NO. 235. FRIDAY, AUGUST 28, 1896, SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. VOL. XXIX

ARRIVAL OF LI HUNG

Great Reception Accorded China's Statesman in New York.

A TRIUMPHANT PROCESSION.

President Cleveland and Party Leave Gestrude Bay to Receive the Envoy.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The American steamship St. Louis from Southampton, August 22, having on board Li Hung Chang, Chinese special envoy, and suite, was signalled east of Fire Island at nine o'clock this morning. She should reach Quarantine shortly after noon.

The St. Louis arrived at Quarantine at 12:30 and was immediately boarded by General Horace Porter and the government reception officers from the cruiser Dolphin, who extended to the Chinese embassy in behalf of President Cleveland a welcome to the United States. The St. Louis slowly moved up the bay, surrounded by all kinds of gaily decorated craft with the Dolphin quite near her, in the music of a tremendous chorus of steam whistles and a continued and fashionable giant Brocksmacker. As the St. Louis passed the American fleet a salute of 21 guns was fired from the vessels was fired from the Battery New York, gun by gun, until twenty one shots were fired. Ten other warships dipped their colors as the St. Louis passed. They presented a magnificent appearance and were manned with the greatest interest by the Chinese visitors who could hardly tear themselves from the rail long enough to get a good view of the upper dock.

At quarantine it was learned that Li Hung Chang joined the voyage yesterday morning and has not been at all seasick.

The St. Louis moved up the harbor in a pack of steamers, proceeded, greeted on all sides with long shrill steam whistles and other salutes and reached the dock at 12:30 p. m. The party was landed in the usual manner, owing to the delay in waiting the ship along the side of her wharf.

All kinds of gaits were dashing here and there in everybody's way, but nevertheless evening continued. The yellow standard of China was busily covered by the crowds about the wharf.

The Chinese party was received after by a guard of honor of marine whistles and an immense crowd which was with difficulty kept back from the approaches of the police. The Chinese standard was hoisted over from the American the steamer on the Chinese embassador landed at the wharf and entered the carriage with General Hagen. In the next carriage were Tan Tai Li, Major Von Hatzfeld and a member of the staff of Gen. Hagen. In the later carriage were Lord Li and wife, Lum Fung Lieh and another staff officer. Another carriage contained the Chinese minister, Chinese consul and their suites, accompanied by staff officers. The carriages were preceded by a detachment of the 10th cavalry, neither detachment bringing up the rear. A detachment of mounted police headed the procession which moved slowly down the Broadway. The route of procession was guarded by police and densely packed with spectators. Bunting was displayed on all sides, the Chinese standard being conspicuous everywhere.

General Hagen was the first American introduced to Li Hung Chang on board the Dolphin. As they shook hands then the general said: "Ambassador, I am here on behalf of the United States government and President Cleveland to bid you welcome to this country."

The translator told the ambassador what he said. He stated that he would reply in Chinese and said: "I am glad to be here and I thank you for your kindness. I am glad to know you."

The distinguished Chinaman was quiet in demeanor, speaking in low tones. That he is not without humor was evidenced by the expression upon his face when he gave a hearty laugh at jokes. He said: "We have no reports in China, but I see they have some here."

When the dock was reached the gang plank had hardly been put in position when Col. Fred Grant stepped up. The ambassador's face beamed with smiles as he grasped the colonel's hand and shook it warmly. He conversed with him a few minutes and then turned to his suite to bid farewell.

Daniel French, the sculptor of the statue of Lincoln in Lincoln Park, was here in Cambridge, Mass., but of late years he regular studio has been in New York City.

Nashua School Question.

WINSTED, Mass., Aug. 28.—Premier Loubet's efforts to settle the Nashua parochial school question seem to be futile. The compromise accepted by the Gruenway government does not suit the Roman Catholics. The official organ of Archbishop Langevin says the Nashua Gazette consulting with the popes on the question, has yet to say in a leading editorial, "Nothing but a separate parochial school will satisfy us. A settlement which refuses to so unfurl the ghost of the shades of our rights we will never accept. The hate Jesuitism for the energy to visit schools and teach the catechism will not do. To put a plaster over a festering sore only makes it break out with renewed virulence elsewhere."

CAMPAIGN FUNDS.

