THE SKY CLEARING.

Greater Cleveland's Proclamation Brings Gladness to Many.

SEC. GRESHAM INTERVIEWED.

Silver Advances in Price.—Stocks Higher.—The Market Steady.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 1.—Secretary of State Gresham is in the city. He said this morning in an interview that he was glad the President had called an extra session of Congress. He believed it would do much toward the settling of the financial uncertainty. He believed Congress would repeal the silverman act, though he knew whereof he spoke when he said that it would not have done so two weeks ago.

The President's proclamation was hailed with profound gratification in financial and business circles everywhere. This morning most in all branches of business were loud in the praise of Cleveland's action. In Wall street the last was to a certain extent discounted yesterday so that the effect on prices this morning on the stock exchange was not so marked compared with the close yesterday, but when compared with the lowest and opening prices yesterday or the prices of the day before, the improvement is at once seen to be very great. The difference in some cases is as much as 8 points.

Speaking of the proclamation this morning J. Pierpont Morgan, head of the house of Drexel, Morgan & Co., said: "I am perfectly delighted that Cleveland has called an extra session and think his action will have a very beneficial effect everywhere."

George Magoun of Baring, Magoun & Co., said: "I think the proclamation is a very good thing and is a most wise step on his part. He has most decidedly done the right thing. It is a little too early to tell the effect of it, but it ought to be very reassuring abroad. The belief will grow that a dollar is going to have the same reliable meaning as the English pound sterling for the transaction of business. We ought soon to see reflected here a better opinion in Europe of all American investment securities."

[illegible] also spoke to the same effect.

Hoarding.—

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Effect of President Cleveland's Proclamation.

NEW YORK, July 1.—The President's proclamation calling an extra session of Congress had a decided effect on the stocks this morning. Everything opened higher. The bears were heavy buyers and in the hour to noon or till the prices up on silver, Western roads were particularly strong. There was good buying sentiment and altogether a most satisfying prevails in financial circles.

The market continued to advance on opening on liberal buying for both local and outside account, preferred, jumped from 3 to 5, general electric, Rock Island, Western, Illinois Central, Louisville and St. Paul, preferred, etc. [illegible] was assisted by the advance in silver certificates to 72. After a rise to realize profits set in by bears, the market became dull. At 11 the market was irregular.

WANTS TO GET EVEN.

Union Men Discharged by Railroad Officials.

TOLEDO, KAN., July 1.—A short time ago the daily working time of the Atlantic, Fe ou p. mines was reduced from ten to eight hours. Now on what has been issued directing that enough men be discharged to reduce the expenses 25 per cent. The discharged men are all unionists, and the union men are boiling mad. One of the discharged men said this morning that the company wants to get even with the miners. With the exception of two or three homestead men, all the discharged men are members of the miners and would not sit on the strike. I don't know what the union will do about it. A meeting will be held tonight.

AN OBJECTIONABLE LAW.

Insurance Companies Suspend Operations.

NASHVILLE, TENN., July 1.—Owing to the act that levies insurance companies are required to file statements with the secretary of state, a conference of insurance men has been held here, and adopted a resolution advising that all companies doing business in the state at once suspend their operations. Under the provisions of the law the penalties are heavy. Its charges state that they are liable to be taxed on the capital stock. Seventeen companies withdrew this afternoon. So far, about half of the companies doing business in the state have suspended.

THE FANTAN HORSE.

A Matter to Be Decided this Afternoon.

NEW YORK, July 1.—The question whether the west or East has the best three-year-old colt will be settled late this afternoon by the 200,000 admirers at Sheepshead Bay. Boundless, the winner of the American Derby, will run against James R. Keene's last colt St. Leonards, Dr. G. L. Knapp's Sir Walter, Gibson and Daly's Damages and some others. Owners, trainers and expert students of racing have placed their horses as the best three, but as to the other there is a wide difference of opinion. In the Derby at Chicago Boundless was with remarkable ease drawing away from St. Leonards in the last furlong, securing the victory in half a dozen lengths, but it is well known that St. Leonards was not so well managed during the hour and a half at the post as Boundless and that much of his strength was dissipated in false starts. The field will be small today and the start prompt. The distance is a mile and five furlongs. Many believe that Boundless will repeat his Derby victory and he is being heavily backed.

