FRAGMENTS.

Good news from Ogden.

Work on the new postoffice building is being pushed forward vigorously.

The success of the Citizens' Ticket means the end of Ring Rule in the Junction City.

We congratulate the People who united in Ogden for the purification of the city and its redemption from "Liberal" misrule.

The City Council will meet in regular session this evening. So far as known there is no important business to be transacted.

A marriage license was issued by County Clerk Allen yesterday afternoon to Edward J. Smith and Mary Carson, both of this city.

Marriage licenses were issued in County Clerk Allen's office on Saturday evening, Caroline Andersen, Alfred C. Andrews and Sarah Pike.

The publication of the first number of the Fort Douglas Gazette has been postponed for a short time. Due notice will be given of its appearance.

There are undelivered messages at the Western Union Telegraph Office for Alexander Lemon, W. H. Johnson, Daisy Raymond and B. Gleeman.

Chief Justice Zane and Judge Anderson have been again occupied today preparing written opinions of cases submitted to the Supreme Court.

To the Mill Creek postmaster has come a notice from Washington, dated January 26th, 1891, stating that Scott's postoffice has been discontinued, to take effect February 16th. The business thereof will be transferred to Mill Creek.

Among the latest victims of the "burglary" fraternity are Wilkenson Bros., of Second South Street, whose store has been freshly entered and some $40 worth of liquor carried off. The police have learned nothing of the thieves, thus far.

Elder H. H. Hardy, who is making a tour of the Territory in the interest of his T. M. M. I. S. Association, held an afternoon meeting at Bountiful on Sunday and an evening meeting at Centerville. On Monday he held an evening meeting at Farmington. The attendance at these meetings was good.

Yesterday afternoon Commissioner Greenman listened to legal arguments in the case of John W. Young, a resident of Ogden, vs. Lieutenants, of the California National Bank, Second South Street, testing an action in replevin for possession of a diamond ring, said to be of some considerable value. The Commissioner took the matter under advisement.

Before Chief Justice Zane, sitting in Chambers as a Third District Court yesterday afternoon, the case of W. L. Carey, administrator, vs. R. T. Burton, Jr., and Ira C. Kennedy were dismissed. In the matter of H. B. Clalin & Co. vs. Simon Kellner, the hearing on motion to rescind order appointing a receiver was continued until February 16.

The Seventh Ward Political Club met last evening, President McKenzie in the chair. The election of officers for the ensuing year was passed upon, the result is as follows: President, J. E. Galligan; vice-president, W. J. Woodbury; secretary, T. A. Collier; treasurer, John W. Walker. It is proposed to hold meetings frequently for the study of politics and parliamentary rules.

The ball to be given in the Theatre tonight by the Woman Suffrage Association is expected to be a brilliant affair. A large number of tickets have already been sold. A good many more will undoubtedly be disposed of at the door this evening. Spectators will be admitted into the galleries for a nominal fee. The best of music will be furnished for the occasion, and to say that the whole affair will be a huge success would only be to cause a foregone conclusion.

Bayard Cummings, Greenman yesterday afternoon, David Timmins appeared on a charge of larceny, alleged to have been committed with Elizabeth Rogers in April last. The young lady swore that defendant was guilty of the offense charged, and the defense endeavored to prove an alibi. A number of Timmins' witnesses testified that they were with him on various dates in April, but were unable to state positively that they were in his company on the date named in the complaint. Defendant was held to await the action of the grand jury, and gave a bond of $500 to secure his appearance before that body.

The hearing of the charge against David Gardner of cutting Scott Mahon in the arm with a knife, at a party in the First Ward, on the early morning of February 5th, was concluded yesterday afternoon before Commissioner Greenman. The facts were fully given in yesterday's News. The defendant did not go upon the stand, but a witness of his whom testified that while they did not observe Gardner strike Mahon, they did see the latter strike the defendant. The Commissioner held the defendant to await the action of the grand jury and placed his bond at $1000. The was forthcoming and Gardner was set at liberty.

