MINING EXCHANGE.

Factional Controversy Results in the Expulsion of Sims

FROM THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

He Threatens to Ask for the Appointment of a Receiver.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The World tomorrow will publish the following: The factional controversy which has upset the mining exchange for two weeks culminated yesterday in the expulsion from the board of directors of George Sims, senior partner of the firm of Sims, Peere & Co., who were very active in founding the exchange.

Sims was swamped last week by a call on Manhattan Gold Mining and Development company. He failed to meet certain obligations and was suspended. Colonel Ammon yesterday sold 1,000 shares of the stock which he says was a "put" bill which Sims had responded. The men met in the floor and Ammon called Sims a liar. At 4 p.m. a board meeting was called. Col. Ammon was made chairman and a resolution declaring Sims position on the board of directors vacant was adopted unanimously.

"Now Mr. Sims," cried the chairman, "you are no longer a member of this directory and you will please leave the room."

The broker put on his hat and coat and retired under protest. Later he said: "This action is an outrage and I intend to prove it illegal in the courts. We will have a receiver in twenty-four hours."

The board of directors issued the following statement: "As it seems to be necessary that influential citizens of New York City should be made members of the board, it undertook to create vacancies in order that this view could be carried out. Several resignations have been tendered, and further there seemed to be a decided coming from members of the exchange, who have purchased seats and paid for the same, that especially should George v. Sims resign his seat upon the board of directors.

"Mr. Sims was approached and asked to tender his resignation. This he declined to do. In the meantime investigation was begun to determine the condition of his financial relations with the exchange, and a statement was finally obtained which in our opinion shows a very considerable indebtedness from him to the exchange. At a meeting called this afternoon they did by unanimous vote declare Mr. Sims expelled from the directorate."

Col. Ammon and C. V. Holmes said the exchange would be reorganized.

CUBAN RETALIATION.

American Flour to Be Excluded from the Island.

GALVESTON, Tex., March 9.—The Texas star flour mills on Saturday last heard the ownership Gyder for Cienfuegos and other Spanish-American ports. Before she sailed her agent at Havana cabled:

"Great excitement prevails. Don't ship flour."

In response to an inquiry another cable came: "Reprisals action Congress."

From this the exporters inferred that American flour is to be excluded from Cuba on account of the recent action of Congress. The ship's destination was changed to other West India ports. Then this cable was received:

"Have no other news. Can you proceed?"

The inference is that the local authorities received to retaliate against American commerce and the Madrid government interposed.

NOT A MURDER MYSTERY.

The Secret of the Bodies in the Barrel Exploded.

CHICAGO, March 9.—Late this afternoon Mrs. Cummings identified the dead body of the man found in a barrel yesterday with the corpse of an infant as that of her husband. He had been the inmate of the poorhouse for two years. The police have abandoned their theory of murder, it being known that the mutilating was done by medical students.

After Cummings died in the poorhouse the death was advertised in the usual manner but he had gone to the institution under an assumed name and the body was not claimed. It was then, according to custom, sent to a hospital, the Hering Medical hospital being the recipient. The students finished their work with it and an express man was paid to take it away. He was too lazy to carry it, and dumped it in the barrel, where it was found.

Regarding the body of the infant the hospital authorities say that some time ago an unknown man called at the hospital saying that he had the body of a baby which he would donate to the hospital. A boy was sent with the man and brought back the body. It was also given to the express man to be buried with that of Cummings.

NO OFFENSE.

President Cleveland Defended by a Presbyterian Elder.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The New York Presbytery held its regular monthly meeting in the Presbyterian building tonight. The Rev. Dr. Charles L. Thompson, chairman of the committee on home missions, reported that the meeting in Carnegie hall resulted in a collection of $6,508, out of which only $158 was to be paid for the expenses of the speakers that night.

The Rev. John C. Hiss submitted a resolution thanking the speakers on that occasion, especially President Cleveland. When the resolution was read Kellum Van Rensselaer, an elder of the New York Presbyterian church, said: "I am not a member of the Presbytery, consequently can offer no motion, but I would suggest the Presbytery insert in that resolution a minute expression of its disapproval of the unjust attack being made upon the President by some of the politicians in Washington on account of what he said at the meeting here. We all know there was no intention on the President's part to attack any section of our people. He only mentioned what is well known to everybody, that the class which settles a new country, like Oklahoma and other Western places, the people who are known as boomers, always set up harrowing and gambling houses the first thing. The attack upon him is being made by politicians, for political effect, and should be resented."

"Does any one desire to make a motion to this effect?" asked the moderator.

No one responded, and the original resolution was adopted unanimously.

CULLOM WILL NOT WITHDRAW.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Senator Cullom said this evening regarding a story as to his probable withdrawal from the race for the Presidential nomination: "There is not a shadow of foundation for the report. The suggestion could only have been advanced by those who would like to have me out of the way with the definite purpose of misleading the Republicans of Illinois and the country. I have no intention of withdrawing and will not withdraw. Put that as plainly and emphatically as you can find words with which to express the idea."

VENEZUELAN BLUE BOOK.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The blue book on the subject of the Venezuelan boundary published by the British government has reached Washington, and advance copies are now in possession of the English ambassador and the state department. Texts are the volumes, one of about 450 pages of text and another containing about a dozen charts. As to the charts, they are exceedingly interesting to the cartographer by reason of the fidelity with which the quaint drawings of the old geographers and explorers are reproduced in color, but so far as new matter is concerned they are a distinct disappointment, and our Venezuelan commission is in possession of all the data contained in the charts, thanks to their systematic effort to collect all of the information obtainable by their own sketches.

