Liberals" to win, are no longer needed and can go wherever and whenever they can.

Bankruptcy Commissioner Norrell yesterday at noon the suit of Morris Jacobs, Beeler vs. Weeler and Armstrong came on for hearing. Beeler the plaintiff made a verbal arrangement to purchase a certain piece of real estate from the defendants for $1000, and paid a portion of the purchase price down. Afterwards the plaintiffs changed their minds and wanted the money paid in advance refunded in them. This request was refused and they then brought suit to recover it. The Commissioner took the case under advisement.

LAND JUMPING.

That Was One of the Several Points Raised This Morning

OVER THE EUREKA DISPUTE.

Major Bird Has a Long Talk With a Witness For the Applicants.—Today's Proceedings.

The inquiry relative to the Eureka Tewsnile controversy continues to drag wearily along, and it is extremely doubtful when the end will be reached, as there are yet a number of witnesses to be examined, and some who have already testified will probably be recalled.

Upon the reassembling of the court this morning, the witness, D. N. Peterson, in further cross-examination by Major Bird, was asked to describe the monument that he found at the northeast corner of the Home Rule claim. He discovered a stake, he said, two feet in height, about four inches square, a small distance from a fence wire. He saw no marks upon it.

Q.—How do you know whether that stake belonged to the Home Rule or the Robert E. Lee?

A.—I couldn't say as to that. I was informed that the stake at the Home Rule should be about there, and on account of there being so few of stakes up in there, I didn't go very particularly to examine it. I went specially to find out the number of dwellings on that claim.

To other questions, witness answered the next stake he was told to look for was the corner of the Robert E. Lee, the southwest corner, and then he went from there to the southeast corner of the Home Rule. This corner he found in an easterly direction from a dwelling. There was a stake there about four inches square, standing about a couple of feet up in the snow, which was six or eight inches deep at the time. The stake was marked, but he could not tell what the mark was. He knew nothing about staking off a mining claim.

Q.—Now, can you swear whether or not that stake belonged to the Home Rule, the Home Stake or the Little Chief?

Witness answered in the negative. He said he next visited the southwest corner, and there found a stake, about four inches square, about a couple of feet above the ground.

Q.—Now do you upon your oath swear that stake belonged to the Home Rule mining claim?

A.—No; that I can't tell. The only guide I had was the lines through the claim, running north. I was informed that the claim ran straight about 200 feet south of the school house, and with another stake that was beside Pat Shea's barn.

Q.—I repeat my question. I have not asked you anything about what you were informed, and I want an answer to my inquiry.

A.—Well, then, yes.

Q.—Which was the next claim you visited?

A.—The Robert E. Lee. I made an examination of that claim at the same time as the Home Rule. I went in company with Judge Waite.

Q.—From what did Mr. Waite receive his title of "judge?"

A.—I believe he served a couple of terms in Eureka as justice of the peace.

Q.—These examinations of the different claims were made some time in the latter part of December, 1891, or the 1st of January, 1892, were they not?

A.—I think my examinations with Judge Waite were made in January, 1892.

Q.—And that is the first time you went around the claims for the purpose of identifying them by corners, is it?

A.—Yes, with company.

Q.—My question is a very plain and fair one; I asked you when you examined these claims, and who was with you, for the purpose of identifying the stakes and you have stated that Judge Waite was, and no one else. Now, by your last answer what examination by corners, for the purpose of identifying the claims, are you referring to?

A.—Those that have already been testified to.

Q.—Then state them, as you have only gone round the claims so far in your testimony once.

A.—I went alone to some of them.

Q.—State which ones, and at what time?

A.—I couldn't do that on account of not putting it down, for I just examined the stakes and didn't put myself on what corners there were.

Q.—And that was before Mr. Burch has given you any instructions as to the bona fides of your occupancy?

A.—That I couldn't say, for he had given me instructions several times, as I had asked him for my own benefit.

Q.—Were you with Mr. Burch in solicitation in land jumping?

A.—For Mr. Burch I couldn't say what land jumping he has done; but for myself, I have bought what property I have been in possession of in Eureka from squatters who had the possession of it prior to my occupancy.

Q.—Do you mean to be understood as swearing that you found all the stakes on the north of those mining claims?

A.—As far as I went.

Major Bird then returned to the stake question, and the witness was subjected to a rigid cross-examination thereon.

The Grippe.

This dreaded and dreadful disease, to what passes for it, is so prevalent in most parts of Utah that anything in regard to it is read with avidity. One would, however, hardly look for humor to be extracted from so lugubrious a source, but it is done in the case of the editor of the Roosevelt (Ma.) Journal, who states his case as follows:

"The man who has the grippe is the most consummate selfish person in existence. He longs for nothing more earnest well and more dating death. If he cannot have that he will have nothing else. He wants another attention and sympathy, and gets all he wants as far as sympathy is concerned. So both sympathies with him. His affection is a moment to be regarded as a huge practical joke. And that is what it is—a huge practical joke. The sage of the farmhouse may be marked as experienced, indifference and misery. In the first he cannot tell what is going to happen; in the second he doesn't care what happens, and in the third he knows it cannot be any worse than it has been. How to force when he gets well it is impossible to state, for up to date nobody has recovered."