The officers of the United States Land Office are engaged in investigating the case of William Lindsay vs. Harrison Sparry, involving desert entry No 3114, July 1st, 1890, and covering the north half of section 8, township 3 south, range 1 west. The entire area upon an affidavit by Sparry filed December 22, 1890, entitled to Hiram D. Cook, stating that the said entry was, in its inception, fraudulent, for the reason that it was made subject to entry under the act approved, while the land is naturally arid, wood and will produce crops without artificial irrigation. Considerable testimony has already been taken, and much more remains to be taken before anything akin to the case of "Jarndyce and Jarndyce" ever again.

Police Court.

In the Police Court today William Thurston, M. Jackson and John McAlso were assessed $5 each for inebriety.

A half score more of frail females were arraigned last evening for resorting to and being frequenters of a house of ill repute. Jointly they left $200 to secure their appearance in court at 10 a. m. today. At that hour they were not in attendance and the money was declared forfeited.

Mary Johnson plead guilty to the charge of petit larceny. Sentence is suspended during good behavior on defendant shall conduct herself in accordance with law.

Lizzie Lane is under arrest on the charge of vagrancy. She was to be arraigned this afternoon.

Harry Wolf, dealer in second-hand goods, was arrested by Sergeant Donovan this morning for having stolen goods in his possession. He deposited a gold watch and chain to secure his appearance for trial tomorrow at two o'clock.

THE CITIZENS' VICTORY.

Ogden's Redemption from "Liberal" Ring Rule

GREAT REJOICING AT THE JUNCTION.

The Full Returns Show That the Citizens Elect the Mayor, Four Councilmen and Two Justices of the Peace.

The result of the municipal contest in Ogden yesterday was a substantial victory for the Citizens' ticket, the Liberal candidates for Mayor, four Councilmen and two justices of the peace having been defeated. The greatest interest seems to have centered upon the Mayoralty, the fight for which was not only earnest and intense, but in some of its phases quite interesting. It began to look rather blue for the Citizens an hour or so before the closing of the polls, and some of the more jubilant "Liberals" were offering immense odds on their success with few, if any, takers. The methods resorted to by the "gang," as it was called, while not altogether new to the political arena, were nevertheless about as reprehensible as anything of the kind ever practiced in the country, one illustration of this being the numerous cases of illegal voting, the offenders in every instance being "footers" or hirelings of the "Liberal" party or some of its managers. The active part taken by the saloon element in the canvass, and the arrest of the proprietor of the Novelty Theatre (a resort with a most unsavory reputation) together with the latter individual's arrest on the charge of bribery and his immediate release through the assistance of the whisky element, would seem to show conclusively about the standard of morality which the "Liberals" possessed and relied upon to carry them through safely. It is no secret, but an open fact, that the "tough" element was almost to a man for that party, and that nearly all the active strength of the opposition consisted of men not noted as saloon frequenters and standing high in the community as commercial, professional or industrial citizens. This very nearly tells the whole tale and gives a reasonably fair idea of what a desperate struggle the law and order people had on their hands, while it fairly illustrates the importance of the result and the gratitude of those who achieved it.

One incident of many similar related to us we deem worthy of mention. As Sheriff Belknap was on his way to the county jail with a prisoner charged with illegal voting, he was interrupted by a "special officer" acting ostensibly in the interest of good order, but in reality for the furtherance of the "Liberal" programme, the latter demanding of the sheriff that he release his prisoner. This instance was met by the officer with an outburst of defiance, he ordering the other to "clear out," or he would be arrested too. The "clearing" took place instanter, but the disgruntled "Liberal" went before a Commissioner and swore out a complaint against the sheriff for intimidating voters! He was released on his own recognizance, and instructed by a lawyer present to take a counter complaint against the deputy for obstructing an officer in the discharge of his duty.

The good people of our sister city are satisfied with their work, and the News heartily congratulates them upon it.

The Citizens, as stated, carried the majority and elected four councilmen and two justices of the peace. Following are the tabulated returns:

Father (to four-year-old son)—Bobby, why don't you get ready for Kindergarten? This isn't Saturday.

