NO. 81. SATURDAY, MARCH 10, 1894, SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. VOL. XXVII.

HERE, MR. BOUTELLE!

Secretary Herbert Makes Answer to Your Inquiry.

AS TO U. S. FORCES AT HAWAII.

They Were Placed at Honolulu Because He Knew the Government's Policy, and Could Carry It Out.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Secretary Herbert has made response to the Boutelle resolution in the House, calling on him to state his authority for the issuing of instructions posting the naval forces at Honolulu under the orders of Minott. In substance the answer is that the action was necessary to prevent a conflict of authority and that the secretary's authority for issuing the orders was the President, the commander in chief of the army and navy, and he cites a number of precedents for the action.

The secretary begins his reply by quoting his instructions to Admiral Skerrett and that part of Minott's credentials to President Dole, describing his authority as extending to all matters pertaining to the relations with Hawaii, and calls attention to the fact that at the time the United States forces had been landed and the United States flag floating over Honolulu. Under the circumstances, and in view of the renouncement of the islands, the secretary says it was essential that his authority of authority with reference to the disposition of the United States forces should arise, but that they should be employed in harmony with the policy of the state department, therefore Skerrett was ordered to obey the directions of Minott. Herbert says he deems it at all times the duty of the naval department to conform to instructions to the civil officers, and not take the initiative, except in special exigencies, admitting of no delays. It was especially so in the case in hand, because there was a special representative of the state department there, charged with duties of a delicate, confidential nature. Moreover, the orders were issued by the authority of the President himself. The secretary then cites a number of precedents, running as far back as 1825, to show the propriety of the action taken.

In 1853 the United States ship Enterprise was sent to Porto Rico with a commander who was to "regulate his operations by the advice of Thomas Hamlin, agent of the government," joining the Mexican war Nicholas Trist, an agent of the state department, was then with power to arrange a general suspension of hostilities and Commodore Perry was instructed to relax the rigor of his orders even while he (Trist) remained in Mexico "unless he directs you to enforce them." Commodore Perry complied with. In 1858 General Babcock was ordered to make the United States ship Albany to San Domingo and the commander was directed to conform to all General Babcock's wishes and orders. In 1859 Lieutenant Commander Jones had similar orders. In 1861 during the China-Para war, Rear Admiral Bell was ordered to place himself as far as possible by the wishes of William Henry Trescott, of the department of state, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary.

SOUGHT AND SEARCHED.

Suspicious Circumstances Connected with Crichton's Disappearance.

Special Dispatch to the News.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 10.—United States District Attorney Fowler has received a letter from the officer in command of the Northwest mounted police, located at Lee's Creek station, Maitland district, British Columbia, which throws some light on the mysterious disappearance of Harry Crichton, a former resident of Uinta county, Wyoming.

The letter states that Crichton started to return to the United States in the latter part of June, 1893, traveling in a wagon overland. A man named Sam W. Murray accompanied him. After being absent a few weeks Murray returned to Lee's Creek station with Crichton's team and outfit, which he stated he had purchased for $60, Crichton having decided to present them to him. The last that Murray had seen of Crichton, the judge, also the secretary of a local church, it is believed to be the work of anarchists. No arrests.

THAT "UREASY BUSINESS."

Mr. Parsons Makes Explanations Regarding the $150 and Mr. Bloor.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, UTAH TERRITORY, SALT LAKE CITY, March 9, 1894.

Editor Deseret News:

I noticed a lie in article in the News of this date, referring to the good faith of the House in the matter of appropriating $150 for the purpose of indemnifying the members of the Territorial Executive Association. I have to state that the House knew nothing whatever about the money appropriated for the purpose referred to, as to the cost of publishing the index. The idea was to have the chief clerks index the journal while computing and engrossing the minutes for publication. After the minutes were ready for publication and copying, that it was essential whether the government would publish the journal or not. The House did not do anything about the index proposal, and I voted on the committee of the House and the journal was sent from office to the same. Mr. Bloor was at no time of any notification with that appropriation, to be expended in the matter of the index, and was simply treated as one person who should approve the work of the committee and pay the money and give them an order for the pay.