A huge throng is present to witness the race. It is to St. Leonards' favor. He carries only 115 pounds against Boundless's 122. Gerrison, who rode Boundless at Chicago will ride St. Leonards. Fitzpatrick will be astride Boundless. Don Alonzo will not run, being out of condition. Sir Walter is desperate in fighting fielder and not without friends. The other starters, Sunbeam Club and Accident are not considered. [illegible] Sunbeam won by a short head; St. Leonards second, Sir Walter third. Time, 2.50 3-5.

THE SHERMAN LAW.

Republican Senators Asked for Their Views.

CHICAGO, July 1.—The Inter Ocean has asked the views of the Republican United States senators on the repeal of the Sherman act. Many were absent from home and replies are received from only eleven. Only one stated Power of Montana qualifies his position in favor of repeal.

Platts, Connecticut, declines to say positively how he will vote. The Inter Ocean puts down at least 12 votes for repeal, 7 doubtful and 8 against.

The Silver Market.

NEW YORK, July 1.—The silver market was decidedly firmer today. 155,000 ounces changing hands at 71 to 72. The closing quotation was 71½ bid, 72 was asked. Commercial bar sold at 70 to 72 [illegible] dollars at 58.

R. G. W. Re[illegible] Laid Off.

A large percentage of the men were laid off at the Rio Grande Western shops today. Just how many the railroad officials refused to say.

THAT LITTLE TRICK.

It Results in Blackguarding Words Between Councilmen Rich and Kelly.

THE LATTER WARMLY SCORED.

The Rose Legislation Bitterly Denounced as Dishonest Even by Some of the Liberal Councilmen.

There has been a good deal of talk in political and business circles during the day over the attempt of the Liberal faction of the City Council last night to wrench from the Democrats the honor of fixing the taxation rate at five instead of six mills.

Because of the News will remember that at Tuesday nightly session of the Council the committee on ways and means recommended fixing the rate at six mills. Pollard moved to make it five. Several amendments were made and all voted down. An adjournment was taken before the original motion was disposed of and the president announced that Mr. Pollard's motion was still before the house. It was made a special order of business for last night but was sidetracked for a motion made by Kelly as reported in the Council proceedings in another part of this paper.

Shortly before midnight Councilmen Rich and Kelly met on Godbe's corner and this was the result:

"Kelly, you and your colleagues were guilty tonight of the smallest, meanest and dirtiest political trick in the disgraced career of this admirable town. You may think it smart but sensible men will not. It has no element of manliness about it. It belies with dishonesty and places you in your true light before the public. Rather than stoop so low as to treat another man's motion as you did Mr. Pollard's tonight I would slide myself as a common shoveler in a sewer trench and like the ground-hog be careful when I came out."

"Precisely what I say. It occurs to me there is no ambiguity about my language. You certainly know what I mean to say. But to save you doubt I will tell you. A few nights ago as a member of the council committee on ways and means you brought in a report in which you stated that it would be absolutely necessary to raise the rate of taxation one mill above that of last year; that it would be impossible to get along with a less amount. You did everything in your power to carry your point; you insisted upon the adoption of your report. One of the Democratic members—Mr. Folland—moved that the rate be fixed at five mills. You opposed this tooth and toe nail and said the rate would have to be six mills. Since last meeting you ascertained that the five mill proposition was the most popular one with the people; that it was the one that would win. You accordingly held a caucus and decided to steal the minority motion that you might be able to say before the tax payers and say that the Liberals introduced the resolution making the rate five mills. Don't you think it was an unpatriotic, shameful piece of business?"

"Now, come off your perch; no I don't think it was a shameful piece of business at all. Every man has a right to exercise his liberties as an American citizen provided he is one," said ex-Councilman Kelly in a manner as indicative of a high-toned and patriotic as he attempted to look proud and patriotic.

"Well, I am ashamed of both you and the president who rules Mr. Folland's motion out of order, and every man who voted against it. But let me tell you right now it will do you more harm than good. For one I shall never lose an opportunity to explain the matter when necessary."