Bobbie—Why, pop, the other scholars are so dumb I thought I'd stay home this week to let them catch up with me.—Judge.

COASTING ACCIDENTS.

Narrow Escape from Death of a Party of Six, Last Evening.

Coasting accidents are numerous just now. Yesterday afternoon a little boy, whose name we are unable to learn, broke his leg while indulging in that form of "sport" in the vicinity of the S. C. M. I. cemetery.

Five young people while skimming together down Fourth South and Fifth East streets, yesterday afternoon, on a long sled, came to a collision with an express wagon. They were all more or less hurt. Several had most of their teeth knocked out, and all of them sustained bad cuts and bruises. The most serious case is that of a twelve-year-old girl named Ollie Rounce, who is suffering from severe internal injuries. The driver of the wagon, an old man, was thrown to the ground, stunned, and badly bruised. The great wonder is that no one was killed outright. This should serve as an earnest warning to coasters, many of whom dash along utterly unmindful of results.

COUNTY COURT.

The Question of Compensation For The Assessor's Deputies Again Discussed.

Selectman Cahoon has returned from his eastern trip and was in attendance at a session of the County Court held yesterday afternoon. The question of compensation for the assessor's deputies, who are to take charge of collecting the county statistics, came up for discussion but was referred to a special committee consisting of Selectmen Howe and Cahoon, with instructions to report at the next meeting of Court.

It was ordered that a railway ticket be purchased for L. W. Hilkens, a sufferer from rheumatism, that he might be sent to California to his friends, that being considered the most economical way to dispose of the case.

Henry Cohn filed an objection protesting against the Jordan & Salt Lake Canal Company allowing their surplus water to run onto and damage his land. Action was deferred until the matter could be more fully heard.

David Procter, road supervisor of district thirteen, represented there was about three miles of the state road in his case which was very much in need of repair. It would cost about $400 to properly do the needed work.

Hans Jensen asked $50 damages for injuries sustained by his wife and children falling through a defective county bridge. Referred to a special committee.

James C. Jensen asked that he be allowed $1,000 on account of making abstract maps for the use of the assessor. Allowed.

T. A. Donohoe represented that he had been unfairly taxed on a certain piece of property, and asked relief. The valuation was reduced from $5,000 to $1,000.

The following claims were allowed:

UTAH AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

A Highly Satisfactory Report From the Board of Trustees.

Yesterday afternoon the president of the board of trustees of the Utah Agricultural College (Mr. W. S. McCornick) filed his report with Governor Thomas. It states that the institution is, at the present time, in a flourishing condition. The expenses of the college for 1890 were as follows:

Salaries	$[illegible]
Labor	[illegible]
Boarding	[illegible]
Heating and lighting	[illegible]
Repairs on buildings and furniture	[illegible]
Supplies for experiment work	[illegible]
Farm implements and machinery	[illegible]
Library	[illegible]
Live stock	[illegible]
Forage and other supplies	[illegible]
Freight and express	[illegible]
Miscellaneous expenses	[illegible]
Total	$[illegible]

The appropriation from the United States to the college was $16,000, similar institutions receiving $15,000.

The report of the director, J. W. Sanborn, shows that twelve acres have been devoted to horticultural work, twenty acres sown to varieties of pasture grass, twenty-four devoted to a series of forage experiments, and the balance of the ground was staked off into permanent plats for experimental purposes. Generally, the report is of a very gratifying character.

Probate Court.

The following business was transacted in the Probate Court yesterday before Judge Bartch:

Estate and guardianship of Ernest L. Young et al., minor; petition for an order authorizing a change in the investment of certain trust funds; proof of publication of notice of hearing; Mrs. N. W. Clayton and Spencer Clawson examined and case continued until Friday, 13th.

Estate of Joseph Waller; petition to set apart personal property for family use allowed.

Estate of Samuel Benson; order appointing commission to partition residue of estate.