Farmers to Contribute the Products of Their Farms.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Secretary H. E. Dillard of the National Silver Executive committee has been devising a plan which he thinks will assist in raising funds throughout the farming localities to carry on the coming campaign. He proposes that farmers in each county where corn, sheep or any other produce of the farm, to be sent to a central point, where the people may gather, and auction them off to the highest bidder. The proceeds will be a sort of harvest campaign festival where the people may congregate and where the products may be brought by those wanting them, the general purpose being to devote exclusively to the paying of the expenses of the campaign to the particular localities represented. He thinks that great benefit may be derived from this arrangement and has some results already.

The farmers, he believes, will do what they can in the manner indicated to assist the political interests they have at heart. The national committee will, he says, send all the money that may be contributed for general campaign purposes and not the sending out of speakers to discuss the issues of the day.

VIENNA, Aug. 28.—Emperor Francis Joseph was dressed in a Russian uniform and on the arrival of the train with the czar and czarina the head of the Austrian regiment presented the Russian colors.

HAVANA, Aug. 28.—Advices not received here confirm the exclusive story of the Associated Press of the fifty-six-hour defiance by the escort of the military train which was reported missing between Cano Tato and Bacaragua, province Santa Clara. The insurgents now, it appears, lost about fifty men killed and four men wounded, including the insurgent general, Remedios. Antonio Maceo and his force met under him during the same engagement, it is believed, by dividing themselves the bandage the Creator intended for all the people of this country. (Applause.)

"That platform charge that every man shall be delegated in the enjoyment of that which he earns, but that no man shall be permitted to enjoy that which somebody else earns and which is taken from him by vicious legislation. The reason they are sneaky opinions and apply hard names to those who support this platform is because they know the platform is a menace to wrongdoers, not the smaller wrongdoer only, but also to the larger transgressor who attempts to use the government as an instrument to wrong others." (Applause.)

During the morning ride Bryan said to an Associated Press representative:

"I am more than gratified with the demonstration of last evening which for surpass anything I expected. I not pleased to find so unanimous a sentiment in favor of the endorsement of the action of the Chicago convention. From what I have seen in New York, and the sentiments expressed by the members of the state organization, I am satisfied the state convention will endorse the platform and nominate the ticket. Some delegates may oppose parts of the platform, but it is a national platform and will be accepted as a whole."

During a brief stop at Niagara the Bryan party were taken on a special car to Lewiston. After ascending the tower for a view of the falls they boarded the train for Knowlesville, near Medina, to speak to a farmers' picnic.

SISTER CLAWSON'S FUNERAL.

Services Held at the Family Residence Yesterday Afternoon.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Sister Ellen C. Clawson occurred at the family residence, on South Temple street, yesterday. There was a large number of friends present to pay their last respects to one who was in life a true sister in Israel and a woman to whom her acquaintances looked for precepts in righteous duty. Her devotion to her family and to the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will be held in sacred memory while life lasts in those whose fortune it was to come in contact with her. Bishop Orson F. Whitney conducted the ceremonies and paid a beautiful tribute to the life work of the noble dead.

Apostle Heber J. Grant offered the opening prayer.

Elder John Nicholson spoke of the indefatigable work of the deceased in the betterment and final exaltation of mankind and earnestly commended an emulation of her splendid example.

The Eightieth Quorum of Seventies furnished beautiful music, and may were assisted by a quartet from the ward of the Twenty-seventh, of which Sister Clawson was a member and in which she took so much interest. The pall bearers were Stanley Clawson, Joe Clawson, Walter Clawson, Binney Clawson, Rudger Clawson and William Clawson.

Last Saturday afternoon, August 15, lightning struck a cottonwood tree standing about three rods from the southeast corner of Julius C. Adams's grounds, tearing out quite a strip of wood about eight or nine feet in length and tearing off the bark in a strip about six inches wide. As the tree was a gnarly, winding one the pieces are torn out with the grain of the wood, and some pieces were hurled a distance of several rods. The tree was shortern off the base of the tree three or four inches. There are a number of families living in the vicinity and they felt as the lightning struck plainly enough.

POLITICAL OUTLOOK.

Talk With Zera Snow on Ex-Dionian and "Sound Money" Democrat.