"Explain away; who cares? I don't."

"No, I don't suppose you do, I wouldn't expect it from a man who would act as a tool in presenting a resolution under such circumstances."

"Who acted as a tool?"

"I say that you didn't draw up that resolution, that it you never inspired it. Oh, no, it didn't come from your brain."

At this juncture matters began to assume a decidedly threatening aspect. Pretty warm words followed. A further conflict, however, was prevented by the hour of the midnight while at the clock corner announcing the departure of the last street car.

Councilman Wantland, Horn and Lawson say they are free to admit that the trick was, all things considered, a contemptible one and one that will do neither them nor their cause any good.

Fourth of July Excursions.

The prospects are that a good many persons will take advantage of the one fare excursion rate for the round trip offered by the Union Pacific from all stations on the system within three hundred miles from Salt Lake. Tickets will be sold on the 2, 3, and 4 inst. and will be good for return up to and including July 5th. This rate is made to allow people to spend the Fourth wherever they desire.

On the 22nd and 23rd of July there will be two days excursions at one fare low rate to Juab and intermediate stations; a the Union Pacific.

THE FORT DOUGLAS SHOOTING.

Judge Judd Receives a Letter Regarding It from Colonel Blunt Today.

United States District Attorney Judd informed a News reporter today that he had received a letter from Colonel Blunt at Fort Douglas this morning regarding the recent tragedy at the post in which Joseph W. Leonard lost his life.

The Colonel said he had received no instructions from Washington as yet and assured Judge Judd that the prisoner—Sergeant Milne and Private Stefind—would be carefully watched pending orders.

"What do you propose to do in the meantime?" inquired the reporter of the district attorney.

"Simply wait. If instructions are received, however, from the war department by the time the grand jury meets I will order all the witnesses in the case before that body. If an indictment is found and prosecution of course will follow. I do not anticipate any difficulty. When I make a demand for the prisoners I expect to get them."

July "Contributor."

The Independence Day number of this valuable magazine is now out of press and contains some choice articles as well as beautiful illustrations. This magazine is not assuming a high place in public estimation, and it never issues from the members of the Mutual Improvement associations and the public generally the good opinion they have at it.

SALT LAKE DEMOCRATS.

The Names of Registration Officers and Judges of Election Suggested to the Committee.

The Salt Lake County Democratic committee met at the office of J. H. Moyle in the Constitution building today for the purpose of suggesting the names of persons to be appointed by the Utah Commission as county and precinct registration officers and judges of election to act for the ensuing election. In addition to this vacancies in the committee were filled as follows:

First precinct—Granville Gillett to succeed William Fuller, resigned.

Third Precinct—W. J. Newman to succeed J. H. Hamel Jr., deceased; A. E. Hyde to succeed W. H. Dennis, removed from the Territory.

The meeting was a full and enthusiastic one and an informal vote resulted in a resolution favoring an active and vigorous campaign.

Chairman J. H. Moyle occupied the chair and Secretary Croo acted as clerk.

The applicants for the office of registrar for Salt Lake county are J. H. Timmony, C. E. Angell and J. H. Watson, with chances about in the relation indicated.

Back From the South.

Elder David A. Kreger of Bloomington, Idaho, called at the office of the NEWS this afternoon, having returned from a mission to the Southern states. He left his home on the 27th of April, 1891, and has been laboring all the time in West Virginia. He says he has been much better received by the people generally than he might have expected and has enjoyed good health during his absence. He mentions as an evidence of the greatness of the work that in one locality the branch in a few months increased from 2 to 22. Strong testimonies were borne to the power of the Gospel by many. Elder Kreger arrived in Salt Lake City last Thursday, June 29th.

Encyclopedia Britannica.

Attention is called to the full-page advertisement of the Utah Britannica company in another part of this issue. As its title implies, the company is introducing the famous Encyclopedia Britannica to the people of Utah, and the methods employed are of an ingenious and invariably a character as to place the mammoth and invaluable work within the pecuniary reach of almost every one who wants it. The NEWS will have more to say about the merits of the work itself; meanwhile it is to be hoped of the enterprising company a respectful consideration of the propositions they are now ready to make.

Priesthood Meeting.