Estate of Samuel Merrill, Tuesday, March 3, 1891, at 10 a. m., fixed as time to hear petition for settlement of final account and distribution.

Estate of Hugh Day; Friday, February 20th, named as time to hear petition for letters of administration.

Third District Court.

The case of Riley D. Winters vs. Mary E. T. Lyon came before Judge Zane in Chambers this morning. It appearing from the pleadings of the referees and other evidence that the property involved in the suit could not be partitioned without great prejudice to the owners, the Court now directed that the former order made and rendered, demanding the reference of the partition, be modified in that respect. Messrs. George D. Lowman, C. W. Morse and Charles F. Brooks were recommended to sell the property in question, in the manner prescribed by law, to the highest bidder, for cash, and that they report their proceedings to the Third District Court in due course.

LA LONDE'S SUDDEN DEATH.

The Jury Find the Cause to be Fatty Degeneration of the Heart.

Coroner Harris held an inquest yesterday afternoon at the undertaking establishment of J. W. Taylor, on the body of Thomas C. La Londe, the circumstances of whose somewhat sudden death were reported in yesterday's News. The jurors were Dr. Geo. King, Messrs. George Gill and James Bourne.

The evidence of Luke Golightly was as follows: I was with the deceased on Friday afternoon and evening. In the afternoon we took several drinks and I met him at the Fountain saloon in the evening. We left there about 11 o'clock, and shortly before 12 we went to an opium joint back of the Fountain. La Londe was to a bank and I suppose he was smoking. I smoked seven pipes. When we came into the joint he had smoked four pipes and left very sleepy. He drank a good deal of water after that, also a cup of coffee, but was unable to keep anything on his stomach. I knew that he smoked opium a year ago, but have not been with him since then until Friday. After we came out of the joint Lahonde fell somebody in a saloon that he believed "Illene a—of b—had dragged him." I asked him why he made that remark and he replied that he didn't want people to know he had been smoking that he made the remark to mislead them. By 2 o'clock he was feeling better and I took him home.

Dr. Benedict stated that he examined the body and believed that death resulted from fatty degeneration of the heart. He saw no evidence of poisoning.

Joseph W. Taylor testified that the mother of deceased stated to him that he had had a serious spell of sickness a year ago. When he recovered he confessed to her that he was brought on by opium smoking. The physician who attended him told him that if he ever smoked opium again it would certainly kill him. Mr. Taylor also stated that there was not a scratch or mark on the body, but it was considerably discolored.

After hearing the above testimony the jury returned a verdict to the effect that La Londe's death resulted from fatty degeneration of the heart.

All the ugly and idle rumors which gained currency as to the deceased having met with foul play are thus scattered to the winds.

Probate Court.

The following business was transacted in the Probate Court today before Judge Bartch:

Estate and guardianship of Hyrum C. Shurtliff, Jr., a minor; settlement of final account submitted and proof of posting notice of publication approved; W. S. Cronon sworn and examined; accounts allowed and exclusive of loans of $210 and $2500, which were accepted without prejudice to guardian.

Estate of A. L. Hatfield; petition for probate of will issued and granted; proof of publication of notice approved; A. W. Carlson and Joseph D. Muldoon sworn and examined.

Estate of Lucian Noble; proof of publication and mailing notices approved.

Estate of Alexander Brunker came on for final settlement of accounts as per continuation of January 26; proof of publication of notices approved and accounts allowed on condition that proof be publicly filed and approved.

Estate of Isaac Lamoy; final settlement of accounts and distribution of property heard; decree that due and legal notice to creditors had been given; H. S. Young sworn and examined; accounts allowed, and distribution of property ordered as prayed for.

Estate of Hans C. Lund; order of publication of notice made.

Estate John Dodds; same order.

That Alleged Embezzlement.