THIRD DISTRICT COURT.

The "Tribune's" Demurrer.—Other Matters Before Judge Zane Today.

In Chief Justice Zane's court this morning the demurrer of the Tribune Printing and Publishing Company to the complaint in the libel suit instituted by Marshal E. H. Parsons was in have come on for argument, but by consent of counsel the matter went over until Saturday next, in consequence of other cases having reached the way. Attorney Hiles, for the defendants, was present with a pile of law books and a large scrap book of newspaper clippings. Judge Henderson is counsel for the plaintiff.

DAMAGES $100.

In the case of Mary L. McLean vs. Amos G. Hale et al., tried yesterday, the jury this morning brought in a sealed verdict, finding for the plaintiff, damages $100.

FOR THE PLAINTIFF.

The case of Jamieson, Harvester & Co., vs. W. J. Powell went to the jury, who found for the plaintiff.

SUBMITTED.

Wm. Hardman vs. Wm. J. Harvey et al.; demurrer to once complaint argued and submitted.

DECREE OF FORECLOSURE.

Lester H. Hallett vs. A. L. Emmott et al.; default, and decree of foreclosure, as prayed.

LEAVE TO AMEND.

George E. Hair vs. Joshua H. Kimball et al.; leave to amend complaint by correcting summons was granted.

EXTENSION OF TIME.

Wm. H. Hemington et al. vs. F. H. Young et al.; order made extending rule to show cause until Wednesday next.

A DIVORCE SUIT.

Carrigan vs. Carrigan; suit for divorce; order to show cause continued until Saturday, the 20th inst.

CLAIM AND DELIVERY.

Wm. Fardley vs. James Green. In this case Walter Murphy was for the plaintiff and S. H. Lewis for the defendant. Mr. Green is a brickmaker carrying on business at Bountiful, Davis Co., and the plaintiff is his nephew. The claim was for $50, for wages. The case was tried before a jury, and was in progress when the court adjourned at noon.

Students' Society.

The weekly session of the Students' Society was held in the College building last Friday evening. The meeting was called to order promptly at 7:30 by Chairman J. J. Walker. After the opening exercises were concluded, Instructor W. H. Chamberlin proceeded to give an elaborate description of the "Equisetacea" or joint-rushes. In language upon this plant occupied a position among the forest trees, but has since dwarfed to the present size. It comes utilized largely in the formation of coal, now being taken in such great abundance from the earth. The process of its fertilization and growth was fully described.

A song, "The Handwriting on the wall," was well rendered by Mr. Asa W. Judd.

The subject of "Hydrostatic Pressure" was ably discussed by Mr. James Hawkins. The incompressibility of liquids, their upward, downward and lateral pressure were dwelt upon. Some interesting experiments were performed, illustrating the above facts. The discussion and illustration of the hydrostatic press were fully explained.

A trio, by the three Swiss sisters was skillfully rendered. In response to an encore the ladies sang a second selection with the same harmonious effect.

Police Court.

Tom King, for an ordinary drunk, pleaded guilty and was mulcted $5, which he will pay with the sweat of his brow.

E. C. Carter, for obtaining money under false pretenses, is under arrest, but has not been arraigned.

Shannon Keating, for discharging firearms in the city limits, entered a plea of not guilty, and is being tried.

William Fox, for the same offense, is also on trial.

Amos Day, whose case was continued from the 11th, pleaded guilty to the charge of drunkenness and will work for the city five days because of it.

Nick Piper, for assault and battery, entered a plea of guilty and was fined $50, which was paid.

Busts of the First Presidency.

The busts of Presidents Wilford Woodruff, Geo. Q. Cannon and Joseph F. Smith are now on exhibition in the display window of Mr. Savage's art lazar, and are attracting a great deal of attention. Groups of people gather around the spot to admire these speaking poems of Mr. Dallin's artistic handiwork. They are noted in what is termed the old ivory finish, which has the effect of relieving the details of the features, and takes off the glare which results from pure white. These busts are on sale, the price being $25 each. It is more than likely that, owing to the distinguished character of the subjects represented and the excellent ability of the artist, a large number will be disposed of.

A Distinguished Passenger.

Captain Schley, who won such renown in the Chilean squabble, and who passed through on his way East before the peaceful settlement of the troublesome question, has again passed through Ogden for the coast, says today's Standard. It was his intention to have visited his son at San Antonio, Texas, and take the southern route to San Francisco, but he changed his mind. He stated that on his arrival he will leave for Washington and the Baltimore to Captain Whitley and will return this way in about a week, having been appointed to take charge of the North Pacific party.

REPORTING ARGUMENTS.—If the Cullom-Davis Congress commission of Ogden is expected to be pushing things in much as possible. It is very much desired that the congress shall take hold and finally deal with the important public interests and questions.

BEFORE THE HOUSE COMMITTEE.