I make this statement for the reason that it appears that Mr. Bloor is in the hole, and he (he) wants to throw an innocent man.

Very truly, M. S. PARSONS.

[N. B. Never charitably prize Mr. Parsons' communications to be a complete endorsement of the position which this paper took on the issue raised. In the article to which he refers, however, there was no reflection cast on the "good faith of the House." On the contrary, there was clearly expressed the belief that the members were misled, that they had not the "wool pulled over their eyes" in the matter. Mr. Parsons' action in asking the Council to strike out the index item confirmed the belief. As to Mr. Bloor and the appropriation, there was no intimation on the part of the News that he had any responsibility therefor. In the item he was credited with $150, and Mr. Bloor is not a member of that body.

In connection with this subject, we may state that in the Council last evening Mr. Taylor denounced the News article as an insult to the Legislature because of its intimations regarding the "greasy business." He did not intimate that the same that the item of $150 for index, which we complained of, was stricken out, and that the printing appropriation was also cut down several hundred dollars, so that the Council found the "greasy" just where the News indicated that it was. ED. NEWS.]

W. H. Smith Discharged.

The case of W. H. Smith, the man charged with indecently accosting Mrs. Hannah Edwards, came on for hearing before Police Justice Smith this afternoon, and after hearing the testimony the judge ordered the defendant discharged.

Another Cold-Up.

About 1 o'clock this morning R. C. Carter was held up and robbed of $12.40 in cash and a note for $86. He was on his way home, and as he reached the corner of First West and First South streets he was stopped by three men, who displayed no firearms, though one had a sight and another a knife. They made no attempt to injure Mr. Carter, and after being relieved of the money and note he went to the City hall and reported to the police.

Stealing Gravestone.

Things are getting to be rather startling when monuments and gravestones are not safe from thieves, yet such is the case, as shown by the experience of Mr. Joseph Wilson. Giving into his marble yard at the corner of South and West Temple streets this morning, Mr. Wilson found that a handsome headstone for a grave had been carried away in the night. Where the valuable piece of marble was carried to is not known, however, but the police have been notified and are in quest of the monumental thief.

Stock and Warrants.

The prospect is that there will be an awakening in the local stock market soon, and that men who have had their money tying in the banks for some time will again bring it out for investment in local securities.

There have not been many transfers of stock of late, but yesterday and today John G. Cutler Jr. negotiated the sale of twenty-two shares of Z. C. M. I. stock, in blocks of five and six shares. He also disposed of $2,000 in county warrants at 87½ cents on the dollar.

Land Office Filings.

Brigham Sandberg, of Richfield, Sevier county, today filed application for a homestead entry in section 14, township 23 south of range 2 west.

James E. Ray, of Juab county, filed application for desert entry of 120 acres in section 25, township 11 south of range 1 east.

Wm. H. Warliner, of Ferron, Emery county, has filed declaration of intention to contest 80 acres in section 4, township 20 south of range 1 east.

IN THE LOCAL FIELD.

The Fight on the Question of Feeding City Prisoners Not Yet Over.

A FINE PRODUCTION MAP.

The Big Appropriation List still in the Hands of the Mayor.—Last Night's Prize Fight.

It has been thought for some time by municipal circles that the peculiar circumstances between Councilmen O'Meara and Marshal Paul would be settled in the end, at least so far as open hostilities were concerned, but such an impression seems to be an erroneous one.

The material under the city ordinance is the jailer and states the right to feed the city prisoners. The city has paid 15 cents a meal for the feeding of prisoners. The last month's bill, however, as submitted by Harry Gilbert, only calls for 12 cents. Assuming the Councilman O'Meara, there will be an attempt to restore the price to 15 cents. This he thinks excessive, and accordingly he has offered a resolution to the effect that the Marshal shall be not more than 12 cents, and he is confidently expected to carry the Council with him. He maintains that Salt Lake is paying more for feeding prisoners than any city in the country. He received the following letter from Denver today which he thinks proves the correctness of his contention:

DENVER, MARCH 8, 1894.

