A MAMMOTH DEAL CLOSED.

Over a Million Dollar Transaction Recorded Through McCornick & Co's. Bank.

One of the biggest transactions that ever took place through a Salt Lake bank, if indeed it is not the biggest, will be recorded through McCornick & Co's company. A telegram from the bank's Boston correspondent, the Globe National bank, today stated that the United States Mining company had delivered some to Tom Cowdin, the head of Horn Silver Mining company and delivered some to the party in Boston who has been authorized and instructed to receive delivery in behalf of the several owners of the Consolidated Horn Silver Mining company. This is the final payment of $1 per share for the stock of 1,000,000 shares at $1 per share, and the United States Mining company, the owner to pay this $1 per share, and the United States Mining company, the owner to pay this $1 per share, having been paid some weeks ago. The transaction means that the United States Mining company will receive $1,000,000, and the non-assessable shares of the Horn Silver company, which are held by the company, including the total for the latter company, and the remaining 500 per share was to be paid then, which will put the United States Mining company into entire possession of the great Horn Silver property.

McCornick & Co. will therefore notify the various stockholders that their money is ready. These moneys which are to be divided are: W. W. Cheesman, J. F. Woolley, W. F. Healey, Jesse Knox, Mrs. Dr. Benner, Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Mr. Mercantile, and others. The proportion of each should be known, but it is known that Mr. Woolley has sold to Joe Kimball, Mr. Cheesman for about the same, and the stories to hold accounts.

VISITED BY THE COMMITTEE.

Wesley Moser, an Alleged Wife-beater Severely Handled.

IS UNMERCIFULLY BEATEN.

Driven to Police Headquarters in an Insensible Condition When He Is Thrown into Jail.

There were hard times on the West side yesterday. Apparently there was trouble at 61 south Ninth West the greater day. There were several assaults and consequently batteries owing to the marital differences of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Moser, who reside at the address mentioned.

It will be remembered that Moser complained to the police some two weeks ago that his wife had threatened to kill their child and that she was generally unhinged and that she in turn denied the allegations and complained that her husband had repeatedly assaulted and beaten her. She exhibited bruises in substantiation her complaint, and the truth of her assertions were corroborated by neighbors living in the vicinity.

On Tuesday the neighbors heard Mrs. Moser to leave her home and she took up her abode at the home of Anna Gibbons, who lives next door to the Mosers.

Finally Mr. Gotham appeared before Judge Timoney and swore out a complaint charging Moser with beating his wife. The injured woman did not care to prosecute for fearing so Mr. Gotham took the matter and when he thought he had enough to sustain the charge of assault, swore out the complaint as stated.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Moser, accompanied by Mrs. C. J. Patterson of 41 Fort street, returned to her home for the purpose of getting some clothing. As soon as the latter entered the house, it is said, Moser assumed a threatening attitude. Mrs. Patterson ordered him to her companion grabbed a pitcher that was lying on the table. In throwing Mrs. Patterson, Moser is said to have struck her and knocked her unconsciously out of the house. Mrs. Patterson's husband immediately began legal proceedings and as a result appeared at police headquarters last night, but failed to find Moser. A strength assault and battery against Moser.

As soon as Patterson left the police station Wife Beater Moser appeared at central figure in the domestic tragedy, rushed to and informed the police that he had fought with his wife and her brother in a harder wagon. The officers adjourned to the street and found the battered lying beside and upholstered in the vehicle. He was carried into the station and restoratives administered. Then the injured man opened his eyes and set up. Apparently the neighbors had taken the law into their own hands. According to Moser's testimony, Patterson, Arnold, a fireman, and Gibbons came to Moser's house at 9 last night. Mrs. Arnold was there. The latter had moved around the house and gradually neared Moser. The boy said that the injured man opened the door and the crowd rushed unceremoniously into the house with the result. Evidently Moser had fought like a tiger, for his face and head are cut up and bruised in a shocking fashion. Moser finally made his escape and ran down the Grand Western Depot where he met a harder wagon driven by T. G. Lawson. After he had gained the vehicle he fell down, to succumb to his injuries to the extent that he became insensible.

The police officer who had charge of the battered man, proved the man next on him that he had been seen on Ninth street by the officer, the man according to Moser's testimony.

Wesley Moser, arrested with a bruised head and face and which bespoke a future appearance, appeared before Judge Timoney this afternoon. As the complaint was not sworn to, the case was dismissed and Moser was held in bonds to keep the peace.

LATE LOCAL NEWS.

There will be no meeting of the board of education this evening on account of the absence from the city of a quorum.

Arrangements have been made with Prof. Dawson to give an organ recital in the Tabernacle for the benefit of the widow and family of the late Mr. Ottinger, who was killed in the accident on the Rio Grande Western railway last week. The program has not been arranged, but a worthy and meritorious one will be given, and the recital will be a pleasant one. The recital will take place next week.

CLEARING HOUSE REPORT.

Salt Lake City, Sept. 27, 1899.

Total	$ 1,000 00

DAMERGHIS & SCULLAN.

Balances	$ 1,000

T. R. JONES & CO.

Balances	$ 1,000
Total	$ 2,000
Grand total	$16,000

TWO LADIES FIGHT IN 20TH WARD.

Mrs. Cliff Blackens the Eyes of Mrs. Hutchins.

CASE IN TIMMONY'S COURT.

Judge Considers Them Sufficiently Punished by the Publicity of the Case—Minor Cases.

The floor of police court took lack of quite gay this afternoon. Owing to the fact that there was to be a regular battery for as regards the washing of dirty linen in court there were quite a number of fair and current alias in counsel budgets present.

The star attraction was undoubtedly the hearing of the Mrs. Cliff assault and battery case wherein it was alleged that the lady in question, who was what the indictment describes as petite, did willfully and maliciously put a nose and two eyes, that constitute a female assault, upon the face of Mrs. Hutchins of 22 K street with intent to embrangle and mutilate to the point and dignity of the Twentieth ward on Tuesday last. Mrs. Cliff took the stand and related the circumstances surrounding the battery and the nature of the injuries the lady had on the bench. Apparently it all started from the fact that the two members of the fair sex had exchanged words on the street. Mrs. Cliff had been and wanted to know why the latter had called her a "dirty" and "low" and "mean." Mrs. Hutchins replied that she had not called the lady "dirty." To prove that she was dirty Mrs. Hutchins stated that Mrs. Cliff "never washed her face and never combed the kinks out of her hair." To prove that she was low she said that Mrs. Cliff had called her "mean." Mrs. Hutchins stated that Mrs. Cliff had called her "low." Mrs. Cliff said that she had called Mrs. Hutchins "mean" because she had called her "low." Mrs. Hutchins said that she had called Mrs. Cliff "low" because she had called her "mean