The charge against Thomas C. Aldridge, insurance agent of this city, and representative of a Minneapolis building association, who was arrested on Sunday on the charge of embezzlement, under circumstances detailed in yesterday's News, came before Commissioner Pratt at 12 o'clock today, the defendant having been released from custody yesterday on a bond of $500 to await the present examination. It seems that some time ago Mr. Aldridge Whitlemore wished to place a loan with the association represented by Aldridge, and, in the preliminary step, paid the latter $250. Some time went by, and as nothing was heard of the loan, Mr. Whitlemore became anxious. He called upon Aldridge and told the association at Minneapolis, inquiring as to the loan, and the reply was so unsatisfactory to him that he swore out a complaint charging Aldridge with embezzlement.

The case was in progress when the News went to press. The defendant says he is confident that when the matter has been thoroughly sifted, and his side of the matter has been heard, he will come out all right.

Joint Meeting.

The following programme will be given tomorrow (Wednesday) evening in the Eighteenth Ward school house, the occasion being a joint session of the Eighteenth and Twentieth Ward Mutual Improvement Associations:

BADLY BEATEN.

Police Officer Cantlon Severely Punished by Ex-Policeman Gates.

About two o'clock this morning a war of words was already waged in the Walker House cafe between Police Officer Cantlon and Alright. Exactly how the affair originated is difficult to tell. It is alleged, however, that Cantlon is entirely to blame. From the best obtainable information the following version seems to be the most correct: At the time mentioned above, Officers Alright and Sullivan were eating luncheon in the cafe when they were accosted by Officer Cantlon with a request to join him in drinking at the bar. The invitation was declined in a manner that offended Cantlon. He manifested his message in a way that aroused the ire of Alright, who quickly divested himself of his coat with a view to ejecting Cantlon from the building.

The would be constable of brute proportions was quickly informed by the proprietors that unless they hit his place of business immediately he would have to be placed under arrest. Acting under this advice the policeman took his departure.

It is supposed that the quarrel was renewed here. About 4 o'clock this morning an altercation occurred between ex-Police Officer Gates and Cantlon, the latter now thought it no less difficult to glean from the details of the former row.

It is known, however, that trouble has existed between the parties for some time. Gates accused Cantlon of bringing about his discharge from the police force. Cantlon denied the accusation. He was then hooked down by Gates and fearfully beaten about the head and face. No arrests have been made as yet.

Sudden Death.

On Sunday morning, Sister Mary Ann S. Matthews, wife of Brother Richard Matthews, an employe of this office, went up to Ogden to attend upon a sister who was ill. She was taken with a chill and felt so unwell that she returned to her home in the Seventeenth Ward yesterday (Monday) morning. She was thought that she had merely caught a severe cold and that it would soon pass off. At an early hour this morning, however, she was seized with severe pains in her chest, the complaint having developed into acute pneumonia, and at 11 a. m. she passed peacefully away. The deceased was a native of England and was a valuable woman. She completed her fiftieth year on the 5th of last October. She moved to America in 1854, and came to Utah in 1856. The bereaved husband and family, who feel her loss deeply, will have the sympathy of many friends. The funeral will be held on Thursday next, but the precise hour has not been fixed.

Arrangements are now in progress for the Seventh Ward meeting house, Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock. The ward choir will be on hand. The programme promises a very good entertainment, singing, music and recitations being included. Tickets, 25 cents. "Santa Claus" in "Yorkshire" and "Hans in der Schule" will add variety to the evening's entertainment.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

THE FARMERS' BURDENS.

The Comments of a Southern Journal on an Opinion from the West.

The Kansas City Times says the farmers are no longer rich. They no longer have more than they can spend. In some once prosperous agricultural districts they are reduced almost to poverty.

In the eyes of the public farming has ceased to be the pleasant and profitable occupation of a former generation. In the older states it is a common thing to see farm houses going to decay, while in the new states dugouts and shanties are the rule. Everywhere may be seen the track of the loan agent and the blight of the mortgage.

The fact cannot be disguised that the farmers of the west are growing poorer every day, while the farmers of the south are seriously hampered in their progress. And yet this is all wrong. Agriculture should be the great source of the nation's prosperity, and when it decays the entire country will suffer.

