the second section by adding the words "and does not in good faith involve the purchase and delivery of articles contracted to be sold and delivered according to the terms and requirements of such contract." He said the purpose of the amendment was to distinguish legitimate transactions from gambling operations. Washburn said he was satisfied that the effect of the amendment would be disastrous to the bill, absolutely destroying its purpose. White supported the amendment and George of Mississippi opposed it. Palmer of Illinois spoke against the bill generally. Vilas spoke in explanation and support of his amendment, and denied that it would defeat the object of the bill. After further discussion the amendment went over without action.

Wilson of Iowa offered a resolution calling on the secretary of the treasury for a copy of the opinion of the law officer of his department, under which he is disbursing five million souvenir coins in aid of the Columbian Exposition conditioned on Sunday closing. Also a copy of the regulations as to the issue and delivery of the coins. The Senate then adjourned till Monday.

THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—In the House today the Republicans filibustered all day against the consideration of the private war claims bill with the result that nothing was accomplished. Richardson, of Tennessee, from the committee on printing, reported a concurrent resolution for the printing of sixty thousand copies of the report of the agricultural department on the peach industry and diseases of cattle for distribution by senators and representatives. Richardson had read to the clerk the following slip, which, he said, was inserted in some books sent out by the agricultural department: "This book is mailed to you by J. M. Rusk, secretary of agriculture." Congress had passed a law prohibiting heads of departments from sending out publications of the bureau with "compliments." This action of the secretary of agriculture was an evasion of the law. The resolution was agreed to, and a recess was taken until evening.

Fire and Oil.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 13.—Last night Eddy House, a boy 10 years old, dropped a blazing stick into a tank containing 5000 gallons of oil used for running an engine at the San Bernardino laundry. A terrific explosion followed. Eddy House, Harry Taylor and Billy Edwards were terribly burned, and are in a critical condition. The engineer closed the opening in the tank and smothered the flames.

The Montana Senatorship.

HELENA, Mon., Jan. 13.—The joint ballot for United States senator today was Sanders, Republican, 32; Clark, Democrat, 25; Dixon, Democrat, 8; Melville, Populist, 3; Farrel, 2.

A Long Voyage.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—The ship Lord Templemore arrived today, 212 days from Liverpool. The Templemore was overdue and had been given up for lost. She had a terrible experience during the voyage. She was caught in a storm off the eastern coast of South America, which lasted seventy days. It took her sixty days to get round Cape Horn. The rigging was badly used up and several of the crew were hurt, but no lives were lost.

STILL "SECRETARY" SEARS.

A Joint Meeting of the Old and New Officers of the Chamber of Commerce.

A joint meeting of the old and new officers of the Chamber of Commerce was held at the Board of Trade building last night.

The new officers all filed their bonds and qualified and the business was turned over to them by the old officials, who retired.

The old transportation company remains the same as before. The chamber's committee to confer with the Business Men's association was also retained.

A communication was received from Chairman Webber of the special committee on transportation, stating that the agreement entered into by the railroads last October to reduce rates according to the demands of the commission from the Chamber of Commerce, had not been complied with with respect to bullion, ore and coke. The board adopted a resolution, which was addressed to Chairman Webber, demanding to know why these rates have not been placed on the articles mentioned. If the railroads do not make the rates good on bullion, ore and coke, suit will be resumed against them in the same manner as last year.

The board then went into executive session and at the close thereof announced that they had unanimously decided upon Mrs. Sears' re-election as secretary.

On motion of A. H. Cannon, James H. Bacon was unanimously chosen treasurer.

SUPREME COURT OPINIONS

Delivered by the Judges During Yesterday Afternoon's Session.

The following opinions were handed down yesterday afternoon, but too late for publication in that day's issue.

ANDERSON SUSTAINED.

A. M. Musser vs. George A. Moses, appellant; appeal from Judge Anderson in the Third district court. In the lower court the plaintiff sued for a balance of $346.25, alleged to be due for money advanced by plaintiff to defendant, with which the defendant was to pay certain taxes and rent, to the sum of $500. The defendant demurred to the complaint and the demurrer was overruled, and as the defendant elected to stand by his demurrer, judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff for the amount demanded. From this judgment the defendant appealed.

Judge Zane delivered the opinion of the court and sustained Judge Anderson's decision, with Judge Miner concurring.

MUST REMAIN IN THE "PEN."

United States vs. P. D. Sprague, appellant; appeal from the Third district court, Anderson, judge. The defendant was indicted and convicted for attempting to pass counterfeit coin, and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. After the indictment had been read to Sprague and the plea stated, the United States attorney, without a statement of the substance of the evidence he expected to offer, or of the facts that the testimony would tend to prove, offered evidence to the jury. To such introduction the defendant objected and excepted, and the overruling of the objection they assigned as error, and appealed.

Judge Zane delivered the opinion of the court, and affirmed the judgment of the lower court, Judges Miner and Blackburn concurring.

ANDERSON AGAIN UPHELD.