The Priesthood meeting of the Salt Lake Stake was held in the Assembly Hall today at 11 a.m.; Elder Angus M. Cannon, president of the Stake, presiding.

After the usual opening exercises the roll was called, showing as follows: Two High Councilors, five Patriarchs, eight Presidents of Seventies and seven Home Missionaries.

All the wards of the Stake were properly represented excepting the Fifteenth city ward and Brighton of the county.

The First, Second, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Tenth, Twelfth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first and Twenty-second Quorum of Elders were represented by their presiding officers.

Upon the recommendation of their respective Bishops, twelve young men received certificates authorizing their ordination to the office of Elder, on promising to honor and magnify the office and calling if ordained.

Several matters of business were attended to and instructions given concerned with work in the Temple, etc.

ELDER ANGUS M. CANNON

stated that, in accordance with action taken at the June Priesthood meeting, representatives of thirty-nine wards in the Stake had been called together to consider the subject of the Latter-day Saints (College) Seminary. At that meeting, held June 12, the Stake Board of Education was authorized to apportion the amount of $20,000 among the wards of the Stake, exclusive of the seven already sustaining Church schools, this amount representing the indebtedness of the college exclusive of the amount covered by saleable property. He requested specially that the Bishops equal to those who are possessed of considerable means to donate of their property for this laudable object. He made mention of instances where persons had made bequests for this purpose and expressed the hope that the college may soon be placed on such a footing as to be able to educate without charge the children of the poor.

ELDER JOSEPH E. TAYLOR

read the letter authorized by the Stake board to the Bishops, wherein the appointment was made. He stated that notwithstanding the tightness of financial matters just now, there are many persons in this Stake who can remember means, and he whether objection can be found to which he desires to contribute than the college. The people of this Stake are expected to sustain this school and the parents who help in this matter will lay up a legacy superior to that gained by leaving means to their children. Their is great need of training our children in the proper way, in order that they may become the leaders in STANDARD.

ELDER BRIGHAM YOUNG

followed in support of the movement. He felt that all that is necessary is a determined effort in this direction, and he blessed His people here and He expects them to see the mount is fixed in the house of the Lord. He felt sure that the Stake board would soon be relieved, and that the exercise of faith on our part will cause the way to be opened up as it has been many times in the past.

Adjourned till the first Saturday in August at 11 a.m.

FROM THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Commissioner Empey Tells How Things Are There.

Utah Attracts More Attention Than Any Other Exhibit On the Grounds.

Executive Commissioner N. A. Empey of the World's Fair, who returned home on Thursday afternoon, was around town today, looking and feeling well. He says that the Utah exhibit at the World's Fair is all arranged and he saw it in first class condition before he left Chicago. The educational display was last placed in position, and everything was A No. 1.

Mr. Empey says that Utah receives more attention than any other single exhibit at the Fair. From sunrise to close people visit the Utah building daily, and they generally express themselves as highly delighted and surprised at the advance that is made in this section of country. The statement of an Indiana man is an index to the general expression. He said the people of his section thought Utah was isolated, but when he saw the exhibit realized that his people could learn something by coming out here.

The exhibit in the Woman's department (the Utah building is most adjacent. The display of silk diverses special commendation. The mining department also makes a grand showing, as do the educational and other divisions.

Missionaries Returned.

This afternoon Elders James W. Gatherum of Provo and James S. Anderson of Scofield arrived in this city on their return from a mission to Great Britain, and will continue their journey southward on the afternoon train. They left home June 28, 1891, and were assigned to the Scottish conference, where they were engaged in missionary labors during their entire stay in that land. They met with many friends and fair success in their travels, enjoying good health and spirits. On the return trip they left Liverpool on June 21. They were accompanied to New York by Elders Alfred Solomon and Albert C. Young, who remained a few days in the east.

Who Lost It?

A piece of paper money, which perhaps was highly valued as a memento by its original possessor and is certainly valued by him who now owns it, was exhibited in the NEWS office this morning. The present owner purchased it from a party who reported having found it. The object of this notice is to place it within the power of the loser, if he still attaches value to it, to recover his property. Inquiry may be made at this office.

Today's Probate Court.

