SALE OF COUNTY PROPERTY. WE are in receipt of the annexed communication: LOGAN, Aug. 10, 1881.

Editor Deseret News: The County Court here have disposed of the Court House, etc., at private sale as acknowledged in the Logan Leader of the 4th inst.

I am requested to ask you to give your opinion, through the columns of your valuable paper, whether the sale is legal or not and would stand the test of law?

ty to dispose of public property with-out first giving notice of the sale, so that all desirous of purchasing might bld, and the county derive the bencould be obtained, thereby doing justice to the citizens and to the county. If left to the Court to dispose of as they choose, it leaves the matter open for private speculations, favoritism, etc., which would hardly be proper with the public property.
I note that the editor of the Lead.

In our opinion the County Court had the right to dispose of the property in question for the benefit of the County, and so far as that is concerned, we think the sale would "stand the test of the law." But we are unable to give an opinion upon the whole subject not being their own houses, invest large sums in Building Societies, Savings' Banks, and the like; many of them live in their own houses, and a great number have very respectable and well furnished houses."

public business should be publicly understood, and that transactions of the character referred to ought a corner or be kept from the knowledge of the community. Public confidence in home storic plant is of the capital supplyed amount of dividend-bearing attentions and the capital supplyed amount of dividend-bearing stock, while the capital supplyed accurate and controls the general management. Any surplus is an room for objection, no opening for carpers and fault-finders when everything is open and above-board. Suspiciou finds easy place enough against men in office, no matter how careful they are to act with fidelity, and when they give an opportunity for distrust by withholding that which should be placed within the gaze and comment of all, they cannot consistently complain if they are made the subjects of ample criticism. Let us have light.

IRON AGAIN.

Ave understood lately that one of the largest from manufacturing smethers are conducted on a co-operative plant; to wit, the employees are allowed to purchase and hold a limited amount of dividend-bearing atook, while the capital sumployed as a stock, while the capital sumployed amount of dividend-bearing atook, while the capital sumployed as and controls the general management. Any surplus is an ascard amongs the capital management. Any surplus is an analysis of nearly overybody, and the heat of last week more than doubled the de-than or nearly overybody, and the heat of last week more than doubled the de-than or nearly overybody, and the heat of last week more than doubled the de-than or nearly overybody, and the heat of last week more than doubled the de-than of the informed was first inaugurated at the iron works represented by Sir J. Louthian Bell, and has resulted in removing all conflicts between capital and labor within the sphere of that corporation.

I have come to the conclusion that the harmonious relations of capital and labor is an abstract science and and labor is an abstract science and and labor is an abstract science and any laboration of t merely to keep the matter in agitation, with the hope that something practical will grow out of its discus sion. The information and views set forth in the following asticle we consider of value to all who are investigating the question of the feasibility of iron manufacture in Utah MAMMOTH MILL, Tintic, Utah, July 28th, 1881.

Charles W. Penrose, Salt Lake City, Utah,

Dear Sir.—The quarterly statement of the condition of Biast Furnaces in the United States, July 1st, 1881, as compiled from the Iron Age, is as follows:

Charcoal Furnaces.

Some of our legal inminaries con-tend that the Court has no authori-ty to dispose of public property withblast supplied from one engine and blowers, which admits of the continuous operation of one furnace, and accounts in some degree for the number of furnaces out of blast at the present time. In fact it is the case most of the time. A charcual furnace, of the capacity estimated, would employ about 75 men in all. The number of teams would be as the distance of the transportation of wood and charcoal. About ten trained men would be necessary, all the others would be men accustomed to common labor; in the event of the ed men would be necessary, all the others would be necessary, all the others would be men accustomed to common labor; in the event of the count not possibly be made with any other purchaser. That opinion in this instance counts nothing, since they could not possibly know with out seeking such information.