Wm. H. Wood, appellant, vs. Moylan & Fox and Sarah M. Lawrence, executors of John Lawrence, deceased; appeal from the Third district, Anderson, judge. In this case the plaintiff sued upon an declaration of trust given him in 1872, entitling him to a one-eighth interest in certain real estate, mining and rolling stocks, and to $33,567.87 owed to Lawrence by the Eureka Milling Company, and of property acquired in Detroit, Mich., the complaint setting up that he was entitled to such property by virtue of said declaration of trust. The answer was a substantial denial of the allegations of the complaint and further pleaded the statute of limitations as to the Michigan property, the suit having been brought in 1888. Lawrence appears dead in 1881, and before his death had become an utter imbecile. It was also shown that he had repudiated the alleged trust as early as 1875, and the lower courts rendered a judgment in favor of the defendants and from this judgment the plaintiff appealed.

Judge Blackburn delivered the opinion of the court affirming Judge Anderson's decision, Judge Zane concurred and Judge Miner dissented.

Notes By the Wayside.

When one approaches Mt. Pleasant, he can feel the heat of the San Juan fever. On going up town from the station the first inquiry I heard was "Has that bundle of shovels come?" I learn they were wanted for the new Eldorado, the town was emptied of digging tools, as about 25 men were ready or getting ready, some to start on the morrow and some have already gone with loads of provisions and tools to dig up the precious earth.

The coke ovens have just finished their new brick store and will move into it in a few days.

Many of the school children have been withdrawn to remain at home at Mt. Pleasant lacks accommodation for them. On Friday last the room over the new coop store was opened and between sixty and eighty children gathered for school. All will be right in a few days and the children flock to school.

Mt. Pleasant has a fine creamery now running turning out about 150 pounds of good butter daily.

On Monday, Jan. 9th, the members of the South and North ecclesiastical organizations met and turned over their property to the new organization. They also turned over to the Relief Society the property which that society previously owned. When the meeting adjourned Elders Seymour B. Young and C. D. Fjeldsted held a Seventies' meeting, as they were then leaving to the standing of that quorum. They gave some excellent counsel.

The bank cashier who was shot (by his son, it is charged) is up and around town.

The health of the place is very good, the dread diphtheria having left town.

MT. PLEASANT, Jan. 12, 1893.

Clearing House Officers.

The annual election of the Salt Lake Clearing House was held last evening. The officers elected for the ensuing year were T. R. Jones, president; M. J. Cheesman, vice-president; J. W. Donnellan, secretary; C. L. Hawley, manager. The board of directors stands as follows: T. R. Jones, L. G. Hills, W. S. McCornick, J. M. Stout and Frank Knox.

Another of Them.

A number of unsuspecting creditors are mourning the sudden departure of Frank Engels from Salt Lake. He was until recently in the employ of Farrell & Co., the plumbers, as bookkeeper. It is reported that a young widow, of whom he was enamored, has "flown" from this city in the same direction, leaving her two children behind. They are believed to be somewhere east by this time.

THE DEFUNCT "TIMES."

An Action Brought by Former Partners in that Unprofitable Undertaking.

Late yesterday afternoon, in the Third district court, E. G. Ivins, C. C. Cline and A. F. Phillips, who, together with A. L. Pollock, were partners under the firm name of A. L. Pollock filed a suit against A. L. Pollock, who refuses to join the other plaintiffs in the suit, H. L. Britton, and the Smyth, Britton & Poore company.

Plaintiffs allege that in the year 1892 they were associated together for the publication of the Salt Lake Times under the firm name of A. L. Pollock, and that the profit arising from said business was to be equally divided.

It is then stated that on July 8th, 1892, the plaintiffs entered into an agreement with L. H. Britton for the publication of the paper, and that Britton was manager of the defendant company thereby binding the latter to said agreement, and that the publication was then begun by the said Britton; that the company then continued to publish said newspaper until November 15, 1892, when they ceased the publication of said paper without notice to the plaintiffs or Pollock, as required by their agreement, to the damage of said firm in the sum of $2000; that during the publication of said paper under the terms of said agreement the defendant company received large sums of money for advertising and from other sources, amounting to many thousands of dollars, for that no accounting has been made to said plaintiffs or to the firm of A. L. Pollock; also that large sums of money as pecuniary profits were contracted by reason of the use and benefit of the publishers of said paper.

Plaintiffs further aver, on information and belief, that the total amount of money thus received was about $5000, and that said sum should have been divided between plaintiffs and defendants, but that no accounting has ever been made; also that there is now due plaintiffs from defendants the sum of $4000, together with a large amount due from other sources.

Upon these allegations plaintiffs pray that an accounting may be had, and the defendants be compelled to account to any and all such moneys they may have been received by them as pecuniary benefits arising from the publication of the said news paper, and that the same may be divided between plaintiffs and defendants; also that pending the suit a receiver may be appointed to take charge of the business, assets, book accounts, etc., of the Smyth, Britton & Poore company.

Powers & Hiles are the plaintiffs' attorneys.

WORLD'S FAIR COMMISSION.

A Program for the Observance of "Utah Day" at the Columbian Exhibition.

The World's Fair Commission has prepared a petition which is being signed by leading citizens, asking the County court to appropriate money for a relief map of Salt Lake county, showing the irrigation system and the location of the city. The petition states that the advertising the county will receive will more than pay for the map. A circular is being distributed by the commission of which the following is a copy:

To the Citizens of Utah:

The World's Fair commission will soon have to arrange a program for the observance of Utah Day (date yet to be fixed) at the Columbian Exposition, and the commission respectfully invite suggestions from any citizen who may feel an interest in the subject to be addressed to the secretary of the commission at Salt Lake City.

Respectfully,

K. G. CHANDLER, President.

E. A. MCDANIEL, Secretary.