THINKS OREGON IS FOR MCKINLEY

Mr. Snow Is On the Way to Attend the Convention of National Democrats at Indianapolis.

"Yes, I think Oregon will go for McKinley." So said Zera Snow, of Portland, to a News man this afternoon. Mr. Snow is a "sound money" Democrat and a delegate from his state to the convention of "sullenes" Democrats which meets at Indianapolis on September 2. Mr. Snow is a brother of Surveyor General Snow of this city, a son of the late Judge Zera Snow, and assistant prosecuting attorney of Utah under Judge Van Zile and now counsel for the Union Pacific railway in Oregon where he is known as one of the foremost lawyers of the state.

Mr. Snow says he has the highest possible regard for Bryan but that he cannot support him at the polls. "We had," he said, "one hundred and twenty delegates in our convention in Oregon with only about half the counties in the State represented."

At the election in 1894, says Mr. Snow, the Republican party had about 2,000 or 3,000 more votes than the Democratic and Populist parties combined. As to the election of June of this year that was so badly mixed on account of local complications and blocks that it cannot be considered as a reflection in any sense. At that time for instance, the Republican silver candidate for Congress was defeated by the regular Republican nominee who was also a silver man but who stands for McKinley.

Mr. Snow says there are no silver Republicans in Oregon—that is in the sense in which they are known here and in Idaho. They have no organization and are still in the Republican party either straight or not at all. Mr. Snow went out to Salem with his brother, the surveyor general, on the 4th inst. He will go east tonight.

"CROWN," BUT NOT "CROSS."

Congressman Neill Used the Former, But the Latter—Going to Stump Cal-Lonia for McKinley.

Congressman H. W. McCall of Winchester, Massachusetts, has been a quiet visitor in this city for the past two days, arriving from the East yesterday morning, registering at the Knutsford and departing for San Francisco today. He is accompanied by his wife and is going to the Pacific coast to stump for McKinley. Congressman McCall is the gentleman who was recently credited by a New York paper with being the first person to use the "crown of thorns" expression which, in connection with the expression "crucifixion of gold" is generally regarded a very taking part of W. J. Bryan's remarkable Chicago speech. Mr. McCall says he did use a part of the expression in a speech delivered in Congress on the tariff question in 1894. At that time he said he gave vent to the following: "Ye shall not press down upon this we so thorns upon the brow of labor." As to the invention of the new famous utterance "Ye shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold," Mr. McCall says he never saw or heard of it until after the Chicago convention.

SILVER REPUBLICANS.

Will Gilbrale and Listen to Senators Teller, Cannon, Dubois and other Champions.

Ogden Standard: The silver Republicans, or what might more properly be called, the Bryan Republicans have been quietly getting together lately and if present plans are not thwarted they will be in a little while, setting sure that will make the McKinley boys wonder where they are at. From what can be learned the silver Republicans do not take kindly to the idea that the G. O. P. of Utah shall wrestle the golden calf as proposed by the Salt Lake Tribune, and they propose to stand upon the same grounds that has always supported western Republicans—i. e.—silver and protection, but the sentiment for silver is paramount and for the present at least the silver standard shall lead them.

The program is to hold a big rally at the opera house in the near future. Senators Teller and Dubois will speak besides Senator Cannon and other silver orators. At a meeting of committees held last night the plans were perfected and today the committee on arrangements will be very much in evidence. The Tribune will be asked to attend and hear the arguments of the silver advocates. Arrangements will be made for overflow meetings as it is expected that the Grand opera house will not be able to hold half the crowd that is sure to gather to cheer for Bryan and silver. It is proposed to make the occasion a state affair and to that end committees on transportation and invitation have been selected and from now on preparations for the big affair will hum.

ORGANIZE FOR MCKINLEY.

Ladies Take The Initiative in That Direction and Promulgate a Dollars Set of Faith.

A large and spirited meeting of Republican ladies met at party headquarters yesterday afternoon and organized for McKinley. Mrs. Arthur Brown, wife of Senator Brown, was the directing power and said the ol

Said Khalid May Be Surrendered to the British Officials by the Germans.

