FRANCE MUST KEEP OFF

Control Left Bank of the Nile is for the Khedive.

TONKIN EXTENDED THE BOUNDARIES

Delicate Question, However, Takes a Back Seat—France Must Accept Mandate or Take Consequences.

London, Oct. 25.—All interest today is focused in the Marquis de Salisbury's speech at the Fashoda correspondence, contained in the publication of the Morning Post, which appeared last night. The speech has been received by the conservative newspapers express satisfaction at being highly pleased with the reminder to the French yellow book on the same subject. They decline that it is time the idea spread by the dispatch of the French ambassador to Rome, which announced that the premier was willing to negotiate on the whole question.

Even the liberal and radical organs are convinced the Marquis of Salisbury has concluded the Marquis of Salisbury has concluded a satisfactory arrangement.

The secret press, however, resents the attitude of the government of Fashoda question, in spite of discussion. Sir H. James (Liberal) says this afternoon: "We are prepared to support the Marquis of Salisbury's policy, but we do not consider the Nile both banks and territories from its source to the sea. The Globe thinks the Marquis of Salisbury's speech is clear that Major Marchand must quit Fashoda without discussion. Could that be a doubt, there would be no discussion of the French claims in Africa.

The Globe points out the significant announcement in Gen. Kitchener's report that he sent gunboats south to meet towards Modra-el-Rek, the principal native center of Baker's Dinka country, in contradiction to certainty to establish friendly relations and that before the Sudanese reached Fashoda, the Dinka chiefs had accepted the Egyptian protectorate. The Globe adds, brings the position down to an eighth parallel or with latitude and the valley of Bahr-el-Ghazal, which is south of the line of the Khedive. It would be interesting to see the effect of this position upon the French government.

The Pall Mall Gazette concludes from the publication of the Blue-book that the French claims have been given up, and that they wholly absent from the Fashoda question in 1896 to the term, the claims on the left bank of the Nile are received as utterly untenable and France must accept the position or take the consequences.
