THE MOST SUCCESSFUL REMEDY ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. Also excellent for human flesh. Read proof below.

FROM

COL. L. T. FOSTER,

YOUNGWOOD, Ohio, May 10th, 1882.

Dr. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gentles—I had a very valuable Hamlet (cure) that I very highly, had a large bone spavin on my joint and a small one on the other which made him very lame; I had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons which failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Chicago Express. I determined at once to try it and got our druggists here to send me a trial, they ordered three bottles; I took them all and thought I would give it a thorough trial. I used it according to direction, and the fourth day the cure came to me and the bone spavin disappeared. I used but one bottle and the cure was complete.
I have the remaining two bottles who are now using it. Very respectfully,

L. T. Foster.

Kendall's Spavin Cure

Is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargements, such as spavins, splints, curbs, ringbones, calluses, swellings and all humors and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or for removing the bone spavin from the joint. It is used for man or beast. It is never known to produce the least injury ever used, being mild and yet certainly in its effects.

Send address for illustrated circular which will give positive proof of its virtues.
No remedy has ever met with such unequalled success to our knowledge, for best as any man.

Put in bottles, each bottle for 50c. All Druggists have it or can get it for you. We will send you one without charge on receipt of your name.

JUDGE BLACK'S ARGUMENT.

He brings his Heavy Batteries to Bear on the Edmunds Law, the Governor and the Commissioners.

The Law Shown to be Infamous, Iniquitous and Not Feared.

The following is a telegram to the Chicago Times:

WASHINGTON, September 28.

Judge Black's argument in behalf of the people of Utah is in his most vigorous and characteristic style, and gives his opinion on the statement that an election for territorial officers, fixed by law for the 8th of August, could not lawfully be held by the officers whom the people had previously chosen. He says that the Edmunds bill had displaced, and the Commissioners did not get to Utah or enter on their duties till it was too late to make up the registers and hold an election; therefore there was no election, and can be none till August 8th next year. But failure to elect does not create a vacancy in the office. The general rule of law and the specified statutes of the Territory provide that all officers shall hold office until their successors are duly elected and qualified. The federal judges in Utah, knowing this very well, but desiring to enlarge the powers of the government, wrote to some of the judges, like which was received at the close of the session, in which they represented that general disturbance and trouble were liable to be caused, and that the government of the territory was in serious jeopardy unless Congress would provide for legal successors to all offices whose successors would have been chosen at the annual election. The judiciary committee of the Senate did not understand the object or suggestion of this.
The judges wanted an act authorizing the Governor to seize all offices, vacant or not, and fill them with creatures of his own. The senators supposed that all officers were liable to be vacated on August 8th, and Judge Black is of the belief that the senators had very little idea of what the Edmunds bill, which they had just passed, meant for Senator Hoar said it provided for a new election, to be held in a new way, and that a new territorial government might be started in three or four months.
Messrs. Hoar and Bayard fixed up an amendment to an appropriation bill, giving the governor of the Territory power to fill vacancies resulting from the election on August 8th, the Governor's commissions to be good for not more than eight months; but no vacancies were created by failure to hold an election, and Judge Black says that the house at that every member of the conference committee was agreed that the Governor power to appoint offices whose incumbents held over, and the Governor has, within a few days, made 104 appointments to various offices, while the present incumbents, chosen by the people, will not yield without a contest.
Judge Black says: "I presume he intends to carry his point by force, and the Secretary of the Interior, in the absence of the President, forbid him. If he succeeds, he and the small anti-popular faction will have the whole Territory in the power of unlimited authority, which they will use for the foulest purposes. They will seize all the offices as their lawful prey, put the people under the heel of a despotic rule, and the life of society. Owing every assessor and collector of taxes and every custodian of the public money, as being at the same time masters of the police, constables, magistrates, sheriffs, and constables they will revel in plunder. It will not cost their ingenuity an effort to make the Territory a vast and den the Territory with debt, sell bonds, put the proceeds in their own pockets and tax labor to death for their payment. Not public property alone, but the lands and goods of individuals will be taken to gorge the rapacity of the false and illegitimate rulers. Peculiar circumstances not unfamiliar to the Territory may be and already are set up as excuses for robbing the churches. To justify these acts of oppression the privacy of families in the most sacred relations, their kitchens and their bed chambers, will be exposed and misrepresented by evildoers and lying relations.

Judge Black praises the thrift and enterprise of the people in cultivating a desert, and says: "Utah is rich now, and the people are living in comfort, but cannot stand what South Carolina did. There is no 'ten years of good stealing there.'" No man, he says, is good enough to be trusted with such power. In the great horde of thieves that overran the south under the auspices of the federal administration, some were not without fair reputation at home.
What makes the matter worse for the Mormons is that the leader of their enemies is the same governor who, less than a year ago, signalled his contempt for law and justice and truth by deliberately carrying to the election of a candidate for delegate to Congress whom he and all men knew to be defeated by a majority of four-fifths. The federal administration has been guilty of an outrage on Mormons would be delivered with sincere delight in all sections of the country. The judge concluded this portion of his argument thus: "It needs no argument to the governor to give up his lawless enterprise, that the Edmunds bill was not a bill of pains and penalties, but a bill of justice and truth, and that it will justify his contemptuous usurpation, and that he must, therefore, confine himself to his proper duties, and leave the people in possession of their just rights." Judge Black then turns to the consideration of the commissioners and says that the Edmunds law could not be enforced, or for future offenses, without legal conviction, and replies: "If I had the voice of a thousand men, I would answer as loudly as I could now. To suppress Congress meant to make acts retroactive is to charge it with 'wilful violation of the Constitution.' The Commissioners commanded the registration officers to strike from the list of voters every citizen who refuses to swear that he is innocent of polygamy, and to place none on the list who will not undergo the same expurgatory process. The Commissioners had no more right to pass such a decree than they had to order by the Edmunds law that the territory should be shot or strangled.
Indeed, the massacre at Glencoe, commanded by William H. Hunt, for disfranchising the Mormons, is remembered this case in every point and circumstance, except that it was death there and disfranchisement here. The measure is merely an act of retaliation, or bill of pains and penalties, and is a total disfranchisement without a trial, a degrading and infamous punishment consisting of deprivation of the most important right that a citizen has, entailing the loss of his caste in society, and reducing him to the condition of a mere pariah. Besides this, it is a gross violation of the Constitution, and election officers are required to extend inquisition over twenty years of every man's and every woman's previous life; hold all to be guilty who do not furnish the demanded proof for their innocence, and thereupon adjudge them to suffer a punishment which no law annexed to their offenses at the time they were committed. No man is bound to testify against himself.

No effect is so wonderful and satirical as ever.

It removes all eruptions, itching and depravity and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the essential glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effective or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assessor of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."