ZANZIBAR, Aug. 28.—The crisis here is regarded as ended. The new sultan, Hamoud bin Mohammed bin Said, will follow the peaceful lines of his predecessor. It is understood that Great Britain does not intend to make any change in the existing form of government. It is expected that Khalid will be handed over to the British officials as soon as the German consulate receives the necessary instructions from Berlin.

Desperadoes Surrounded.

SILVER CITY, N. M., Aug. 28.—Word was received here last night that the nine men comprising the gang of desperadoes who robbed the Separ postoffice, held up the Nogales bank and killed and wounded several men, part of the party which pursued them, are surrounded in Stockton canyon, in Cochise county, Arizona, by a posse of United States marshals, acting under Colonel Hall of New Mexico and the commander of troops from Fort Bayard and Fort Grant, and that an attack will be made as soon as the troops and marshals have sufficiently surrounded the place. One of the Sections Once Adorning the Worlds Fair.

Several plans were offered by which the statue might be preserved, but one after another the objections and shock it warmly. Its destruction with nine a few minutes was the result. Its carriage for subways sow to Waldorf Astoria.

Barrabri refused to say anything as to who owned the jewelry and was released.

General Neal Dow's Views.

ATLANTIC, Mass., Aug. 28.—A letter received here today from General Neal Dow, the noted prohibitionist and former candidate for the presidency, in which he gives his views on the money question is made public by the general's correspondence. The letter says:

"The proposition of the Populists and other silver men is this:

"The Congress must a bill making 371 grains of silver equal in value to 100 cents in gold; that the 53 cents in corn collectly received as full payment for 100 cents in gold. That, if accomplished would be a lie, a fraud, a lie. I see how an honest man can consent to that, much less propose it. If adopted the country would be in a panic while it continued."

A Retreat Accepted.

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 28.—A passenger train over the White Mountain division of the Boston and Maine railway was derailed at the Ferry street crossing within the city limits last night. The engine, baggage car and smoker left the rails and were badly wrecked. Every occupant of the smoking car was more or less seriously injured and it is feared that several will die. THE CHICAGO PLATFORM.

Mr. Bryan Explains It to Farmers of New York State.

The Democratic Nominee Gratified with the Demonstration Accorded Him.

NIAGARA FALLS, Aug. 28.—Bryan left Buffalo by train this morning to begin today's campaign among the smaller cities in eastern New York. At Tonawanda were gathered 200 or 300 people. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan shook hands with the typical country crowd. Bryan spoke briefly. His voice showed wear and tear after the week's work. When the car moved off the train followed by three cheers "for the next President."

The speech was as follows:

"Ladies and gentlemen: The Chicago platform, while it was written and adopted by the Democrats of the West and South, does not raise any sectional question. It simply reasserts the principles of Thomas Jefferson and otherwise enunciated by Andrew Jackson (applause) and the democratic upon which the Democratic party now stands. Always state, unless it ceases to embodies the principles which have been in principle the beginning, and it embodies a sentiment that some have called modern Democracy. (Applause.)

"The Chicago platform simply reiterates those fundamental principles upon which our form of government must rest. The keynote of the Chicago platform is found in the Declaration of Independence, that all men are created equal and that therefore no men have a right to appropriate to themselves the bandage the Creator intended for all the people of this country. (Applause.)

"Laws should not be made so that money will out and we only the rich the rich of this country.

"That platform charge that every man shall be delegated in the enjoyment of that which he earns, but that no man shall be permitted to enjoy that which somebody else earns and which is taken from him by vicious legislation. The reason they are sneaky opinions and apply hard names to those who support this platform is because they know the platform is a menace to wrongdoers, not the smaller wrongdoer only, but also to the larger transgressor who attempts to use the government as an instrument to wrong others." (Applause.)

During the morning ride Bryan said to an Associated Press representative:

"I am more than gratified with the demonstration of last evening which for surpass anything I expected. I not pleased to find so unanimous a sentiment in favor of the endorsement of the action of the Chicago convention. From what I have seen in New York, and the sentiments expressed by the members of the state organization, I am satisfied the state convention will endorse the platform and nominate the ticket. Some delegates may oppose parts of the platform, but it is a national platform and will be accepted as a whole."

During a brief stop at Niagara the Bryan party were taken on a special car to Lewiston. After ascending the tower for a view of the falls they boarded the train for Knowlesville, near Medina, to speak to a farmers' picnic.
