BRIGHTON HOTEL LEASED.

Popular Mountain Hostelry Will be Thrown Open to the Public July 2nd.

Many Salt Lakers who have wondered whether the Brighton hotel at the head of the Cottonwoods would open its doors to public patronage this season will be pleased to learn that it will. The popular hostelry has been leased by R. Jay Lambert and Will H. Lett, who are now furnishing the building anew. These gentlemen announce that they propose to make the place an ideal summer resort—which, by the way, it already is—and that they will cater to the public taste in a way that will be satisfactory to mountain campers and callers. Several families have taken up their abode there now, and many others will soon follow. Dances will be given twice a week throughout the season and bonfires and potato bake parties will also be on the schedule of amusements. Fishing is said to be better this summer than for many years past. The mountain tourist has two routes open to choose from this year as heretofore, the one via the Utah Central from the Rio Grande Western depot to Park City, where connection is made with the stage, and the other by stage all the way up the canyon.

Brighurst.

A lady by the name of Mrs. H. Youngblood would like to know the whereabouts of her two cousins, Robert Brighurst and John Brighurst, who is a twin brother of Annie Brighurst. Their parents moved to Utah about 18[illegible], after joining the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. They came from Louisville, Chester county, Pa. Address Mrs. H. Youngblood, [illegible] Del. Co., Pa., or N. Hayes, 1722 South Twenty-third street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Anniversary.

J. W. Summerhays and Melissa his wife celebrated the twenty-eighth anniversary of their wedding day at their residence in Forest Dale last evening. By invitation about three hundred friends and relatives attended and the spacious grounds and roomy residence made it a very pleasant task to accommodate the large crowd present. The grounds were beautifully illuminated with Chinese lanterns, headlights and adjustable lamps, while a large canvas spread over a part of the lawn furnished an ideal dancing floor for the lovers of the terpsichorean art. The front lawn provided two or three sets of croquet, which seemed to attract many. A program consisting of songs, recitations, speeches, etc., was given and from the generous applause bestowed was greatly appreciated by the audience. In the residence, refreshments were served to the guests and the hostess with her daughters attended with grace and good nature to the wants of all who visited the dining room. There were poems read, composed by local authors, speaking words of praise and good will of Brother and Sister Summerhays, for their hospitality and generosity in preparing such an occasion for the good people of Forest Dale and friends. The dancing and games continued until midnight, when one of the most happy times enjoyed by the Dale people was brought to a pleasing conclusion.

The Guard Disbanded.

The three infantry companies of the National Guard located in this city last night unanimously voted to disband and requested their officers to apply to Governor Wells for their discharge. At the same time the officers of the companies agreed to resign. This action was taken on account of the feeling among the guardsmen that they have not been fairly treated, but have been neglected to their detriment as a body and as individuals in their standing among every-day associates. The most cruel blow of all, claim the guardsmen, was the recruiting of large numbers of volunteers for active service, without giving the organized bodies the first chance for which they joined. In consequence they are getting the undeserved name of "tin soldiers" and "stay-at-homes," all of which tends to make life a burden to them. It is complained also that there are no general officers to whom to make report and that the guard is therefore in an unorganized condition which is unsatisfactory to the members and which, after repeated promises of better handling, shows no sign of future improvement. There was not a single vote in opposition last night, and it is expected that the disbanded companies remaining at Beaver and Manti will soon follow with similar action.

Patriotic Little Girls.

The following self-explanatory letter, with the money mentioned therein, has been received by the Red Cross society. It is a good example and should be followed by others:

"Salt Lake City, June 27, 1898.
"President of the Red Cross, City.
"Dear Madam—We, Elizabeth Palmer, Harriet Cohn, Dora McMillan, Wanda Gaudening, Alice Goodwin, Edna Duncan, Hilda Bamberger, Ora Dunford, Mamie Supplington, assisted by Ruth Palmer, Sylvia Cohn, Walter Salisbury and Gordon McMillan, wishing to assist our country, gave a strawberry festival on Thursday evening, June 23, from which we netted $21.10, the admission charged being 10 cents per ticket. Mrs. Dunford kindly offered her home and grounds.
"We hope that the money will be of good use in assisting our 'boys in blue.' Yours respectfully,
"THE COMMITTEE."
