COUNTY COURT.

A Late But Lively Session Yesterday Afternoon.

The county court members held a session yesterday afternoon, beginning its late for an evening paper to obtain particulars for an issue of even date.

The business disposed of was as follows: Two petitions for the appointment of peace officers at Bingham were received and filed.

A bonus to relief paper was ordered issued to E. C. Williams.

The claims of the following were referred to the attorney: L. C. Metzger, Logan Gas and Electric Light company, General Electric company and W. T. Proudfoot.

The claim of R. D. Maxfield for $120 was referred to the committee.

H. P. Burns was removed from the position of road superintendent of District 17, and William Lawson was appointed to take his place.

THE SHERIFF'S SALARY.

That bone of contention, the sheriff's salary, came up again, but, as usual, it was passed over without settlement. Policemen Golden and Roberts are strongly opposed to raising the sheriff's salary, as if they were up to time when Mr. Hardy asked that fee be disposed of. Both tried to outdo the other in putting questions to him answering his statement last winter that $3,000 would satisfy him and his deputy of the duties of his position. Mr. Hardy said he had thought that $3,000 would be sufficient but of late the criminal business has multiplied to such an extent that he cannot keep up with it and pay the expenses himself. The matter rested here.

TAKE THE FOOD STANDS.

Some time ago County Clerk Hamilton made a claim for $5 for services in every hearing of cases of insanity. This was cut down to $2.50 by the court, but yesterday Golden offered the following:

Resolved, That the compensation of the county clerk, as now said, shall be in full for all services rendered by said clerk to Salt Lake county, including his services in relation to examination of insane persons.

Roberts made a motion to adopt this, and it was seconded by the selectmen from the Third precinct. When asked to vote the two votes for and Judge McNally against it, Christopherson refused to vote until he had legal advice on the subject.

Upon the offering of this resolution Stanton quickly informed the court in a very emphatic manner that if they intended to in future turn all his service in insane cases he would not do the work, but would leave it to the probate judge. Judge McNally, however, stated that he has the right to charge $10 for every case, and he said he would do it, he, and pay the clerk from that. Roberts and Golden said that they were acting on the opinion of the attorney. Stanton came out with the statement that the attorney had told him that he ought to have the money and was entitled to it.

An adjournment was taken to Friday night.

UTAH COUNTY TEACHERS.

Two Days More of Progress at the Summer Institute.

Special Correspondence of the DESERET NEWS.

ASPEN FARM, Aug. 3.—The time of the afternoon session was utilized by Prof. Jos. A. Reese and the Hon. E. A. Wilson, the former speaking upon the History of the Growth and Development of Education in Utah Territory, the latter upon the Literary Qualifications of the Teacher. Mr. Reese treated his subject exhaustively, and with that interest that can be commanded only from experience. Mr. Wilson's speech proved conclusively that he is in favor of raising the qualifications of the teacher.

Time and space will not permit even a synopsis of these able addresses or that of Superintendent Weston of Wasatch. The last named gentleman spoke to the teachers at the morning session Aug. 3, upon Moral Culture.

Evening session August 2.—Commissioner E. R. Lewis present his resignation by speaking of "lessons." He was willing to admit that if he had a judge I would be a fine business system of the Territory from the kindergarten to the university. Yet his love of knowledge was not bounded by so narrow a horizon, although he believed the public school to be the institution upon which depends the prosperity and perpetuity of the nation and the state. Hence the duty of the teacher to guard well the stage in which she acts that the system may progress.

Teachers are cautioned to be careful in picking their work, should remember [illegible] that, as we to develop the [illegible] instead of the child. There are certain stages of condition of progress that cannot be hurry developed and established within the below, which attempt to make it from this. The fundamental advantages should be found at the bottom so as to raise the whole.

Educational progress should be slow. Process is laboring, not devouring, and should be evident in all stages of growth. Infancy, childhood, boyhood and girlhood, youth, early manhood and maturity, each stage must be fully matured, to most efficiently prepare for manhood and womanhood.

The greatness and perpetuity of a state lies upon its public schools, upon they rest upon its public school teachers. Words, with them is the development of the child morally, physically, mentally and religiously, and the citizen may have great advantage of contract and bright power, irrespective of the amount of [illegible] of wealth. After thirty years experience I will to say that I know of no that promises to will to a person [illegible] to teaching. Write [illegible] children, seventy each. Be [illegible] you cannot possibly [illegible] the mind, keep pace. With advanced in [illegible] and methods, and the [illegible] the greatest [illegible] the [illegible] requires with [illegible] the [illegible] enough [illegible] I know of no [illegible] to [illegible] in the [illegible] of teaching. [illegible] remember that mind communicates with mind, and that attention will always follow the information desired. The book telling you with to [illegible] accuracy—go above grammar or rhetoric and English literature—study continually and use in the various branches of the curriculum—to teach attitude successfully you must know something of objects, for, know all what you want to develop within self is further power. Have your profession serving from manhood to gallows, drive out animality, increase morality, strive to approach the Divine, [illegible] your home, your country is wherever you are most useful. H.

Cyrus Edwards, Please Answer.

WAXHAW, Texas, Aug. 5, 1895.

Editor Deseret News:

While conversing a small mining town in Scott county, Texas, in company with J. M. Allen, we met with a brother belonging to our Church who said he had a brother in Salt Lake City and had lost track of him. He asked us if we would try to find him; to which we acquiesced. We dropped a line in the News, which was successful in finding him. On going back there a few weeks later to hold a meeting, one David Edwards came to us and said he had a brother who joined our Church some years ago and went to Utah. He does not know where he is. He asked us if we would try to find his brother, to which we agreed. His name is Cyrus Edwards. Any information that could be given of him as to his whereabouts would be gladly received by David Edwards, Allen, Scott county, Texas.

LITERARY NOTES.

In the Review of Reviews for August Jacob A. Riis, the author of How the Other Half Lives, tells the story of the Tenement Tenement House Reform—the rise and fall of a typical New York slum. The "man of the month" selected for a subject of the leading character sketch is Theodore Roosevelt, the intrepid police commissioner of New York City. The writer of the sketch is Julian Ralph, who, as a journalist, has followed closely Mr. Roosevelt's remarkable career since the young Knickerbocker first began to stir up the city lines to collision as an Assemblyman from New York City in the state legislature. Mr. Stead's sketch of the new British ministry is a clear and concise of the make-up of the third Salisbury cabinet. This number of the Review will prove invaluable for reference whenever questions arise pertaining to events of the past year within the British empire.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is often of great value in giving the strength so much needed. Mrs. G. Wilson of Smithville, Ind., writes: "My mother, 70 years old, took Hood's Sarsaparilla and found great benefit from it. She took Hood's Sarsaparilla with good results. Her appetite was poor, but after taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for a short time she was able to eat her food and all traces of her long illness disappeared. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a wonderful medicine."
