READY FOR DENVER.

Musicians Prepared for Competition in the Big Eisteddfod.

A SPLENDID INSTRUMENTATION.

K. of P. Band Bidding—Only Two Entered in the First Class Contest—Salt Lake's Fine Representation.

Manager Zimmerman of the K. of P. band has returned from Denver, whither he went to make arrangements for the stay of the band during the Eisteddfod. Quarters have been engaged in a [illegible] hotel and arrangements perfected for several concerts at the [illegible] which will be made the temporary home of the musicians. Mr. Zimmerman says the people of Denver were very courteous and appeared to be unable to do enough to make his stay comfortable. The fame of the K. of P. band has gone before it and Denver people realize its excellence.

So far there are but two entries in the first class competition—the K. of P. band of this city and Fengel's First Regiment band of Denver, which is also a first class organization. It was thought by many that the Butte band would compete, but it has not entered so far.

During this week Professor Anton Pedersen has been drilling the band in sections and has achieved splendid results. The fine instrumentation of the organization almost in itself insures success in the contest. There are no bands in this western country that have such an instrumentation, and the director, Mr. Pedersen, is a competent thorough musician.

Following is a list of instruments which are used by the band: 1 piccolo, 1 flute, 1 oboe, 1 E flat clarinet, 12 B flat clarinets, 4 saxaphones, 2 bassoons, 1 contra bass, 1 French horns, 1 trumpet, 4 cornets, 3 trombones, 1 baritone, 1 E flat tuba, 1 double B flat bass, drums and tympani.

To carry a large band to Denver will entail great expense, and the help of citizens is needed to send the boys to victory. Salt Lake City need not be afraid of its representation in this line when the K. of P. band goes abroad.

On Sunday next will be given the last of the series of concerts by the K. of P. band at Saltair. Among the selections to be rendered is the contest piece to be given at the Denver Eisteddfod, The Three Dances from Henry VIII. This is the last chance the boys have to take advantage of this source of revenue and they hope to see a big crowd patronize them.

THE DENVER EISTEDDFOD.

Prof. Stephens Reports His Trip to the Tabernacle Choir.

At the rehearsal of the Tabernacle Choir last evening, Prof. Stephens reported his trip to Denver and Colorado points, where he went on business connected with the choir and for a few days rest and pleasure. He was treated in royal style and given hearty receptions. It is now an understood fact that the Tabernacle Choir will attend the Denver Eisteddfod in September [illegible].

The [illegible] committee and the people of Denver thoroughly realize the attractive power of the new [illegible] choir in America, and have [illegible] to entertain the Salt Lake singers during their stay in the Centennial state. Besides all living and entertaining them they will [illegible] a sum of money towards paying their railroad expenses, which, together with [illegible] the singers will pay [illegible] by subscriptions and concerts, will see them through all right.

The choir as a body will not contest [illegible], but it is expected that a ladies' and men's chorus and several solos and duets will be entered for by some of the members. On the 21st of August the choir will give an excursion to Saltair, from which they expect to realize a handsome sum to assist them on their journey.

CHICAGO TO SALT LAKE.

A Rate War Likely to Ensue on Account of the Fire Chiefs' Convention.

Chicago, July 31.—The threatened Western passenger war over rates from Chicago to Salt Lake City on account of the Fire Chiefs' meeting in that city August 18th is now assured. Chairman Caldwell of the Western Passenger association made strong efforts today to persuade competing lines to ignore the [illegible] and St. Paul's $[illegible] round trip Chicago-Salt Lake City rate, but was unsuccessful. The Alton gave notice that it would meet the rate and other lines will do the same today. Officials of the St. Paul say they will not withdraw the [illegible] rate unless the Union Pacific agrees to cancel its [illegible] arrangements. The Santa Fe and Northwestern railroads are opposed to the low rate and want the executive officers to consider the matter. The round trip rate from Chicago to Denver will probably be reduced to $[illegible], and the one way rates will be half of the round trip.

RARE SURGICAL OPERATIONS.

Performed in New York on Little Ivan Decker of Parowan, Utah.

New York World: Building a roof to a mouth is the operation which was performed on Ivan Decker, a child eleven months old, who came all the way from Utah to New York to be treated. At the house where the operation took place it was learned that Mrs. Decker lives at Parowan, Utah, [illegible] miles southwest of Salt Lake city.

The mother, with her baby boy, came to New York recently to have the operation performed which, it was hoped, would remedy the strange physical deformity that left the child without a roof to its mouth. There was a wide fissure on the left side of the child's palate, extending all the way back. This affliction necessarily caused great difficulty in swallowing, and if not remedied would in time have proved a serious impediment to distinct articulation.

Little Ivan was in excellent health when it was decided to perform the operation last Thursday, at the home of Mr. Ryer, No. 149 west Sixty-eighth street, where Mrs. Decker was staying. Dr. J. H. Brauch, of No. 115 west Eighty-fourth street, who had operated in a similar case, had many of the instruments which were especially made for this kind of operation last year. About seventy-five instruments were employed on little Ivan, who was in the surgeon's hands from 11:45 to 3 o'clock.

The operation began with the partial [illegible] of the two sides of the superior maxillary bone, which were then [illegible] with little steel [illegible] as to fit together, closing the cleft in front. The two sides of the [illegible] through the hard palate were [illegible] with the knife and drawn together by means of four ligatures. Then two [illegible] ligatures were passed through the loosened portions of the superior maxillary bone.

The child had to be kept just at the point of unconsciousness, and accordingly the application of ether had to be regulated so nicely that the infant was just under the influence of the anæsthetic, but not at the stage of complete narcosis. Early in the operation it became necessary to remove two of the child's teeth, and a dentist extracted the molar.

After the operation by the surgeon, the child was kept on its back for the first twelve hours, in order to prevent vomiting as a result of the anæsthetic. The little hands were tied to the child's sides, so that it could not put them in its mouth and tear out the surgeon's stitches.

A second operation will be necessary to remove the harelip, which is an accompaniment of a cleft palate, but this will be far more simple than an ordinary extraction, and after that little Ivan will have just as symmetrical a roof to his mouth as any one and be able to talk with perfect distinctness when he becomes older.

Ivan is a healthy, rosy youngster, and the construction of a perfect palate will make him physically perfect. This is the second case of the kind in this city.

Summer Drawing School Closed.

The summer school of drawing under the direction of Supervisor Augeburg, and which has been in session during the past six weeks, closed today. The work included object drawing, pen and ink drawing, water colors, a class for teachers and out-of-door sketching.

The opportunity for improvement in this essential branch which is now recognized as indispensable in other subjects of study, has been excellent, and those who have availed themselves of the opportunity afforded, are well pleased with the character of instruction given, and have made rapid progress in their work.

The Frohman Company.

Charles Frohman's Empire Theater Stock Company has just made the trip from its home, New York City, straight across the continent, with just an hour's stop in Chicago, to catch its breath, to San Francisco, where it opened the seventh engagement on Monday evening (July 27th) at the Baldwin theater, presenting with what is described as capital success Clyde Fitch's adaptation of Henri Murger's French classic, Bohemia, or as it is entitled in French, La Vie de Bohême. Two distinguished playwrights have had their plays selected by Mr. Frohman for the repertoire of this organization on its present tour: Henry Arthur Jones, who is represented by the Masqueraders and Arthur Wing Pinero, by a comedy-drama of an entirely different kind, entitled The Benefit of a Doubt.
