OGDEN, UTAH, May 5, 1895.

Junction City Items.

The semi-annual conference of the T. M. M. A. was held in Junction City last week. Quite a large number were present from Ogden, Logan and the surrounding settlements. The meetings were very interesting and the exercises were instructive. It is a matter which serves well the purpose for which it was given to bring together a number of Mutual Improvement representatives. The results will undoubtedly be beneficial, for some time to come, to the Mutual Improvement Associations who were in the field of action, as represented.

Several prominent representatives of Mutual Improvement associations, were present from a distance, on the occasion of the annual conference, which commenced on Friday, April 26, and continued for three days. Among the prominent visitors were President Junius Romney, President Wilford Woodruff, President Lorenzo Snow, President Joseph F. Smith, President Anthon H. Lund, President Angus M. Cannon, President Abraham O. Woodruff, President Heber J. Grant, President Francis M. Lyman, President Moses Thatcher, President Rudger Clawson, President Marriner W. Merrill, President Abraham H. Cannon, President Brigham H. Roberts, President Jos.