Arguments of F. S. Richards, Judge Judd and C. C. Richards Today.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 13.—(Special to the Deseret News.)—The hearing before the Senate committee was resumed today. C. C. Richards, Judge Judd and F. S. Richards spoke nearly four hours, illustrating the evils of Territorial vassalage, they vigorously detailed the abuses of the executive power and showed its persistent effort to legislate against the doings of the Utah Commission and their behavior operations, and mentioned some of the outrages resulting from the present system of government. Particular attention was called to the abandonment of polygamy, the division of the people on party lines, and the selection of the Presidency of the Church that they would not attempt to control the members of the Church in political matters. The committee was close attention and asked numerous questions. They were favorably impressed and complimented the speakers. Continues till Monday.

UTAH LEGISLATURE.

COUNCIL.

SATURDAY EVENING.

The President called the members of the upper house to order shortly after 2 p.m. and announced that the journal of the preceding day had been examined and found to be correct, and consequently the reading of the same would be dispensed with.

The committee on enrollment reported that C. F. 20, providing for a new index for the laws of the Territory, has been properly prepared and sent to the Governor for his approval.

Evans, of the judiciary committee, to whom was referred C. F. 90, amending sections 2158 to 2169 inclusive, Compiled Laws, reports that the same had been considered and its passage recommended. Report adopted and bill filed for second reading.

The same committee reported favorably on the Council file relating to the procedure of justices of the peace in United States cases.

Evans, of the same committee, reported that C. F. 70, the bill introduced by Moran to secure to operatives and laborers engaged in and about mines, smelters, factories and other industrial establishments and buildings, the payment of their wages at regular intervals and in lawful money of the United States, that the majority report adopted and while there were many features in the bill which appeared to be just and reasonable, yet it was the opinion of the committee that it was not within the legislative discretion to enact into law any provision by which the laborer and employer contract for a period in addition to enter into any contract which might be agreed upon between themselves. For this reason, and others set forth, the committee had unanimously agreed upon the rejection of the bill.

Halmes—"Mr. President, this is the effort of Mr. Moran's life and I would suggest that the report of the committee be not adopted."

Report adopted and bill rejected.

The judiciary committee then reported unfavorably on the following bills:

H. F. 13, H. F. 54, C. F. 11 and C. F. 28. The report in each instance was adopted and the bill named rejected.

Lund, Gleddinning and Melville were excused.

The committee on memorials reported favorably on C. F. 45, amending certain sections of the Compiled Laws. Adopted and bill filed.

New bills were presented as follows:

By Halmes: To encourage the manufacture of sugar and paying a bounty thereon. It provides that one cent and half a cent per pound shall be paid up on cash and every pound of sugar manufactured in the Territory.

Q.—Big question is a very plain and fair one; I asked you when you examined these claims, and who was with you, for the purpose of identifying the stakes and you have stated that Judge Waite was, and no one else. Major Bird then returned to the stake question, and the witness was subjected to a rigid cross-examination thereon.

Captain Spillet.

The funeral services over the remains of Capt. Spillet, of the Twenty-sixth ward, were held in the meeting house yesterday afternoon, conducted by Counselor George F. Gibbs. The speakers were Elders R. R. Willes, R. R. Cole, Thos. A. Griggs, W. H. Atkins, R. Kingsley, W. Richards, R. F. Neales and George F. Gibbs, all stirring remarks of the deceased. The pallbearers were a Warrnsbrand, wholesaler (typical British name, and a faithful Latter-day Saint.

Carbo Contributions.

Hugh Adams, Logan, has received his certificate of authority from President Harrison, signed January 29th, 1892.

A serious home call a wicked kick directly on the heels of Jay Fishel's therapeutical sense of affairs, a day or two ago.

E. H. Miles, manager of the Former's Union Mercantile Establishment, says there is a petition being circulated for the disorganization of the city.

Thursday afternoon as Miss Carrie Hansen was crossing Third street, near Father Cyril, Logan, she was struck down by a steam track now. The girl fell in the snow and the new was about to come her, but was prevented by a man who was passing.

Tom Harrison, foreman of the La Plata mine, sends in Logan, yesterday and reports that the vein—of which there is no doubt—is now in contact in the La Plata letter—is 100 feet long by 30 feet wide. It looks like a fissure in the earth. The ores show the time lime on one side and the shale on the other side.

The Farmer's Union Mills of Smithfield were blown into Wednesday night by some incendiary fiend. There was nothing touched except the money drawer, which was a common tin till, and failing to open it they broke it up. Nothing but the large safes they were shy; enough to let them alone. They made their entrance through the upper sash of the lowerstone window, so far as can be traced no force was taken.—Journal 13.

THE Eldridge will case, which has been before the public and in the Probate Court for some time, was decided by Judge Zane in favor of the will of the deceased. Tout were represented by Jones & Evans, while Varian and Berry appeared for other heirs and contestants. Notice of appeal was given.

The criminal calendar of the Third District Court will be called up for the week the end of the present month, but some nearly ready now. There is no special interest on the list for this term.

Many of our most beautiful and accomplished ladies die before they have reached the prime of life. Of these who live to middle age only one in a hundred are sound, the other one hundred and ninety-nine are sufferers. Why is it? Self-neglect. The shattered health can be restored, the sufferer made happy, and your life lengthened if you commence at once.