William F. O'Meara, Esq.:

Dear Sir—Your favor of the 5th instant, received, and in reply beg to say that we give you the information you ask for, and we understand it is correct, as we have always understood it to be so. We advertise for the lowest responsible bids and it seems the lowest bidder is responsible, inasmuch as he has been feeding the prisoners for the past three years, and we have never had any complaint. We have two sets of bond, one, position and other with wife and vegetable, the other with meat and vegetable. We have never had any complaint of the quality of food. We feed three meals a day. The food is delivered at the jail sealed and ready to be served.

Yours, etc.,

DENVER, COLO.

Chas. Taylor.

FINE PRODUCTION MAP.

Miss Flora Smith, of the Washington School, Proves Herself an Artist.

A very fine "production" map of Utah Territory was seen this morning at the office of superintendent Millspaugh. The map was executed by Miss Flora Smith, teacher of the fourth grade, Washington school of this city, and is intended to show Utah's chief resources by counties. It is represented upon cardboard, the lines appearing in blue, the river system being indicated by the soil, and the counties, twenty-six in number, are represented by the product which predominates. For instance, Kane county, coal; Uintah, asphaltum; Piute, silver, gold, copper, mica and sulphur; Washington, copper and coal; Cache and Utah, wheat; Millard, silver; Box Elder, fruit; Summit, silver, coal, silver, gold and lead and iron and so on through the list.

The contract to present with Dr. Millspaugh's idea, and in view of the great affirmative of becoming acquainted with the great resources of the Territory that can be derived, Miss Smith has worked day after day, and is to be congratulated upon the success attending her efforts.

BRIGHAM WOOLEN MILLS.

Preparing for an Increased Amount of Business this Year.

The stockholders of the Brigham City Woolen Mills Co., says the Bugler, held their regular annual meeting this week, in accordance with the notice in last Saturday's Bugler. The officers of last year were re-elected, with one exception, John Mathias being chosen as director in place of W. L. Gardner, deceased. Manager A. A. Johnson was authorized to push ahead certain contemplated improvements. An office will be constructed in the rear of the main building and a tailor shop fitted up where the home-made goods will be converted into suits to order. The company did a very satisfactory business last year, still they have considerable good goods on hand. They anticipate a greatly increased trade for 1894. Their proposed improvements and additions will increase the capacity of the establishment. If the success of Brigham City some would parallel this institution in Salt Lake should, it would be to be giving remunerative employment to fifty hands for every one it employs today.

MANUFACTURERS' MEETING.

Disposition for an Annual Exhibition of Home Made Goods.

The heavy rains last night did not prevent some people of Salt Lake manufacturers from attending the meeting called by the Manufacturers' Bureau to discuss the proposition to hold some meetings in the interest of home industries and to hold an exhibition of Utah manufactured goods.

The agitation on this action was originated by the committee from the Federal Trades and Building congress who have been talking with the members of those organizations. The work of the bureau has stirred up the people all over the city and information is now visited concerning the good really made here. The bureau is preparing a list of home made articles to be published in the papers and for distribution in the homes all over the city.

The people feel, all right the necessity exists for a more thorough interest in our home industries is aroused in a complete and satisfactory way to the manufacturers. Women who really want to patronize home industries but who do not know what to make or where to get it.

It is intimated by the bureau that the time either for a public meeting or dinner and to the Commercial Club room, the time or place of the business meeting, should, of course, be indefinite as to date. It is working among the people it is found that many are misinformed as to or concerning the quality of certain articles made here, and that some have been remedied for prejudiced conditions. It is hoped by the bureau that an exhibit of home made articles will be made and that a committee of manufacturers be appointed to make recommendations as to any local improvements more concerning the quality of articles, and also may be suggested for the future.

This seems an important matter and one in which the manufacturers themselves are most directly interested. Dinner and self-help meetings have proved to have the greatest success in the country. Some present at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last night seemed to be unanimous in favor of the proposition for a dinner, but the committee on arrangements, if it is adopted, has a large and enthusiastic meeting will be held. The purpose was to arrange for an annual spring exhibition of home made goods, starting just before conference time and continuing for a week or more. The Norwegian manufacturers have an annual exhibition of their goods every year, and it proves to be a great success, says the bureau, and surely we make a serious.