SUPREME COURT DECISION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 9.—The Supreme court today dismissed the appeal in the case of the Raven Gold Mining Co. vs. the Miners' Union of the town of Altman, in Colorado, appealed from the decision of the circuit court for the district of Colorado.

In this case the mining company sought to have the federal court take cognizance of a strike connected with the Cripple Creek mines in 1894, on the ground that the company, which was organized in West Virginia, was of another state. The the local circuit court declined to do, on the ground of want of jurisdiction.

Justice Shiras handed down the decision of the court in the case of the United States vs. Dan K. Swearingen. This case was brought in the Supreme court as a writ of error from the Kansas circuit court. Swearingen was indicted and on trial convicted of sending obscene matter through the mails. The article in question was a newspaper attack upon a rival editor. The Supreme court found that the court below was in error in its instructions pertaining the alleged obscenity, and therefore reversed the decision.

LONDON NOTES.

Times Financial Article—Additional Men for the Navy.

LONDON, March 10.—The Times financial article says: "Arrangements point to the completion of an Anglo-German syndicate to obtain a Chinese loan of £10,000,000, which will possibly be issued in two installments. We sincerely hope that there will be no hitch in the arrangements, because the influence which Russia has already acquired in China much concerns other nations."

The financial article also says: "From what we hear, the Baltimore & Ohio reconstruction plan will require nearly £20,000,000."

The Berlin correspondent of the Standard says: "The Chinese loan has been concluded at 5 per cent, repayable in thirty-six years and secured on customs revenue. This is a brilliant victory for the Anglo-German over the French syndicate."

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, in the House of Commons today in reply to Mr. John Ellis, liberal member for Dinder, said the government had just received a strong protest from Canada in regard to the proposed permanent occupation from the United Kingdom of store cattle. The protest, he added, would receive careful consideration.

The civil lord of the admiralty, Mr. Austin Chamberlain, replying to Mr. John Dillon, member for East Mayo, said: "Some additional men will be required for the navy, but the number will not be large. The proposal to increase the naval program was not made in the House of Commons today, but in the House of Lords yesterday. The Daily News (liberal) thinks Mr. Goschen's statement to the effect that the naval program had been agreed upon last November and was not a measure to the United States, this evening the assurances were treated for release and not for defiance, largely influenced the House.

The Times, commenting upon Mr. Goschen's statement, is inclined to think that recent events ought to have modified the estimates.

"Nobody has a right to complain," says the Times, "of the action taken measures for her own safety when neighbor dangers sitting up around her."

MAYOR SCHMITZ'S CASE.

Will Be Prosecuted for Sending Defamatory Matter Through the Mail.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 10.—The local authorities are awaiting instructions from Washington before entering proceedings against Mayor Schmitz for sending defamatory matter through the mails. The envelopes addressed to Congressmen and bearing the inscription, "Colon P. Huntington wants not even a red nun slave," etc., are made the basis of the complaint. United States District Attorney Foote and Postal Inspector Erwin had a long consultation about the matter today. Mr. Foote is of the opinion that the case against the mayor is a clear one. Mayor Schmitz on the other hand is not at all alarmed.

"The whole matter is a high handed proceeding," he said today. "I think it was primarily instigated by the congressmen. I am arrested I suppose I will have to submit the same as other citizens, but until I am arrested I do not propose to move in the matter. I have not as yet even consulted my attorney. I do not think my statement about Mr. Huntington is wrong or slander to be arrested, for it is true. He would not steal a red nun slave, for he could not remove it."

A TALE OF HORROR.

A Corpse Buried by an Insane Woman.

MEXICO, Mo., March 10.—One of the most horrible tales of death and neglect that have ever happened in this part of the state has just come to light at Martinsburg, Mo. Conner Boles, a citizen of this place, received a telegram from Father Dill, of the Catholic church at Martinsburg, telling him to come immediately. On his arrival he was taken to the farm of Pat Cronan, an old Irish farmer. Here an awful sight was disclosed. Lying on a bed in the room was the body of Mr. Cronan in a most advanced stage of decomposition, and the stench which filled the house was a most unbearable. Mrs. Cronan, who had been insane for several months, was going about her household duties as usual, cooking a meal in the room where the corpse lay and talking to special noise of it. Neither could be learned from her as to when her husband died or what caused his death. It seems that Mr. Cronan thought her husband very ill and sat with him every night until his last seemed sick. She then became frightened and told the priest. Mrs. Cronan has been insane and died since. Cause unknown. She was to have been taken to the asylum today.

ANOTHER WOMAN STRANGLED.

The San Francisco Police Believe They Have a Clue.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 10.—Another women of the town was strangled early this morning under circumstances almost identical with the other murders that have taken place recently in the same vicinity. Early this morning a woman named Bertha Patsche of 27 St. Mary's street, was found dead in her by an lover. When found she was lying on the bed, her feet resting on the floor. She had been strangled, a handkerchief having been thrown down her throat.

The room was in perfect order. The girl lay fully dressed on her bed. There were no marks of violence on the body. She has evidently been asleep and a tragedy, as well as a handkerchief, had been thrown down her throat. The money on her person was not touched and had there been any apparent effort to go into the bureau drawers or other places where money might be kept.

The police believe they have gained a slight case in the criminal.

J. F. Myler, who is waiter in the saloon on the corner, was summoned about 2 o'clock to take drinks to Bertha Patsche's room. Upon his departure the drinks he found two men in the woman's room. About twenty minutes later one of the men came into the saloon. He was a blonde of medium height, and Myler is sure that he is employed on a gasoline launch in the water front.