The following were the only matters that came before Judge Blair this forenoon:

Gear Dan Harry Seeley and many others who have established themselves as favorites with the Salt Lake public.

In addition to the program presented on Thursday, July 6th, an elegant lady's gold watch will be given away to the holder of the lucky coupon.

GOOD NEWS COMES

The Feeling in the Park Suddenly Becomes Bright.

THE BIG MINES ARE RESUMING.

A Full Force of Men Will be Kept on at the Anchor, Silver King and Other Mines.

Special Dispatch to the News.

PARK CITY, July 1.—Good news breaks in on Park City this morning, and the people are smiling jubilant. The turn in the tide has come, and things are booming. The Anchor and Silver King, which were instructed to close down, now have orders to resume with a full force of men. Other properties are doing the same, and the feeling of gloom has given way to one of great joy. People who were packing up their things in discouragement to move from the Park have unpacked and will remain here.

WOUNDED HIS MOTHER.

A Careless Boy Almost Kills One of His Parents With a Pistol.

A careless fifteen-year-old boy, son of Samuel Hefty, a contractor and builder, came very nearly killing his mother with a revolver last night at the family residence, No. 725 south First West street. Young Hefty was handling the weapon in an intelligent sort of way when it was accidentally discharged, the ball striking Mrs. Hefty in the left shoulder producing a painful though fortunately not dangerous flesh wound.

Doctors Niles and Hughes were sent for and probed for the ball for some time but were unable to extract it.

The patient was resting as easily today as can be expected under the circumstances.

The Penalty on a Bond.

In Judge Bartch's court late yesterday afternoon was taken up the case of Charles E. Merriam vs John A. Groesbeck. The plaintiff demands judgment against the defendant in the sum of $10,000 alleged to be due as the penalty on a bond given by the latter mentioned on the opening of a street through block 55, plat A, Salt Lake City survey, and the deeding to plaintiff of certain land on the proposed street, plaintiff stating that defendant has failed to comply with the conditions of the said bond. Defendant avers that upon executing the bond, plaintiff gave him a promissory note for $500, and that at neither instrument was to be operative unless the street was opened. Defendant further avers that plaintiff has been damaged in a sum not by no failure to perform the conditions of the bond. He is also alleged by the defendant that a fifty foot street has been opened through the block and that he was offered in money certain property upon the same to the plaintiff in exchange for the land described in the said bond, but that plaintiff refused to accept it.

The trial has not concluded when the court adjourned for the day and was resumed this morning.

Correction.

The information published yesterday that leading men with the Deseret National Bank of this city were stockholders in the First National Bank of Provo was erroneous. None of the officers or directors of the Deseret National were stockholders in the Provo First National, which closed its doors yesterday.

Lillie Weaver Dead.

This morning Brother Wm. Weaver, the well known baker of the Sixteenth ward, was called to mourn the death of his second daughter, Elizabeth Emily, familiarly known as Lillie Weaver. She was a bright, promising young lady who had just entered her seventeenth year. A short time ago her health began to fail, and a few days since she was taken to Sugarhouse ward in the hope that a change of air would benefit her, but she continued to fail, and at 1 o'clock this morning passed away. The funeral will be held from her father's residence on Monday next, at noon.

BRIGHAM TAKES HOLD.

The New U. S. Marshal Took Possession This Morning.—More Appointments.

This morning United States Marshal Nat M. Brigham began work in real earnest, and he has been kept busy in his office the greater part of the day.

About 8 a. m. he reached the penitentiary and all the prisoners were formally handed over to him by his predecessor in office, Mr. Irving A. Hudson. Marshal Brigham expresses the unmitigated satisfaction at the excellent way in which everything has been left by Mr. Hudson within the walls of the penitentiary and in the various other departments over which the marshal has control for the last four years.

J. H. McGarry has been appointed chief of deputies, and Thomas Lee deputy at the same place.

"Chief" Scanlan, an old time officer of the Third district court, has been reappointed by Marshal Brigham as bailiff, a position which he has held in conjunction with other sheriffs the whole term for a period exceeding twenty years. There is no more popular officer of the Third district court than Chief Scanlan, whose friends are [illegible] him today.