It will not do to say that the farmers are idle and thriftless. They work hard. They are economical. They make the best of their hard lot. It is easy enough to explain the present state of affairs. Our farmers pay a heavy tax on nearly every article they buy, and nearly all they sell must go at prices fixed in the markets where the producers of the world compete for buyers. If a protective tariff puts money in the pockets of those who are engaged in manufacturing pursuits, it does not compel them to pay higher prices for agricultural products. The value of everything produced on a farm is largely determined by the price of our surplus supply in foreign markets. Farmers, therefore, when they sell have to compete with the producers of the world, and when they buy they have to pay an exorbitant tax to a privileged class on our custom schedule, for whose benefit the McKinley bill was enacted.

In conclusion, our Kansas City contemporary declares that our farmers under existing conditions are more serfs, and will never be any better off until we have tariff reform. These are stale issues, but tariff reform is not a sufficient remedy. We must overhaul our entire system of finance and taxation. We must have a currency that will meet the wants of this rapidly developing country, and we must have local banks of issue that will not outlaw the financial by rejecting real estate as a security for loans. When we have all these reforms we may expect to see the agricultural interest supply its olden prosperity, but not before.—Atlanta Constitution.

What the Movement Is.

The farmers' movement is thoroughly educational. In its social aspect it represents the intelligent and earnest effort of the toiling serfs, and attempts to overcome that isolation. In its financial aspect it is a protest against present methods of centralization, and an attempt to restore the industrial equilibrium which has been destroyed by the combination and trust, by securing a fair ratio in the exchange of raw products for finished commodities.

In its relation to citizenship it strives to develop an educated farm yeomanry who will cast conscientious ballots not merely for the party brand, but for the benefit of the native land. Hence it aims to break down sectional hate and trust, and substitute an educated farm sentiment and farm leadership. It recognizes that present conditions are the natural outgrowth of having intrusted the government to those who preferred private interest to general welfare when private interest and general welfare clashed. It seeks justice through morals and education.

In its political aspect it is a protest against tourbotoms, bosism, corruption at the polls and class legislation, whether McKinleyism or other class law. It is a movement in favor of the state protection to the farm as the source of the factory.—N. H. Ashby in American Agriculturist.

Farmers Moving to Canada.

A correspondent of a western Ontario paper says "the farmers are moving, and the politicians had better not forget it." He means that they have begun to grope for relief from low prices, heavy mortgages and falling land values. The growth of the Patrons of Industry, a Canadian offshoot of the Farmers' Alliance, which has just sprung upon the stage at Washington with a demand for economic reforms, is cited as evidence of the working of the leaven. The order has taken root in Kent, Lambton, Elgin and parts of Middlesex, and its missionaries are meeting with success farther east. Speaking from thirty years' experience, Sir Richard Cartwright, who has been traveling up and down the province since October, says he has never seen the farmer so keenly interested in any subject as he is just now in tariff and trade questions.—Toronto Globe.

The Way to Win.

There is much complaining at the present time by the agricultural community, and many inquire, "Will times ever be better? Is there any chance for the farmer? How are we to get out of our dilemma? Will any one show us any good?

Brothers, don't be despondent; you will get there. Only just assert your rights to be heard in the congressional and legislative halls. Stand together shoulder to shoulder; don't let party leaders and demagogues lead you by the nose, or crack over you the party whip, or "cow" you into silence or submission. Show a determination worthy of your cause, and you will win.—Cor. Journal of Agriculture.

Damaged Furniture Sale.

F. W. Madsen has completed the separation and assortment of the stock of furniture damaged by the late fire in the Hooper & Eldredge block. The stock was in the cellar of the Wooley Show and Dry Goods, and hence was only damaged by water. On Monday, February 16, in the basement of the store Mr. Madsen will commence the sale of all this stock, which consists of a great assortment of baby carriages, bed room sets, chairs and tables. Everything must go, and people on the lookout for bargains in furniture should be on hand promptly and early Monday morning, at the well known furniture emporium. The sale will continue throughout the week, and everything is marked down to sell. 2-11 3t
