Sugar Factory Operating—Legal Affairs—Attractions at the Show—Local Briefs.

The Ogden sugar factory opened up on Thursday, but little work was done owing to getting the machinery and everything in order to commence without work yesterday. The first day 150 loads of beets were received and put in the factory, enough to keep the machinery busy in getting the beets and making the sugar. A corresponding number of loads of beets arrive, and the machinery worked so well that it was found that the factory could be in operation to-day. Some 400 or 500 loads of beets will be received to-day, and by the time the machinery is in full working order the factory is now in excellent running order. There are 150 men in the employment of the factory and probably will be for a time.

IN THE TOILS OF THE LAW.

Pockets, Disease and Other Ills Overhead and Other Larger.

The following business was transacted before Judge Geiger in the district court:

WEBER STAKE ACADEMY.

Specialists for Every Department Enhance Its Efficiency and Popularity.

The Weber Stake Academy opened its Monday morning under the most auspicious circumstances. The faculty is now distributed as follows: Principal, W. J. Kerr, D. D. S., Ph. D.; Prof. A. S. Henry, Principal, B. S., Ph. D.; Prof. O. Wilkins, B. S., Ph. D.; Prof. Ed. S. Richey and Lucy Fielding. The new appointments to the faculty are Mr. Jones and Mr. McKay are well experienced teachers in their respective fields. The Cornell man, class '97, is a colonial graduate, class '97, of the University of Utah. The Yale man is a law and a practical businessman, takes charge of the business department. The other of the appointments are:

The Graham expands its courses of study of from one to four years early, a preparatory course, a commercial course, a school of music, a school of literary course, and a new department in stenography and typewriting. Evidence of the efficiency of the preparatory course must have convinced the sixth grade work as conducted in the common schools, that it is not required to pass the seventh examination, demanding the entire work in four years.

Certificates of graduation from the eighth grade will admit students to the academy, and certificates of graduation from the ninth grade will admit students to the high school. A new normal department of the academy is established, and students who are over 18 years in age of the branches of the grades will be given special consideration.

The expenses are merely nominal, an initiation fee of ten dollars being paid, tuition in the common branches and the music department, which necessitates some additional charges for books and material for experimentation.

The beautiful academy building has recently been remodeled and improved, and a special business department has been fitted up with banking, commercial and other business offices and systems in the most approved style.

A new regulation has been promulgated by the faculty, providing the number of studies pursued in the several classes. This, it is thought, will contribute to the thoroughness and efficiency of the work.

Considerable excellent work in the institution, Profs. Kenrich, Lund and Thomas are widely established as successful and popular teachers, and the faculty, with a faculty reinforced strongly it is now in the very best results are looked for in the Weber Stake Academy for school year, all the faculty are specialists in their respective lines of instruction. An unusually large attendance this year is anticipated. The institution, it seems, is forging ahead, the opening of the school year has brought prospects brighter than ever.

A Grocer's Experience

WITH

GRAPE-NUTS

SEE BELOW

A Grocer's Interest is to Furnish Pure Food.

People do not always realize the personal interest taken by the grocer who is the agent of food which he furnishes customers.

Experience teaches that the grocer is enthusiastic only in the goods he may deem, and that his recommendations are generally offered by a merely commercial motive, but this is not always true, as the following from a grocer well known in Ohio, who has established back a reputation of the better class of groceries and thoroughly knows in their desire to recommend only those articles which really give satisfaction and are worth their money.

The following from Jno. Wellington, manager of the grocery of Portland, Oregon, may be of interest: "I am on my tenth case of Grape-Nuts and my trade is still increasing. I have kept Grape-Nuts with a week stretch for five years. I have tried a number of various other cereal coffees without sale. I am selling Grape-Nuts Grape Juice a day and getting back my money. Grape-Nuts is a food which I can recommend to my weak stomach and feel like a well man."

There is a reason for this. A weak stomach can take Grape-Nuts and digest them without difficulty, for Grape-Nuts are totally predigested and built up somewhat transformation into a highly nutritive form, rich in nourishment and stimulating brain and nerve tissue. They are positively identical to be the most scientifically built food in the world, which accounts for the fact that the stomach of the average man or woman can take Grape-Nuts and take on flesh and the use of any kind of food is not whatever. On the contrary, all of the processes are purely physical, being simply moisture, time in which to grow the nutrient elements, and the application of a moderate heat, but the work of the bioneers, Grape-Nuts, is stated clearly, will be found that the food is ready for immediate assimilation.

The facts in regards and delicate, the amount of grape sugar can be detected, the food is absolutely free from lime or bone sugar, but the Grape-Nuts contains, nutrition of grape sugar due to such processing of the cellular of the wood products. Grape-Nuts are made at Battle Creek, Michigan, Somewhat food is delicious, and this food is in use now by nearly half a million of the well-to-do families in America. The demand has been so great that the factory has now doubling its daily bulk capacity. For the sake of a year, and the name of the American breakfast dish has spread so many of the other countries of the world.

CONTESTED WILL CASE.

Last evening a will contest of some was had in accommodate Monday, J. J. Harrison, in the case of Mr. W. H. Kling, who came down from Salt Lake City to argue the will contest case of the estate of the estate of Jno. M. Peterson, deceased.

Judge King, for the petitioner for family allowance, Mrs. Louisa N. C. Peterson, a divorced and remarried widow of Andrew Peterson, filed the petition of deceased, by which the deceased intended and provided was disposed and the will was set aside, and further that the will be revoked into court.

The grounds for the court made by Moses Hayden and Thomson, was to the effect that even if the records and facts of the deceased were not so complete there is a presumption of law that they are correct, and the contest, in the absence of a strong evidence, the court takes the matter under advisement and will render its decision in the near future.

Judge King has now adjourned until the 25th inst.

EXCITING RUNAWAY.
