SETTING OF EQUITY CASES.

That Was the Principal Feature in Judge Zane's Court

AT THIS MORNING'S SESSION.

Suits Brought on Promissory Notes.—A Barber Violates the Sunday Ordinance.—General.

Members of the bar were present in full force in Judge Zane's court this morning, the first hour and a half of the day's session having been devoted to the setting of equity cases for two weeks, beginning on December 19th. Very little really important business of any other kind was transacted prior to the noon adjournment, and when brought to recover about $570 on account of work alleged to have been performed by the plaintiffs on a mining claim at Bingham, in which they had some financial interest with the defendant.

The hearing was in progress when the court adjourned for the noon recess.

SUITS FILED THIS MORNING.

Thomas Carter, in the Third district court this morning, brought suit against the Salt Lake Lumber Company and Natural Gas company; John H. Middlemiss, A. Hamilton, Jr., N. Trowers, Wm. Fuller, Carey-Lombard Co. and W. D. Pavey, to recover $1,530 and interest at 12 per cent per annum on a promissory note. Plaintiffs allege that on May 23d, in the present year, the defendant corporation executed and delivered the note to him, a d that prior to its delivery the plaintiffs Middlemiss, Hamilton, Trowers, and Fuller endorsed it. Against the Carey-Lombard Lumber Company the defendant Pavey claims some lien on the premises given as mortgage security, by virtue of a judgment obtained by the last two named defendants respectively against the Salt Lake Improvement and Natural Gas Company.

Williams and Van Cott are the plaintiff's attorneys.

Joseph E. Taylor has also brought a suit in the same court against Eugene L. Higgins to recover $800 and interest on a promissory note secured by a mortgage. A. V. Taylor is the plaintiff's attorney.

A TRAIN WRECKED

On the Union Pacific Railroad Near Hallville, Wyoming.

MANY PERSONS INJURED.

Most of Them were Italians and One May Die.

[Rights Reserved.]

One of the most serious wrecks which has ever occurred on the Union Pacific took place yesterday morning near Hallville, Wyoming, and in consequence the Union Pacific hospital here was filled this morning with more or less injured Italians, one of whom will possibly die within the next twelve hours.

Yesterday morning shortly before 7 o'clock Union Pacific No. 7, westbound, due to reach Ogden at 10:20 o'clock, pulled out of the Bitter creek station several hours behind time and the engineer threw upon the throttle. When about three miles east of Point of Rocks as the train was crossing a filled stretch of broken rail, and five cars, two empty stockcars, the day coach and two Pullmans went into the ditch. The engine, tender, both baggage and the two rear Pullmans stayed with the track. Next to the rear baggage car was an emigrant sleeper, filled to overflowing with raw Italians, men, women and children. The car jumped over an embankment and ran fast out in the prairie, where it struck a Pullman which had outspeeded it. The emigrant car was smashed into kindling wood and nearly of its occupants were injured. In the end which struck the Pullman were fifteen little children, ranging in ages from 1 month to five years, and although every seat in the forward half of the car was torn out and reduced almost to powder, not a child was injured. The other sleeper struck a telegraph pole fourteen inches in diameter (circumference) and ninety feet from the track, and cut it away as cleanly as could have been done with a saw. Continuing its mad flight the car battled into the day coach, telescoping itself but injuring none of the passengers therein. One of the Pullmans jumped about fifty feet in the direction of the other car and then plowed its way almost to where they rest side by side in the form of a diamond, damaging it as badly that repair will be almost impossible.

A wrecking train was sent out from Green river early in the morning to clear the track was again clear. While the crew was clearing away the wreckage a special bearing the injured, of whom there were twenty, nineteen being Italians and one an American who had received an ugly scalp wound, was run into Green river where the wounds of the passengers were attended to.

At 10:20 o'clock last night No. 7 left her right as way and came in as a special, reaching Ogden at 12:15 o'clock this morning. The damaged cars were left were they had been piled up. The Union Pacific hospital ambulance and several carriages were in waiting and the passengers were attended to, travel were taken to the hospital. There were several broken legs, or broken collar-bones and any number of cuts, bruises and sprains. One man was scalped by a flying piece of timber. Inasmuch as the injured were all Italians and unable to speak English no names could be learned. The emigrants were bound for Montana points.

Yesterday morning's eastbound passenger No. 2 struck a defective rail at Granger and one loaded sleeper turned upside down but injured no one.

Sunday morning No. 7 picked up a broken rail near Rawlins and dinned one car, but did little damage.

A disbelievers of others caused a freight wreck near Point of Rocks. Number 19 westbound freight ran by red orders and crashed into eastbound No. 2, ditching both trains and wrecking the engines and sleepers besides causing many cuts. The crew on No. 2 was asleep and running at a seriously speed, as the wreck might have been terribly fatal.

Within Our Gates.

A goodly number of "young men from the country" were here yesterday on pressing business with County Clerk Allen. No matter where they hailed from, they came to town and got permission, paying for same at current rates.

Mrs. Fisher and two children, who came here two or three months ago from Cheyenne, returned this morning. The lady was in quest of health, and we have it on good authority that she found it. Tell you more for our unappreasonable cousins!

James Clark, a prominent sheepman of Grantsville, came in today and was looking around for a young man—latter—who was robbed last night. The young man had been buying coal, for not the 1 cinder met him, he was cleaned into a "cute thing" game to the tune of $20.

Charles Engelsen, manager of the Logan Journal, impressed with the accounts of our growing greatness in Utah, came down last week and on raising this morning looked around, probably he thought we were getting up some models of the Nicaragua canal, but we hope he will refrain from saying so.

George Washington Jenkins, of Manti, accompanied by his sister Hattie came up this morning. He is expected with our improvement [illegible] of agitating [illegible] [illegible] for his own [illegible] [illegible] smoke than [illegible] soon make the [illegible] eighborhood have lately lost several hundred lambs and he was a little pleased lately, took his gun and went out to get an end for the proceedings. He was totally confounded by the sight of the wooden deputies and minding his own shot and presumably hit, for the other man ever made haste to carry his pal away. The chicken house had been cut down so that no one outside more the thieves would have escaped with their booty. It is suspected that the man who was shot is now being received medical attendance, we shall soon know. This kind of thing has been going on here for some time, and if Mr. Alexander has given it even a temporary check he has done so much good.

COUNCILMAN HARDY RETURNS.

He is Very Sanguine Over the Success of the Gravity Sewer System.

For several days past Councilman O. H. Hardy has been on a business trip to Pueblo and Denver. While there he made careful inquiry into the gravity sewer question and returns in an exceedingly enthusiastic mood as to the feasibility of adopting that plan here. "Why, he is even more sanguine regarding the success of the proposition than I am," said City Engineer Lemon today, "and you know what that means."

The successful solution of the sewer problem and the placing of the telephone and electric light wires under ground, are considered by Mr. Hardy to be among the greatest improvements needed in this city.