Even if the Court has the right to sell county property privately, there would be no harm in letting the public know, and it would be men accustomed to common labor; or nearly so. In the year 1867, I and no poportunity of obtaining data bearing on the prices of labor in rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman connected with the North Chicago Rolling mills in Europe, from a gentleman pears to us it held the power to do so and machinery, or rather what the veyance shall be executed. It would be reasonably inferred from the language of the statutes that the County Courts have the right to sell and convey county property, and as not be well suited for a large manu-to sell at public auction, we infer proposed.

I wish to be distinctly understood in the same parties in-per in the county, and where none is published, that it be posted up in the office of the County Clerk. A fine of five hundred dollars may be imposed on the Clerk for neglect of his duty in this particular.

It does not follow, as some seem to think, that a larger sum will necessarily be obtained for a piece of public property at a public than aprivate sale. A man may be found who is willing to give a good round sum for it when approached privately, while if it was put up at public auction and bld-ders were any, ne might buy it in at a much lower figure. It is quite over the biast furnace erected at togden some years ago and found it then very defective in some lamp to seem out a minister with me to send out a minister.

It does not follow, save from some of the p perty in question, and that the people will so acknowledge upon inquiry and information.

Without pretending to determine a matter the particulars of which have not come to our knowledge, we say on general principles that public business should be publicly understood, and that transactions of the character referred to ought.

Well suited to commercial transactions more difficult in application to productive industry. In the mantels are of the most expensive kind and the mirrors are very large and costly. Grant inspected the house on Tuesday and was so well pleased with it that he brought well pleased with it that he brought well pleased with it that he brought was granticipated. I have understood that it does not work as well as was anticipated. I have understood lately that one of the character referred to ought.

Colonel Armstrong, his minister of state, and Colonel Jaidd, favored me with an interview at the Continents al Hotel, this evening. His majesty informed me that he would leave on Monday for Portuguis, where he had to superintend some arrangements for the emigration of a number of Portuguese to Hawali. He told me that he had been much disappointed. that he had been much disappointed by his first glimpse of Paris and Vienna, whereas New York had immediately strict him as being a very beautiful city. Ne rer acquaintance with each had however, greatly modified his impression. "And what" and I are your malesty." sell the Sandwich Islands to a for-eign power?" "Yes," answered the king with spirit; "I first saw the story at Cairo, but it was too ridi-culous, I thought, to need contra-diction. In London, however, I saw the story repeated. There is not a word of truth in it. The papers," he continued, resignedly, "do not seem to understand the state of affairs in Hawaii. My kingdom is a to sell at public auction, we infer that the private sale was legal.

Colonel Armstrong here remarked that Queen Victoria might just as that Queen Victoria might just as reasonably be suspected of bartering the British independence. King Kalakava nodded as ent. I then asked his majesty to inform me what were the real objects of his journey. He replied, "I set out on my travels partly for my pleasure and partly for my bealth, but as I was going my prive council saw fit."

THE CASE

IN THE WORLD!

KAYSVILLE, Davis Co.,

Dear Sir .- This will certify that I witnessed for one whole day, on the 4th inst., the operation of the Agitator Thresher of the Case manufacture, sold by John W. Lowell to Bishop Barton and others at Kaysville. As I have built Separators and run them in this country, I ought to be competent to judge of their merits. The Case Agitator threshes fast and is very easy on the horses. It cleans grain well and absolutely WASTES NO GRAIN. 1 saw it work for hours in wet Barley and wet and weedy Oats, and it did 100 bushels an hour. The only trouble I saw with it was, that one man with s patent Tallier, could not measure the grain as fast as the Agitator threshed it, as all who were present will testify. I recommend the Case Agitator as the best thresher I have ever seen.

John W. Lowell, Dear Sir.-In reply to your in quiry, we will state that we are running the Agitator Thresher, sold by you to Bishop Barton and others. It is doing most excellent work, very easy to feed, capacity very large, have tried it in very weedy and damp grain, both Wheat and Oats and never saw a machine with easier smoothly and do as good work. Many have been to see it run and have expressed the same opinion. No chance for any grain to be carried off with the straw; the Elevator works like a charm-never saw any to equal it. We are satisfied it excels any machine we ever saw, and we feel exceedingly well pleased
